2 State Mayors Seeking Ban On Gambling Raids

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Two Louisiana mayors who want to "stop state police from violating home rule" said today they are seeking court action to prevent state police from making gambling raids in their towns.

In Port Vincent in Livingston Parish, District Judge Horace Reid issued a temporary order restraining State Police Supt. Francis Grevemberg and his troopers from entering the village and acting as representatives of state police.

The order would restrain them from:

"Molesting and, or, interfering . . . except . . . when in hot pursuit of an offender or suspected offender, or when in search of an offender . . . wanted for a crime committed outside the limits of the municipality or seeking to interview a witness or supposed witness to such a crime."

In the other town, Marksville in Avoyelles Parish, District Judge Horace Bordelon set Sept. 23 as the date for state police to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be granted to keep state police out of the city except under the conditions cited in the Port Vincent restraining order.

State police headquarters in Baton Rouge reported that Grevemberg was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Registration To Vote Red Ticket Told By TV Star

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP)—Testimony of television star Lucille Ball that she was never a Communist but once registered to vote the Communist ticket to "appease an old man," her Socialist grandfather, was made public today.

A transcipt of the comedienne's testimony before William A. Wheeler, investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, last Sept. 4 in Hollywood was released today by committee order.

In the 27-page transcript of testimony under oath, Miss Ball summed up her feelings by saying:

"I am not a Communist now. I never have been. I never want to be. Nothing in the world could ever change my mind."

At the same time the transcript was released Miss Ball and her husband, Desi Arnaz, were meeting the press at their Chatsworth estate in the San Fernando valley.

Miss Ball, 42, clad in pink slacks and white blouse, seemed in good spirits and joked with reporters. The actress said she first learned she was being investigated when Committee investigator Wheeler called her about 18 months ago and asked if she had recalled that she had registered to vote the Communist ticket.

"Mr. Wheeler asked just a few questions," said Miss Ball, "he told us not to talk to people about it, that he was just running down a rumor...and everything was okay."

"My conscience has always been clean," said the actress. "And I have great faith in the American people. They have been very good to me in the past and I'm sure they will be now."

As to her grandfather, the late Fred C. Hunt, Arnaz chimed in to say: "Grandpa was the type of fellow who wanted the whole world to be happy and have lots of money. When I first started to date Lucy I'd come to the house and there would be Grandpa, 74 years old, reading the editorials of the Daily Worker. He was like a character out of 'You Can't Take It With You.'"

Two Persons Killed In Crash Near Bunkie

BUNKIE, La., Sept. 12—UP—A 23-year old Alexandria Air Force Base airman and his girl companion were killed in a traffic collision three miles south of here on U. S. Highway 71 early Saturday.

State police identified the dead as Nettie Lou Fisher, 19, of Morrow, and A-3C Theodore Westbrook Jr. of Richlands, N. C. Miss Fisher died of a broken neck en route to a hospital. Westbrook suffered internal chest injuries.

Injured in the wreck were Airman Phillip Wolkia, 22, of New York City, and Jane Dale Fisher, 14, sister of the victim. The girl is in critical condition at a clinic here. Wolkia suffered fractured ribs and is being treated at the Alexandria Veterans Hospital.

Officials Set Cancer Control Month In Sept.

Mayor John E. Coon of Monroe and Mayor J. Allen Norris of West Monroe Saturday issued a joint proclamation urging the public to observe September as cancer control month and asking cooperation with the American Cancer Society's 1953 cancer crusade.

The drive opened here on September 8 and the ensuing two weeks will be observed throughout the city by an intensive fund-raising and educational campaign.

Mayor Coon's and Norris' proclamation pointed out that cancer still looms as the most dangerous among major diseases and continues to take more than 215,000 lives every year.

The text of the proclamation reads:

"Whereas the welfare of all of us depends in large measure on a concerted effort on the part of the people and their leaders alike, and

"Whereas the prosperity and welfare of everyone depend inevitably on personal health, and

"Whereas many of the diseases that cursed our ancestors no longer are a major threat and the promise of a longer, fuller life will be obtained when the remaining major diseases are conquered, and

"Whereas cancer looms as the most dangerous among modern ills, continuing to take more than 215,000 lives of our people every year, and

"Whereas the president of the United States, authorized by act of congress, has set aside the month of September as a special occasion during which our efforts to fight cancer are redoubled, therefore, we, John Coon, mayor of the city of Monroe, and Allen Norris, mayor of the city of West Monroe, do hereby proclaim and ordain September, 1953 as: Cancer Control Month.

And further urge and request that every citizen shall observe it as such by supporting and cooperating with the American Cancer Society's Cancer Crusade.

8 Persons Hurt As Bus Plunges Off Highway

NATCHEZ, Miss., Sept. 12 (AP)—A Continental Trailways bus, dodging a collision with an oil truck, plunged over a 10-foot embankment today injuring the bus driver and seven passengers.

Adams County patrolman J. N. Stone said the bus swerved into a steep ditch about three miles east of here on U. S. 61.

Stone said the two vehicles were traveling in the same direction, toward Vicksburg, when the truck attempted a left-hand turn at the instant the bus started to pass.

The driver, Marcus Stewart, 31, had to be freed from the wreckage with a hacksaw, the patrolman said.

The driver of the oil truck, not identified immediately, escaped injury.

Hospital and ambulance drivers identified the injured as:

Stewart, crushed right leg and shoulder injuries.

Mrs. L. L. Carter, 43, Natchez, back injury.

Cornelius Scott, 33, Natchez, bruises.

Johnny Carr, 65, Hinchcliff, Miss., head cuts.

Mrs. Carter's injury was called serious by hospital attendants who said her back may be broken. The driver's condition was termed serious but the other passengers had lesser injuries.

Discarded Bananas Attract Freeloaders

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Six carloads of prematurely ripened bananas were dumped here today after about 100 persons helped themselves to the fruit.

The bananas were among a cargo from South America. About 120,000 pounds of the fruit ripened when the ship's air conditioning system broke down.

Much of the over-ripe fruit was chopped up, sprayed with kerosene and then loaded on six gondola-type railroad cars for dumping.

Shake-Up Of E. Reich Police Force Reported

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—The East German Communists have shaken up the People's Police, underground sources said today. A tough new detachment apparently has been assigned to guard the border surrounding West Berlin. For a month, there have been shootings almost nightly.

Uniformed newcomers are seen on patrol. Western agencies heard that police from Saxony were shipped to East Berlin and police of that city were sent to Thuringia.

Refugees are finding it more difficult than ever to elude the controls. As a result, only about 4,000 have come over to West Berlin this month. The daily average is slightly above 400, where once it had run as high as 3,000.

The blockade tactics appear to Western authorities aimed mostly at those hardy East Germans who want to pick up American food parcels. They are eager enough for the lard, flour and milk to risk

Inventory was filed the past week in the succession of Lillian Melanie Meyer, well known former Monroe resident who died in New York City last June. Filing in Ouachita Parish district court here discloses a total appraised valuation of $222,267.35 in the state of Louisiana, mostly in the city of Monroe.

In Ouachita Parish the following is listed: real estate, $85,000; cash in bank, $317; jewelry, $2,472; silverware, $500; stocks, $106,926.75; U. S. bonds, $5,706.50; corporation bonds, $3,645.10, total in parish, $204,567.35.

In Richland Parish there was listed 101 acres of land at $9,700 and in Morehouse parish 240 acres of land at $8,000. The total Louisiana inventory totalled $222,267.35.

In addition, Miss Meyer owned a four - story residence at 127 East 71st Street, New York City, where her death occurred.

The succession was opened in the local district court when Mrs. Blanche Florsheim of Monroe and

Generally Fair Weather Today

The U. S. Weather Bureau has predicted generally fair weather in Arkansas and Louisiana today and Monday. Cooler weather is expected in northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas.

Yesterday, according to Civil Aeronautics Administration officials at Selman Field, the mercury reached its peak at the 98 degree mark. The temperature registered at 64 degrees for the day's minimum reading.

3 Employees Of Struck Salt Plant Escape Gun Blast

NEW IBERIA La., Sept. 12 (AP)—Three workers of the strike-bound Jefferson Island Salt Co. escaped injury early today as their automobile was peppered by shotgun blasts.

Voorhies Guillotte, Joseph Perret, and Louis Sanders, all of New Iberia, had left the plant after the midnight shift when they were fired on twice from ambush.

The three are non-union employes.

The right side of Guillotte's car was hit by numerous pellets Iberia Parish sheriff's deputies said.

The incident occurred about 12:15 a. m. as the car turned off the Jefferson Island road onto State Highway 25. No clues have been detected, but the sheriff's office is offering a $2,500 reward for information leading to the conviction of the assailant.

The reward also holds true for clues regarding another shooting a few weeks ago when one man was wounded slightly.

32 Persons On Storm Beached Ship Rescued

Lake Superior Rampage Strands Many Crafts

MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 12 (AP)— Thirty-two crewmen were rescued from a storm-beached freighter today, but nine sailors still were adrift in angry Lake Superior tonight on a tossing, helpless dredge.

The 32 rescued were from the 530-foot ore freighter Maryland, driven aground 50 yards off shore some nine miles east of here.

A Coast Guard helicopter from Traverse City, Mich., plucked 11 men from the Maryland. The others were removed by a breeches buoy line shot to the stranded ship.

The dredge, the Howard M. Jr., was reported at dusk to be 11.2 miles west of Caribou Island, which is northwest of Whitefish Bay. The nine men still were aboard, but the all-steel, 100-by-40 foot dredge was reported in no immediate danger. It was wet,

Newspaper Chiefs Asked To Change McCarthy Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has called on seven newspaper executives to correct a committee report that he used his official position to quiz James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, about anti-McCarthy editorials.

McCarthy said that if, as chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, he had questioned a newspaper's right to criticize him "I would be guilty of a very serious abuse of power."

"In view of the seriousness of the charge," McCarthy wrote the editors and publishers, ". . . plus the fact that this charge was admittedly in error, I think it only fair that the committee correct the report to conform to the facts."

His letter was dated Sept 10 and made public today.

Newspapermen to whom it was sent were members of a committee appointed by the American Society of Newspaper Editors last spring to study the issue of whether McCarthy's questioning of Wechsler threatened freedom of the press.

Czechoslovakia Gets World Bank Ouster Warning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia was put on notice today that she will lose her place in the 55-nation World Bank if she fails to meet her financial obligations.

The bank's governors voted to give the Czechs until Dec. 31 to put up the $625,000 they still owe in capital subscription funds.

Unless they meet this deadline, Czechoslovakia—last of the Communist satellites still belonging to the bank—will be suspended. Expulsion could follow in a year.

Suspension from the bank would not affect Czechoslovakia's membership in the fund.

There was no formal tally, but it was learned that India abstained on the vote to suspend Czechoslovakia.

This decision highlighted the final day of the eighth annual meeting of governors of both the bank and the fund.

The governors decided to meet here again next September and selected the finance minister of the Netherlands—whoever he may be at the time—to preside over the conference.

They agreed, too, to give Indonesia until next March 16 to enter the bank and the fund.

Speakers at the windup session expressed cautious optimism over the trend of economic revitalization, stressed the importance of widening the flow of private investment capital, and underlined the vital role of the United States in improving and maintaining the economic health of the world.

Mohamad Ali of Pakistan, the current chairman of the governors, said he has been reassured by statements of U. S. representatives that America "would play her rightful role in helping the world toward a more stable economic order."

U. S. Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said he finds "reason for encouragement in many places" of the world where economic progress has been made.

Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations hit hard on the theme that the flow of investment capital is as vital to the economic advancement of underdeveloped countries as is the technical help now being offered by the U. N., the bank, the fund and the United States.

Penn. Girl Wins Test Of Beauty

The 20-year-old Miss Pennsylvania had won a bathing suit preliminary earlier in the week.

One of the tallest girls in the contest at 5 feet, 8. She weighs 132 pounds, has a 37-inch bust, 24-inch waist and 36-inch hips.

Miss Pennsylvania rose on an elevator as her name was announced. She wore a long, red, velvet robe over her white evening gown.

The 51 other contestants threw confetti as she moved toward the center of the stage to receive the crown from last year's winner, Neva Jane Langley of Macon, Ga.

"It's hard to express an emotion that's so deeply set," the new Miss America said in receiving the crown.

She walked down the 100-foot ramp in huge Convention Hall and bowed to the applauding audience of 15,000.

French Budget Cut First Since World War II

PARIS, Sept. 12 —UP— The French government Saturday announced its first budget cut since World War II after the United States agreed to contribute $385 million to fight communism in Indochina next year.

Finance Minister Edgar Faure said the American contribution would permit hard-pressed France to reduce her public spending by $571.4 million, making next year's budget $10,571,428,000.

Faure made the disclosure to newsmen after Saturday's cabinet meeting presided over by Premier Joseph Laniel, which also:

1. Set up a program to overhaul the country's antiquated administrative system, which has been strangling the economy with red tape.

2. Prepared for final approval a construction program designed to build 200,000 houses next year and 250,000 in 1955—a revolutionary achievement in a country plagued by Europe's most acute housing shortage.

Faure said the extra budgetary reductions above the supplementary U. S. aid will be made by sweeping economies in all public departments, including the military.

"Nevertheless, all our civil and military objectives will be attained," Faure said.

He said this was true for metropolitan France as well as for Indochina where the spending will be "adjusted to respond to the targets set by our high command."

This was an indication that the government has approved the plan of Indochina commander-in-chief Gen. Henri Eugene Navarre to crush the Red-led Vietminh with additional troops and credits.

SUGAR RATIONING TO END

LONDON, Sept. 12—UP—Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, minister of food, said Saturday the government would soon lift the rationing of sugar. Sugar has been on the ration list continuously since Jan. 8, 1940.

9 Communists Change Minds On Returning

Pentagon Note Stirs Hope For Missing Pilot

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Sept. 13 (AP)—Nine Reds who changed their minds twice head north today—beyond the bamboo curtain which still shields the mystery of what happened to more than 900 Americans, including the flier son of Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

The Pentagon in Washington caused a surprise by announcing that Air Force Capt. James A. Van Fleet, Jr., a B26 pilot, is among at least 917 Americans for whom the U. N. Command is demanding an accounting from the Reds.

Hitherto there had been no public indication that the son of the former U. S. 8th Army commander might have survived a B26 bomber strike near Sunchon, in northwest Korea, last Apr. 5, 1952.

The nine North Koreans going back to communism today are the Public Schools Citizens Group Formed In State

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Louisiana Citizens Commission for Public Schools formed its temporary organization here today making Louisiana the 22nd state to set up a state-wide citizens commission for the promotion of citizen interest in public schools.

R. D. Patch of Baton Rouge was named temporary chairman and Mrs. R. D. Clontinger of Lafayette was chosen temporary secretary.

Patch will head a six-member committee to recommend permanent officers, by-laws and proposed projects at the next meeting here Nov. 20.

The committee is composed of Mrs. Robert Newman of New Orleans, W. B. Coleman of Lake Charles, J. J. Davidson of Lafayette, J. W. Love of Tallulah, Bascom Talley of Bogalusa; and Mrs. F. P. O'Brien of Morgan City.

The 25 members of the commission are serving as individuals. They do not represent any organization or business. The commission is patterned after the National Citizens Commission for Public Schools, but not affiliated with it. None of the members is professionally identified with educational, religious or political activities.

AGE CONFIRMED

QUERETARO, Mexico, Sept. 12 UP—Local officials confirmed Saturday that Rancher Marcial Pina was 149 years old when he died Friday.

They said a record of his birth had been found in church records.

Pina, whose oldest son is 105 years old, "has more than 200 immediate descendants," they added.

Korean Republic Drives Against Corruption, Subversives

Rhee Wages Post-War Cleanup

SEOUL, Sunday, Sept. 13 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee is waging a sweeping post-war cleanup campaign in a move he vows will rid the Republic of Korea Government of corruption and suspected subversives.

Political and youth organizations were included in the reshuffle.

In addition Rhee ordered the South Korean Army counter-intelligence Corps to investigate and arrest Koreans suspected of engaging in Communist espionage or anti-government activities.

The Korean CIC recently arrested a well known South Korean newsman on charges of spying. Chung Kook Eun, editor in chief for the South Korean daily "Unhap Shinmoon" has been undergoing severe interrogations since he was taken into custody Aug. 31.

Three high ranking officers of the South Korean army, including the former chief of ROK army intelligence bureau, Brig. Gen. Kim Chong Pyung, are now being tried by the high military court at Taegu on charges of violating the national defense law.

The national police have arrested their former Assistant Director Kim Eang Bong on charges of plotting against the government. Police alleged Kim had former an "unauthorized" group with more than 1,300 members in an attempt to "overthrow the government."

In other moves, Rhee:

1. Ordered dissolved all South Korean youth organizations including his own "Taehan Youth Corps." He directed the youths to join the recently created Home Guard Corps, commanded by former Defense Minister Shin Tai Yung.

2. Directed transfer of the national police force from the home ministry to a three-man commission under Rhee's direct control. The plan has been approved by the Cabinet and awaits confirmation by the National Assembly.

3. Ordered screening of all central and local government employees to trim by 30 per cent the more than 200,000 man payroll. Those found inefficient or dishonest also will be fired. But Rhee promised to give pay boosts to the remaining officials to improve their living conditions.

4. Reshuffled his Cabinet. This last week alone Rhee made three major changes—naming a new finance minister to take full charge of fiscal affairs previously performed by the prime minister and firing the home minister and minister of agriculture and forestry for "failure to carry out their duties."

In this connection Rhee ordered the justice department to investigate police and other officials who had asked Koreans in rural areas to make "unauthorized contributions in 58 different categories." Rhee has prohibited the collection of any unauthorized fees of any sort from the people.

He also has ordered "suggestion boxes" placed in front of central and provincial capitol buildings, calling for recommendations of "able and honest patriots" to serve the government.

Since the blue painted square box was erected in front of Seoul's war battered capitol building last week, hundreds of suggestions have been made by private citizens.

Rhee says he personally opens the boxes in Seoul and elsewhere and studies the recommendations. His idea, he said, is to find "able and loyal men and women" for public service.

The bananas were among a cargo from South America. About 120,000 pounds of the fruit ripened when the ship's air conditioning system broke down.

Much of the over-ripe fruit was chopped up, sprayed with kerosene and then loaded on six gondola-type railroad cars for dumping.

DID 'JA MISS ME?—Separated for the first time in their lives when school started in Roanoke, Va., Paul Peulos and his dog "Prince" show expressions of happiness after school was dismissed for the day. Teachers reported 1,225 new students, a gain of almost 10 percent over last year, with about half that number of dogs reporting. (AP Wirephoto)

Shake-Up Of E. Reich Police Force Reported

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (AP)—The East German Communists have shaken up the People's Police, underground sources said today. A tough new detachment apparently has been assigned to guard the border surrounding West Berlin. For a month, there have been shootings almost nightly.

Uniformed newcomers are seen on patrol. Western agencies heard that police from Saxony were shipped to East Berlin and police of that city were sent to Thuringia.

Refugees are finding it more difficult than ever to elude the controls. As a result, only about 4,000 have come over to West Berlin this month. The daily average is slightly above 400, where once it had run as high as 3,000.

The blockade tactics appear to Western authorities aimed mostly at those hardy East Germans who want to pick up American food parcels. They are eager enough for the lard, flour and milk to risk

Inventory was filed the past week in the succession of Lillian Melanie Meyer, well known former Monroe resident who died in New York City last June. Filing in Ouachita Parish district court here discloses a total appraised valuation of $222,267.35 in the state of Louisiana, mostly in the city of Monroe.

In Ouachita Parish the following is listed: real estate, $85,000; cash in bank, $317; jewelry, $2,472; silverware, $500; stocks, $106,926.75; U. S. bonds, $5,706.50; corporation bonds, $3,645.10; total in parish, $204,567.35.

In Richland Parish there was listed 101 acres of land at $9,700 and in Morehouse parish 240 acres of land at $3,000. The total Louisiana inventory totalled $222,267.35

In addition, Miss Meyer owned a four - story residence at 127 East 71st Street, New York City, where her death occurred.

The succession was opened in the local district court when Mrs. Blanche Florsheim of Monroe and

Generally Fair Weather Today

The U. S. Weather Bureau has predicted generally fair weather in Arkansas and Louisiana today and Monday. Cooler weather is expected in northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas.

Yesterday, according to Civil Aeronautics Administration officials at Selman Field, the mercury reached its peak at the 98 degree mark. The temperature registered at 64 degrees for the day's minimum reading.

3 Employees Of Struck Salt Plant Escape Gun Blast

NEW IBERIA, La., Sept. 12 (AP)—Three workers of the strike-bound Jefferson Island Salt Co. escaped injury early today as their automobile was peppered by shotgun blasts.

Voorhies Guillotte, Joseph Perret, and Louis Sanders, all of New Iberia, had left the plant after the midnight shift when they were fired on twice from ambush.

The three are non-union employes.

The right side of Guillotte's car was hit by numerous pellets Iberia Parish sheriff's deputies said.

The incident occurred about 12:15 a. m. as the car turned off the Jefferson Island road onto State Highway 25. No clues have been detected, but the sheriff's office is offering a $2,500 reward for information leading to the conviction of the assailant.

The reward also holds true for clues regarding another shooting a few weeks ago when one man was wounded slightly.

32 Persons On Storm Beached Ship Rescued

Lake Superior Rampage Strands Many Crafts

MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 12 (AP)— Thirty-two crewmen were rescued from a storm-beached freighter today, but nine sailors still were adrift in angry Lake Superior tonight on a tossing, helpless dredge.

The 32 rescued were from the 530-foot ore freighter Maryland, driven aground 50 yards off shore some nine miles east of here.

A Coast Guard helicopter from Traverse City, Mich., plucked 11 men from the Maryland. The others were removed by a breeches buoy line shot to the stranded ship.

The dredge, the Howard M. Jr., was reported at dusk to be 11.2 miles west of Caribou Island, which is northwest of Whitefish Bay. The nine men still were aboard, but the all-steel, 100-by-40 foot dredge was reported in no immediate danger. It was wet,

Newspaper Chiefs Asked To Change McCarthy Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has called on seven newspaper executives to correct a committee report that he used his official position to quiz James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, about anti-McCarthy editorials.

McCarthy said that if, as chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, he had questioned a newspaper's right to criticize him "I would be guilty of a very serious abuse of power."

"In view of the seriousness of the charge," McCarthy wrote the editors and publishers, ". . . plus the fact that this charge was admittedly in error, I think it only fair that the committee correct the report to conform to the facts."

His letter was dated Sept. 10 and made public today.

Newspapermen to whom it was sent were members of a committee appointed by the American Society of Newspaper Editors last spring to study the issue of whether McCarthy's questioning of Wechsler threatened freedom of the press.

Czechoslovakia Gets World Bank Ouster Warning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia was put on notice today that she will lose her place in the 55-nation World Bank if she fails to meet her financial obligations.

The bank's governors voted to give the Czechs until Dec. 31 to put up the $625,000 they still owe in capital subscription funds.

Unless they meet this deadline, Czechoslovakia—last of the Communist satellites still belonging to the bank—will be suspended. Expulsion could follow in a year.

Suspension from the bank would not affect Czechoslovakia's membership in the fund.

There was no formal tally, but it was learned that India abstained on the vote to suspend Czechoslovakia.

This decision highlighted the final day of the eighth annual meeting of governors of both the bank and the fund.

The governors decided to meet here again next September and selected the finance minister of the Netherlands—whoever he may be at the time—to preside over the conference.

They agreed, too, to give Indonesia until next March 16 to enter the bank and the fund.

Speakers at the windup session expressed cautious optimism over the trend of economic revitalization, stressed the importance of widening the flow of private investment capital, and underlined the vital role of the United States in improving and maintaining the economic health of the world.

Mohamad Ali of Pakistan, the current chairman of the governors, said he has been reassured by statements of U. S. representatives that America "would play her rightful role in helping the world toward a more stable economic order."

U. S. Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said he finds "reason for encouragement in many places" of the world where economic progress has been made.

Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations hit hard on the theme that the flow of investment capital is as vital to the economic advancement of underdeveloped countries as is the technical help now being offered by the U. N., the bank, the fund and the United States.

Penn. Girl Wins Test Of Beauty

The 20-year-old Miss Pennsylvania had won a bathing suit preliminary earlier in the week.

One of the tallest girls in the contest at 5 feet, 8. She weighs 132 pounds, has a 37-inch bust, 24-inch waist and 36-inch hips.

Miss Pennsylvania rose on an elevator as her name was announced. She wore a long, red, velvet robe over her white evening gown.

The 51 other contestants threw confetti as she moved toward the center of the stage to receive the crown from last year's winner, Neva Jane Langley of Macon, Ga.

"It's hard to express an emotion that's so deeply set," the new Miss America said in receiving the crown.

She walked down the 100-foot ramp in huge Convention Hall and bowed to the applauding audience of 15,000.

French Budget Cut First Since World War II

PARIS, Sept. 12 —UP— The French government Saturday announced its first budget cut since World War II after the United States agreed to contribute $385 million to fight communism in Indochina next year.

Finance Minister Edgar Faure said the American contribution would permit hard-pressed France to reduce her public spending by $571.4 million, making next year's budget $10,571,428,000.

Faure made the disclosure to newsmen after Saturday's cabinet meeting presided over by Premier Joseph Laniel, which also:

1. Set up a program to overhaul the country's antiquated administrative system, which has been strangling the economy with red tape.

2. Prepared for final approval a construction program designed to build 200,000 houses next year and 250,000 in 1955—a revolutionary achievement in a country plagued by Europe's most acute housing shortage.

Faure said the extra budgetary reductions above the supplementary U. S. aid will be made by sweeping economies in all public departments, including the military.

"Nevertheless, all our civil and military objectives will be attained," Faure said.

He said this was true for metropolitan France as well as for Indochina where the spending will be "adjusted to respond to the targets set by our high command."

This was an indication that the government has approved the plan of Indochina commander-in-chief Gen. Henri Eugene Navarre to crush the Red-led Vietminh with additional troops and credits.

SUGAR RATIONING TO END

LONDON, Sept. 12—UP—Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, minister of food, said Saturday the government would soon lift the rationing of sugar. Sugar has been on the ration list continuously since Jan. 8, 1940.

9 Communists Change Minds On Returning

Pentagon Note Stirs Hope For Missing Pilot

PANMUNJOM, Sunday, Sept. 13 (AP)—Nine Reds who changed their minds twice head north today—beyond the bamboo curtain which still shields the mystery of what happened to more than 900 Americans, including the flier son of Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

The Pentagon in Washington caused a surprise by announcing that Air Force Capt. James A. Van Fleet, Jr., a B26 pilot, is among at least 917 Americans for whom the U. N. Command is demanding an accounting from the Reds.

Hitherto there had been no public indication that the son of the former U. S. 8th Army commander might have survived a B26 bomber strike near Sunchon, in northwest Korea, last Apr. 5, 1952.

The nine North Koreans going back to communism today are the Public Schools Citizens Group Formed In State

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Louisiana Citizens Commission for Public Schools formed its temporary organization here today making Louisiana the 22nd state to set up a state-wide citizens commission for the promotion of citizen interest in public schools.

R. D. Patch of Baton Rouge was named temporary chairman and Mrs. R. D. Cloninger of Lafayette was chosen temporary secretary.

Patch will head a six-member committee to recommend permanent officers, by-laws and proposed projects at the next meeting here Nov. 20.

The committee is composed of Mrs. Robert Newman of New Orleans; W. B. Coleman of Lake Charles; J. J. Davidson of Lafayette; J. W. Love of Tallulah; Bascom Talley of Bogalusa; and Mrs. F. P. O'Brien of Morgan City.

The 35 members of the commission are serving as individuals. They do not represent any organization or business. The commission is patterned after the National Citizens Commission for Public Schools, but not affiliated with it. None of the members is professionally identified with educational, religious or political activities.

AGE CONFIRMED

QUERETARO, Mexico, Sept. 12 UP—Local officials confirmed Saturday that Rancher Marcial Pina was 149 years old when he died Friday.

They said a record of his birth had been found in church records.

Pina, whose oldest son is 105 years old, "has more than 200 immediate descendants," they added.

Korean Republic Drives Against Corruption, Subversives

Rhee Wages Post-War Cleanup

SEOUL, Sunday, Sept. 13 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee is waging a sweeping post-war cleanup campaign in a move he vows will rid the Republic of Korea Government of corruption and suspected subversives.

Political and youth organizations were included in the reshuffle.

In addition Rhee ordered the South Korean Army counter-intelligence Corps to investigate and arrest Koreans suspected of engaging in Communist espionage or anti-government activities.

The Korean CIC recently arrested a well known South Korean newsman on charges of spying. Chung Kook Eun, editor in chief for the South Korean daily "Unhap Shinmoon" has been undergoing severe interrogations since he was taken into custody Aug. 31.

Three high ranking officers of the South Korean army, including the former chief of ROK army intelligence bureau, Brig. Gen. Kim Chong Pyung, are now being tried by the high military court at Taegu on charges of violating the national defense law.

The national police have arrested their former Assistant Director Kim Eang Bong on charges of plotting against the government. Police alleged Kim had former an "unauthorized" group with more than 1,300 members in an attempt to "overthrow the government."

In other moves, Rhee:

1. Ordered dissolved all South Korean youth organizations including his own "Taehan Youth Corps." He directed the youths to join the recently created Home Guard Corps, commanded by former Defense Minister Shin Tai Yung.

2. Directed transfer of the national police force from the home ministry to a three-man commission under Rhee's direct control. The plan has been approved by the Cabinet and awaits confirmation by the National Assembly.

3. Ordered screening of all central and local government employees to trim by 30 per cent the more than 200,000 man payroll. Those found inefficient or dishonest also will be fired. But Rhee promised to give pay boosts to the remaining officials to improve their living conditions.

4. Reshuffled his Cabinet. This last week alone Rhee made three major changes—naming a new finance minister to take full charge of fiscal affairs previously performed by the prime minister and firing the home minister and minister of agriculture and forestry for "failure to carry out their duties."

In this connection Rhee ordered the justice department to investigate police and other officials who had asked Koreans in rural areas to make "unauthorized contributions in 58 different categories." Rhee has prohibited the collection of any unauthorized fees of any sort from the people.

He also has ordered "suggestion boxes' placed in front of central and provincial capitol buildings, calling for recommendations of "able and honest patriots" to serve the government.

Since the blue painted square box was erected in front of Seoul's war battered capitol building last week, hundreds of suggestions have been made by private citizens.

Rhee says he personally opens the boxes in Seoul and elsewhere and studies the recommendations. His idea, he said, is to find "able and loyal men and women" for public service.

The second objective is to alert citizens as to the great benefits derived under the American constitutional form of government and lastly to raise enough funds to restore the entire first floor of Independence Hall, which consists of the Assembly Room, the Supreme Court Chamber and the main hallway where the Liberty Bell now rests.

In the Assembly Room the Declaration of Independence was adopted, the Constitution of the United States drafted, the Second Continental Congress convened there and in it George Washington accepted the responsibility as general and commander in - chief of the army.

Mrs. Pankey said that every citizen in the United States would be asked to participate in the great patriotic project.

How Right You Are

Not too long ago, this newspaper received a letter from one of its readers, discussing the editorial "Bring God Back To The Classroom." It stated with a great deal of accuracy that before God should be brought back to the classroom, He should be brought back into the homes of this nation.

The author of the letter is correct in that God should be brought into the home, as a matter of fact, should never have left it, if indeed, it can be said that He has.

God is everywhere and in all homes. It is in the minds of His creatures, mankind, that He sometimes does not always exist. It is because He has been driven out of these minds by lesser and material things, that many people have the feeling that God no longer is in the homes of many American people. The fountainhead of trouble in any home, no matter what that trouble is, is a result of forgetting God. A good example is a case where two people are about to separate their lives, to terminate a marriage which is an oath taken before God Himself, that this marriage will never be destroyed by human force.

No matter how mortal the sin committed against either party, a thought or two back to the happy day when love was abundant, and the parties took their vows, should make them think twice. You can see, how in such a case as that, God could save something basically good.

This nation is faced with something today which it has never faced before. There is no knowledge in any book on American history where the United States has had to fight an idea, an ideology which cunningly uses the mind instead of the bayonet. This is a nation of fighters, at least, it used to be. The American people would fight anything in their paths which represented a threat to the freedom and the security of their people. However, they could always see and recognize their adversaries who wore a uniform, or carried guns or other weapons. It was a direct and militant threat. Something that was tangible.

Now, there is a more sinister danger which is not always wearing a uniform, which does not carry guns and weapons until it has to in the end. It represents a threat more fearful than any ever facing this nation. It is more despicable because it not only represents a threat to you, and your nation, but it is a direct threat to your God. It holds that there is no God but the state. It says religion is the poison of the people.

As soldiers of God, you must fight this force which threatens your Maker and His creations. That fight, needless to say, must begin at home. Did you realize that every time you break a commandment, a law of God, that you have struck a blow for Marxism? No, it is believed that you probably never figured it that way. It's the truth however. Everytime you forget God and break a commandment, that forgetfulness is a sign that you have failed temporarily as a soldier of God and right now, there can be no failures.

You are put here but for a short period of time. In that period, but a fraction of a second, geologically speaking, you must touch the stars. Your record will be inscribed in the records of time. God watches you, and there is not a person reading this today, who, somewhere, doesn't know it. Those who fear God have cause to fear Him. Those who love God will fight for Him and there is no place like home to begin that fight.

Today, the fight for the minds of men progresses. It is a fight conducted on one side by mortals, who fear God as no men have ever feared Him in history, their fear is so great that they actually chide themselves into believing there is no God. Now and then, a few of them return from this land "across the way" and in their last gasps of breath, come back to the fold. Why do not they do this in the earlier years? This fight is conducted by men who will, in their terrible fear, fight for an earthly cause with a zeal never before seen in history.

On the other side are God's soldiers, committed to the battle against sin and evil no matter where that may break out. They are committed to this, a fight to the finish.

Your home, the beginning of all life for your family, the earliest training grounds for your children, should be regarded as a maneuvering area for the soldiers of God. Your childen should be the candidates for positions in His army and you, the parents, should be the instructors. On your training, will rest the future success of God's army. In this battle, there can be no failures. Your children look to you for this training, and you should give it to them to the best of your ability.

Unfortunately, the records speak for themselves. On every side, one can see the inroads made in the ranks of God's soldiers. There is crime, blasphemy and corruption all over the world. Do you think this is not blow after blow in the fight, blows struck against God's army? Where do you think it started? In a motion picture house? In a restaurant? In a football arena?

No, it started at home because there were those who did not receive the right training and who, ill equipped mentally to face the battle, succumb before the onslaught of the foe who fights with such great fervor. Therefore, the fight correctly begins in your home. From there, your children march to their various tasks in the knowledge that there is a God and He is always present. With this knowledge and with His commandments always in mind, there can be no Communists, no Marxists, as the very foundation of that sordid evil is destroyed. With this knowledge, there can be no crime, as that is a breaking of the commandments.

There can be no conscientious objectors in this fight. The fight is on, and upon its end result, clearly depends your future. If the forces of evil win, communism will sweep the earth. It will destroy you, your loved ones, and all that you hold dear. Is this what you want? Do you want this to happen? There are few men who will agree.

Therefore, those who haven't enlisted, examine your consciences and you will find that there are but two courses. The right way, and the wrong way. It is up to you. Should you choose the right way, God's way, start equipping your youngsters in His uniform, arm them with His teachings and His word, and you will have nothing to fear.

Citizens, all the world is a battlefield in this war for men's minds. The choice is there. On which hill will you stand and in whose ranks will you serve?

The home is your fortress. Your mind is your haven for God. Do not drive Him out.

On Him, rests your salvation; your eternal life.

Have You Ever?

Have you ever flown over a city, or a town, glanced at the buildings and the houses, and the autos which seem to crawl over the roads as ants on threads of string? Have you ever wondered what goes on in the minds of all the little humans below?

You, far above all the worldly cares for at least a little while, can survey the world. You can see into the minds of men down on the earth, if only in imagination.

Far below, in a never ending expanse, are the millions of cares and woes of the little people who live their lives not realizing that above them, flies an individual who is baring open their minds and their very lives. Far below the beautiful metal bird which eagerly surges forward into the space and time, are people whose problems seem so very important, whose cares seem so awe inspiring and overreaching, that they are the only cares in the world.

You see, the man who flies above all these cares and woes, no matter how great they may be, knows that there are millions of them. He is the man who can see the stars and is, as a matter of fact, in between the stars and all that is the trial of living on the earth beneath.

Have you ever, as you were flying along, compared sizes? There's the new house on the hill, great and beautiful, and there's the smaller, shabbier house on the lowland. Is there much difference in their relative size when viewed from far aloft? Is it not what is inside the houses below that really matters?

As you fly along, and the day ends, the stars are twinkling above and the lights below, you seem suspended between two layers of lights. You wonder what goes on down there, and you wonder what is happening above. You know approximately what is taking place below, the people coming home from work to a family. The problems of living going on as always, but you don't know what is happening above.

There, the millions of stars shine in the evening sky. Are there on those stars, people with the same kind of lives, the same cares and worries as those below? Are there the brightly lighted, warm and comfortable homes, the big homes, the little homes. . .?

Are there the same kind of men flying in airplanes looking at their world stretched lazily beneath the growing darkness? It all seems so small, doesn't it?

Have you ever wondered?

Have you ever . . .

A Change In Opinion

There is a saying here and there now that the GOP has fallen in love with Joe McCarthy. Why, even the justice department, headed by Attorney General Brownell, Thomas Dewey's henchman in Washington, has let his department "clear" him after his FBI director praised the Wisconsin Communist hunter.

Times change, and people change with them. Seems like only yesterday that there were many Republicans as well as many Democrats denouncing McCarthy. Things have certainly changed and now, great goodness, they even want him to make speeches for the party. Senator McCarthy has agreed to do this with great fervor, as if he wouldn't have done it anyway.

Perhaps the Republican party is realizing what many people have known for a long time was the truth. Senator McCarthy's services are valuable to his nation and the Senator is working in the best interests of his United States. Not only that, but even more surprises were in store for the party when its leaders shoved the pink cloud away, and saw that not only was the Senator's work effective, he was popular to a degree never imagined. This popularity has awakened the party leaders to a great many things, and slowly but surely, the changes are being made.

Watch and see, watch and see. There has been a change in opinion in the ranks of the GOP leaders.

It is a decided change for the better.

'I Thought So'

Martin Durkin, the Secretary of Labor appointed by the President, has resigned. He resigned because he declared that the President failed to live up to his pledge that he would change, or ask for changes, in the Taft-Hartley bill. Durkin asserted that the President had "backed out of a pledge" to have the bill changed.

Actually, the President never could have had the bill changed. That's the job of Congress. If he thought the bill was good for the benefit of the nation the way it presently stands, he said so. There must be many staunch Republicans who, shocked at the initial appointment of a partisan Democrat, one who has obviously been recalled to the ranks of the party to describe the horrors of being connected with "all those Republicans", will now be able to say, "I thought so", or "I told you so."

The former Secretary, who actually worked for Eisenhower's defeat in the last election, was appointed because the President personally thought it was the best thing for the benefit of his nation. He did this against a storm of criticism from his party and from those Americans who wanted to exclude the leftists from the ranks of the new government.

The thanks he received for his decision and his appointment is now, obvious. In the near future, especially when the Democratic party has its proposed rally, you will probably hear this refugee from the administration ranks, a "valiant soldier" who "did what he could to make the Republicans act right" denounce his former associates, and with the information he presently has at his disposal, information which should probably be classified, denounce the policies of the administration. Not that the information would hurt the administration, but it apparently disagrees with that philosophy held by Martin Durkin.

No one actually knows what the former Secretary will say, but you never can tell.

The initial decision was apparently a bad one.

Public Forum—Voice Of All The People

Editorial Reprinted In Catholic Action

Alexandria, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Please accept my congratulations for your editorial, asking return of God to the classrooms, which I read, reprinted, in Catholic Action of the South, Sept. 3rd, 1953.

You really deserve a blessing from God, and I am sure you have the blessing from all God fearing and God loving children all over the world, for God loves children.

Nowadays, when the world is so Godless, it is refreshing to see some one like you sponsoring such a noble cause, so fearlessly. I say fearlessly, because the enemies of God are so bold that to challenge them today is to bring wrath from the majority of our people, that are so materialistic. I share your views one hundred per cent and may I tell you, I introduced a motion in our Knight of Columbus Council, Bishop Van de Van, No. 3200, Alexandria, La., to work with our lawmakers in Louisiana and the United States to have the Ten Commandments of God on a plaque, placed side by side, with the American flag in every school room in our land, the letters large enough to be read from any part of these school rooms, which would not violate any law or offend any faith. At least, this would give our children a chance to know God's Laws. It was approved unanimously and it was then brought up at our state convention and it was approved without dissent. Again it was brought to our national convention, representing over 800,000 men, and again it was approved. But, sir, it was never publicized outside of a few Catholic Weeklies and Mr. Adrás Laborde, Alexandria Daily Town Talk, manager, who is a friend of mine, had it in the International News.

Sir, you have the moral and religious fortitude, together with the instrument (newspaper) to continue your fight for the children that they may have a chance to know God. For Jesus said, Deny not the children to come unto Me.

I beg God's blessing on you and your newspaper.

American Legion Baseball

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In all the tumult and praise-giving over the fine showing that the local American Legion Junior baseball team made this season there has been one person whose part in the success of the program has been, for the most part, completely overlooked. And if any one individual could be singled out and delegated for bravery beyond the call of duty, it is this man. I am speaking of R. D. Farr, Jr., chairman of the Junior Baseball committee of the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion.

Mr. Farr has served in this capacity for six consecutive seasons during which time he has never missed a game the local Legion team has played, whether it be against a Fifth District opponent, or at Sumter, S. C. Consequently, his own business has suffered considerably from his absence during this time. Mr. Farr first became acquainted with the program back in the 1930's when he was a member of the local team and he has maintained this intense interest through the intervening years.

Yet in all the publicity which has come forth about the 1953 edition, there has been only a cursory mention of Mr. Farr's connection with the club.

It is he who arranges all the transportation, lodging and meals for the club. It is he who answers to the thousands of people who ask thousands of questions. It is he who must patiently explain to parents why this is being done with their child.

I personally have no ax to grind in this matter. I have been a resident of the Twin Cities for four years through my capacity as business manager of the Monroe Sports I have watched Mr. Farr's earnest endeavors in the furtherance of Legion ball without any of the plaudits which should have come his way. "A prophet is without honor in his own country." Never was this saying truer than in the case of Mr. Farr.

The American Legion baseball program is a worthwhile endeavor, perhaps none more so in this nation as far as teaching sportsmanship is concerned. And that is one of the things that escapes too many of us. The prime ideal behind the program is not to win, but how to play the game.

But withal I try and temper my desire to win when it comes to Little League, Little Bigger League or Legion ball, for in those categories, the idea is to teach the youngsters sportsmanship as well as the fundamentals of playing the game.

I have gone into this as a prelude to explaining two instances which were brought to Mr. Farr's attention during the preliminaries leading up to that climatic game on Aug. 28 in Sumter. Prior to the finals for the Louisiana state title, it was bruited about that since Monroe had played the first game in New Orleans and the last two in Monroe in 1952, Mr. Farr was going to reverse the procedure this year without a flip of the coin. This was a reflection on Mr. Farr and, while it would have been a prime example of the sportsmanship about which I have been writing, it was not true. Yet the story was spread in the Twin Cities and elicited many remarks which reflected on Mr. Farr's loyalty to the team. Frankly, I found such behavior repugnant to the ideals of Legion ball.

Then, in Ponchatula, during the regional playoffs and after Monroe had lost to Little Rock 3-1, by making eight errors in one game, the story circulated that Mr. Farr and Coach Woody Boyles, were tired (sic) of staying in Ponchatula and wanted to come home. When the team shoved those words right down the throats of the people who made those statements.

With the Sept. 15 banquet only a few days, why isn't some mention made of Mr. Farr's contributions which have been far more than almost any other group, much less individual. For not only has he obtained the transportation, lodging, meals, uniforms, balls, bats, etc., but it is he and the Legion committee (not the Legion post as a whole) who have arranged for the sponsors, thereby obtaining the wherewithal of the entire program.

YOURS TRULY.

Against Stock Law

Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Recently there appeared an article in your paper written by some gentleman in favor of a statewide stock law, banning livestock from feeding along public highways in Louisiana.

In the article the writer asserted, "There could be no sound reason given in argument against such a law."

There are many reasons why such a law should never be enacted statewide. In many sections of Louisiana her citizens are dependent on free range for their livelihood.

For the most part the land in Louisiana is like the wealth of the entire nation. That is, tied up in the hands of a few people. To knock out free range only the large land holder could have any size herd of cattle, this would have the effect of making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer. There is already too much of that kind of politics in Louisiana.

The article further asserted, "Selfish stock owners are depriving unsuspecting motorists of life when the driver doesn't see an animal before it darts into the auto's path." How can a motorist be "unsuspecting" unless he is illiterate when there are warning signs posted at regular intervals screaming "Drive Careful, Stock at Large."

If the gentleman who made the above statement should be traveling on foot down a dim narrow path obstructed by brush and similar undergrowth, should suddenly come up on warning signs reading, "Be careful this path is highly infested with rattle snakes." I wonder if the gentleman in question could then be classed as "unsuspecting" of danger ahead. I believe his mental capacity would teach him that one mistake in flirting with danger may be the last mistake.

The article further stated, "Cattle locks decidely unsightly along the public highways." It is my contention that the author of the above quoted line didn't intend the sentence to be construed like it sounds. Surely he has more respect for his milk and butter than that. I believe he meant to convey the idea that it looked dangerous for a beautiful herd of cattle to feed along side of unfenced highways. If that is what he meant, we, the cattle loving fellows, will forgive him provided he will not make so rude a statement again.

Yours for free range,

ROY EVANS.

Laws To Keep God Out Of Public Schools

Vidalia, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorial of placing God back in our schools had a good ring in it for these days when we hear so much about Godless communism. We should feel uneasy and mightily disturbed when we send our children to any place where God is not. But why should you feel forced to write such an editorial?

One of the surest ways of making it easy for the Communists to spread their propaganda, or sift their doctrine down into the youth of our country is to forget the reason why our forefathers came to this country in the first place, and why since then we have passed laws in most states to keep God out of our public schools.

There are thousands of children who never hear the mention of God but in a profane way. Thousands who never enter a church. This is a fertile field for communism. Let us not think the Communists will not take advantage of it. If Sen. McCarthy is sincere in running down Communists let him begin where the Bible is a forbidden book by law in the public schools of this country. How can we have God in our public schools without the Bible?

When teachers in all grades will tell you they are forbidden by state law to read a passage of Scripture without comment or to repeat The Lord's Prayer before beginning the day's session, let the committee on un-American activity begin where the seed is being sown. Let the parents who send their children to tax-supported schools wake up to the seriousness of the situation. Our forefathers did not expect the public schools to take the place of the home or the church in religious training, but they knew some children would never hear a prayer or scripture other than that given by a Christian school teacher.

A few years ago the country was startled to read in the newspaper of a little girl who refused to salute the American flag. We did not read that because of that child's religious principles against saluting the American flag, the flag was pulled down and the other pupils forbidden to salute it. But the law says the Bible cannot be read in the public schools because there are those whose religious principles forbid them to hear it read. I can hear the Communists laugh—that is what they are counting on.

Get God back in our tax-supported public schools will be no easy job, Mr. Editor, and its later than you think. Do not blame our faithful schools teachers; their hands are tied. It is up to the parents, taxpayers, public schools supporters, the P.-T. A. members, and those who are really concerned about the danger to the youth of America.

War Ends; Letters Stop

Korea.

Editor, Morning World:

I, like thousands of other G. I.'s serving in Korea today — I say thousands although I know only a few, but am quite sure the rest feel the same as I do and would appreciate hearing from the home town folk more often.

We all realize they are busy making themselves a small fortune due to the war, but thought it would be real nice if they could spare a few precious minutes of their valuable time to make us the happiest men in the world.

It seems that now that the war is over everybody is slowly but surely forgetting us. It is impossible for us to forget them. It seems as if it should work both ways, but while they have their families and close friends with them, we have no one. I said that thinking of the days when you had a buddy one day and the next you didn't.

And that is the reason I say, it is much easier for them to forget, and think that now that we are out of danger, we don't need mail anymore.

Maybe I am wrong and just nervous about the signing of the truce and anticipating the signing of an armistice but it seems that way to me.

Now, we all know that the newspaper is reached by thousands of the good people at home, so I thought if you would publish this it would make an impression on them and help us a lot.

With great respect for the power of the press.

Help Those Who Help Themselves

Albemarle, N. C.

Editor, Morning World:

The NATO and United Nations of Europe have broken down completely. We have poured out great amounts of money to help them economically, and to assist them in building up a strong defense against the possibility of Communist aggression. The grants for economic aid have been little appreciated, and we at the present time have no friends in Europe, except Switzerland, West Germany, Greece and Turkey. In fact these nations are the only ones we could depend on to fight Communist aggression.

Our people have had to pay out large sums in taxes to help France, Italy, and England take care of their government expenses, when the people in Italy and France themselves not only are not paying taxes, but their governments are so insecure that they are afraid to force tax collections from their people. We should not continue to give large amounts to these countries, which are, in truth, not trying very hard to help themselves. Only West Germany has ratified a bill to join the United States of Europe and build their part of the NATO army to protect themselves.

We should, I think, help those countries that have ratified a treaty for mutual defense, but those countries who will not join with the other nations and ratify the treaty to join NATO and the United States of Europe for common defense, should be definitely informed that we will not give any more hand-outs for any purpose, unless they are willing to do something to defend themselves. The countries are, namely, England, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway, and Portugal. I believe it would be very desirable to have Spain in this common defense set-up, if the other nations will agree, and we can come to some workable agreement with Spain.

Junior's "Cadillac"

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Sometime Saturday afternoon, a bicycle was stolen from in front of the Delta Theatre. Now, I know that isn't in the least unusual, but there's a sad story behind it.

The owner of the stolen bike is a stockily built towhead of fourteen. His mother says he is practically self supporting. He works steadily at delivering groceries. He worked hard until he saved $70 to buy his cream and red colored Schwinn bike. That bike is Junior's "Cadillac." It has also been the means of his earning money enough to buy a watch and all his school clothes.

A son like that would make any parent proud.

I am a neighbor, but I am so deeply upset I felt I had to appeal to you fine people of Monroe and its outskirts. Please help Junior find his bike. It isn't just a child's toy — it means so much to him.

I am new in Monroe, but I have every faith that someone will locate this boys bike.

Timmons In Washington

U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The hand of fate, rather than considerations of politics, has a way of shaping the destinies of the United States Supreme Court, the nine man body created by the Constitution to interpret those laws in which constitutional questions are involved.

The unexpected death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson resembled that of his predecessor, Chief Justice Harlan Stone, similarly stricken in 1946, after 21 years service on the court. Stone was a Republican, and the increasing Democratic membership of the court during the Roosevelt years, instead of unifying the tribunal had resulted in dissension which threatened its prestige.

President Truman decided that he could not elevate any of the associate justices to chief justice without accentuating the existing division. His solution was to name his old friend Vinson, who had functioned in the war years as "trouble shooter" for the White House and had shown himself to be a conciliator. Vinson's record as chief justice has borne out that reputation.

With eight Democrats on the court, speculation had recently turned to the first possible Eisenhower appointment, with guesses that it might come near the end of this year, when at least one Democratic associate justice was expected to retire. Vinson's death has given the president his first opportunity to fill a vacancy. For the second time in seven years, fate has played a more important part than politics in shaping the composition of the highest court.

Vinson's death followed by but a few days the announcement of Governor Earl Warren of California, Republican candidate for vice president in 1948, that he would not be a candidate for re-election as governor. Republicans here believed that Warren would be a standout for appointment to the vacancy on the high court, chiefly for political reasons, as Warren has never served in any judicial capacity.

Warren is still tops among the possibilities, but the president's legal advisers can scarcely help but point out his deficiencies in connection with the office of chief justice. The chief justice is usually an eminent lawyer, with an impressive background of service at the bat. Warren's chief asset in that respect is 14 years as attorney general of California.

Though the vote of the chief justice counts no more in decisions than that of his colleagues, his is the task of preventing bitter controversy among his colleagues. Before Vinson's appointment, Associate Justices Hugo Black and Robert H. Jackson were reportedly not speaking to one another and the court was roughly divided into two factions. The division was said to be over personalities, rather than points of law. As a result, the court dropped behind schedule in handling the steady flow of cases. Vinson's term was notable for a restoration of normal functioning.

As only one justice died during Vinson's service, the court is the same with that exception as it was before the late chief justice was named. The same animosities and frictions have merely gone underground, as one observer commented. Since the court is not a partisan body, it remains for President Eisenhower to work out a status quo until fate and retirements permit new appointments to be made.

The tradition that chief justices shall be outstanding legal figures may not be preserved in the new appointment. Prior to Vinson, Justice Stone had been dean of Columbia University Law School, Charles Evans Hughes had been secretary of state, as well as a former associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, William Howard Taft had been president of the United States and Edward White of Louisiana, chief justice from 1910-21, a veteran of the Confederate army, had been an associate justice of Supreme Court of Louisiana and for 16 years an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court.

There is no prospect in sight to match those backgrounds. That is why the president may decide to move up the only Republican member of the court Associate Justice Harold H. Burton of Ohio, an able justice, who has taken no part in the passing feuds. Other possibilities are Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who might decline the post if it were offered, and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, whose experience has been confined to corporation law.

In contrast with the sudden deaths of the last two incumbents, the office of chief justice has a remarkable record for longevity.

Editorials

How Right You Are

Not too long ago, this newspaper received a letter from one of its readers, discussing the editorial "Bring God Back To The Classroom." It stated with a great deal of accuracy that before God should be brought back to the classroom, He should be brought back into the homes of this nation.

The author of the letter is correct in that God should be brought into the home, as a matter of fact, should never have left it, if indeed, it can be said that He has.

God is everywhere and in all homes. It is in the minds of His creatures, mankind, that He sometimes does not always exist. It is because He has been driven out of these minds by lesser and material things, that many people have the feeling that God no longer is in the homes of many American people. The fountainhead of trouble in any home, no matter what that trouble is, is a result of forgetting God. A good example is a case where two people are about to separate their lives, to terminate a marriage which is an oath taken before God Himself, that this marriage will never be destroyed by human force.

No matter how mortal the sin committed against either party, a thought or two back to the happy day when love was abundant, and the parties took their vows, should make them think twice. You can see, how in such a case as that, God could save something basically good.

This nation is faced with something today which it has never faced before. There is no knowledge in any book on American history where the United States has had to fight an idea, an ideology which cunningly uses the mind instead of the bayonet. This is a nation of fighters, at least, it used to be. The American people would fight anything in their paths which represented a threat to the freedom and the security of their people. However, they could always see and recognize their adversaries who wore a uniform, or carried guns or other weapons. It was a direct and militant threat. Something that was tangible.

Now, there is a more sinister danger which is not always wearing a uniform, which does not carry guns and weapons until it has to in the end. It represents a threat more fearful than any ever facing this nation. It is more despicable because it not only represents a threat to you, and your nation, but it is a direct threat to your God. It holds that there is no God but the state. It says religion is the poison of the people.

As soldiers of God, you must fight this force which threatens your Maker and His creations. That fight, needless to say, must begin at home. Did you realize that every time you break a commandment, a law of God, that you have struck a blow for Marxism? No, it is believed that you probably never figured it that way. It's the truth however. Everytime you forget God and break a commandment, that forgetfulness is a sign that you have failed temporarily as a soldier of God and right now, there can be no failures.

You are put here but for a short period of time. In that period, but a fraction of a second, geologically speaking, you must touch the stars. Your record will be inscribed in the records of time. God watches you, and there is not a person reading this today, who, somewhere, doesn't know it. Those who fear God have cause to fear Him. Those who love God will fight for Him and there is no place like home to begin that fight.

Today, the fight for the minds of men progresses. It is a fight conducted on one side by mortals, who fear God as no men have ever feared Him in history, their fear is so great that they actually chide themselves into believing there is no God. Now and then, a few of them return from this land "across the way" and in their last gasps of breath, come back to the fold. Why do not they do this in the earlier years? This fight is conducted by men who will, in their terrible fear, fight for an earthly cause with a zeal never before seen in history.

On the other side are God's soldiers, committed to the battle against sin and evil no matter where that may break out. They are committed to this, a fight to the finish.

Your home, the beginning of all life for your family, the earliest training grounds for your children, should be regarded as a maneuvering area for the soldiers of God. Your childen should be the candidates for positions in His army and you, the parents, should be the instructors. On your training, will rest the future success of God's army. In this battle, there can be no failures. Your children look to you for this training, and you should give it to them to the best of your ability.

Unfortunately, the records speak for themselves. On every side, one can see the inroads made in the ranks of God's soldiers. There is crime, blasphemy and corruption all over the world. Do you think this is not blow after blow in the fight, blows struck against God's army? Where do you think it started? In a motion picture house? In a restaurant? In a football arena?

No, it started at home because there were those who did not receive the right training and who, ill equipped mentally to face the battle, succumb before the onslaught of the foe who fights with such great fervor. Therefore, the fight correctly begins in your home. From there, your children march to their various tasks in the knowledge that there is a God and He is always present. With this knowledge and with His commandments always in mind, there can be no Communists, no Marxists, as the very foundation of that sordid evil is destroyed. With this knowledge, there can be no crime, as that is a breaking of the commandments.

There can be no conscientious objectors in this fight. The fight is on, and upon its end result, clearly depends your future. If the forces of evil win, communism will sweep the earth. It will destroy you, your loved ones, and all that you hold dear. Is this what you want? Do you want this to happen? There are few men who will agree.

Therefore, those who haven't enlisted, examine your consciences and you will find that there are but two courses. The right way, and the wrong way. It is up to you. Should you choose the right way, God's way, start equipping your youngsters in His uniform, arm them with His teachings and His word, and you will have nothing to fear.

Citizens, all the world is a battlefield in this war for men's minds. The choice is there. On which hill will you stand and in whose ranks will you serve?

The home is your fortress. Your mind is your haven for God. Do not drive Him out.

On Him, rests your salvation; your eternal life.

Have You Ever?

Have you ever flown over a city, or a town, glanced at the buildings and the houses, and the autos which seem to crawl over the roads as ants on threads of string? Have you ever wondered what goes on in the minds of all the little humans below?

You, far above all the worldly cares for at least a little while, can survey the world. You can see into the minds of men down on the earth, if only in imagination.

Far below, in a never ending expanse, are the millions of cares and woes of the little people who live their lives not realizing that above them, flies an individual who is baring open their minds and their very lives. Far below the beautiful metal bird which eagerly surges forward into the space and time, are people whose problems seem so very important, whose cares seem so awe inspiring and overreaching, that they are the only cares in the world.

You see, the man who flies above all these cares and woes, no matter how great they may be, knows that there are millions of them. He is the man who can see the stars and is, as a matter of fact, in between the stars and all that is the trial of living on the earth beneath.

Have you ever, as you were flying along, compared sizes? There's the new house on the hill, great and beautiful, and there's the smaller, shabbier house on the lowland. Is there much difference in their relative size when viewed from far aloft? Is it not what is inside the houses below that really matters?

As you fly along, and the day ends, the stars are twinkling above and the lights below, you seem suspended between two layers of lights. You wonder what goes on down there, and you wonder what is happening above. You know approximately what is taking place below, the people coming home from work to a family. The problems of living going on as always, but you don't know what is happening above.

There, the millions of stars shine in the evening sky. Are there on those stars, people with the same kind of lives, the same cares and worries as those below? Are there the brightly lighted, warm and comfortable homes, the big homes, the little homes. . .?

Are there the same kind of men flying in airplanes looking at their world stretched lazily beneath the growing darkness? It all seems so small, doesn't it?

Have you ever wondered?

Have you ever . . .

A Change In Opinion

There is a saying here and there now that the GOP has fallen in love with Joe McCarthy. Why, even the justice department, headed by Attorney General Brownell, Thomas Dewey's henchman in Washington, has let his department "clear" him after his FBI director praised the Wisconsin Communist hunter.

Times change, and people change with them. Seems like only yesterday that there were many Republicans as well as many Democrats denouncing McCarthy. Things have certainly changed and now, great goodness, they even want him to make speeches for the party. Senator McCarthy has agreed to do this with great fervor, as if he wouldn't have done it anyway.

Perhaps the Republican party is realizing what many people have known for a long time was the truth. Senator McCarthy's services are valuable to his nation and the Senator is working in the best interests of his United States. Not only that, but even more surprises were in store for the party when its leaders shoved the pink cloud away, and saw that not only was the Senator's work effective, he was popular to a degree never imagined. This popularity has awakened the party leaders to a great many things, and slowly but surely, the changes are being made.

Watch and see, watch and see. There has been a change in opinion in the ranks of the GOP leaders.

It is a decided change for the better.

'I Thought So'

Martin Durkin, the Secretary of Labor appointed by the President, has resigned. He resigned because he declared that the President failed to live up to his pledge that he would change, or ask for changes, in the Taft-Hartley bill. Durkin asserted that the President had "backed out of a pledge" to have the bill changed.

Actually, the President never could have had the bill changed. That's the job of Congress. If he thought the bill was good for the benefit of the nation the way it presently stands, he said so. There must be many staunch Republicans who, shocked at the initial appointment of a partisan Democrat, one who has obviously been recalled to the ranks of the party to describe the horrors of being connected with "all those Republicans", will now be able to say, "I thought so", or "I told you so."

The former Secretary, who actually worked for Eisenhower's defeat in the last election, was appointed because the President personally thought it was the best thing for the benefit of his nation. He did this against a storm of criticism from his party and from those Americans who wanted to exclude the leftists from the ranks of the new government.

The thanks he received for his decision and his appointment is now, obvious. In the near future, especially when the Democratic party has its proposed rally, you will probably hear this refugee from the administration ranks, a "valiant soldier" who "did what he could to make the Republicans act right" denounce his former associates, and with the information he presently has at his disposal, information which should probably be classified, denounce the policies of the administration. Not that the information would hurt the administration, but it apparently disagrees with that philosophy held by Martin Durkin.

No one actually knows what the former Secretary will say, but you never can tell.

The initial decision was apparently a bad one.

Public Forum—Voice Of All The People

Editorial Reprinted In Catholic Action

Alexandria, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Please accept my congratulations for your editorial, asking return of God to the classrooms, which I read, reprinted, in Catholic Action of the South, Sept. 3rd, 1953.

You really deserve a blessing from God, and I am sure you have the blessing from all God fearing and God loving children all over the world, for God loves children.

Nowadays, when the world is so Godless, it is refreshing to see some one like you sponsoring such a noble cause, so fearlessly. I say fearlessly, because the enemies of God are so bold that to challenge them today is to bring wrath from the majority of our people, that are so materialistic. I share your views one hundred per cent and may I tell you, I introduced a motion in our Knight of Columbus Council, Bishop Van de Van, No. 3200, Alexandria, La., to work with our lawmakers in Louisiana and the United States to have the Ten Commandments of God on a plaque, placed side by side, with the American flag in every school room in our land, the letters large enough to be read from any part of these school rooms, which would not violate any law or offend any faith. At least, this would give our children a chance to know God's Laws. It was approved unanimously and it was then brought up at our state convention and it was approved without dissent. Again it was brought to our national convention, representing over 800,000 men, and again it was approved. But, sir, it was never publicized outside of a few Catholic Weeklies and Mr. Adrás Laborde, Alexandria Daily Town Talk, manager, who is a friend of mine, had it in the International News.

Sir, you have the moral and religious fortitude, together with the instrument (newspaper) to continue your fight for the children that they may have a chance to know God. For Jesus said, Deny not the children to come unto Me.

I beg God's blessing on you and your newspaper.

American Legion Baseball

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In all the tumult and praise-giving over the fine showing that the local American Legion Junior baseball team made this season there has been one person whose part in the success of the program has been, for the most part, completely overlooked. And if any one individual could be singled out and delegated for bravery beyond the call of duty, it is this man. I am speaking of R. D. Farr, Jr., chairman of the Junior Baseball committee of the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion.

Mr. Farr has served in this capacity for six consecutive seasons during which time he has never missed a game the local Legion team has played, whether it be against a Fifth District opponent, or at Sumter, S. C. Consequently, his own business has suffered considerably from his absence during this time. Mr. Farr first became acquainted with the program back in the 1950's when he was a member of the local team and he has maintained this intense interest through the intervening years.

Yet in all the publicity which has come forth about the 1953 edition, there has been only a cursory mention of Mr. Farr's connection with the club.

It is he who arranges all the transportation, lodging and meals for the club. It is he who answers to the thousands of people who ask thousands of questions. It is he who must patiently explain to parents why this is being done with their child.

I personally have no ax to grind in this matter. I have been a resident of the Twin Cities for four years through my capacity as business manager of the Monroe Sports I have watched Mr. Farr's earnest endeavors in the furtherance of Legion ball without any of the plaudits which should have come his way. "A prophet is without honor in his own country." Never was this saying truer than in the case of Mr. Farr.

The American Legion baseball program is a worthwhile endeavor, perhaps none more so in this nation as far as teaching sportsmanship is concerned. And that is one of the things that escapes too many of us. The prime ideal behind the program is not to win, but how to play the game.

But withal I try and temper my desire to win when it comes to Little League, Little Bigger League or Legion ball, for in those categories, the idea is to teach the youngsters sportsmanship as well as the fundamentals of playing the game.

I have gone into this as a prelude to explaining two instances which were brought to Mr. Farr's attention during the preliminaries leading up to that climatic game on Aug. 28 in Sumter. Prior to the finals for the Louisiana state title, it was bruited about that since Monroe had played the first game in New Orleans and the last two in Monroe in 1952, Mr. Farr was going to reverse the procedure this year without a flip of the coin. This was a reflection on Mr. Farr and, while it would have been a prime example of the sportsmanship about which I have been writing, it was not true. Yet the story was spread in the Twin Cities and elicited many remarks which reflected on Mr. Farr's loyalty to the team. Frankly, I found such behavior repugnant to the ideals of Legion ball.

Then, in Ponchatula, during the regional playoffs and after Monroe had lost to Little Rock 3-1, by making eight errors in one game, the story circulated that Mr. Farr and Coach Woody Boyles, were tired (sic) of staying in Ponchatula and wanted to come home. When the team shoved those words right down the throats of the people who made those statements.

With the Sept. 15 banquet only a few days, why isn't some mention made of Mr. Farr's contributions which have been far more than almost any other group, much less individual. For not only has he obtained the transportation, lodging, meals, uniforms, balls, bats, etc., but it is he and the Legion committee (not the Legion post as a whole) who have arranged for the sponsors, thereby obtaining the wherewithal of the entire program.

YOURS TRULY.

Against Stock Law

Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Recently there appeared an article in your paper written by some gentleman in favor of a statewide stock law, banning livestock from feeding along public highways in Louisiana.

In the article the writer asserted, "There could be no sound reason given in argument against such a law."

There are many reasons why such a law should never be enacted statewide. In many sections of Louisiana her citizens are dependent on free range for their livelihood.

For the most part the land in Louisiana is like the wealth of the entire nation. That is, tied up in the hands of a few people. To knock out free range only the large land holder could have any size herd of cattle, this would have the effect of making the poor man poorer and the rich man richer. There is already too much of that kind of politics in Louisiana.

The article further asserted, "Selfish stock owners are depriving unsuspecting motorists of life when the driver doesn't see an animal before it darts into the auto's path." How can a motorist be "unsuspecting" unless he is illiterate when there are warning signs posted at regular intervals screaming "Drive Careful, Stock at Large."

If the gentleman who made the above statement should be traveling on foot down a dim narrow path obstructed by brush and similar undergrowth, should suddenly come up on warning signs reading, "Be careful this path is highly infested with rattle snakes." I wonder if the gentleman in question could then be classed as "unsuspecting" of danger ahead. I believe his mental capacity would teach him that one mistake in flirting with danger may be the last mistake.

The article further stated, "Cattle looks decidely unsightly along the public highways." It is my contention that the author of the above quoted line didn't intend the sentence to be construed like it sounds. Surely he has more respect for his milk and butter than that. I believe he meant to convey the idea that it looked dangerous for a beautiful herd of cattle to feed along side of unfenced highways. If that is what he meant, we, the cattle loving fellows, will forgive him provided he will not make so rude a statement again.

Yours for free range,

ROY EVANS.

Laws To Keep God Out Of Public Schools

Vidalia, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Your editorial of placing God back in our schools had a good ring in it for these days when we hear so much about Godless communism. We should feel uneasy and mightily disturbed when we send our children to any place where God is not. But why should you feel forced to write such an editorial?

One of the surest ways of making it easy for the Communists to spread their propaganda, or sift their doctrine down into the youth of our country is to forget the reason why our forefathers came to this country in the first place, and why since then we have passed laws in most states to keep God out of our public schools.

There are thousands of children who never hear the mention of God but in a profane way. Thousands who never enter a church. This is a fertile field for communism. Let us not think the Communists will not take advantage of it. If Sen. McCarthy is sincere in running down Communists let him begin where the Bible is a forbidden book by law in the public schools of this country. How can we have God in our public schools without the Bible?

When teachers in all grades will tell you they are forbidden by state law to read a passage of Scripture without comment or to repeat The Lord's Prayer before beginning the day's session, let the committee on un-American activity begin where the seed is being sown. Let the parents who send their children to tax-supported schools wake up to the seriousness of the situation. Our forefathers did not expect the public schools to take the place of the home or the church in religious training, but they knew some children would never hear a prayer or scripture other than that given by a Christian school teacher.

A few years ago the country was startled to read in the newspaper of a little girl who refused to salute the American flag. We did not read that because of that child's religious principles against saluting the American flag, the flag was pulled down and the other pupils forbidden to salute it. But the law says the Bible cannot be read in the public schools because there are those whose religious principles forbid them to hear it read. I can hear the Communists laugh—that is what they are counting on.

Get God back in our tax-supported public schools will be no easy job, Mr. Editor, and its later than you think. Do not blame our faithful schools teachers; their hands are tied. It is up to the parents, taxpayers, public schools supporters, the P.-T. A. members, and those who are really concerned about the danger to the youth of America.

War Ends; Letters Stop

Korea.

Editor, Morning World:

I, like thousands of other G. I.'s serving in Korea today — I say thousands although I know only a few, but am quite sure the rest feel the same as I do and would appreciate hearing from the home town folk more often.

We all realize they are busy making themselves a small fortune due to the war, but thought it would be real nice if they could spare a few precious minutes of their valuable time to make us the happiest men in the world.

It seems that now that the war is over everybody is slowly but surely forgetting us. It is impossible for us to forget them. It seems as if it should work both ways, but while they have their families and close friends with them, we have no one. I said that thinking of the days when you had a buddy one day and the next you didn't.

And that is the reason I say, it is much easier for them to forget, and think that now that we are out of danger, we don't need mail anymore.

Maybe I am wrong and just nervous about the signing of the truce and anticipating the signing of an armistice but it seems that way to me.

Now, we all know that the newspaper is reached by thousands of the good people at home, so I thought if you would publish this it would make an impression on them and help us a lot.

With great respect for the power of the press.

Help Those Who Help Themselves

Albemarle, N. C.

Editor, Morning World:

The NATO and United Nations of Europe have broken down completely. We have poured out great amounts of money to help them economically, and to assist them in building up a strong defense against the possibility of Communist aggression. The grants for economic aid have been little appreciated, and we at the present time have no friends in Europe, except Switzerland, West Germany, Greece and Turkey. In fact these nations are the only ones we could depend on to fight Communist aggression.

Our people have had to pay out large sums in taxes to help France, Italy, and England take care of their government expenses, when the people in Italy and France themselves not only are not paying taxes, but their governments are so insecure that they are afraid to force tax collections from their people. We should not continue to give large amounts to these countries, which are, in truth, not trying very hard to help themselves. Only West Germany has ratified a bill to join the United States of Europe and build their part of the NATO army to protect themselves.

We should, I think, help those countries that have ratified a treaty for mutual defense, but those countries who will not join with the other nations and ratify the treaty to join NATO and the United States of Europe for common defense, should be definitely informed that we will not give any more hand-outs for any purpose, unless they are willing to do something to defend themselves. The countries are, namely, England, France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway, and Portugal. I believe it would be very desirable to have Spain in this common defense set-up, if the other nations will agree, and we can come to some workable agreement with Spain.

Junior's "Cadillac"

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Sometime Saturday afternoon, a bicycle was stolen from in front of the Delta Theatre. Now, I know that isn't in the least unusual, but there's a sad story behind it.

The owner of the stolen bike is a stockily built towhead of fourteen. His mother says he is practically self supporting. He works steadily at delivering groceries. He worked hard until he saved $70 to buy his cream and red colored Schwinn bike. That bike is Junior's "Cadillac." It has also been the means of his earning money enough to buy a watch and all his school clothes.

A son like that would make any parent proud.

I am a neighbor, but I am so deeply upset I felt I had to appeal to you fine people of Monroe and its outskirts. Please help Junior find his bike. It isn't just a child's toy — it means so much to him.

I am new in Monroe, but I have every faith that someone will locate this boys bike.

MRS. A. BAIN.

(Editor's Note—Thanks ot the sharp eyes of the West Monroe police department the bicycle has been recovered and returned to its rightful owner.)

U. S. Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The hand of fate, rather than considerations of politics, has a way of shaping the destinies of the United States Supreme Court, the nine man body created by the Constitution to interpret those laws in which constitutional questions are involved.

The unexpected death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson resembled that of his predecessor, Chief Justice Harlan Stone, similarly stricken in 1946, after 21 years service on the court. Stone was a Republican, and the increasing Democratic membership of the court during the Roosevelt years, instead of unifying the tribunal had resulted in dissension which threatened its prestige.

President Truman decided that he could not elevate any of the associate justices to chief justice without accentuating the existing division. His solution was to name his old friend Vinson, who had functioned in the war years as "trouble shooter" for the White House and had shown himself to be a conciliator. Vinson's record as chief justice has borne out that reputation.

With eight Democrats on the court, speculation had recently turned to the first possible Eisenhower appointment, with guesses that it might come near the end of this year, when at least one Democratic associate justice was expected to retire. Vinson's death has given the president his first opportunity to fill a vacancy. For the second time in seven years, fate has played a more important part than politics in shaping the composition of the highest court.

Vinson's death followed by but a few days the announcement of Governor Earl Warren of California, Republican candidate for vice president in 1948, that he would not be a candidate for re-election as governor. Republicans here believed that Warren would be a standout for appointment to the vacancy on the high court, chiefly for political reasons, as Warren has never served in any judicial capacity.

Warren is still tops among the possibilities, but the president's legal advisers can scarcely help but point out his deficiencies in connection with the office of chief justice. The chief justice is usually an eminent lawyer, with an impressive background of service at the bat. Warren's chief asset in that respect is 14 years as attorney general of California.

Though the vote of the chief justice counts no more in decisions than that of his colleagues, his is the task of preventing bitter controversy among his colleagues. Before Vinson's appointment, Associate Justices Hugo Black and Robert H. Jackson were reportedly not speaking to one another and the court was roughly divided into two factions. The division was said to be over personalities, rather than points of law. As a result, the court dropped behind schedule in handling the steady flow of cases. Vinson's term was notable for a restoration of normal functioning.

As only one justice died during Vinson's service, the court is the same with that exception as it was before the late chief justice was named. The same animosities and frictions have merely gone underground, as one observer commented. Since the court is not a partisan body, it remains for President Eisenhower to work out a status quo until fate and retirements permit new appointments to be made.

The tradition that chief justices shall be outstanding legal figures may not be preserved in the new appointment. Prior to Vinson, Justice Stone had been dean of Columbia University Law School, Charles Evans Hughes had been secretary of state, as well as a former associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, William Howard Taft had been president of the United States and Edward White of Louisiana, chief justice from 1910-21, a veteran of the Confederate army, had been an associate justice of Supreme Court of Louisiana and for 16 years an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court.

There is no prospect in sight to match those backgrounds. That is why the president may decide to move up the only Republican member of the court Associate Justice Harold H. Burton of Ohio, an able justice, who has taken no part in the passing feuds. Other possibilities are Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who might decline the post if it were offered, and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, whose experience has been confined to corporation law.

In contrast with the sudden deaths of the last two incumbents, the office of chief justice has a remarkable record for longevity.

Legion Baseball Tickets On Sale

A testimonial banquet in honor of the American Legion Junior Baseball Team Regional Champions has been set for Tuesday night at 7:00 p. m. at the Frances Roof.

Each of the team's players will get a gold plaque and the Ford Motor Co. will present a trophy to the team. Peacocks Jewelry Co. will give a watch to the team's most valuable player who will be named the night of the banquet. In addition, several other awards will be given, parents of the players will be recognized and the automotive dealers who financed the team will be presented.

Tickets for the banquet are now on sale at the following establishments: Squenchy's, Sig Haas, Kraus and Kahn, Mike Johns, Saul Adlers, Haddad Bros. and Twin City Printing Co. Price of the tickets is $5.00 and must be purchased prior to 4 p. m. Monday.

Ball Players To Be Honor Guests At Banquet Here

"Final plans for the "testimonial banquet" honoring the local American Legion baseball team have been completed," T. Mickel, post-commander of the American Legion announced, "and Tuesday at 7 o.m. in Hotel Frances the big affair will climax an overdue ovation for the young ball players."

Irving Zeidman, local sportscaster and radio personality, has the role of toastmaster at the banquet; while Lawrence Gibbs, an earnest team supporter and sports commentator, will handle the presentation of awards portion of the program.

Chamber officials revealed that tickets to the baseball banquet have been "moving" very rapidly, but that about 40 additional reservations could be accepted before the Monday noon deadline.

"The team members and their families will really have the spotlight," Bill Jackson, chairman of the New Car Franchise Dealers Association stated, "and our organization in the capacity of a co-sponsor of this event with the local American Legion Post, certainly considers it a treat to have been a part of the baseball organization."

A number of presentations will highlight the testimonial affair including special awards by the Legion post, the special Ford Motor Company award, gifts by two local firms and a number of associated prizes.

The players to be honored include: Garry Huckaby, Bobby Jo Dunn, Tommy Boyles Fred Frickie, Chubby Johnston, Bill Hardy, Wayne Causey, Ike McMullin, Larry Reeves, Jeff Spence, Gene Barham, Red Swanson, Wayne Hendrix.

"Coach Woody Boyles, enthusiastic leader of the squad through its most successful season, is indeed due a low bow of appreciation from baseball lovers," T. Mickel, post commander said, "and, at this banquet our deep appreciation for his efforts and leadership will be adequately amplified."

Officials of the affair plan a variety of entertainment, in order to present a well - balanced program.

Individuals not having acquired tickets may telephone the Chamber of Commerce offices, 3-3461, and make reservations through 12 00 noon Monday.

"We must close our deadline on September 14," Mickel stated, "even though we would like to accommodate scores of baseball lovers who have made tentative plans to attend if commitments of business don't interfere at the last minute, yet reservations must be made within accordance with the announced close - out date."

Legion Seeks Membership Of High Type Vets

The L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion in Monroe is now engaged in its annual drive for membership.

"During this drive" states T. Mikel, post commander, "we are anxious to attract the type of veteran who will join with us in being of real service to our community. In this organization there exists great opportunities for veterans of both World Wars and the Korean War to do something for our hometown.

"Everything the Legion does is for community service. This includes child welfare, rehabilitation, junior baseball, traffic safety and many others, all designed to make better some phase of hometown life.

"There are many veterans waiting to be asked to join up, yet the tremendous task of contacting the more than 10,000 veterans in Ouachita Parish would be time consuming and difficult. We ask that those veterans not wait for a personal call but consider this their invitation to join now. Those interested are directed to call or write to H. B. McClendon, second floor, Ouachita Parish Court House, phone 5470.

"Regular meetings of Post No. 13 are held on the first and third Monday nights of each month. The next meeting will be on Oct. 21. Veterans are invited to meet with us," Mickel concluded.

Special Social Welfare Course Will Be Offered

Northeast State will offer for the first time as a special class Sociology 125, an introduction to social welfare work.

Organization of the class is scheduled Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium on the college campus. The group will meet weekly on that day from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

The course will carry three semester hours of credit.

Requests for the class result from the interest in social welfare as a profession, a field in which the demand for increased workers is anticipated, officials explained.

Continued requests for social welfare studies have brought about the inauguration of a pre-professional curriculum in social welfare at Northeast. The four-year course initiated this fall has been approved by the State Department of Education.

Classes are designed to fill the needs of persons now doing work in that field and those who are anticipating social welfare as a career. This new course may be scheduled, however, by students not interested in considering this type of work as a vocation.

Sociology 125 will serve in the preparation for graduate study in social welfare at Louisiana State University and Tulane University besides out-of-state schools.

This special class and the new pre-professional curriculum in social welfare are offered as a service to Northeast Louisiana. Through the use of the local college's facilities, persons in neighboring parishes, as well as Ouachita, may be qualified to hold positions in this particular field.

The class will be taught by John Pritchett of the Northeast faculty who majored in social sciences at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. He assisted in directing last spring at Northeast State a workshop in social studies.

with the party, and there will be a short talk or two but not too heavy or boring.

At the close the election of officers will take place. It will be a great night for all who attend and all men of the church and other friends are invited.

Not that they stand in greater need than other teachers, but just to make a start off, the Gideons of Monroe presented 54 Bibles to teachers of the new West Monroe High School faculty in a special meeting the past week. It was a fine gesture and is calculated to emphasize the need of this Book of Books for daily use by all who are leaders of the coming generation.

Gideons who participated were: Charles Chisholm, Horace Eyre, W. E. (Bill) Bennett, C. O. Ringwald, H. K. Litton and E. R. Dawson.

The matter of city zoning will be discussed in West Monroe when its aldermen meet this week. It is desired to keep certain parts of the city free of undesirable business projects. This is specially true of the area near the new high school.

Zoning across the river in Monroe has often been discussed but never put into effect and as a result we have many unsightly places that mar the landscape. Seems that it might be a good thing to think about some zoning for Monroe at this time. We can't let West Monroe get ahead of us!

Jack Hesketh is back with his family after a trip to Rhode Island. His new Buick car performed at its best, he states, and they drove over the skyline drive in Virginia and on into Washington, D. C., where they saw the sights. Then they took the New Jersey turnpike through that state to the George Washington Bridge.

Only two complaints were made by Jack. He said the weather was fearfully hot in New England all the time they were there. The other complaint was over the highways in Virginia where there were many detours required because the roads were being widened and rerouted in many places to provide for the great influx of automobiles these days.

Fire At Auto Shop

Fire damaged a shed at the Ritter Auto Shop, 1919 DeSiard Street, yesterday afternoon. An old car that was housed in the shed was also damaged.

Fire trucks 103 and 105 answered the alarm at 2:55 p. m. Firemen extinguished the flames within a half hour, returning to the station at 3:35.

No estimate of the damage was available.

Brian To Join Staff At College

Geoge Craft Brian, Jr., has been appointed assistant professor of speech at Northeast State, President Lewis C. Slater announced. His duties begin here with the opening of the fall semester.

Brian received both the B.S. and M.A. degrees at Louisiana State University, where he majored in speech during his graduate study. He plans to continue work toward the Ph. D. degree.

The newcomer's experiences include teaching and a variety of others closely associated with dramatic art.

He was an instructor at Jefferson Military College in 1947, then he did work as a graduate assistant in speech at L.S.U. besides teaching speech classes at the YWCA.

During his student days at the University he acted in more major productions on the campus than any person ever attending L.S.U.

Directing drama also became a significant force in his life. Several years ago the Little Theatre of Baton Rouge needed a director. He answered the call, used the movie theatre at Harding Field, and continued enthusiastically to produce sixteen plays. It was a happy experience for him to see the membership grow from 300 to 2,500.

Not only does he enjoy acting, directing and serving as technician, but he says the theatre has meant a great deal to him "because of the many friends I have made there." Some of these are professional actors known in summer stock theatre where he has played.

Brian's other interests include radio, television and motion pictures.

His wife is a speech graduate of North Texas State Teachers College. They nave an infant daughter, Carol Lynn.

Deaths

W. B. MCKINNIE

FARMERVILLE, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Late tonight arrangements for funeral services for W. B. McKinnie, 69, who died of a heart attack Saturday afternoon at his residence in Marion, were incomplete. However, services will be held Monday at Liberty Baptist Church, with interment in Liberty Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick's Funeral Home of Farmerville.

McKinnie is survived by his wife, Ethel McKinnie, Marion; four sons, A. L. McKinnie, West Monroe; W. P. McKinnie and B. E. McKinnie, both of Marion, and E. B. McKinnie, Dubach; two daughters, Mrs. Otto Pate, Conroe, Tex., and Mrs. A. A. Cobb, Farmerville; one brother, Johnnie McKinnie, Marion; four sisters, Mrs. Sally Graves, Mrs. E. E. Booth, Mrs. J. P. Reppond, and Mrs. D. G. Russell, all of Marion; 17 grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

Complete funeral arrangements will be announced later.

F. W. WELLS

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Funeral services for F. W. Wells, 84, who died in a Hodge hospital Saturday, will be held Sunday, 3:30 p. m. at the Jonesboro Baptist Church with the Rev. John Hunt officiating. Interment will be in Jonesboro Cemetery under the direction of the Southern Funeral Home.

Wells is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. M. Honeycutt, Jonesboro; one son, Alvin Wells Stuttgart, Ark.; five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

GLENDA ANN HALL

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Funeral services for Glenda Ann Hall, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall, Houston, Texas, who died in a Jonesboro hospital Saturday, will be held Sunday, at 11 a. m. at the Zion Rest Church, Jonesboro with the Rev. A. E. Brown officiating. Interment will be in Zion Rest Cemetery under the direction of the Southern Funeral Home.

Surviving are the parents, two sisters, Sharon and Vickie Hall; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Henderson and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hall, all of Jonesboro.

Special Classes To Include Course In Physical Geology

The class will be organized Monday at 7:30 p. m. in room 210 of the science building, with the college instructor, John H. McCarter, Jr., in charge.

Requests for the course have come from in-service teachers, oil companies and other industrial plants in this area. The study will fill the requirement as a physical science.

Three semester hours of credit will be granted for the course, with the group meeting one night weekly for approximately two and one-half hours. The night and time schedule will be determined by the class at its first meeting.

Fundamentals of geology are to be stressed, with emphasis placed on physical features of North America, agents of erosion such as wind, waves, rivers and glaciers, types of rocks, and forces which cause mountain building and volcanic action.

The course will include field trips, demonstrations, displays of minerals and rocks, and the use of film recently obtained by the Northeast library.

McCarter, assistant professor of geology, has served as an instructor in his special field of interest and he had six years of experience with the Louisiana Geological Survey. He has worked in the parishes of Ouachita and Lincoln and surrounding area.

More Reds

first dispositions among more than 23,000 Reds who renounced Red rule after being captured during the Korean war. The nine changed their minds again after being brought to U. N. stockades in the demilitarized zone.

The neutral nations repatriation commission promptly heard their verbal applications and decided unanimously to hand over the nine to the Communists today.

In contrast, a long period of dickering and investigation probably lay ahead in determining the fate of the 917 Americans, with no guarante, how many of them may still be alive.

The junior Van Fleet's name was on a Pentagon list made public Saturday, U. S. date, after notification of next of kin. It contained 309 Air Force names and brought to 917 the total announced in Washington.

Earlier this week the U. N. Command announced that it had demanded of the Reds at Panmunjom that they account for 944 Americans. In Washington, Pentagon officials said the whole list still was being studied to determine if there are any more names than the 917.

The fact that the Pentagon list fell 27 short of 944 suggested last minute changes, including possibly some verified deaths.

Young Van Fleet and two crew members reportedly crashed while on the Sunchon mission. An Air Force spokesman in Washington said Van Fleet's name was included in today's list because the skimpy information on the crash was that one man was killed and the other two apparently survived.

The Air Force possessed no known evidence Van Fleet actually was captured. It just presumed he was—if he lived.

At the time his father commanded the U. S. 8th Army in Korea.

The new Pentagon list also contained the name of Capt. Harold Fischer, of Swea City, Ia., whose Saber jet was shot down by the Reds last April after he had compiled a record of 10 Russian-built MIG jet kills.

In the transcript released today it was disclosed that Miss Ball, star of the "I Love Lucy" TV show, admitted that she registered March 19, 1936 to vote for the Communist ticket.

First Light Snowfall Of Season In Midwest

The Midwest's first light snow of the season fell Saturday near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., as cool Canadian air pushed south across the Northern Great Plains and the Great Lakes.

Temperatures fell as much as 30 degrees as the cool front advanced. Readings ranged from the low 40s near Lake Superior to the mid 60s in the Central Plains. Showers hit Michigan and northern Indiana.

The warmest readings were in the Southwest. El Centro, Calif., and Gila Bend, Ariz., recorded 106.

Skies were mostly fair over the West and South but considerable cloudiness covered the Northeast.

5 Student Nurses To Be Assigned To Charity Here

Five students from the School of Nursing at Northwestern State College will enter the Monroe division of the school at E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital.

They are Christine Bishop, West Monroe; Alice Bobbitt, DeQuincy; LaVeda Cherry, Taylor, Ark.; Charlotte Foster, Calhoun and Connie Williams, Elizabeth.

These girls are recipients of $500 scholarships from the E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital, and all plan to continue their education through the senior year to receive B. S. degrees in nursing.

According to Dorothy P. Tayrien, director of the Monroe division of the School of Nursing, the girls who have a satisfactory scholastic record will be privileged to work part time in the hospital and will be paid according to their professional knowledge at that period of their training.

They will also be able to take their theory course in obstetric nursing in the new obstetrical addition at the Memorial Hospital. Formerly, Monroe division students were sent to the Baton Rouge General Hospital for these courses, Miss Tayrien added.

Troy Elected To Insurance Board

R. M. Troy, Monroe insurance agent, was elected to the Board of Directors of the Louisiana Association of Mutual Insurance Agents yesterday at the organization's annual meeting at Alexandria.

Keith D. Peterson, Shreveport was elected president of the association. Other officers elected included Floyd Meaux, Lafayette, first vice president; W. J. Moreau, Lake Charles, second vice president, and Maurice M. Cable, New Orleans, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to Troy, members elected to the Board of Directors include William S. Vincent, New Orleans; J. B. Nichols, Baton Rouge; William B. Coleman, Lake Charles; and S. C. Fullilove.

Shake-Up Of

their lives and the distribution is averaging 60,000 to 70,000 packages a day.

Those who come over and get back regard the whole adventure as almost routine in an area of synthetic borders that have taken on a fixed atmosphere after eight postwar years.

But Western officials believe there have been casualties.

German witnesses reported only this morning an outbreak of shooting just beyond Potsdamer Platz, where the Russian, American and British sectors meet. The gunfire ripped through the bombed out Wertheim, once Berlin's greatest department store.

The Germans who reported the incident to the West police said they saw some persons fleeing into the ruins, perhaps on their last dash toward the West. A few minutes later the Communist police opened fire. They emerged from the ruins carrying a body.

A mile away, near the Brandenburg Gate frontier, the Red police shot at several Germans headed West, but missed.

The West Berlin police blotter is dotted with reports of additional outbreaks of gunfire, but the details of what actually happens inside the East frontier are seldom available.

Underground sources said the People's police cleaned out 10,000 of its men recently, firing those suspected of sympathizing with both the June 17 riots inside the East zone and with the East Germans who cross to the West for the American food packages. Many had refused to confiscate the packages, as ordered, and others avoided the issue by deliberately ignoring the border crossers.

Since Sept. 1, a total of 167 East police have fled to West Berlin, most of them saying they could not conscientiously hinger efforts of Germans to obtain food under the relief program toward which the Unted States has contributed 15 million dollars.

After the housecleaning, carried on by Security Police Chief Ernst Wollweber, most police units were shaken up. Western underground agencies heard.

A report that Wollweber had carried a new purge drive into the highest ranks of the party itself drew a denial from the East hierarchy this afternoon. The report, published in the West Berlin newspapers, said Wollweber questioned Fred Oelssner, a member of the Politburo, for 14 hours and then arrested him as a close associate of the deposed Red Gestapo Chief Wilhelm Zaisser. The East German government news agency ADN said there was "not a word of truth in it."

2 State Mayors

Gill said he and his son, G. Wray Gill Jr., filed the court actions on behalf of Port Vincent Mayor Gautier Guitreau and Marksville Mayor Alton DeNux.

Gill said other actions were being considered to stop the state police from violating home rule.

He said the petitions were filed because of Grevemberg's announced intentions to raid gambling whenever and wherever it exists. The attorney said that situation "threatens the legal rights of every incorporated municipality of the state of Louisiana which maintains a police force and of the residents of said municipalities."

Judge Reid ordered Grevemberg to post a "token' bond of $250 and set Sept. 22 as the date for arguments on Gill's request for a preliminary injunction.

Clerk of Court C. R. Sullivan said Port Vincent does not own any slot machines but Marksville had financed many city functions with revenues from city - owned machines.

Sullivan said Marksville ordered the slot machines removed following Grevemberg's crackdown on all forms of illegal gambling last July 25.

The state police boss included church and charity bingo games and raffles in his order but gave them until Aug. 31 to complete raffles then in operation.

Since then, state police have made anti-gambling raids in New Orleans, Metairie, Arabi and Plaquemine; seized gambling equipment and arrested operators.

Sgt. House In Tokyo Hospital

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Mrs. William Wade House heard the voice of her husband last night for the first time since he left for Korea in January 1951. Sgt. House, who was released from a Communist prisoner of war camp last Saturday, called his wife from Tokyo.

The former POW told his wife that he was in an Army hospital in Tokyo for a checkup after his 28 months ordeal as a Red prisoner.

Prior to receiving the call, Mrs. House believed her husband to be enroute from Japan to the United States.

Local Woman Hurt In Fall From Car

Mrs. L. V. Peters, Ticheli Road, suffered minor injuries when she fell from a moving car late yesterday.

Mrs. Peters was in a car being backed out of the driveway by her husband at the Peters' home. The door came open, and she fell out. Unconfirmed reports stated that she had fallen on her head and was dragged several feet before the car stopped.

She was taken to Charity Hospital by Mulhearn ambulance, where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Gospel Singers To Appear October 1

G. W. Roberts, president of the La. State Singing Convention, announced that on Sunday, November 1, his group will sponsor a show of harmony singing at the new West Monroe High School.

Featured in the show will be the outstanding group of singers known as the Homeland Harmony Quartet.

"We expect this to be one of the greatest experiences we've ever had", Roberts stated. "There will be many people from out of state and we expect about five or six thousand will be there. We urge everybody to come who likes good four part harmony."

The towering wind-blown waves also isolated three 14-year-old boys on Presque Isle, an island six miles north of Marquette and only 800 feet from shore.

The tug George Purvis of Gore Bay, Ont., rescued six men from the dredge before fierce waves forced it to break away, leaving nine stranded. The dredge is owned by the McNamara Construction Co. of Toronto, and was bound for Port Arthur, Ont.

Legion Baseball Tickets On Sale

A testimonial banquet in honor of the American Legion Junior Baseball Team Regional Champions has been set for Tuesday night at 7:00 p. m. at the Frances Roof.

Each of the team's players will get a gold plaque and the Ford Motor Co. will present a trophy to the team. Peacocks Jewelry Co. will give a watch to the team's most valuable player who will be named the night of the banquet. In addition, several other awards will be given, parents of the players will be recognized and the automotive dealers who financed the team will be presented.

Tickets for the banquet are now on sale at the following establishments: Squenchy's, Sig Haas, Kraus and Kahn, Mike Johns, Saul Adlers, Haddad Bros. and Twin City Printing Co. Price of the tickets is $5.00 and must be purchased prior to 4 p. m. Monday.

Ball Players To Be Honor Guests At Banquet Here

"Final plans for the "testimonial banquet" honoring the local American Legion baseball team have been completed," T. Mickel, post commander of the American Legion announced, "and Tuesday at 7 o.m. in Hotel Frances the big affair will climax an overdue ovation for the young ball players."

Irving Zeidman, local sportscaster and radio personality, has the role of toastmaster at the banquet; while Lawrence Gibbs, an earnest team supporter and sports commentator, will handle the presentation of awards portion of the program.

Chamber officials revealed that tickets to the baseball banquet have been "moving" very rapidly, but that about 40 additional reservations could be accepted before the Monday noon deadline.

"The team members and their families will really have the spotlight," Bill Jackson, chairman of the New Car Franchise Dealers Association stated, "and our organization in the capacity of a co-sponsor of this event with the local American Legion Post, certainly considers it a treat to have been a part of the baseball organization."

A number of presentations will highlight the testimonial affair including special awards by the Legion post, the special Ford Motor Company award, gifts by two local firms and a number of associated prizes.

The players to be honored include: Garry Huckaby, Bobby Jo Dunn, Tommy Boyles Fred Frickie, Chubby Johnston, Bill Hardy, Wayne Causey, Ike McMullin, Larry Reeves, Jeff Spence, Gene Barham, Red Swanson, Wayne Hendrix.

"Coach Woody Boyles, enthusiastic leader of the squad through its most successful season, is indeed due a low bow of appreciation from baseball lovers," T. Mickel, post commander said, "and, at this banquet our deep appreciation for his efforts and leadership will be adequately amplified."

Officials of the affair plan a variety of entertainment, in order to present a well - balanced program.

Individuals not having acquired tickets may telephone the Chamber of Commerce offices, 3-3461, and make reservations through 12:00 noon Monday.

"We must close our deadline on September 14," Mickel stated, "even though we would like to accommodate scores of baseball lovers who have made tentative plans to attend if commitments of business don't interfere at the last minute; yet, reservations must be made within accordance with the announced close - out date."

Legion Seeks Membership Of High Type Vets

The L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion in Monroe is now engaged in its annual drive for membership.

"During this drive," states T. Mikel, post commander, "we are anxious to attract the type of veteran who will join with us in being of real service to our community. In this organization there exists great opportunities for veterans of both World Wars and the Korean War to do something for our hometown.

"Everything the Legion does is for community service. This includes child welfare, rehabilitation, junior baseball, traffic safety and many others, all designed to make better some phase of hometown life.

"There are many veterans waiting to be asked to join up, yet the tremendous task of contacting the more than 10,000 veterans in Ouachita Parish would be time consuming and difficult. We ask that those veterans not wait for a personal call but consider this their invitation to join now. Those interested are directed to call or write to H. B. McClendon, second floor, Ouachita Parish Court House, phone 5470.

"Regular meetings of Post No. 13 are held on the first and third Monday nights of each month. The next meeting will be on Oct. 21. Veterans are invited to meet with us," Mickel concluded.

Special Social Welfare Course Will Be Offered

Northeast State will offer for the first time as a special class Sociology 125, an introduction to social welfare work.

Organization of the class is scheduled Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium on the college campus. The group will meet weekly on that day from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

The course will carry three semester hours of credit.

Requests for the class result from the interest in social welfare as a profession, a field in which the demand for increased workers is anticipated, officials explained.

Continued requests for social welfare studies have brought about the inauguration of a pre-professional curriculum in social welfare at Northeast. The four-year course initiated this fall has been approved by the State Department of Education.

Classes are designed to fill the needs of persons now doing work in that field and those who are anticipating social welfare as a career. This new course may be scheduled, however, by students not interested in considering this type of work as a vocation.

Sociology 125 will serve in the preparation for graduate study in social welfare at Louisiana State University and Tulane University besides out-of-state schools.

This special class and the new pre-professional curriculum in social welfare are offered as a service to Northeast Louisiana. Through the use of the local college's facilities, persons in neighboring parishes, as well as Ouachita, may be qualified to hold positions in this particular field.

The class will be taught by John Pritchett of the Northeast faculty who majored in social sciences at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. He assisted in directing last spring at Northeast State a workshop in social studies.

with the party, and there will be a short talk or two but not too heavy or boring.

At the close the election of officers will take place. It will be a great night for all who attend and all men of the church and other friends are invited.

Not that they stand in greater need than other teachers, but just to make a start off, the Gideons of Monroe presented 54 Bibles to teachers of the new West Monroe High School faculty in a special meeting the past week. It was a fine gesture and is calculated to emphasize the need of this Book of Books for daily use by all who are leaders of the coming generation.

The matter of city zoning will be discussed in West Monroe when its aldermen meet this week. It is desired to keep certain parts of the city free of undesirable business projects. This is specially true of the area near the new high school.

Zoning across the river in Monroe has often been discussed but never put into effect and as a result we have many unsightly places that mar the landscape. Seems that it might be a good thing to think about some zoning for Monroe at this time. We can't let West Monroe get ahead of us!

Jack Hesketh is back with his family after a trip to Rhode Island. His new Buick car performed at its best, he states, and they drove over the skyline drive in Virginia and on into Washington, D. C., where they saw the sights. Then they took the New Jersey turnpike through that state to the George Washington Bridge.

Only two complaints were made by Jack. He said the weather was fearfully hot in New England all the time they were there. The other complaint was over the highways in Virginia where there were many detours required because the roads were being widened and rerouted in many places to provide for the great influx of automobiles these days.

Happy Birthday!

Fire At Auto Shop

Fire damaged a shed at the Ritter Auto Shop, 1919 DeSiard Street, yesterday afternoon. An old car that was housed in the shed was also damaged.

Fire trucks 103 and 105 answered the alarm at 2:55 p. m. Firemen extinguished the flames within a half hour, returning to the station at 3:35.

No estimate of the damage was available.

Brian To Join Staff At College

Geoge Craft Brian, Jr., has been appointed assistant professor of speech at Northeast State, President Lewis C. Slater announced. His duties begin here with the opening of the fall semester.

Brian received both the B.S. and M.A. degrees at Louisiana State University, where he majored in speech during his graduate study. He plans to continue work toward the Ph. D. degree.

The newcomer's experiences include teaching and a variety of others closely associated with dramatic art.

He was an instructor at Jefferson Military College in 1947, then he did work as a graduate assistant in speech at L.S.U. besides teaching speech classes at the YWCA.

During his student days at the University he acted in more major productions on the campus than any person ever attending L.S.U.

Directing drama also became a significant force in his life. Several years ago the Little Theatre of Baton Rouge needed a director. He answered the call, used the movie theatre at Harding Field, and continued enthusiastically to produce sixteen plays. It was a happy experience for him to see the membership grow from 300 to 2,500.

Not only does he enjoy acting, directing and serving as technician, but he says the theatre has meant a great deal to him "because of the many friends I have made there." Some of these are professional actors known in summer stock theatre where he has played.

Brian's other interests include radio, television and motion pictures.

His wife is a speech graduate of North Texas State Teachers College. They have an infant daughter, Carol Lynn.

Deaths

W. B. MCKINNIE

FARMERVILLE, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Late tonight arrangements for funeral services for W. B. McKinnie, 69, who died of a heart attack Saturday afternoon at his residence in Marion, were incomplete. However, services will be held Monday at Liberty Baptist Church, with interment in Liberty Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick's Funeral Home of Farmerville.

McKinnie is survived by his wife, Ethel McKinnie, Marion; four sons, A. L. McKinnie, West Monroe; W. P. McKinnie and B. E. McKinnie, both of Marion, and E. B. McKinnie, Dubach; two daughters, Mrs. Otto Pate, Conroe, Tex., and Mrs. A. A. Cobb, Farmerville; one brother, Johnnie McKinnie, Marion; four sisters, Mrs. Sally Graves, Mrs. E. E. Booth, Mrs. J. P. Reppond, and Mrs. D. G. Russell, all of Marion; 17 grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

Complete funeral arrangements will be announced later.

F. W. WELLS

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Funeral services for F. W. Wells, 84, who died in a Hodge hospital Saturday, will be held Sunday, 3:30 p. m. at the Jonesboro Baptist Church with the Rev. John Hunt officiating. Interment will be in Jonesboro Cemetery under the direction of the Southern Funeral Home.

Wells is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. M. Honeycutt, Jonesboro; one son, Alvin Wells Stuttgart, Ark.; five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

GLENDA ANN HALL

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Funeral services for Glenda Ann Hall, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hall, Houston, Texas, who died in a Jonesboro hospital Saturday, will be held Sunday, at 11 a. m. at the Zion Rest Church, Jonesboro with the Rev. A. E. Brown officiating. Interment will be in Zion Rest Cemetery under the direction of the Southern Funeral Home.

Surviving are the parents, two sisters, Sharon and Vickie Hall; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Henderson and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hall, all of Jonesboro.

Special Classes To Include Course In Physical Geology

The class will be organized Monday at 7:30 p. m. in room 210 of the science building, with the college instructor, John H. McCarter, Jr., in charge.

Requests for the course have come from in-service teachers, oil companies and other industrial plants in this area. The study will fill the requirement as a physical science.

Three semester hours of credit will be granted for the course, with the group meeting one night weekly for approximately two and one-half hours. The night and time schedule will be determined by the class at its first meeting.

Fundamentals of geology are to be stressed, with emphasis placed on physical features of North America, agents of erosion such as wind, waves, rivers and glaciers, types of rocks, and forces which cause mountain building and volcanic action.

The course will include field trips, demonstrations, displays of minerals and rocks, and the use of film recently obtained by the Northeast library.

McCarter, assistant professor of geology, has served as an instructor in his special field of interest and he had six years of experience with the Louisiana Geological Survey. He has worked in the parishes of Ouachita and Lincoln and surrounding area.

first dispositions among more than 23,000 Reds who renounced Red rule after being captured during the Korean war. The nine changed their minds again after being brought to U. N. stockades in the demilitarized zone.

The neutral nations repatriation commission promptly heard their verbal applications and decided unanimously to hand over the nine to the Communists today.

In contrast, a long period of dickering and investigation probably lay ahead in determining the fate of the 917 Americans, with no guarantee how many of them may still be alive.

The junior Van Fleet's name was on a Pentagon list made public Saturday, U. S. date, after notification of next of kin. It contained 309 Air Force names and brought to 917 the total announced in Washington.

Earlier this week the U. N. Command announced that it had demanded of the Reds at Panmunjom that they account for 944 Americans. In Washington, Pentagon officials said the whole list still was being studied to determine if there are any more names than the 917.

The fact that the Pentagon list fell 27 short of 944 suggested last minute changes, including possibly some verified deaths.

Young Van Fleet and two crew members reportedly crashed while on the Sunchon mission. An Air Force spokesman in Washington said Van Fleet's name was included in today's list because the skimpy information on the crash was that one man was killed and the other two apparently survived.

The Air Force possessed no known evidence Van Fleet actually was captured. It just presumed he was—if he lived.

At the time his father commanded the U. S. 8th Army in Korea.

The new Pentagon list also contained the name of Capt. Harold Fischer, of Swea City, Ia., whose Saber jet was shot down by the Reds last April after he had compiled a record of 10 Russian-built MIG jet kills.

In the transcript released today it was disclosed that Miss Ball, star of the "I Love Lucy" TV show, admitted that she registered March 19, 1936 to vote for the Communist ticket.

First Light Snowfall Of Season In Midwest

The Midwest's first light snow of the season fell Saturday near Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., as cool Canadian air pushed south across the Northern Great Plains and the Great Lakes.

Temperatures fell as much as 30 degrees as the cool front advanced. Readings ranged from the low 40s near Lake Superior to the mid 60s in the Central Plains. Showers hit Michigan and northern Indiana.

The warmest readings were in the Southwest. El Centro, Calif., and Gila Bend, Ariz., recorded 106.

Skies were mostly fair over the West and South but considerable cloudiness covered the Northeast.

5 Student Nurses To Be Assigned To Charity Here

Five students from the School of Nursing at Northwestern State College will enter the Monroe division of the school at E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital.

They are Christine Bishop, West Monroe; Alice Bobbitt, DeQuincy; LaVeda Cherry, Taylor, Ark.; Charlotte Foster, Calhoun and Connie Williams, Elizabeth.

These girls are recipients of $500 scholarships from the E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital, and all plan to continue their education through the senior year to receive B. S. degrees in nursing.

According to Dorothy P. Tayrien, director of the Monroe division of the School of Nursing, the girls who have a satisfactory scholastic record will be privileged to work part time in the hospital and will be paid according to their professional knowledge at that period of their training.

They will also be able to take their theory course in obstetric nursing in the new obstetrical addition at the Memorial Hospital. Formerly, Monroe division students were sent to the Baton Rouge General Hospital for these courses, Miss Tayrien added.

Troy Elected To Insurance Board

R. M. Troy, Monroe insurance agent, was elected to the Board of Directors of the Louisiana Association of Mutual Insurance Agents yesterday at the organization's annual meeting at Alexandria.

Keith D. Peterson, Shreveport was elected president of the association. Other officers elected included Floyd Moaux, Lafayette, first vice president; W. J. Moreau, Lake Charles, second vice president; and Maurice M. Cable, New Orleans, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to Troy, members elected to the Board of Directors include William S. Vincent, New Orleans; J. B. Nichols, Baton Rouge; William B. Coleman, Lake Charles; and S. C. Fullilove.

their lives and the distribution is averaging 60,000 to 70,000 packages a day.

Those who come over and get back regard the whole adventure as almost routine in an area of synthetic borders that have taken on a fixed atmosphere after eight postwar years.

But Western officials believe there have been casualties.

German witnesses reported only this morning an outbreak of shooting just beyond Potsdamer Platz, where the Russian, American and British sectors meet. The gunfire ripped through the bombed out Wertheim, once Berlin's greatest department store.

The Germans who reported the incident to the West police said they saw some persons fleeing into the ruins, perhaps on their last dash toward the West. A few minutes later the Communist police opened fire. They emerged from the ruins carrying a body.

A mile away, near the Brandenburg Gate frontier, the Red police shot at several Germans headed West, but missed.

The West Berlin police blotter is dotted with reports of additional outbreaks of gunfire, but the details of what actually happens inside the East frontier are seldom available.

Underground sources said the People's police cleaned out 10,000 of its men recently, firing those suspected of sympathizing with both the June 17 riots inside the East zone and with the East Germans who cross to the West for the American food packages. Many had refused to confiscate the packages, as ordered, and others avoided the issue by deliberately ignoring the border crossers.

Since Sept. 1, a total of 167 East police have fled to West Berlin, most of them saying they could not conscientiously hinger efforts of Germans to obtain food under the relief program toward which the Unted States has contributed 15 million dollars.

After the housecleaning, carried on by Security Police Chief Ernst Wollweber, most police units were shaken up, Western underground agencies heard.

A report that Wollweber had carried a new purge drive into the highest ranks of the party itself drew a denial from the East hierarchy this afternoon. The report, published in the West Berlin newspapers, said Wollweber questioned Fred Oelssner, a member of the Politburo, for 14 hours and then arrested him as a close associate of the deposed Red Gestapo Chief Wilhelm Zaisser. The East German government news agency ADN said there was "not a word of truth in it."

2 State Mayors

Gill said he and his son, G. Wray Gill Jr., filed the court actions on behalf of Port Vincent Mayor Gautier Guitreau and Marksville Mayor Alton DeNux.

Gill said other actions were being considered to stop the state police from violating home rule.

He said the petitions were filed because of Grevemberg's announced intentions to raid gambling whenever and wherever it exists. The attorney said that situation "threatens the legal rights of every incorporated municipality of the state of Louisiana which maintains a police force and of the residents of said municipalities."

Judge Reid ordered Grevemberg to post a "token' bond of $250 and set Sept. 22 as the date for arguments on Gill's request for a preliminary injunction.

Clerk of Court C. R. Sullivan said Port Vincent does not own any slot machines but Marksville had financed many city functions with revenues from city - owned machines.

Sullivan said Marksville ordered the slot machines removed following Grevemberg's crackdown on all forms of illegal gambling last July 25.

The state police boss included church and charity bingo games and raffles in his order but gave them until Aug. 31 to complete raffles then in operation.

Since then, state police have made anti-gambling raids in New Orleans, Metairie, Arabi and Plaquemine; seized gambling equipment and arrested operators.

Sgt. House In Tokyo Hospital

WINNSBORO, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—Mrs. William Wade House heard the voice of her husband last night for the first time since he left for Korea in January 1951. Sgt. House, who was released from a Communist prisoner of war camp last Saturday, called his wife from Tokyo.

The former POW told his wife that he was in an Army hospital in Tokyo for a checkup after his 28 months ordeal as a Red prisoner.

Prior to receiving the call, Mrs. House believed her husband to be enroute from Japan to the United States.

Local Woman Hurt In Fall From Car

Mrs. L. V. Peters, Ticheli Road, suffered minor injuries when she fell from a moving car late yesterday.

Mrs. Peters was in a car being backed out of the driveway by her husband at the Peters' home. The door came open, and she fell out. Unconfirmed reports stated that she had fallen on her head and was dragged several feet before the car stopped.

She was taken to Charity Hospital by Mulhearn ambulance, where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Gospel Singers To Appear October 1

G. W. Roberts, president of the La. State Singing Convention, announced that on Sunday, November 1, his group will sponsor a show of harmony singing at the new West Monroe High School.

Featured in the show will be the outstanding group of singers known as the Homeland Harmony Quartet.

"We expect this to be one of the greatest experiences we've ever had", Roberts stated. "There will be many people from out of state and we expect about five or six thousand will be there. We urge everybody to come who likes good four part harmony."

though, and the weather was near freezing.

The Howard M. Jr. was torn from its tug, along with two barges as the sudden, unexpected storm hit early today. The same blow beached the Maryland.

The towering wind-blown waves also isolated three 14-year-old boys on Presque Isle, an island six miles north of Marquette and only 800 feet from shore.

The tug George Purvis of Gore Bay, Ont., rescued six men from the dredge before fierce waves forced it to break away, leaving nine stranded. The dredge is owned by the McNamara Construction Co. of Toronto, and was bound for Port Arthur, Ont.

La. Purchase Reading Club Party Sept. 19th

On the morning of September 19 at 9:30 a. m. the 693 children who read and earned certificates in the Louisiana Purchase Reading Club, sponsored by the Ouachita Parish Public Library from the branches of Monroe, West Monroe and the Bookmobile will be entertained at a party. There were many more children than this who read books but they did not keep a list in the notebook provided by the library for this purpose. Or if they kept the list they did not turn it in to the library. We are mighty sorry that more children will not receive certificates this year, however we feel that this number is very good.

Two hundred forty children earned certificates by reading at the Monroe branch. One hundred sixty-two read from the West Monroe branch and 176 from the Bookmobile. In addition there will also be 126 certificates awarded to the children from the Carver branch who read the required number of books. This brings the parish total to 819 which is a larger number than last year.

If your child earned a certificate this summer, be sure to see that he attends the party at the library on Saturday morning, September 19. Cards of admission are being given out at the three branches. If your child doesn't have his card, be sure that he asks for it before Saturday, so that he can enjoy the party, planned for the successful participants by the board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

All of these films have some connection with the theme of the Louisiana Purchase and are being loaned to us by the Louisiana state library. First will be shown a beautiful film in technicolor, called "The Romance of Louisiana." This picture tells a great deal about the early history of our state and about the events leading up to the Louisiana Purchase. Next we will visit "New Orleans Mardi Gras." This is a fascinating picture depicting the exciting events of this gay holiday season. The third film is called "People Along the Mississippi" and shows a complete panorama of the people who make their living from the river. The fourth one is "Fallen Eagle" and it is an Indian picture. The party will be over at 11:30 and your mothers may pick you up at the Grand Street entrance of the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium. We hope that all of you will be with us that day.

527 In Louisiana Investigated For Income Evasion

Special agents of the internal revenue service completed more than 46,000 investigations during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1953, Director of Internal Revenue Geo. A. Lambert announced today.

In announcing the details of a national report he had just received from Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews in Washington, Director Lambert pointed out that 527 of these investigations were conducted in the Louisiana district.

These 46,114 investigations included 37,322 involving alleged violations of internal revenue laws, of which 3,296 involved suspected criminal fraud. 23,857 were preliminary investigations, and 10,169 special or collateral investigations. The investigations resulted in recommendations for the assessment of additional taxes and penalties totalling $178,316,215.40.

In addition, there were 8,728 investigations of applicants seeking enrollment to practice before the treasury department and 64 investigations involving charges against enrollees. As of June 30, 1953, there were 1,085 special agents and 132 acting special agents, the director added. Examining and collection officers are assigned locally on a temporary basis to assist the special agents when needed.

An analysis of the 3,296 investigations of suspected criminal fraud shows that 1,276 were referred to the regional counsels' offices with recommendation for criminal prosecution. Convictions were obtained in 95 per cent of the cases presented for trial and resulted in prison sentences totalling 349 man years and fines aggregating $3,026,538.00. Fraud penalty but no prosecution was recommended in 1,234 cases; 196 resulted in additional deficiencies but no fraud penalties; 148 were closed without change; and 439 were found not to warrant a fraud investigation.

An analysis of the occupations of the taxpayers whose prosecution was recommended for alleged tax fraud showed that 56.7 per cent of them were classified as racketeers, gamblers and numbers operators.

Among those investigated in Louisiana was E. J. Ryland, former resident of Monroe and more recently a resident of Shreveport.

Ryland entered a plea of nolo contendere on February 24, 1949, to an indictment charging that he failed to file an income tax return for the year 1945. In April 1949, Mr. Ryland was fined $500, given a suspended prison sentence and placed on probation for a period of two years. One of the conditions of the probation was that he pay all taxes, fines and costs of prosecution. He failed to comply with the condition that he pay the fine and taxes due and in April 1951 the period of probation was increased from two to four years. Subsequently Ryland again violated the terms of his probation and as a result thereof, he was sentenced in January 1953 to serve one year in the federal penitentiary.

School Opening Marks 25th Year At A. L. Smith

By MRS. ERNEST MULHEARN
(Morning World Correspondent)

STERLINGTON—The ringing of the school bells at A. L. Smith School on the morning of September 10, 1953, were as silver chimes to the ears of three members of the faculty and a host of patrons because they marked the 25th anniversary of the school. The three staff members were on the original faculty.

Twenty - five years ago (1928) school bells rang for the first time in a newly completed modern brick schoolhouse, looked upon with awe and admiration by the youngsters who had previously attended school in a two - room frame building in Sterlington.

The new school was officially named A. L. Smith School in honor of the late A. L. Smith, Sr., a beloved citizen and leader of the community, who had taken an active part in the advancement of education in Ouachita Parish.

Smith was the first and only school board member in the ward up to the time of his death in 1925, and for many years prior to his death he was president of Ouachita Parish School Board. Through the efforts of Mr. Smith the school board was authorized on October 6, 1922, to construct a school house at Sterlington.

A typical one room school, known as the Sterlington School, was completed in 1923 on a site donated by Mr. Smith, on the bank of the Ouachita River.

On April 2, 1925, he advised the board that the rapid growth of Sterlington made it necessary to enlarge the school and on July 2, 1926, the board authorized the addition of one room to the Sterlington School. However, he did not live to see the completion of this addition, which gave only temporary relief to the crowded condition.

As a tribute to the memory of one who devoted his life to the welfare of his community and fellowmen, his son D. Y. Smith donated a tract of land, adjoining that previously donated by his father, for the building of a school which would better serve the needs of the community.

The new A. L. Smith School opened the doors of its four classrooms to 91 pupils with Mr. O. K. Bailey as its first and lasting principal; Mrs. O. K. Bailey, teaching grades five and six; Mrs. M. M. Funderburk, teaching grades three and four; and Mrs. Ruth Fox, teaching grades one and two.

In addition to his administrative duties Bailey also taught the seventh grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Funderburk have remained with the school through the years, always faithfully and diligently striving to "make our school a better school," modestly accepting praise for the part they have played in making it one of the leading schools of the parish.

As the community grew in leaps and bounds so grew the school. At intervals as the classrooms were filled "to the point of figuratively bursting at the seams" it became necessary to make other additions.

In 1935 four classrooms were added and then in 1939 a modern gymnasium was constructed. In order to participate in the state lunch program the school purchased in 1947, an old Baptist Church, and grounds adjacent to the school grounds, to serve as the school cafeteria.

In 1951 the building indeed acquired the new look with the addition of an elementary wing and cafeteria, and complete renovation of the older section of the building, which at that time became the Junior High department and housed grades seven, eight and nine. At that time Industrial Arts was added to the curriculum and the old frame building which had formerly served as the cafeteria, was converted into the shop building.

Alas, the problem of expansion was only temporarily solved. At the close of the 1952-53 session it was evident that further provision for the rapid increase in enrollment must be made before the opening of another school year. Upon the recommendation of a survey committee a wing of the shop building was converted into two temporary classrooms and the renovated shop building moved to a more desirable location on the campus.

Why then were all those children standing by the wall on this first day of school? Surely not being punished! No, there were no vacant seats. The enrollment surpassed the anticipation of the faculty.

Enrollment by grades was: First Grade 47, Second Grade 39, Third Grade 23, Fourth Grade 36, Fifth Grade 31, Sixth Grade 35, Seventh Grade 48, Eighth Grade 27, Ninth Grade 22—a total of 312.

The increase in enrollment resulted in an increase of faculty members accordingly. A. L. Smith School launches its twenty - fifth year with eleven classroom teachers and Mr. Bailey now serving as supervisory principal. Serving on the present faculty are: Mrs. Lillian Page, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. James Wiley, Mrs. M. M. Funderburk, Mrs. Sallie Mulhearn, Miss Helen Stall, Mrs. J. B. Richardson, Miss Mary Beth Kellum, Mrs. Opal Shively, Mr. Joe S. Davis and Mr. Gene Hardin.

Could the school masters of yester-year, who so nobly laid the foundations of education for our great democracy, have been present to note this quarter of a century of progress at A. L. Smith School surely they would have said to those who have made it so, "Well done thou good and faithful servants."

Need For Change In Voting Laws Cited By Martin

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 12—UP—Louisiana Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. proposed here that state election laws should be changed to permit citizens moving to other states to vote for president and vice-president of the United States.

Martin introduced a resolution to that effect at a meeting of the National Association of Secretaries of State, which ended here recently.

He said that unless the proposed changes are made, many persons who move from state to state because of "technological advances" of recent years will continue to be disenfranchised in national elections.

Laws affecting establishment of residence for voting purposes vary greatly from state to state, said Martin, chairman of the association's committee on elections.

He proposed:

1. Use of absentee ballots allowing new residents to vote in their state of origin.

2. Reduction to a minimum the period required for establishment of voting residence.

La. College To Dedicate 3 Buildings

PINEVILLE, Sept. 12 (Special)—Three new buildings on the Louisiana College campus, erected at a total cost of $320,000, will be dedicated "debt-free" soon after the opening of school on Sept. 18.

President G. Earl Guinn told a special meeting of the board of trustees that the Morgan W. Walker Student Center, the W. S. Warner Home Economics Cottage and the athletic dormitory have been completed and funds are in hand to "pay in full." Funds for these buildings were donated by friends of the college and churches of the Louisiana Baptist Convention.

The student center is a $250,000 brick structure located at the rear of Alexandria Hill; the home economics cottage is a $30,000 modern brick home located near Cottingham Hall and the athletic dormitory is a one-story brick building valued at $40,000, located near Alumni Field.

The trustees approved a recommendation of the Greater Louisiana College Building Committee to accept plans for a $100,000 library building. They authorized the advertisement for bids to be opened on Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. in the president's office.

Morgan W. Walker of Alexandria and Ruvian D. Hendrick of Shreveport were named to work with the executive committee of the board in taking the necessary steps to accept the student center building which was constructed by the J. E. Ratcliff Construction Company of Alexandria.

President Guinn told the board that while many colleges in the nation are operating at a deficit, Louisiana College is operating "within its budget." He said that the college ended the fiscal year on Aug. 31 without a deficit.

He reported that the outlook for the 1953-54 session is "excellent from every viewpoint — student, faculty, financial and building."

Simon W. Tudor of Pineville is president of the board of trustees. Other officers are: W. S. Warner of Lecompte, vice president; S. E. Richardson of Alexandria, secretary and J. A. White, Jr., of Alexandria, treasurer.

Officers Find Car Abandoned By 2 Convicts

WATER VALLEY, Miss. (AP)—The state highway patrol said today officers found abandoned the stolen automobile used by two armed convicts who escaped from the penitentiary Monday.

The car was abandoned in a remote area between here and Coffeeville about 20 miles south.

State patrolmen and penitentiary guards have been concentrating on a big swamp area in Tallahatchie and Leflore counties in the belief the convicts took refuge there.

The patrol said discovery of the car in Yalobusha County—adjoining Tallahatchie on the east — would cause them to widen the scope of the search.

The escapees, Calvin Johnson, 27, Shaw, Miss., and James Hendricks, 30, of Dallas, Tex., disarmed a guard in a penitentiary field Monday afternoon and, with the guard's rifle, fled the sprawling penal farm.

Penitentiary officials called the men dangerous and warned the searchers to approach them cautiously.

Hendricks was serving an 8-year term for forgery in Jones County and Johnson 10 years for a Leflore County robbery.

Local Pastor To Give Religious Reviews

Commencing on September 13, Rev. W. H. McFadden, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will again offer a series of reviews covering outstanding religious books. The series that was presented by him in the early spring of this year was so well received that the church has decided to offer a new series this fall.

All reviews will be given in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. The reviews themselves will be followed by a "Talk Back To Your Minister" period in which the audience will be given an opportunity to raise questions or to shed further light on ideas advanced by the author of the book. During the month of September the following books will be reviewed:

September 13 — Dr. Bernard I. Bell — "Crowd Culture." Dr. Bell has written several books in which he examines the culture of the American way of living to see how Christian it is. "Crowd Culture" is his latest book and his latest analysis of the American way of life. The book is thought provoking and should arouse us to follow Christ instead of the crowd.

September 20 — Dr. Hazen G. Werner — "Life with Your Emotions." Dr. Werner, while a minister in Detroit, developed a personal trouble clinic. He has had first hand experience in helping people with their personal, emotional problems. The book reveals how such an emotion as anger can be conquered by a life built on faith in Christ. This book should be of infinite value in helping people understand themselves and to have self-control.

September 27 — Dr. J. P. Phillips — "Your God Is Too Small." Dr. Phillips, an Englishman, has won fame for himself in translating portions of the New Testament in readable and understandable English. His book "Your God Is Too Small" is an attempt to reveal the greatness of God. In this age of scientific discoveries, atomic energy and the vastness of space, most of us are worshipping a God, because of our limited understanding, that is far too small. Dr. Phillips gives us a Christian conception of God that is acceptable and convincing in the present scientific era.

These reviews are being given with the hope that they will contribute to the religious and cultural knowledge of our community. The subject matter of the books is non-denominational and members of all faiths are cordially invited to attend.

Three other books will be reviewed in October, of which due announcement will be made.

Quarterly Tax Payments Are Due Sept. 15

The importance of Louisiana taxpayers making their quarterly payments of estimated income tax not later than midnight Tuesday, September 15, today was emphasized by Internal Revenue District Director George A. Lambert.

"Taxpayers will find it to their interest to be prompt in payment as well as reasonably accurate in the declarations of estimated income tax or amendments they file," said the director, "for penalties are provided by the Internal Revenue Code if either the declarations or payments are late, or if the tax has been substantially underestimated."

The director also pointed out that the following additional federal tax obligations must be met on the same date:

Employers withholding over $100 (federal income tax and federal old - age benefits tax) during either of the first two months of the quarter pay amount to authorized depository;

Separate information returns of shareholders and officers and directors of foreign corporations which are foreign personal holding companies;

Statements and records of depositories on sale of stamps;

Quarterly payments on corporation income and excess profits taxes.

All of these returns must be filed by midnight of September 15.

Director Lambert also pointed out the recent change from monthly to quarterly returns for excise taxes. Under the new system, no filing is necessary in September, but the tax return covering July, August and September must be filed by October 31.

"The first quartely installment due under the Declaration of Estimated Income is to be paid when the taxpayer files the declaration on or before March 15," the Director explained. "Thereafter, quarterly payments must be made on or before June 15, 1953, September 15, 1953, and on January 15, 1954. The purpose of requiring taxpayers to file these declarations is to provide a means for paying currently any income taxes not paid by withholding, and thus to make the tax liability for almost all taxpayers subject to a pay-as-you-go plan.

"Many taxpayers may feel that they are unable to make an accurate estimate of their income in advance," he added, "They should remember that the estimates do not have to be absolutely accurate. In estimating taxes, they should consider all the facts and circumstances which they think will affect their incomes for the year. If employed at a given wage or salary, they may presume, in the absence of facts to the contrary, that their pay will continue unchanged to the end of the year.

"Similarly, if they own stocks or bonds upon which the interest of dividends are taxable, they may consider, in the absence of information indiction a change of policy, that their rate of income from these stocks and bonds will remain unchanged through the year. Businessmen should estimate their probable gross incomes, deductions and credits and then file a declaration with all these facts in mind."

Taxpayers who receive only wages subject to withholding need not file declarations if they expect to earn less than $98.08 per week, or $425 per month if they are single persons without dependents; or less than $109.61 per week or $475 per month for a married couple without dependents, or for a single person with one dependent, the Director explained. Those who expect to have an income of less than $600 are not required to file declarations either.

"A declaration must be filed by every citizen or resident of this country who expects to be required to file a return and who expects to receive wages subject to withholding of more than $4,500, plus $500 for each exemption or expects to receive income from other sources of more than $100 and has a gross income of $600 or more."

Information On Suspect Sought

Information concerning a man being held in Shreveport on a felony charge for Corpus Christi, Tex., is being sought by the Ouachita parish sheriff department and the Monroe city detective force.

Detective Chief Hugh L. Tolbert stated Saturday that his department had received information that the man, known as Selwyn Howell Martin, Howell Homaker and Hal Martin, had been in Ouachita parish servicing television sets during the past week. However, no reports of his activities have been reported to either department.

The man, who is listed by the three names, is wanted in Texas for fraudulent activites, and the local departments are seeking any contacts which he may have made while here. "We want to know if there are any complaints about this man," Chief Tolbert stated. "If anyone has any information, we would appreciate his calling either the sheriff department at 5123 or

Cambodia King Startles French

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, Sept. 11 (AP) — King Norodom Sihanouk's premier broadcast a live-and-let-live appeal to the Vietminh today. He hinted Cambodia will take a neutral role in the Indochina war if the Communist-led rebel troops now in the kingdom withdraw.

In a radio speech that startled French and American authorities, Premier Pen Nouth told the 10,000 or so of Ho Chi Minh's fighting men on Cambodian soil:

"To you who operate in the kingdom on the pretext of helping our country reach independence, I say that we have obtained independence by our own means.

"While we are not Communists, we have no quarrel with communism as long as it doesn't impose itself by force on our people. It is not up to us to contest your right to busy yourself in Viet Nam (the neighboring state that has borne the brunt of the 7-year-old war). We ask you simply to let us live our life and leave our soil."

The declaration came amid ominous enemy movements in Viet Nam, bracing to meet a fall offensive from the rebels.

The French high command in Hanoi, 650 miles north of Phnom Penh, announced Ho Chi Minh's 320th Division—rated as his best—has moved into hill positions just outside the Red River delta, the key bastion of all French defenses in Indochina. The division was under attack by French bombers. Seven other divisions were reported at the enemy's disposal.

British Protest Chinese Attack

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP) — Britain fired a protest to Red China today against a Communist gunboat's attack that killed seven Britons and wounded five aboard a naval launch on patrol out of Hong Kong.

Orders went to the British envoy in Peiping, Charge d'affaires Humphrey Trevelyan, to tell Mao Tze-tung's government just what this nation thinks about the action Wednesday in international waters at the mouth of the Pearl River southwest of the crown colony.

The Foreign Office did not disclose the contents of the note at once. But the government of Prime Minister Churchill, an old seafarer himself, probably told the Chinese the attack was murder. Officials said Britain certainly does not intend to stand idly by and watch that sort of thing happen again.

Red guns blasted 12 shots into the 72-foot launch as it cruised on a regular anti-smuggling and defense patrol. Only two of the 14-man crew escaped injury. The launch was so crippled it never could return the fire. Among those killed was a reserve army captain who had gone along just for the ride.

La. Purchase Reading Club Party Sept. 19th

On the morning of September 19 at 9:30 a. m. the 693 children who read and earned certificates in the Louisiana Purchase Reading Club, sponsored by the Ouachita Parish Public Library from the branches of Monroe, West Monroe and the Bookmobile will be entertained at a party. There were many more children than this who read books but they did not keep a list in the notebook provided by the library for this purpose. Or if they kept the list they did not turn it in to the library. We are mighty sorry that more children will not receive certificates this year, however we feel that this number is very good.

Two hundred forty children earned certificates by reading at the Monroe branch. One hundred sixty-two read from the West Monroe branch and 176 from the Bookmobile. In addition there will also be 126 certificates awarded to the children from the Carver branch who read the required number of books. This brings the parish total to 819 which is a larger number than last year.

If your child earned a certificate this summer, be sure to see that he attends the party at the library on Saturday morning, September 19. Cards of admission are being given out at the three branches. If your child doesn't have his card, be sure that he asks for it before Saturday, so that he can enjoy the party, planned for the successful participants by the board of control of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

All of these films have some connection with the theme of the Louisiana Purchase and are being loaned to us by the Louisiana state library. First will be shown a beautiful film in technicolor, called "The Romance of Louisiana." This picture tells a great deal about the early history of our state and about the events leading up to the Louisiana Purchase. Next we will visit "New Orleans Mardi Gras." This is a fascinating picture depicting the exciting events of this gay holiday season. The third film is called "People Along the Mississippi" and shows a complete panorama of the people who make their living from the river. The fourth one is "Fallen Eagle" and it is an Indian picture. The party will be over at 11:30 and your mothers may pick you up at the Grand Street entrance of the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium. We hope that all of you will be with us that day.

527 In Louisiana Investigated For Income Evasion

Special agents of the internal revenue service completed more than 46,000 investigations during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1953, Director of Internal Revenue Geo. A. Lambert announced today.

In announcing the details of a national report he had just received from Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews in Washington, Director Lambert pointed out that 527 of these investigations were conducted in the Louisiana district.

These 46,114 investigations included 37,322 involving alleged violations of internal revenue laws, of which 3,296 involved suspected criminal fraud, 23,857 were preliminary investigations, and 10,169 special or collateral investigations. The investigations resulted in recommendations for the assessment of additional taxes and penalties totalling $178,315,215.40.

In addition, there were 8,728 investigations of applicants seeking enrollment to practice before the treasury department and 64 investigations involving charges against enrollees. As of June 30, 1953, there were 1,085 special agents and 132 acting special agents, the director added. Examining and collection officers are assigned locally on a temporary basis to assist the special agents when needed.

An analysis of the 3,296 investigations of suspected criminal fraud shows that 1,276 were referred to the regional counsels' offices with recommendation for criminal prosecution. Convictions were obtained in 95 per cent of the cases presented for trial and resulted in prison sentences totalling 349 man years and fines aggregating $3,026, 538.00. Fraud penalty but no prosecution was recommended in 1:234 cases; 196 resulted in additional deficiencies but no fraud penalties; 148 were closed without change; and 439 were found not to warrant a fraud investigation.

An analysis of the occupations of the taxpayers whose prosecution was recommended for alleged tax fraud showed that 56.7 per cent of them were classified as racketeers, gamblers and numbers operators.

Among those investigated in Louisiana was E. J. Ryland, former resident of Monroe and more recently a resident of Shreveport.

Ryland entered a plea of nolo contendere on February 24, 1949, to an indictment charging that he failed to file an income tax return for the year 1945. In April 1949, Mr. Ryland was fined $500, given a suspended prison sentence and placed on probation for a period of two years. One of the conditions of the probation was that he pay all taxes, fines and costs of prosecution. He failed to comply with the condition that he pay the fine and taxes due and in April 1951 the period of probation was increased from two to four years. Subsequently Ryland again violated the terms of his probation and as a result thereof, he was sentenced in January 1953 to serve one year in the federal penitentiary.

By MRS. ERNEST MULHEARN
(Morning World Correspondent)

STERLINGTON—The ringing of the school bells at A. L. Smith School on the morning of September 10, 1953, were as silver chimes to the ears of three members of the faculty and a host of patrons because they marked the 25th anniversary of the school. The three staff members were on the original faculty.

Twenty - five years ago (1928) school bells rang for the first time in a newly completed modern brick schoolhouse, looked upon with awe and admiration by the youngsters who had previously attended school in a two - room frame building in Sterlington.

The new school was officially named A. L. Smith School in honor of the late A. L. Smith, Sr., a beloved citizen and leader of the community, who had taken an active part in the advancement of education in Ouachita Parish.

Smith was the first and only school board member in the ward up to the time of his death in 1926, and for many years prior to his death he was president of Ouachita Parish School Board. Through the efforts of Mr. Smith the school board was authorized on October 6, 1922, to construct a school house at Sterlington.

A typical one room school, known as the Sterlington School, was completed in 1923 on a site donated by Mr. Smith, on the bank of the Ouachita River.

On April 2, 1926, he advised the board that the rapid growth of Sterlington made it necessary to enlarge the school and on July 2, 1926, the board authorized the addition of one room to the Sterlington School. However, he did not live to see the completion of this addition, which gave only temporary relief to the crowded condition.

As a tribute to the memory of one who devoted his life to the welfare of his community and fellowmen, his son D. Y. Smith donated a tract of land, adjoining that previously donated by his father, for the building of a school which would better serve the needs of the community.

The new A. L. Smith School opened the doors of its four classrooms to 91 pupils with Mr. O. K. Bailey as its first and lasting principal; Mrs. O. K. Bailey, teaching grades five and six; Mrs. M. M. Funderburk, teaching grades three and four; and Mrs. Ruth Fox, teaching grades one and two.

In addition to his administrative duties Bailey also taught the seventh grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Funderburk have remained with the school through the years, always faithfully and diligently striving to "make our school a better school," modestly accepting praise for the part they have played in making it one of the leading schools of the parish.

As the community grew in leaps and bounds so grew the school. At intervals as the classrooms were filled "to the point of figuratively bursting at the seams" it became necessary to make other additions.

In 1935 four classrooms were added and then in 1939 a modern gymnasium was constructed. In order to participate in the state lunch program the school purchased in 1947, an old Baptist Church, and grounds adjacent to the school grounds, to serve as the school cafeteria.

In 1951 the building indeed acquired the new look with the addition of an elementary wing and cafeteria, and complete renovation of the older section of the building, which at that time became the Junior High department and housed grades seven, eight and nine. At that time Industrial Arts was added to the curriculum and the old frame building which had formerly served as the cafeteria, was converted into the shop building.

Alas, the problem of expansion was only temporarily solved. At the close of the 1952-53 session it was evident that further provision for the rapid increase in enrollment must be made before the opening of another school year. Upon the recommendation of a survey committee a wing of the shop building was converted into two temporary classrooms and the renovated shop building moved to a more desirable location on the campus.

Why then were all those children standing by the wall on this first day of school? Surely not being punished! No, there were no vacant seats. The enrollment surpassed the anticipation of the faculty.

Enrollment by grades was: First Grade 47, Second Grade 39, Third Grade 23, Fourth Grade 36, Fifth Grade 31, Sixth Grade 35, Seventh Grade 48, Eighth Grade 27, Ninth Grade 22—a total of 312.

The increase in enrollment resulted in an increase of faculty members accordingly. A. L. Smith School launches its twenty - fifth year with eleven classroom teachers and Mr. Bailey now serving as supervisory principal. Serving on the present faculty are: Mrs. Lillian Page, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. James Wiley, Mrs. M. M. Funderburk, Mrs. Sallie Mulhearn, Miss Helen Stall, Mrs. J. B. Richardson, Miss Mary Beth Kellum, Mrs. Opal Shively, Mr. Joe S. Davis and Mr. Gene Hardin.

Could the school masters of yester-year, who so nobly laid the foundations of education for our great democracy, have been present to note this quarter of a century of progress at A. L. Smith School surely they would have said to those who have made it so, "Well done thou good and faithful servants."

Need For Change In Voting Laws Cited By Martin

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 12—UP—Louisiana Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. proposed here that state election laws should be changed to permit citizens moving to other states to vote for president and vice-president of the United States.

Martin introduced a resolution to that effect at a meeting of the National Association of Secretaries of State, which ended here recently.

He said that unless the proposed changes are made, many persons who move from state to state because of "technological advances" of recent years will continue to be disenfranchised in national elections.

Laws affecting establishment of residence for voting purposes vary greatly from state to state, said Martin, chairman of the association's committee on elections.

He proposed:

1. Use of absentee ballots allowing new residents to vote in their state of origin.

2. Reduction to a minimum the period required for establishment of voting residence.

La. College To Dedicate 3 Buildings

PINEVILLE, Sept. 12 (Special) —Three new buildings on the Louisiana College campus, erected at a total cost of $320,000, will be dedicated "debt-free" soon after the opening of school on Sept. 18.

President G. Earl Guinn told a special meeting of the board of trustees that the Morgan W. Walker Student Center, the W. S. Warner Home Economics Cottage and the athletic dormitory have been completed and funds are in hand to "pay in full." Funds for these buildings were donated by friends of the college and churches of the Louisiana Baptist Convention.

The student center is a $250,000 brick structure located at the rear of Alexandria Hill; the home economics cottage is a $30,000 modern brick home located near Cottingham Hall and the athletic dormitory is a one-story brick building valued at $40,000, located near Alumni Field.

The trustees approved a recommendation of the Greater Louisiana College Building Committee to accept plans for a $400,000 library building. They authorized the advertisement for bids to be opened on Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. in the president's office.

Morgan W. Walker of Alexandria and Ruvian D. Hendrick of Shreveport were named to work with the executive committee of the board in taking the necessary steps to accept the student center building which was constructed by the J. E. Ratcliff Construction Company of Alexandria.

President Guinn told the board that while many colleges in the nation are operating at a deficit, Louisiana College is operating "within its budget." He said that the college ended the fiscal year on Aug. 31 without a deficit.

He reported that the outlook for the 1953-54 session is "excellent from every viewpoint — student, faculty, financial and building."

Simon W. Tudor of Pineville is president of the board of trustees. Other officers are: W. S. Warner of Lecompte, vice president; S. E. Richardson of Alexandria, secretary and J. A. White, Jr., of Alexandria, treasurer.

Officers Find Car Abandoned By 2 Convicts

WATER VALLEY, Miss. (AP)—The state highway patrol said today officers found abandoned the stolen automobile used by two armed convicts who escaped from the penitentiary Monday.

The car was abandoned in a remote area between here and Coffeeville about 20 miles south.

State patrolmen and penitentiary guards have been concentrating on a big swamp area in Tallahatchie and Leflore counties in the belief the convicts took refuge there.

The patrol said discovery of the car in Yalobusha County—adjoining Tallahatchie on the east — would cause them to widen the scope of the search.

The escapees, Calvin Johnson, 27, Shaw, Miss., and James Hendricks, 30, of Dallas, Tex., disarmed a guard in a penitentiary field Monday afternoon and, with the guard's rifle, fled the sprawling penal farm.

Penitentiary officials called the men dangerous and warned the searchers to approach them cautiously.

Hendricks was serving an 8-year term for forgery in Jones County and Johnson 10 years for a Leflore County robbery.

Local Pastor To Give Religious Reviews

Commencing on September 13, Rev. W. H. McFadden, minister of the First Presbyterian Church will again offer a series of reviews covering outstanding religious books. The series that was presented by him in the early spring of this year was so well received that the church has decided to offer a new series this fall.

All reviews will be given in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. The reviews themselves will be followed by a "Talk Back To Your Minister" period in which the audience will be given an opportunity to raise questions or to shed further light on ideas advanced by the author of the book. During the month of September the following books will be reviewed:

September 13 — Dr. Bernard I. Bell — "Crowd Culture." Dr. Bell has written several books in which he examines the culture of the American way of living to see how Christian it is. "Crowd Culture" is his latest book and his latest analysis of the American way of life. The book is thought provoking and should arouse us to follow Christ instead of the crowd.

September 20 — Dr. Hazen G. Werner — "Life with Your Emotions." Dr. Werner, while a minister in Detroit, developed a personal trouble clinic. He has had first hand experience in helping people with their personal, emotional problems. The book reveals how such an emotion as anger can be conquered by a life built on faith in Christ. This book should be of infinite value in helping people understand themselves and to have self-control.

September 27 — Dr. J. P. Phillips — "Your God Is Too Small." Dr. Phillips, an Englishman, has won fame for himself in translating portions of the New Testament in readable and understandable English. His book "Your God Is Too Small" is an attempt to reveal the greatness of God. In this age of scientific discoveries, atomic energy and the vastness of space, most of us are worshipping a God, because of our limited understanding, that is far too small. Dr. Phillips gives us a Christian conception of God that is acceptable and convincing in the present scientific era.

These reviews are being given with the hope that they will contribute to the religious and cultural knowledge of our community. The subject matter of the books is non-denominational and members of all faiths are cordially invited to attend.

Three other books will be reviewed in October, of which due announcement will be made.

Quarterly Tax Payments Are Due Sept. 15

The importance of Louisiana taxpayers making their quarterly payments of estimated income tax not later than midnight Tuesday, September 15, today was emphasized by Internal Revenue District Director George A. Lambert.

"Taxpayers will find it to their interest to be prompt in payment as well as reasonably accurate in the declarations of estimated income tax or amendments they file," said the director, "for penalties are provided by the Internal Revenue Code if either the declarations or payments are late, or if the tax has been substantially underestimated."

The director also pointed out that the following additional federal tax obligations must be met on the same date:

Employers withholding over $100 (federal income tax and federal old - age benefits tax) during either of the first two months of the quarter pay amount to authorized depository;

Separate information returns of shareholders and officers and directors of foreign corporations which are foreign personal holding companies;

Statements and records of depositories on sale of stamps;

Quarterly payments on corporation income and excess profits taxes.

All of these returns must be filed by midnight of September 15.

Director Lambert also pointed out the recent change from monthly to quarterly returns for excise taxes. Under the new system, no filing is necessary in September, but the tax return covering July, August and September must be filed by October 31.

"The first quartely installment due under the Declaration of Estimated Income is to be paid when the taxpayer files the declaration on or before March 15," the Director explained. "Thereafter, quarterly payments must be made on or before June 15, 1953, September 15, 1953, and on January 15, 1954. The purpose of requiring taxpayers to file these declarations is to provide a means for paying currently any income taxes not paid by withholding, and thus to make the tax liability for almost all taxpayers subject to a pay-as-you-go plan.

"Many taxpayers may feel that they are unable to make an accurate estimate of their income in advance," he added. "They should remember that the estimates do not have to be absolutely accurate. In estimating taxes, they should consider all the facts and circumstances which they think will affect their incomes for the year. If employed at a given wage or salary, they may presume, in the absence of facts to the contrary, that their pay will continue unchanged to the end of the year.

"Similarly, if they own stocks or bonds upon which the interest of dividends are taxable, they may consider, in the absence of information indiction a change of policy, that their rate of income from these stocks and bonds will remain unchanged through the year. Businessmen should estimate their probable gross incomes, deductions and credits and then file a declaration with all these facts in mind."

Taxpayers who receive only wages subject to withholding need not file declarations if they expect to earn less than $98.08 per week, or $425 per month if they are single persons without dependents; or less than $109.61 per week or $475 per month for a married couple without dependents, or for a single person with one dependent, the director explained. Those who expect to have an income of less than $800 are not required to file declarations either.

"A declaration must be filed by every citizen or resident of this country who expects to be required to file a return and who expects to receive wages subject to withholding of more than $4,500, plus $500 for each exemption or expects to receive income from other sources of more than $100 and has a gross income of $600 or more."

Information On Suspect Sought

Information concerning a man being held in Shreveport on a felony charge for Corpus Christi, Tex., is being sought by the Ouachita parish sheriff department and the Monroe city detective force.

Detective Chief Hugh L. Tolbert stated Saturday that his department had received information that the man, known as Selwyn Howell Martin, Howell Homaker and Hal Martin, had been in Ouachita parish servicing television sets during the past week. However, no reports of his activities have been reported to either department.

The man, who is listed by the three names, is wanted in Texas for fraudulent activites, and the local departments are seeking any contacts which he may have made while here. "We want to know if there are any complaints about this man," Chief Tolbert stated. "If anyone has any information, we would appreciate his calling either the sheriff department at 5123 or

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, Sept. 11 (AP) — King Norodom Sihanouk's premier broadcast a live-and-let-live appeal to the Vietminh today. He hinted Cambodia will take a neutral role in the Indochina war if the Communist-led rebel troops now in the kingdom withdraw.

In a radio speech that startled French and American authorities, Premier Pen Nouth told the 10,000 or so of Ho Chi Minh's fighting men on Cambodian soil:

"To you who operate in the kingdom on the pretext of helping our country reach independence, I say that we have obtained independence by our own means.

"While we are not Communists, we have no quarrel with communism as long as it doesn't impose itself by force on our people. It is not up to us to contest your right to busy yourself in Viet Nam (the neighboring state that has borne the brunt of the 7-year-old war). We ask you simply to let us live our life and leave our soil."

The declaration came amid ominous enemy movements in Viet Nam, bracing to meet a fall offensive from the rebels.

The French high command in Hanoi, 650 miles north of Phnom Penh, announced Ho Chi Minh's 320th Division—rated as his best—has moved into hill positions just outside the Red River delta, the key bastion of all French defenses in Indochina. The division was under attack by French bombers. Seven other divisions were reported at the enemy's disposal.

British Protest Chinese Attack

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP) — Britain fired a protest to Red China today against a Communist gunboat's attack that killed seven Britons and wounded five aboard a naval launch on patrol out of Hong Kong.

Orders went to the British envoy in Peiping, Charge d'affaires Humphrey Trevelyan, to tell Mao Tze-tung's government just what this nation thinks about the action Wednesday in international waters at the mouth of the Pearl River southwest of the crown colony.

The Foreign Office did not disclose the contents of the note at once. But the government of Prime Minister Churchill, an old seafarer himself, probably told the Chinese the attack was murder. Officials said Britain certainly does not intend to stand idly by and watch that sort of thing happen again.

Red guns blasted 12 shots into the 72-foot launch as it cruised on a regular anti-smuggling and defense patrol. Only two of the 14-man crew escaped injury. The launch was so crippled it never could return the fire. Among those killed was a reserve army captain who had gone along just for the ride.

Highest Presbyterian Court To Hold Meet

The fifty - second stated meeting of representatives from every Presbyterian Church in Louisiana will comprise the second highest church court in southern Presbyterianism as they meet in the historic Alabama Presbyterian Church September 15, 16, 17.

The Synod of Louisiana doubly honored this church in accepting its invitation to meet here this year in that it is the church's centennial year and one of the sons of the church, Rev. D. L. O'Neal, superintendent of home missions in Red River Presbytery, is the retiring moderator having served in this capacity through the past year. The old church has sent eight of its sons into the ministry and each of these men are now active ministers in the Southern Presbyterian Church. The Synod will also meet in the new church building which was dedicated July 26.

The guests of the Synod will be entertained in Camp Alabama, the Red River Presbytery Conference grounds just across the road from the church. This beautiful conference ground is capable in facilities of taking care of large meetings such as this Synod's meeting. There are eleven beautiful permanent cabins, a store, a large chapel and modern and well equipped dining hall. The women of Alabama Church will provide the meals.

Synod will convene at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 15. Registration will begin at 3 and extend till 5 p.m. at which time assignments will be made to cabins. At 8 p.m. there will be a worship period in which the retiring moderator, Rev. D. L. O'Neal will preach the sermon. Following the sermon the Synod will observe the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Outstanding leaders in Southern Presbyterianism will address the group during the course of the meeting. Dr. D. J. Cumming, educational secretary of the Board of World Missions; Dr. Frank Langham, American Bible Society; Rev. George H. Hicks, regional director of Christian Education in Louisiana will be among the special speakers.

Alabama Presbyterian Church is located five miles north of Choudrant, La., in Lincoln Parish, Sibley community. Rev. William Robert Gage is present pastor of the church.

Congress Being Given Too Much Authority-APSA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Political Science Assn. was told today that the Eisenhower administration has become disorganized by letting Congress move in on White House authority.

Dr. Herman M. Somers, chairman of the Haverford (Pa.) College's department of political science, had both praise and criticism for the administrative policies of the Republican regime.

In a paper prepared for delivery to the association he observed that the broad lines of administrative action to date have been "thoughtful and sound." On the other hand, he commented, there has been "a dramatic net decline in the role and leadership of the executive which has had a stunning effect on the bureaucracy."

The latter condition has come about, Somers said, by either the "abdication to Congress, or the permitted usurpation by Congress of executive authority, which has been the source of basic difficulties for the executive branch."

Somers expressed great interest in what he called President Eisenhower's attempt to make use of the Cabinet as a body in which basic decisions are made "collectively."

But he said "no one can recall a time when the prestige of federal employment was at a lower ebb." He said the administration has managed to make almost all employes feel their jobs are insecure.

He referred particularly to the State Department where he said the personnel situation has reached "some sort of nadir" and "internal demoralization is rampant both in the departmental staff and in the foreign service."

Somers asserted the department appears to have "abdicated to the raiders in the short-sighted pursuit of congressional harmony." This, he added, has resulted in an inordinate pressure for "dull conformity."

Somers, repeating that administrative organization and personnel of the executive branch are primarily presidential responsibilities, said:

"Congress can not govern, and to the extent that it is permitted to assume the power to manipulate executive personnel it can only disorganize the executive. This reduces the administration's capacity to accept higher levels of career bureaucracy."

Red China U. N. Seat Unlikely

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 —UP— American officials voiced confidence Saturday anti-Communist members will not allow membership for Red China to be even debated in the United Nations General Assembly meeting opening Tuesday.

This viewpoint was based on progress made in intensive behind-the-scenes diplomatic negotiations here, at UN headquarters in New York and in foreign capitals.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is flying to New York Sunday and will spend a week to 10 days at United Nations to rally free world backing for a U.S.-supported resolution to postpone debate on the Chinese membership issue.

Diplomatic sources believe Washington and London can certainly work out a "united front formula" to keep the explosive question from coming to a head in this session—presuming it will end by Christmas.

Whether the united front can be maintained into 1954 is another matter. Britain and some other nations want to leave the matter open, pending outcome of the Korean peace conference.

The United States is firmly committed to opposing the Russian bloos' attempt to oust Nationalist China from the UN in favor of the Peiping Communist regime.

Dulles, who will be chairman of the U.S. delegation during his New York stay, also will direct the maneuvers aimed at lining up strength to block Soviet attempts to reopen debate on the Korean peace conference.

Kennon Silent On Choice For Court Position

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon said today he hopes President Eisenhower chooses a man of "proper caliber" for the vacancy on the U. S. Supreme Court, because the "job is bigger than any political considerations."

Kennon told a news conference he knew of "several hundred" good prospects, but didn't think it was his prerogative to suggest any.

The vacancy on the high court was created by the death of Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

The governor said he would huddle Tuesday with state public works Director Roy Sessums over boundary problems created by tidelands legislation passed by the last Congress.

Still hopeful of obtaining a three league, 9½ miles, boundary for the state's offshore oil operations, Kennon said he had discussed the situation with Secretary of the Interior McKay recently in Seattle.

McKay will visit Texas and Louisiana next month for a firsthand look at offshore drilling and production.

The governor said he knew of no new developments toward calling a convention to rewrite Louisiana's 31-year-old constitution, "beyond what the state Bar Association is doing."

The Association has appointed a special committee to press for a re-write of the document, longest state constitution in the country.

Kennon told reporters he would attend Louisiana State University's opening football game against the University of Texas here next Saturday and "all other home games."

Kennon Sets Discussions On State Institutions

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon said today some 70 civic, professional and business leaders will meet with him Wednesday on operations and plans of state institutions.

The governor made the announcement at a press conference, the first since his return from a Wyoming vacation.

He said the Mansion meeting will "give the Department of Institutions an opportunity to tell leaders of the state about its operations, plans and hopes involved in the management of state hospitals, penal and correctional institutions.

"At the same time, it will give those who attend an opportunity to give their reaction to the program and advice to the department officials that would enable them to do a better job."

Looking at national issues for a minute, the governor said he hoped President Eisenhower would appoint a man of "proper caliber" to the vacancy on the U. S. Supreme Court created by the death of Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

"The job is bigger than any political considerations," he observed.

Kennon told reporters there were "several hundred" men whom he would consider to be of proper caliber, but declined any suggestions because "That's not my prerogative."

Back on his favorite subject of ownership of offshore lands, the governor said he would discuss boundary problems with state Public Works Director Roy T. Sessums Tuesday.

Kennon has repeatedly stated that the Louisiana tidelands should extend three leagues—or nine and a half miles—into the Gulf of Mexico. The Holland bill, which returned the tidelands to the states, leaves the door open for state ownership out to three leagues in the Gulf but each state must make its claim on the basis of historic boundaries, or the state's border when it entered the Union.

Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay is expected to visit Louisiana next month for a first hand look at offshore oil production.

Kennon said he discussed Louisiana's claim with McKay at a recent dinner in Seattle and had invited the secretary to visit Baton Rouge on his tidelands trip.

"But he's got a pretty tight schedule and I doubt if he'll be able to do it," the governor added.

Further on the Mansion conference, Kennon said the Department of Institutions "must have full public understanding of what it is doing now and what is being planned for the future if it is to function efficiently.

"These fall conferences will ford an opportunity to gain t better public understanding."

Dr. Edward Grant, director state institutions, said the seri "will be of tremendous significe to our department and to the people over the state who are pending on us for their ment physical and material care."

Peacemaker Role For H. Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 —UP— Former President Truman plans to assume a role of peacemaker among battling Democrats at their Chicago meeting this week.

The ex-President told friends of his aims during a visit here this week to attend funeral services for Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, but put an embargo on political news until he got to Chicago Saturday.

Mr. Truman hopes he can get fellow Democrats to quit fighting among themselves and wage a united campaign to recapture control of Congress next year.

In his peacemaker role, Mr. Truman will hold a virtual open house at his suite in the Blackstone Hotel, across the street from the main conference headquarters in the Conrad Hilton. Fellow Democrats from all factions will be welcome to drop in and talk over the party's future.

One of the major disputes threatening to disrupt harmony is a Southern demand for repeal of the party loyalty pledge adopted at the 1952 national conventin.

The pledge requires convention delegates to do everything in their power to get the national ticket on the ballots in their home states under the traditional party label. It was provoked by the 1948 states rights split which robbed the Truman - Barkley ticket of its regular place on the ballot in some Southern states.

Mr. Truman feels it is not necessary for the Democrats to become embroiled in a fight over the matter at a time when they should be united for the 1954 congressional election.

The loyalty pledge has nothing to do with the congressional campaign, and does not apply until the next national convention in 1956. By that time, party leaders hope it can be settled amicably.

3 Persons Hurt When Section Of Building Falls

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12 —UP— Three persons were injured and five cars were demolished here Saturday when a 200-foot second story addition to a department store collapsed and crashed into the street.

Witnesses said concrete blocks and mortar crashed onto the sidewalks and street when the wall of Schottensteins' department store gave way. Five cars parked in front of the building were flattened by the debris. The store was being remodeled.

"It sounded like a terrific explosion," Mrs. Rhode Shore, an employe of a jewelry store across the street said. "Our store shook and I thought it was an earthquake."

The falling concrete blocks tore down trolley wires in front of the store while bricks and other material landed across the street. Hundreds of persons gathered at the scene before the dust settled.

Police said it was fortunate that only a few persons were in the area at the time of the collapse. The store closes on Saturdays.

Highest Presbyterian Court To Hold Meet

The fifty - second stated meeting of representatives from every Presbyterian Church in Louisiana will comprise the second highest church court in southern Presbyterianism as they meet in the historic Alabama Presbyterian Church September 15, 16, 17.

The Synod of Louisiana doubly honored this church in accepting its invitation to meet here this year in that it is the church's centennial year and one of the sons of the church, Rev. D. L. O'Neal, superintendent of home missions in Red River Presbytery, is the retiring moderator having served in this capacity through the past year. The old church has sent eight of its sons into the ministry and each of these men are now active ministers in the Southern Presbyterian Church. The Synod will also meet in the new church building which was dedicated July 26.

The guests of the Synod will be entertained in Camp Alabama, the Red River Presbytery Conference grounds just across the road from the church. This beautiful conference ground is capable in facilities of taking care of large meetings such as this Synod's meeting. There are eleven beautiful permanent cabins, a store, a large chapel and modern and well equipped dining hall. The women of Alabama Church will provide the meals.

Synod will convene at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 15. Registration will begin at 3 and extend till 5 p.m. at which time assignments will be made to cabins. At 8 p.m. there will be a worship period in which the retiring moderator, Rev. D. L. O'Neal will preach the sermon. Following the sermon the Synod will observe the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Outstanding leaders in Southern Presbyterianism will address the group during the course of the meeting. Dr. D. J. Cumming, educational secretary of the Board of World Missions; Dr. Frank Langham, American Bible Society; Rev. George H. Hicks, regional director of Christian Education in Louisiana will be among the special speakers.

Alabama Presbyterian Church is located five miles north of Choudrant, La., in Lincoln Parish, Sibley community. Rev. William Robert Gage is present pastor of the church.

Congress Being Given Too Much Authority-APSA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Political Science Assn. was told today that the Eisenhower administration has become disorganized by letting Congress move in on White House authority.

Dr. Herman M. Somers, chairman of the Haverford (Pa.) College's department of political science, had both praise and criticism for the administrative policies of the Republican regime.

In a paper prepared for delivery to the association, he observed that the broad lines of administrative action to date have been "thoughtful and sound." On the other hand, he commented, there has been "a dramatic net decline in the role and leadership of the executive which has had a stunning effect on the bureaucracy."

The latter condition has come about, Somers said, by either the "abdication to Congress, or the permitted usurpation by Congress of executive authority, which has been the source of basic difficulties for the executive branch."

Somers expressed great interest in what he called President Eisenhower's attempt to make use of the Cabinet as a body in which basic decisions are made "collectively."

But he said "no one can recall a time when the prestige of federal employment was at a lower ebb." He said the administration has managed to make almost all employes feel their jobs are insecure.

He referred particularly to the State Department where he said the personnel situation has reached "some sort of nadir" and "internal demoralization is rampant both in the departmental staff and in the foreign service."

Somers asserted the department appears to have "abdicated to the raiders in the short-sighted pursuit of congressional harmony." This, he added, has resulted in an inordinate pressure for "dull conformity."

Somers, repeating that administrative organization and personnel of the executive branch are primarily presidential responsibilities, said:

"Congress can not govern, and to the extent that it is permitted to assume the power to manipulate executive personnel it can only disorganize the executive. This reduces the administration's capacity to accept higher levels of career bureaucracy."

Kennon Silent On Choice For Court Position

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon said today he hopes President Eisenhower chooses a man of "proper caliber" for the vacancy on the U. S. Supreme Court, because the "job is bigger than any political considerations."

Kennon told a news conference he knew of "several hundred" good prospects, but didn't think it was his prerogative to suggest any.

The vacancy on the high court was created by the death of Chief Justice Fred Vinson.

The governor said he would huddle Tuesday with state public works Director Roy Sessums over boundary problems created by tidelands legislation passed by the last Congress.

Still hopeful of obtaining a three league, 9½ miles, boundary for the state's offshore oil operations, Kennon said he had discussed the situation with Secretary of the Interior McKay recently in Seattle.

McKay will visit Texas and Louisiana next month for a firsthand look at offshore drilling and production.

The governor said he knew of no new developments toward calling a convention to rewrite Louisiana's 31-year-old constitution, "beyond what the state Bar Association is doing."

Red China U. N. Seat Unlikely

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 —UP— American officials voiced confidence Saturday anti-Communist members will not allow membership for Red China to be even debated in the United Nations General Assembly meeting opening Tuesday.

This viewpoint was based on progress made in intensive behind-the-scenes diplomatic negotiations here, at UN headquarters in New York and in foreign capitals.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is flying to New York Sunday and will spend a week to 10 days at United Nations to rally free world backing for a U.S.-supported resolution to postpone debate on the Chinese membership issue.

Diplomatic sources believe Washington and London can certainly work out a "united front formula" to keep the explosive question from coming to a head in this session—presuming it will end by Christmas.

Whether the united front can be maintained into 1954 is another matter. Britain and some other nations want to leave the matter open, pending outcome of the Korean peace conference.

The United States is firmly committed to opposing the Russian bloes' attempt to oust Nationalist China from the UN in favor of the Peiping Communist regime.

Dulles, who will be chairman of the U.S. delegation during his New York stay, also will direct the maneuvers aimed at lining up strength to block Soviet attempts to reopen debate on the Korean peace conference.

Oatis Tells Story Of Imprisonment By Czech Reds

First Account Of Ordeal Is Presented By AP Man

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When William N. Oatis returned to this country last May after more than two years in jail in Czechoslovakia, it was announced that he would write his own story of his experiences as a foreign correspondent of The Associated Press and as a prisoner of the Communists. Now, after rest, medical treatment and time for research, he has written this story.)

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
(Copyright 1953 by The Associated Press)

Back home in Marion, Ind., I used to like the Fourth of July.

But in Prague, in 1951, I hated it.

That was the day we got the bad news.

There were four of us, all employes of The Associated Press in Czechoslovakia. I was the only American. I was a foreign correspondent, and the chief of bureau.

On that sunny Wednesday morning, we were led into a bright, roomy, high-ceilinged hall of the courthouse at Pankrac Prison in Prague. We were seated on a long wooden bench.

It was like a church pew. And we would have made a proper quartet of churchgoers. We were dressed respectably in business suits, our faces were clean and we were quiet . . . very quiet.

But there the resemblance ended. Because we did not sit alone. We sat, each of us, between two tall, strapping keepers in the red - trimmed olive - drab uniform of the Czechoslovak police. And they packed pistols.

We were their prisoners. We stood accused of espionage against what the Communists call the People's Democratic Republic of Czecholovakia, on behalf of what they call the American imperialists. And we had come to the third and last day of our trial before the Senate of the State Court in Prague.

Behind us sat two sparse rows of reporters, Czechoslovak and foreign, for Communist newspapers and Communist news agencies. And behind them, filling ground floor and gallery, were citizens of Czechoslovakia.

Eyes Front

I had not got a good look at that audience, because for a defendant the courtroom rule is eyes front, toward the judges.

But only seven months before, when a group of Roman Catholic clergymen was in the dock and I was in the press section, I had studied another audience that must have been much like it.

And so I thought I knew what I should have seen if I could have turned around an stared:

Two banks of color, like flowerbeds, above and below . . . the clothing and faces of a crowd. Bright work shirts and house frocks. Sober woollens — office garb. Pale faces, red faces. Poker faces, dull faces.

These were people the authorities had favored with passes to the courtroom. A few were friends or relatives of us defendants. Two were friends of mine—though I did not know then that they were there, and it was almost two years before I found out. They were observers for the U. S. Embassy in Prague—Vice Counsul Richard G. Johnson and Private Secretary Mary Horak.

A Latter-Day Circus

But most of those in the audience were holidayers from factories, cooperative farms or governments offices. They were just there for the show. And the show was drawing to its close. They were waiting, and we were waiting. Soon we were to hear the judgement.

In ancient Rome, people watched lions maul the Christians. In old London, they watched the hangman spring the trap on thieves. In modern Prague, they watched propaganda trials.

A man could cite other examples, too, from other times and other places. But there is no need for that, because in each case the spectacle is, in essence, the same.

It is the spectacle of people being ruined — something that might bill itself, with little exaggeration, as "the greatest show on earth."

The show was drawing to its close. On the day of my arrest, 72 days before, the secret police had told me:

"If anyone opposes us, we ruin them."

They had done a great deal in that direction already, on all of us. Now the court was about to finish the job.

Stage Is Set

There we sat, watching the stage set. Just in front of us was the horseshoe - shaped witness stall where we had stood, one after another, to accuse ourselves. Beside that, to my right, a well dressed, rosy - cheeked girl sat as interpreter between me and the court.

Beyond it rose a spacious platform stretching clear across the end of the courtroom. Now and then a court functionary entered from a door at the rear and put some papers on a desk.

Gradually the lawyers drifted in. The four advocates of the accused took their places together in a box on the right. Sly - faced, in old suits, they looked less like attorneys than like a seedy jury gathered hastily from among loiterers on the courthouse steps.

State Prosecutor Josef Urvalek strolled in. He was a youthful looking man with black hair, a handsome face and a high, broad forehead. He wore a long black gown, and he seemed fond of playing tricks with it, shooting an arm out of the sleeve abruptly like Death pointing at his next victim.

A Cross-Eyed Judge

Finally, the five judges filed briskly in, trailing their black gowns. We were prodded to our feet, while we heard the spectators rising behind us, and we remained standing till the judges were seated.

They sat side by side, facing us across the long, brown wooden bar. On the wall behind them, larger than life, reared the golden lion of Bohemia, a symbol from the days of feudalism strangely surviving in an age of Communism. Its tail was forked and barbed, like Satan's.

In the middle of the bar sat Presiding Judge Jaroslav Novak. He was stocky, yellowish and bald, with bushy brows.

His stern stare was none the less disconcerting for its ambiguity. I could never tell whether Judge Novak was looking at me or not; he was cross-eyed.

To his left were two other professional judges. One was a little brown man whose face was wrinkled in a perpetual scowl, as if he had a hangover. The other was a big, broad fellow with a big, broad face registering only dead calm—a kind of Slav Buddha.

To Judge Novak's right sat the two that had been pointed out to me as the "people's judges" — a bony little gnome of a man with a sagging mouth, and a buxom woman with a pile of brown hair. Both looked as if they might have spent most of their lives selling stamps in a post office.

The Black Cap

From somewhere, Judge Novak produced a round - topped black cap and, with both hands, placed it squarely on his head. The other judges followed suit. I knew the tradition, and I knew what it meant: the court was about to pass sentence.

"The defendants," said Chairman Novak, looking at us, or past us, "will stand."

Between the two guards, I was hustled to my feet. With a quick jerk of his hand, the man on either side twisted my sleeve tight against my wrist — tight enough to stop the flow of blood. Our custodians could not keep us from fainting. But if we did faint, they were there to see that none of us disturbed the decorum of the court by falling on his face.

As Judge Novak began speaking, I gathered from the interpreter that we all were convicted. I had expected that. Now I braced myself to hear what it would mean for me. I knew enough Czech to catch the judge's meaning at once, ahead of the interpreter:

Ten Years

"William Nathan Oatis . . . deset let. . . ."

"Deset let" — 10 years.

"Ten years' deprivation of freedom," the interpreter finished.

Ten years in prison.

Ten years — waiting, fighting time, struggling to get through each hour, mired down in a dreadful swamp of days, weeks, months, years.

Ten years. I looked across that awful gulf, and I could not measure it. It was as if I had just read that light from some star system deep in space takes a billion years to reach the earth. The figure was beyond my comprehension.

But one thing I knew; I had lost a big chunk out of my life. That thought hit me like a cold, hard hand and almost pushed me over the rim of consciousness. My guts froze and the courtroom went white. The sense ebbed swiftly in my brain and then, before it was all gone, flowed back.

All this took only a moment. And then I heard the other sentences:

Thomas Svoboda—20 years.

Paul Woydinek—18 years.

Peter Muntz—16 years.

10 Minutes To Decide

We were all to forfeit our property to the state. And I, as a foreigner, was to be expelled from the country after completing my prison term.

Judge Novak then allowed us to sit down, and he read a statement of the court's reasoning on the case.

Finally, we were told that we might either accept sentence or appeal. "For the benefit of the foreigner," the judge added that in case of good behavior, a convict might petition for his own release after serving half of his sentennce.

He adjourned court for 10 minutes. We were led out a side door of the courtroom and across a hall and placed with our personal guards in separate cells.

Advice of Counsel

As I paced the narrow wooden floor of my cell, in came a neat middle-aged man in a gray business suit. He was a fidgety little man an with a poker face and the quick, sidelong glance of an apprehensive rabbit. He had been introduced to me, only a week before, as "your lawyer, Dr. Bartos."

Dr. Bartos had with him a police interpreter, for he spoke no English. He had come to advise me on the next move.

"Ten years!" I said to him. "That's pretty stiff, isn't it?"

"I thought you'd get 15 years," he said.

"What do you think I ought to do?" I asked.

"I think you ought to accept the sentence."

I had pleaded guilty. Fourteen people had testified against me, and I was one of them. A denial of my guilt in the face of all that would get me nowhere. There was no use to appeal on the question of guilt.

I had got the lightest sentence laid down in the law for a case like mine. There was no reason to appeal on the question of the length of the sentence.

The Die Is Cast

I stood a chance to get out of prison after five years — maybe even sooner. I could hardly hope to get out so soon if I antagonized the police or the judges. And if I appealed, I might antagonize them.

An appeal could do me no good, and it might hurt me. I agreed with my lawyer. I would accept the sentence.

I had a question for Dr. Bartos: The police had told me that the United States Embassy had taken charge of the few clothes and books I had brought with me to Prague. I wondered if the authorities meant to claim them, since the court had ruled that my property should be confiscated.

The lawyer waved his hand in a gesture of deprecation.

"That," he said, "was just for the public."

I grabbed at his promise that he would petition President Klement Gottwald, within the next few days, for my pardon.

A Promise

I gave him the address of my wife, Laurabelle, in St. Paul, Minn. I asked him to cable her that I had got 10 years in prison but that with good behavior I could get out in five and that he was petitioning for a pardon that might get me out even sooner.

He promised me he would. He also assured me that, whenever I wanted to consult him, I had only to tell a prison guard and I would be taken to him. Then he left.

A few moments later, we four convicts were back in the courtroom, and Judge Novak was asking me, "What is your decision?" I had framed my little piece beforehand, and I stood in the stall and spoke it:

"I accept the sentence of the court and ask that I be sent somewhere where I can do some useful work."

I hopes that I could go to a convict labor camp, where I should have sunshine and fresh air and room for a stroll and above all something to do, something to help me pass the time.

I went back to a cell. I stayed in a cell until, after 24 months and 23 days in prison, I was pardoned.

If Dr. Bartos asked for my pardon, I never heard of it. If he sent a cable to my wife, she never got it. And if he really believed my keepers would let me consult him at will, he is a dreamer. I never got to talk to him again. I suppose I am just as well off.

Just A Gesture

I well remember the last tip he gave me. We prisoners, one by one, had stood up and announced our acceptance of sentence and had taken our places again on our bench.

In his black robes, like Death's, the state prosecutor arose, and in a loud voice shouted, "I appeal!"

I looked across to where Dr. Bartos sat, and our eyes met. He sensed my confusion at this unexpected development. And again I saw saw that deprecatory wave of his hand.

"That," he seemed to be saying again, "is just for the public."

I well remember, also, the last man I saw as I walked from that courtroom under guard, and under sentence. He was a spectator, a brown, greasy young fellow in shirt sleeves and rumpled trousers. He stood at the barrier and stared at me, and his face wore a wide, showy grin. He was plainly delighted with what had happened.

I think I can guess how he felt. I think it was just the way the Communist party and regime wanted him to feel.

He felt protected: The party was looking out for him. It had led the workers to power. And now once more it had safeguarded that power: it had nailed a spy.

And he felt self-important: He was the little guy watching the big guy take a tumble. He was tiny Czechoslovakia slapping the face of mighty America. He was the working class triumphant over a fallen foe, and gloating.

The show was over. For him, it had been a heart - warming melodrama with a happy ending. For my friends and me, it had been a tragedy. I never saw them again.

What Happened?

That is what happened to me on the Fourth of July, 1951. Why? What made it happen?

In my cell, in the months that followed, I had time to think about that — more time than I wanted. I thought about it — more than was good for me. And I suppose the answer is about like this:

The setup in Czechoslovakia while I was there was made to order for a case such as mine. I realize now something I never realized then: In all of eastern Europe, there was no more dangerous place for a Western correspondent to work.

A fight was on in Czechoslovakia—the Communists' campaign to wipe out the opposition, to complete their revolution.

A fight was on in the world, too—the diplomatic struggle for preponderance between the respective spheres of influence of the United States and the Soviet Union. The western border of Czechoslovakia was part of the dividing line between those spheres. The frontier was tight, but it was not impassable. A lot got over, in both directions — much propaganda, and some spies.

Czechoslovakia was dangerous broder country.

Quietly They Die

This revolution, as revolutions go, was a quiet one. People did not get shot down on the streets. They simply dropped out of sight, some of them to turn up in propaganda trials and, after accusing themselves of crimes against the state, get prison terms or go quietly to the gallows.

There was this, certainly, to put a man on his guard. But there were other things to throw him off it.

There was for example the fact that such things seldom happened to foreigners.

I went to Prague from London on June 23, 1950. Bedrich Runge of the press section of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs handed me a booklet labeled, "journalist's identity card, 1950." Inside was my name, description and passport photo. In little squares labeled, "second quarter" and "third quarter," the ministry had stamped its official seal.

This meant that I was accredited as a foreign correspondent for the rest of June and for July, August and September. To continue my work after September, I must get this accreditation renewed, with a new stamp.

A Tricky System

This was the control the government exercised over correspondents. Their copy was not censored before it was sent out of the country. But government press people read it as it was published in newspapers abroad. If they did not like what they read, the ministry declined to renew the writer's accreditation. And with the expiration of his latest residence permit, he had to leave the country.

(Within the six months before my arrival in Prague, two AP men and several other correspondents had been got rid of this way, most of them on the grounds that they had indulged in what the government called "unobjective reporting.")

This system was tricky. The correspondent never knew quite where he stood.

There was only one stated restriction on the movements of the American correspondent in Czechoslovakia. Except on journeys in and out of the country, he might not enter the relatively narrow frontier zone. Otherwise, he was not specifically forbidden to go where he pleased and see what he liked.

Nor was there any stated restriction on his contacts. He might talk to anyone that would talk to him.

Official—And Unofficial

Under these circumstances, he could see and hear a good deal. As an American, he naturally would find friends among Czechs sympathetic to Americans — lively, intelligent people, usually, alert to what was going on in the country and eager to talk about it.

So, with his own eyes and ears, he could get news that he did not see in the official press nor hear on the official radio nor pick up from handouts of the ministries of foreign affairs and information and the official news agency

Using what the government gave him was called "official reporting." Using what he got otherwise was called "unofficial reporting."

He knew that what came from official sources was what the government wanted people to know. He might surmise that the authorities would frown on "unofficial reporting." But there was no hard-and-fast rule against it.

What was more, other correspondents did it and got by with it.

He knew that: His home office sometimes asked him for "unofficial" stories that other correspondents already had on agency wires or in newspapers aboard. If some such story displeased somebody that mattered in Czechoslovakia, the offending reporter was simply bounced from the country — until it came my turn: I got arrested.

Those Who Matter

Because I forgot who were the people that really mattered. They were not press officers at the ministries of information and foreign affairs. They were not the Czechs that like Americans.

They were Czechs that did not like Americans, unless the Americans happened to be Communists or Communist sympathizers. They were the secret police.

I was their prisoner for over two years. And I have my experience or their own words to back up everything I say about them.

The secret police speak of themselves as the guardians of "our republic" and "our party." They aim, frankly, to wipe out all opposition. They do this mainly with the help of the laws on treason, espionage and sabotage.

They are the men with the most to do in preparing political propaganda trials in Czechoslovakia. They arrest suspects and question them until they have enough on them to convict them in a Czechoslovak court. Then the state prosecutor takes over, and a trial follows.

In any prosecution, there is the law and there is the evidence. The evidence must show to the satisfaction of the court that the accused broke the law.

State Holds Two Trumps

In this, the secret police have two advantages: The law is flexible, and their power over their prisoners makes it relatively easy for them to gather evidence, and even to manufacture it.

They can stretch the law from one side and the evidence from the other until the two overlap and can be bound together, much as a sailor might pull together and splice two sections of a severed rope. And the court will not look too closely at the splice.

They were suspicious of me from the day I entered Czechoslovakia.

An innocent though incautious act of mine two months later strengthened their suspicions. That act prompted the authorities to stop my accreditation at the end of September. But they did not tell me the reason, and I could not guess.

I asked and got permission to stay and work as usual without accreditation. A few weeks later, I was invited to a confidential meeting with a secret police official.

On that occasion, a police agent posing as a ministry employe struck up an acquaintance with me. Several times after that, he invited me to dinner.

A Mystery Man

I went along, to try to figure out this mystery man. He fished for information on the United States Embassy. He suggested that I use embassy communications channels to send news out of the country. And he finally tried to get me to work for him.

If his object was to provoke me to a clear violation of the law and catch me redhanded in it, he got nowhere. If his aim was to turn me into a police spy, he failed in that, too.

But he did give me some "unofficial" information, and this was used against me at my trial. He also did something for me that looked at the time like a favor. In February, 1951, he helped get my accreditation restored.

That same month, a secret police agent was shot and killed in Prague. Soon after, the police started arresting acquaintances of mine. They were also acquaintances of a man I had heard of but never met—another mystery man.

He was a Czech refugee that, for reasons unknown to me, passed back and forth across the border between Czechoslovakia and western Germany. And it was another acquaintance of this man, outside my own circle of friends, who was arrested and accused of killing the policeman.

Three of my employes knew this refugee. These employes were arrested one by one — first Svoboda, then Woydinek, then Muntz.

Why They Confess

On April 23, the police arrested me, too, searched my office and seized notes, news stories, messages and other material. Later, others acquainted with the four of us were picked up. And everybody was put through a stiff interrogation.

It is through such interrogations that prisoners are induced to make the fantastic confessions that are the hallmark of a propaganda trial.

They confess, most of them, not because confessions are beaten out of them. I should hesitate to say no suspect ever was beaten in Czechoslovakia. But never in my two years in prison was I beaten, and never did I meet another prisoner that would say he had been beaten or that showed any signs of it.

As for the "injections" reputedly used in Communist countries, I was given no injections of anything besides what was described—correctly, I believe, — as a sugar and vitamin solution for my health. I heard of no other prisoner that was drugged.

Prisoners make fantastic confessions primarily, I think, because they feel that that is their only chance to save something out of the wreckage.

They do so because they feel that that is what the police want them to do, and that unless they do what the police want them to, they are lost.

They are left in little doubt of what the police would like for them to say. On that score, the system is practically foolproof: The police simply write it out for them and they sign it, and then, in court, they recite it. It is a gesture of despair, a grab for a straw.

The Evidence

In the witness stall, primed to talk away a part of their lives if not life itself they might well say like Martin Luther, called before a church council to answer for his teachings:

"Here I stand — God help me, I can do no other."

In my case, the police easily established the fact that I had done "unofficial reporting."

They even confronted me with another suspect who testified I had sought "unofficial news — that is, espionage news."

There it was. In the eyes of the police, all unofficial reporting was espionage. And if I knew what was good for me, I should look at the matter through the eyes of the police, because my fate was in their hands.

So I signed a statement to the effect that I had gathered military information in Czechoslovakia and that thereby I had committed espionage.

This was still low-level espionage, punishable by three months to three years in prison. To indict me for high-level espionage, the police must show that I had obtained "State secrets with the intention of betraying them to a foreign power.'"

In January, 1951, I had met Lt. Col. George L. Atwood when he came to Prague as military attache of the U. S. embassy.

A Plot Suspected

In talking with him, I learned that toward the end of the war he had gone to the Japanese language school of the Military Intelligence Service at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

So had I, when I was in the Army. We had been there at the same time, though we had never met there.

Among my effects, the police had found an unfortunate souvenir —a pass issued to me at a similar school at Fort Snelling, Minn., where I had spent a short time in transit to Ann Arbor.

Neither school had anything to do with peacetime intelligence work. Both were designed for the training of translators and interpreters to question prisoners and sift through captured documents in the war with Japan.

But to the secret police, "military intelligence" — and there it was on the pass, in black and white — meant only one thing: espionage. To their minds, all this spelled a plot: I was a spy and Atwood was a spy, and we were working together.

It was useless for me to point out that I never had been in military intelligence and that I had cut all connections with the army over six years before.

Questioned as to how certain things had got into my notebook, I had told them how, one day, I had picked up a rumor at the Indian embassy to the effect that apartments in one section of Prague were being commandeered for army officers, and how I had asked Col. Atwood what he knew about this.

In talking to him about that rumor, my intention was not to give him information but to get information from him — not for a story, but for background helpful to my understanding of the country where I was working. It turned out, in fact, that he already had heard the report.

Signed and Sealed

But that cut no ice with the police. They made out of the incident what they could. They wrote out a statement, for my signature, that I had given military information to Atwood. And I haggled about it and rewrote it. And, though it was still damaging, I had been awake for something like 42 hours. All I could think of was that I must sleep. They would not let me sleep till I had signed it, and so I signed.

Later, they took all they had about the two of us, and about the school, and worked it into a weird statement that wound up with my saying I had given Atwood information because I knew he was a spy.

Late one night, they pushed that at me, and a polite police official told me, "Sign this and you don't need to worry."

It was so fantastic that even as I read it I had to smile. And I was so confused that I did not see it for the boobytrap that it was.

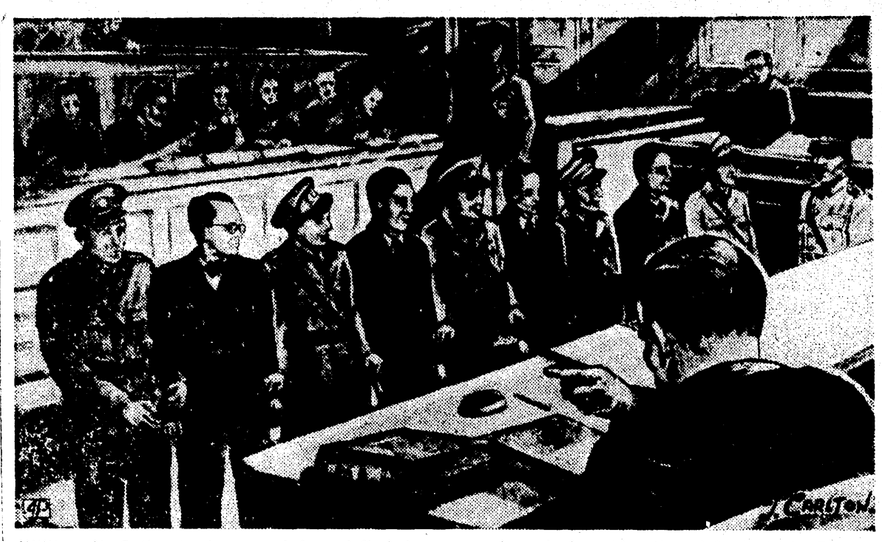

It seems, I thought, that what they want is to shoot off a heavy charge of propaganda and then to expel Atwood — and maybe me too.

I signed that statement. Then they rewrote all my previous factual statements, hopping them up, needling fact with fancy, painting me as black as they could.

And by now I was so used to signing papers, so conscious of my absolute helplessness, so convinced that my only hope lay in playing their game, that on every page I wrote, "I have read this. I have approved it. I have signed it. William Nathan Oatis."

And, finally, in court, I recited it—practically all of it just the way they wanted me to recite it.

That is how the police got me, and how they stuck me.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

There are 1,483 size combinations—be sure your child is properly fit.

Outgrown Shoes May Start Child On Lifetime Of Suffering

A recent study of statistics from the entire country reveals that more children are crippled every year by improper shoes than are struck down by polio. While the two are not in the same class, yet children who wear the wrong size and the wrong style shoe will suffer for it all through their lives.

Only one child out of every two thousand children will fall victim to polio but it has been found that more than 40 per cent of grade school children surfer from foot ailments of various kinds. Most of these ailments are relatively minor yet some are serious enough to cause difficulty in walking correctly in childhood and in later life.

Too often parents fail to take care as to the fit of their children's shoes. The manufacturers of children's shoes produce 1,483 shoe fitting combinations, varying sizes and widths, in order to keep up with young feet. It is possible to secure an exact fit for every child even though his feet may vary from the standard for his age.

One of the greatest mistakes mothers make is allowing the child to wear shoes he has outgrown. This often leads to deformity. More than 70 per cent of children's foot ills stem directly from, or are aggravated by, the habit of wearing shoes which they have outgrown. Shoes which are too short distort the whole foot. One of the first effects is "hammer toes."

Your child has probably outgrown his shoes during the summer. His feet require constant attention, especially at the beginning of the school year. After months of rough play, probably in sneakers or old shoes, children's feet should have a careful examination and a precise fitting.

Here is the average rate of foot growth.

Age	Size Changes Every
2 to 6 years	4 to 8 weeks.
6 to 10 years	8 to 12 weeks.
10 to 12 years	12 to 16 weeks.
12 to 15 years	16 to 20 weeks.
15 and over	6 months and up.

Orthopedists and chiropodists prefer leather shoes because these allow the perspiration to evaporate and fresh air to enter. Leather is porbus. The lather oxford is the best shoe for school and for play. This should have a flexible leather sole and upper part so that the foot is supported without binding.

Do not allow your child to wear outgrown shoes any more than you would allow him to wear outgrown clothes. The effect of the former is even more devastating.

Coon To Speak To Police Group At Alexandria

Mayor John E. Coon will be the principal speaker at the official opening of the in-service police training program at Room 159, Bolton High School, in Alexandria Monday. Other prominent speakers will be J. E. Mimms, special agent in charge, F. B. I., and J. M. Boyet, assistant director, general extension division, L. S. U.

Sponsored by the Louisiana Peace Officers Association, Louisiana Sheriff's Association, Municipal Police Officers Association, and the Louisiana Chiefs of Police Association, in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the training program is offered to state peace officers through the Louisiana State University extension program.

T. J. Stephens, of Natchitoches, a prominent state peace officer for many years, is course director. He serves in this capacity as a faculty member of L. S. U.

The first phase of the program offers 18 weeks of police training, the course will be taught by F. B. I. agents, judges, district attorney's and other law enforcement officers. One three-hour class will be held each week. F. B. I. facilities will be used throughout the 18 subject course.

The public is invited to attend the opening ceremonies which will be at 7 o'clock.

Similar classes will be held as follows: Shreveport, Sept. 10; Alexandria, Sept. 14; Ruston, Sept. 16; Natchitoches, Sept. 17.

Gold Star Mothers Tea To Be Held In West Monroe

Gold star mothers, those who have lost sons in military conflict, will be entertained Sunday by members of the Hudson-Leehy post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, according to an announcement by the auxiliary.

An auxiliary spokesman said the party for gold star mothers will be part of a national practice of honoring mothers who have lost sons in battle.

The tea will be held between 3 and 5 p. m. Sunday.

Other events on the VFW agenda during this month include a barbecue to be held Sept. 26 at the organization's camp. Members of the auxiliary will assist the barbecue although the men are sponsoring the outing.

Sept. 27 the auxiliary will send a delegation to Alexandria where they will meet the national auxiliary president, Mrs. Rosalie Schill, of New Orleans. Several members are expected to be in the delegation.

Sam Orchard's Mother Is Dead In St. Louis, Mo.

Sam Orchard, manager of the Louisiana Paper Company and prominent in business and civic circles, was summoned to St. Louis, Mo., last night by the death of his mother, Mrs. Tessie Orchard, 82, who died there Friday.

She had in earlier life been prominent in social and church circles.

The funeral is to be held in St. Louis at 10 a. m. Monday.

She leaves besides her son, Sam, in Monroe; two sons in St. Louis, Aaron and Charles Orchard, and the following daughters, Mrs. Sidney Strauss, St. Louis, and Mrs. Machan Benson, South Gate, Calif.

Mr. Orchard, in connection with other affiliations, has been serving the past year as commander of the L. B. Faulk American Legion post.

First Account Of Ordeal Is Presented By AP Man

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When William N. Oatis returned to this country last May after more than two years in jail in Czechoslovakia, it was announced that he would write his own story of his experiences as a foreign correspondent of The Associated Press and as a prisoner of the Communists. Now, after rest, medical treatment and time for research, he has written this story.)

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
(Copyright 1953 by The Associated Press)

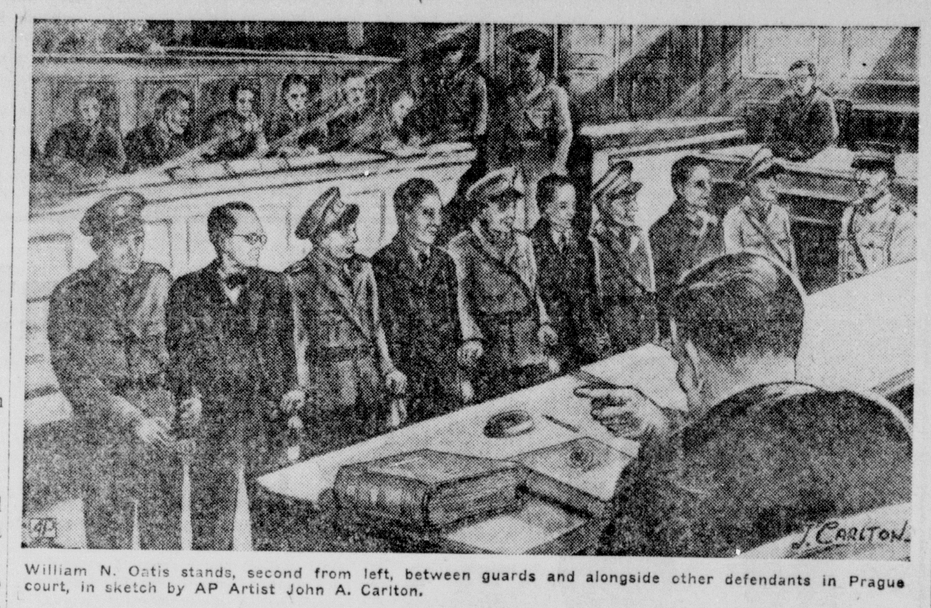

Back home in Marion, Ind., I used to like the Fourth of July.

But in Prague, in 1951, I hated it.

That was the day we got the bad news.

There were four of us, all employes of The Associated Press in Czechoslovakia. I was the only American. I was a foreign correspondent, and the chief of bureau.

On that sunny Wednesday morning, we were led into a bright, roomy, high-ceilinged hall of the courthouse at Pankrac Prison in Prague. We were seated on a long wooden bench.

It was like a church pew. And we would have made a proper quartet of churchgoers. We were dressed respectably in business suits, our faces were clean and we were quiet . . . very quiet.

But there the resemblance ended. Because we did not sit alone. We sat, each of us, between two tall, strapping keepers in the red - trimmed olive - drab uniform of the Czechoslovak police. And they packed pistols.

We were their prisoners. We stood accused of espionage against what the Communists call the People's Democratic Republic of Czecholovakia, on behalf of what they call the American imperialists. And we had come to the third and last day of our trial before the Senate of the State Court in Prague.

Behind us sat two sparse rows of reporters, Czechosolavak and foreign, for Communist newspapers and Communist news agencies. And behind them, filling ground floor and gallery, were citizens of Czechoslovakia.

Eyes Front

I had not got a good look at that audience, because for a defendant the courtroom rule is eyes front, toward the judges.

But only seven months before, when a group of Roman Catholic clergymen was in the dock and I was in the press section, I had studied another audience that must have been much like it.

And so I thought I knew what I should have seen if I could have turned around an stared:

Two banks of color, like flowerbeds, above and below . . . the clothing and faces of a crowd. Bright work shirts and house frocks. Sober woollens — office garb. Pale faces, red faces. Poker faces, dull faces.

These were people the authorities had favored with passes to the courtroom. A few were friends or relatives of us defendants. Two were friends of mine—though I did not know then that they were there, and it was almost two years before I found out. They were observers for the U. S. Embassy in Prague—Vice Counsul Richard G. Johnson and Private Secretary Mary Horak.

A Latter-Day Circus

But most of those in the audience were holidayers from factories, cooperative farms or governments offices. They were just there for the show. And the show was drawing to its close. They were waiting, and we were waiting. Soon we were to hear the judgement.

In ancient Rome, people watched lions maul the Christians. In old London, they watched the hangman spring the trap on thieves. In modern Prague, they watched propaganda trials.

A man could cite other examples, too, from other times and other places. But there is no need for that, because in each case the spectacle is, in essence, the same.

It is the spectacle of people being ruined — something that might bill itself, with little exaggeration, as "the greatest show on earth."

The show was drawing to its close. On the day of my arrest, 72 days before, the secret police had told me:

"If anyone opposes us, we ruin them."

They had done a great deal in that direction already, on all of us. Now the court was about to finish the job.

Stage Is Set

There we sat, watching the stage set. Just in front of us was the horseshoe - shaped witness stall where we had stood, one after another, to accuse ourselves. Beside that, to my right, a well dressed, rosy - cheeked girl sat as interpreter between me and the court.

Beyond it rose a spacious platform stretching clear across the end of the courtroom. Now and then a court functionary entered from a door at the rear and put some papers on a desk.

Gradually the lawyers drifted in. The four advocates of the accused took their places together in a box on the right. Sly - faced, in old suits, they looked less like attorneys than like a seedy jury gathered hastily from among loiterers on the courthouse steps.

State Prosecutor Josef Urvalek strolled in. He was a youthful looking man with black hair, a handsome face and a high, broad forehead. He wore a long black gown, and he seemed fond of playing tricks with it, shooting an arm out of the sleeve abruptly like Death pointing at his next victim.

A Cross-Eyed Judge

Finally, the five judges filed briskly in, trailing their black gowns. We were prodded to our feet, while we heard the spectators rising behind us, and we remained standing till the judges were seated.

They sat side by side, facing us across the long, brown wooden bar. On the wall behind them, larger than life, reared the golden lion of Bohemia, a symbol from the days of feudalism strangely surviving in an age of Communism. Its tail was forked and barbed, like Satan's.

In the middle of the bar sat Presiding Judge Jaroslav Novak. He was stocky, yellowish and bald, with bushy brows.

His stern stare was none the less disconcerting for its ambiguity. I could never tell whether Judge Novak was looking at me or not; he was cross-eyed.

To his left were two other professional judges. One was a little brown man whose face was wrinkled in a perpetual scowl, as if he had a hangover. The other was a big, broad fellow with a big, broad face registering only dead calm—a kind of Slav Buddha.

To Judge Novak's right sat the two that had been pointed out to me as the "people's judges" — a bony little gnome of a man with a sagging mouth, and a buxom woman with a pile of brown hair. Both looked as if they might have spent most of their lives selling stamps in a post office.

The Black Cap

From somewhere, Judge Novak produced a round - topped black cap and, with both hands, placed it squarely on his head. The other judges followed suit. I knew the tradition, and I knew what it meant: the court was about to pass sentence.

"The defendants," said Chairman Novak, looking at us, or past us, "will stand."

Between the two guards, I was hustled to my feet. With a quick jerk of his hand, the man on either side twisted my sleeve tight against my wrist — tight enough to stop the flow of blood. Our custodians could not keep us from fainting. But if we did faint, they were there to see that none of us disturbed the decorum of the court by falling on his face.

As Judge Novak began speaking, I gathered from the interpreter that we all were convicted. I had expected that. Now I braced myself to hear what it would mean for me. I knew enough Czech to catch the judge's meaning at once, ahead of the interpreter:

Ten Years

"William Nathan Oatis . . . deset let. . ."

"Deset let" — 10 years.

"Ten years' deprivation of freedom," the interpreter finished.

Ten years in prison.

Ten years — waiting, fighting time, struggling to get through each hour, mired down in a dreadful swamp of days, weeks, months, years.

Ten years. I looked across that awful gulf, and I could not measure it. It was as if I had just read that light from some star system deep in space takes a billion years to reach the earth. The figure was beyond my comprehension.

But one thing I knew; I had lost a big chunk out of my life. That thought hit me like a cold, hard hand and almost pushed me over the rim of consciousness. My guts froze and the courtroom went white. The sense ebbed swiftly in my brain and then, before it was all gone, flowed back.

All this took only a moment. And then I heard the other sentences:

Thomas Svoboda—20 years.

Paul Woydinek—18 years.

Peter Muntz—16 years.

10 Minutes To Decide

We were all to forfeit our property to the state. And I, as a foreigner, was to be expelled from the country after completing my prison term.

Judge Novak then allowed us to sit down, and he read a statement of the court's reasoning on the case.

Finally, we were told that we might either accept sentence or appeal. "For the benefit of the foreigner," the judge added that in case of good behavior, a convict might petition for his own release after serving half of his sentennce.

He adjourned court for 10 minutes. We were led out a side door of the courtroom and across a hall and placed with our personal guards in separate cells.

Advice of Counsel

As I paced the narrow wooden floor of my cell, in came a neat middle-aged man in a gray business suit. He was a fidgety little man with a poker face and the quick, sidelong glance of an apprehensive rabbit. He had been introduced to me, only a week before, as "your lawyer, Dr. Bartos."

Dr. Bartos had with him a police interpreter, for he spoke no English. He had come to advise me on the next move.

"Ten years!" I said to him. "That's pretty stiff, isn't it?"

"I thought you'd get 15 years," he said.

"What do you think I ought to do?" I asked.

"I think you ought to accept the sentence."

I had pleaded guilty. Fourteen people had testified against me, and I was one of them. A denial of my guilt in the face of all that would get me nowhere. There was no use to appeal on the question of guilt.

I had got the lightest sentence laid down in the law for a case like mine. There was no reason to appeal on the question of the length of the sentence.

The Die Is Cast

I stood a chance to get out of prison after five years — maybe even sooner. I could hardly hope to get out so soon if I antagonized the police or the judges. And if I appealed, I might antagonize them.

An appeal could do me no good, and it might hurt me. I agreed with my lawyer. I would accept the sentence.

I had a question for Dr. Bartos: The police had told me that the United States Embassy had taken charge of the few clothes and books I had brought with me to Prague. I wondered if the authorities meant to claim them, since the court had ruled that my property should be confiscated.

The lawyer waved his hand in a gesture of deprecation.

"That," he said, "was just for the public."

I grabbed at his promise that he would petition President Klement Gottwald, within the next few days, for my pardon.

A Promise

I gave him the address of my wife, Laurabelle, in St. Paul, Minn. I asked him to cable her that I had got 10 years in prison but that with good behavior I could get out in five and that he was petitioning for a pardon that might get me out even sooner.

He promised me he would. He also assured me that, whenever I wanted to consult him, I had only to tell a prison guard and I would be taken to him. Then he left.

A few moments later, we four convicts were back in the courtroom, and Judge Novak was asking me, "What is your decision?" I had framed my little piece beforehand, and I stood in the stall and spoke it:

"I accept the sentence of the court and ask that I be sent somewhere where I can do some useful work."

I hopes that I could go to a convict labor camp, where I should have sunshine and fresh air and room for a stroll and above all something to do, something to help me pass the time.

I went back to a cell. I stayed in a cell until, after 24 months and 23 days in prison, I was pardoned.

If Dr. Bartos asked for my pardon, I never heard of it. If he sent a cable to my wife, she never got it. And if he really believed my keepers would let me consult him at will, he is a dreamer. I never got to talk to him again. I suppose I am just as well off.

Just A Gesture

I well remember the last tip he gave me. We prisoners, one by one, had stood up and announced our acceptance of sentence and had taken our places again on our bench.

In his black robes, like Death's, the state prosecutor arose, and in a loud voice shouted, "I appeal!"

I looked across to where Dr. Bartos sat, and our eyes met. He sensed my confusion at this unexpected development. And again I saw saw that deprecatory wave of his hand.

"That," he seemed to be saying again, "is just for the public."

I well remember, also, the last man I saw as I walked from that courtroom under guard, and under sentence. He was a spectator, a brown, greasy young fellow in shirt sleeves and rumpled trousers. He stood at the barrier and stared at me, and his face wore a wide, showy grin. He was plainly delighted with what had happened.

I think I can guess how he felt. I think it was just the way the Communist party and regime wanted him to feel.

He felt protected: The party was looking out for him. It had led the workers to power. And now once more it had safeguarded that power: it had nailed a spy.

And he felt self-important: He was the little guy watching the big guy take a tumble. He was tiny Czechoslovakia slapping the face of mighty America. He was the working class triumphant over a fallen foe, and gloating.

The show was over. For him, it had been a heart - warming melodrama with a happy ending. For my friends and me, it had been a tragedy. I never saw them again.

What Happened?

That is what happened to me on the Fourth of July, 1951. Why? What made it happen?

In my cell, in the months that followed, I had time to think about that — more time than I wanted. I thought about it — more than was good for me. And I suppose the answer is about like this:

The setup in Czechoslovakia while I was there was made to order for a case such as mine. I realize now something I never realized then: In all of eastern Europe, there was no more dangerous place for a Western correspondent to work.

A fight was on in Czechoslovakia —the Communists' campaign to wipe out the opposition, to complete their revolution.

A fight was on in the world, too —the diplomatic struggle for preponderance between the respective spheres of influence of the United States and the Soviet Union. The western border of Czechoslovakia was part of the dividing line between those spheres. The frontier was tight, but it was not impassable. A lot got over, in both directions — much propaganda, and some spies.

Czechoslovakia was dangerous broder country.

Quietly They Die

This revolution, as revolutions go, was a quiet one. People did not get shot down on the streets. They simply dropped out of sight, some of them to turn up in propaganda trials and, after accusing themselves of crimes against the state, get prison terms or go quietly to the gallows.

There was this, certainly, to put a man on his guard. But there were other things to throw him off it.

There was for example the fact that such things seldom happened to foreigners.

I went to Prague from London on June 23, 1950. Bedrich Runge of the press section of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs handed me a booklet labeled, "journalist's identity card, 1950." Inside was my name, description and passport photo. In little squares labeled, "second quarter" and "third quarter," the ministry had stamped its official seal.

This meant that I was accredited as a foreign correspondent for the rest of June and for July, August and September. To continue my work after September, I must get this accreditation renewed, with a new stamp.

A Tricky System

This was the control the government exercised over correspondents. Their copy was not censored before it was sent out of the country. But government press people read it as it was published in newspapers abroad. If they did not like what they read, the ministry declined to renew the writer's accreditation. And with the expiration of his latest residence permit, he had to leave the country.

(Within the six months before my arrival in Prague, two AP men and several other correspondents had been got rid of this way, most of them on the grounds that they had indulged in what the government called "unobjective reporting.")

This system was tricky. The correspondent never knew quite where he stood.

There was only one stated restriction on the movements of the American correspondent in Czechoslovakia. Except on journeys in and out of the country, he might not enter the relatively narrow frontier zone. Otherwise, he was not specifically forbidden to go where he pleased and see what he liked.

Nor was there any stated restriction on his contacts. He might talk to anyone that would talk to him.

Official—And Unofficial

Under these circumstances, he could see and hear a good deal. As an American, he naturally would find friends among Czechs sympathetic to Americans — lively, intelligent people, usually, alert to what was going on in the country and eager to talk about it.

So, with his own eyes and ears, he could get news that he did not see in the official press nor hear on the official radio nor pick up from handouts of the ministries of foreign affairs and information and the official news agency

Using what the government gave him was called "official reporting." Using what he got otherwise was called "unofficial reporting."

He knew that what came from official sources was what the government wanted people to know. He might surmise that the authorities would frown on "unofficial reporting." But there was no hard-and-fast rule against it.

What was more, other correspondents did it and got by with it.

He knew that: His home office sometimes asked him for "unofficial" stories that other correspondents already had on agency wires or in newspapers aboard. If some such story displeased somebody that mattered in Czechoslovakia, the offending reporter was simply bounced from the country — until it came my turn: I got arrested.

Those Who Matter

Because I forgot who were the people that really mattered. They were not press officers at the ministries of information and foreign affairs. They were not the Czechs that like Americans.

They were Czechs that did not like Americans, unless the Americans happened to be Communists or Communist sympathizers. They were the secret police.

I was their prisoner for over two years. And I have my experience or their own words to back up everything I say about them.

The secret police speak of themselves as the guardians of "our republic" and "our party." They aim, frankly, to wipe out all opposition. They do this mainly with the help of the laws on treason, espionage and sabotage.

They are the men with the most to do in preparing political propaganda trials in Czechoslovakia. They arrest suspects and question them until they have enough on them to convict them in a Czechoslovak court. Then the state prosecutor takes over, and a trial follows.

In any prosecution, there is the law and there is the evidence. The evidence must show to the satisfaction of the court that the accused broke the law.

State Holds Two Trumps

In this, the secret police have two advantages: The law is flexible, and their power over their prisoners makes it relatively easy for them to gather evidence, and even to manufacture it.

They can stretch the law from one side and the evidence from the other until the two overlap and can be bound together, much as a sailor might pull together and splice two sections of a severed rope. And the court will not look too closely at the splice.

They were suspicious of me from the day I entered Czechoslovakia.

An innocent though incautious act of mine two months later strengthened their suspicions. That act prompted the authorities to stop my accreditation at the end of September. But they did not tell me the reason, and I could not guess.

I asked and got permission to stay and work as usual without accreditation. A few weeks later, I was invited to a confidential meeting with a secret police official.

On that occasion, a police agent posing as a ministry employe struck up an acquaintance with me. Several times after that, he invited me to dinner.

A Mystery Man

I went along, to try to figure out this mystery man. He fished for information on the United States Embassy. He suggested that I use embassy communications channels to send news out of the country. And he finally tried to get me to work for him.

If his object was to provoke me to a clear violation of the law and catch me redhanded in it, he got nowhere. If his aim was to turn me into a police spy, he failed in that, too.

But he did give me some "unofficial" information, and this was used against me at my trial. He also did something for me that looked at the time like a favor. In February, 1951, he helped get my accreditation restored.

That same month, a secret police agent was shot and killed in Prague. Soon after, the police started arresting acquaintances of mine. They were also acquaintances of a man I had heard of but never met—another mystery man.

He was a Czech refugee that, for reasons unknown to me, passed back and forth across the border between Czechoslovakia and western Germany. And it was another acquaintance of this man, outside my own circle of friends, who was arrested and accused of killing the policeman.

Three of my employes knew this refugee. These employes were arrested one by one — first Svoboda, then Woydinek, then Muntz.

Why They Confess

On April 23, the police arrested me, too, searched my office and seized notes, news stories, messages and other material. Later, others acquainted with the four of us were picked up. And everybody was put through a stiff interrogation.

It is through such interrogations that prisoners are induced to make the fantastic confessions that are the hallmark of a propaganda trial.

They confess, most of them, not because confessions are beaten out of them. I should hesitate to say no suspect ever was beaten in Czechoslovakia. But never in my two years in prison was I beaten, and never did I meet another prisoner that would say he had been beaten or that showed any signs of it.

As for the "injections" reputedly used in Communist countries, I was given no injections of anything besides what was described—correctly, I believe, — as a sugar and vitamin solution for my health. I heard of no other prisoner that was drugged.

Prisoners make fantastic confessions primarily, I think, because they feel that that is their only chance to save something out of the wreckage.

They do so because they feel that that is what the police want them to do, and that unless they do what the police want them to, they are lost.

They are left in little doubt of what the police would like for them to say. On that score, the system is practically foolproof: The police simply write it out for them and they sign it, and then, in court, they recite it. It is a gesture of despair, a grab for a straw.

The Evidence

In the witness stall, primed to talk away a part of their lives if not life itself they might well say like Martin Luther, called before a church council to answer for his teachings:

"Here I stand — God help me, I can do no other."

In my case, the police easily established the fact that I had done "unofficial reporting."

They even confronted me with another suspect who testified I had sought "unofficial news — that is, espionage news."

There it was. In the eyes of the police, all unofficial reporting was espionage. And if I knew what was good for me, I should look at the matter through the eyes of the police, because my fate was in their hands.

So I signed a statement to the effect that I had gathered military information in Czechoslovakia and that thereby I had committed espionage.

This was still low-level espionage, punishable by three months to three years in prison. To indict me for high-level espionage, the police must show that I had obtained "State secrets with the intention of betraying them to a foreign power.'"

In January, 1951, I had met Lt. Col. George L. Atwood when he came to Prague as military attache of the U. S. embassy.

A Plot Suspected

In talking with him, I learned that toward the end of the war he had gone to the Japanese language school of the Military Intelligence Service at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

So had I, when I was in the Army. We had been there at the same time, though we had never met there.

Among my effects, the police had found an unfortunate souvenir —a pass issued to me at a similar school at Fort Snelling, Minn., where I had spent a short time in transit to Ann Arbor.

Neither school had anything to do with peacetime intelligence work. Both were designed for the training of translators and interpreters to question prisoners and sift through captured documents in the war with Japan.

But to the secret police, "military intelligence" — and there it was on the pass, in black and white — meant only one thing: espionage. To their minds, all this spelled a plot: I was a spy and Atwood was a spy, and we were working together.

It was useless for me to point out that I never had been in military intelligence and that I had cut all connections with the army over six years before.

Questioned as to how certain things had got into my notebook, I had told them how, one day, I had picked up a rumor at the Indian embassy to the effect that apartments in one section of Prague were being commandeered for army officers, and how I had asked Col. Atwood what he knew about this.

In talking to him about that rumor, my intention was not to give him information but to get information from him — not for a story, but for background helpful to my understanding of the country where I was working. It turned out, in fact, that he already had heard the report.

Signed and Sealed

But that cut no ice with the police. They made out of the incident what they could. They wrote out a statement, for my signature, that I had given military information to Atwood. And I haggled about it and rewrote it. And, though it was still damaging, I had been awake for something like 42 hours. All I could think of was that I must sleep. They would not let me sleep till I had signed it, and so I signed.

Later, they took all they had about the two of us, and about the school, and worked it into a weird statement that wound up with my saying I had given Atwood information because I knew he was a spy.

Late one night, they pushed that at me, and a polite police official told me, "Sign this and you don't need to worry."

It was so fantastic that even as I read it I had to smile. And I was so confused that I did not see it for the boobytrap that it was.

It seems, I thought, that what they want is to shoot off a heavy charge of propaganda and then to expel Atwood — and maybe me too.

I signed that statement. Then they rewrote all my previous factual statements, hopping them up, needling fact with fancy, painting me as black as they could.

And by now I was so used to signing papers, so conscious of my absolute helplessness, so convinced that my only hope lay in playing their game, that on every page I wrote, "I have read this. I have approved it. I have signed it. William Nathan Oatis."

And, finally, in court, I recited it—practically all of it just the way they wanted me to recite it.

That is how the police got me, and how they stuck me.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

There are 1,483 size combinations—be sure your child is properly fit.

Outgrown Shoes May Start Child On Lifetime Of Suffering

A recent study of statistics from the entire country reveals that more children are crippled every year by improper shoes than are struck down by polio. While the two are not in the same class, yet children who wear the wrong size and the wrong style shoe will suffer for it all through their lives.

Only one child out of every two thousand children will fall victim to polio but it has been found that more than 40 per cent of grade school children suffer from foot ailments of various kinds. Most of these ailments are relatively minor yet some are serious enough to cause difficulty in walking correctly in childhood and in later life.

Too often parents fail to take care as to the fit of their children's shoes. The manufacturers of children's shoes produce 1,483 shoe fitting combinations, varying sizes and widths, in order to keep up with young feet. It is possible to secure an exact fit for every child even though his feet may vary from the standard for his age.

One of the greatest mistakes mothers make is allowing the child to wear shoes he has outgrown. This often leads to deformity. More than 70 per cent of children's foot ills stem directly from, or are aggravated by, the habit of wearing shoes which they have outgrown. Shoes which are too short distort the whole foot. One of the first effects is "hammer toes."

Your child has probably outgrown his shoes during the summer. His feet require constant attention, especially at the beginning of the school year. After months of rough play, probably in sneakers or old shoes, children's feet should have a careful examination and a precise fitting.

Here is the average rate of foot growth.

Age	Size Changes Every
2 to 6 years	4 to 8 weeks.
6 to 10 years	8 to 12 weeks.
10 to 12 years	12 to 16 weeks.
12 to 15 years	16 to 20 weeks.
15 and over	6 months and up.

Orthopedists and chiropodists prefer leather shoes because these allow the perspiration to evaporate and fresh air to enter. Leather is porous. The lather oxford is the best shoe for school and for play. This should have a flexible leather sole and upper part so that the foot is supported without binding.

Do not allow your child to wear outgrown shoes any more than you would allow him to wear outgrown clothes. The effect of the former is even more devastating.

Coon To Speak To Police Group At Alexandria

Mayor John E. Coon will be the principal speaker at the official opening of the in-service police training program at Room 159, Bolton High School, in Alexandria Monday. Other prominent speakers will be J. E. Milmes, special agent in charge, F. B. I., and J. M. Boyet, assistant director, general extension division, L. S. U.

Sponsored by the Louisiana Peace Officers Association, Louisiana Sheriff's Association, Municipal Police Officers Association, and the Louisiana Chiefs of Police Association, in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the training program is offered to state peace officers through the Louisiana State University extension program.

T. J. Stephens, of Natchitoches, a prominent state peace officer for many years, is course director. He serves in this capacity as a faculty member of L. S. U.

The first phase of the program offers 18 weeks of police training, the course will be taught by F. B. I. agents, judges, district attorney's and other law enforcement officers. One three-hour class will be held each week. F. B. I. facilities will be used throughout the 18 subject course.

The public is invited to attend the opening ceremonies which will be at 7 o'clock.

Similar classes will be held as follows: Shreveport, Sept. 10; Alexandria, Sept. 14; Ruston, Sept. 16; Natchitoches, Sept. 17.

Gold Star Mothers Tea To Be Held In West Monroe

Gold star mothers, those who have lost sons in military conflict, will be entertained Sunday by members of the Hudson-Leehy post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, according to an announcement by the auxiliary.

An auxiliary spokesman said the party for gold star mothers will be part of a national practice of honoring mothers who have lost sons in battle.

The tea will be held between 3 and 5 p. m. Sunday.

Other events on the VFW agenda during this month include a barbecue to be held Sept. 26 at the organization's camp. Members of the auxiliary will assist the barbecue although the men are sponsoring the outing.

Sept. 27 the auxiliary will send a delegation to Alexandria where they will meet the national auxiliary president, Mrs. Rosalie Schill, of New Orleans. Several members are expected to be in the delegation.

Sam Orchard's Mother Is Dead In St. Louis, Mo.

Sam Orchard, manager of the Louisiana Paper Company and prominent in business and civic circles, was summoned to St. Louis, Mo., last night by the death of his mother, Mrs. Tessie Orchard, 82, who died there Friday.

She had in earlier life been prominent in social and church circles.

The funeral is to be held in St. Louis at 10 a. m. Monday.

She leaves besides her son, Sam, in Monroe; two sons in St. Louis, Aaron and Charles Orchard, and the following daughters, Mrs. Sidney Strauss, St. Louis, and Mrs. Machan Benson, South Gate, Calif.

Mr. Orchard, in connection with other affiliations, has been serving the past year as commander of the L. B. Faulk American Legion post.

Monroe Woman Doesn't Know Relative Dead

Anyone who knows the whereabouts of Margie Golden, Monroe, is asked to contact her at once and have her call her mother in Meridian, Miss.

The Monroe woman is reported to have started for Texas about two weeks ago. She stopped in Shreveport, and later returned to Monroe. She is believed to have gone back to Shreveport, but her address is unknown.

Junior Troopers Of Troop 'F' Sworn In

Thirty youngsters between the ages of 10 and 15 years were officially sworn in as junior troopers of Troop "F" of the Louisiana State Police by Sgt. William B. Awl, junior troop supervisor, Saturday morning in the Ouachita Parish court house.

These boys are students, representing schools in the cities of Monroe and West Monroe, and have been recommended through the superintendents of schools, and have been accepted as members by the state police department.

This organization of junior troopers was established under the sponsorship of the division of the state police. The entire program will be operated on a uniform and standardized manner, with all orders and directives originating from the office of the superintendent of state policed. All records of this league will be maintained at the State Police headquarters in Baton Rouge.

Members of the junior trooper league are selected for their aptitude, dependability, attitude interest in their task, and popularity with both child and adult associates.

These boys will be given a training program, dealing with traffic safety, civil defense duties, functions of state police, activities and general outline of the duties of law officers.

The objective and purpose of this organization is to instill young people with the meaning of vehicle and highway safety and to promote closer and warmer relations between them, their parents, and law enforcement agencies as a whole.

All members of the junior troopers organization must have permission from their parents or guardian to join, maintain a satisfactory scholastic record, carry out all assignments and duties, and abide by the pledge. This league is fully sponsored without membership dues, fees, or contributions from any member or any member's family.

Sworn in this morning were: John Vernon Jones, of St. Matthew's Parochial School, John Alexandria Hummel, of St. Paschal's Parochial School, Fredrick Ross Webb, of West Monroe High School, John Hardwick Douglas of Crosley Grammar School, James Robert Corry, of Ouachita Parish High School, Richard Roy Byrd of West Monroe High School, Lloyd Landry Parker of Ouachita Parish Grammar School, Jerry Wayne Durham of Ouachita Parish High School, Robert Henderson Dever of Ouachita Parish High School, James Wylie Daniel of W. Also Larry Bernard McCarthy of St. Matthew's Parochial School, the son of the late Lawrence McCarthy was not able to be present for the ceremony.

"You should embrace the opportunity to be of good service to your community and you can certainly help to create a better respect and attitude toward law enforcement," stated Monroe's City Judge W. M. Harper.

Other guests present were Frank Kirby, chief deputy of the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department, Howell Heard, West Monroe city attorney, M. L. Peters, Monroe chief of police, Capt. E. Roy Byrd, of the Louisiana state police, and District Attorney Fred Fudickar.

All of the guests spoke to the group of youngsters and offered to the boys any assistance that their departments could offer.

Model Home To Be Opened For Public Viewing

The newly formed Lakeshore Construction Company will open its first model home to the public today at 3 p. m. on Lakeshore Drive.

The house, which is described as one of the most modern in the area, fetaures air conditioning throughout, thermostat controlled heating and cooling, built-in telephone extension outlets, asphalt tile floors—with the exception of the living room, which has hardwood block flooring—and full insulation.

Ample closet space with sliding doors, natural finished hardwood doors, steel window homes, strips containing numerous electric appliance outlets, and recessed lighting, described as easiest on the eyes, are also included in the house. The home contains two bathrooms with built-in showers, one bath is entered from the hall, the other adjoins the master bedroom.

Local business firms have furnished the house throughout for the exhibition period.

Constructed of buff brick and redwood panelling, the house is situated on a 100 by 200 feet lot. The rear living room wall is constructed of 15 large windows. The structure has a carport with an adjoining utility room.

The home, which was designed by C. J. Carney, vice president and superintendent of construction for the Lakeshore Construction Company. (Carney was for ten years associated with a well-known local construction company) will be open from 3 to 9 p. m. Sunday and 5 to 9 p. m. on weekdays, through next Sunday. It may also be inspected during the day by appointment. Such appointments can be made by calling W. A. Guy, president of the new firm, at 2-0061.

Other officers of the Lakeshore Construction Company include W. McCain, vice-president, and Elsie McClendon, secretary.

Local firms which have supplied material for construction or furnishing include Durrett Furniture Company, United Electric Company, Monroe Hardware, Smith Venetian Blinds, Modern Tile Company, Monroe Brick and Floor Company, James McElroy Electric Company, Aswell Plumbing Company, and Climatic Control Air Conditioning Company.

Guy said the firm would build similar houses anywhere in the city, and that they would also build to any plans the prospective owner might desire.

New Assistant Pastor Assigned To St. Matthews

FATHER DAVID DABRIA

The new priest who greeted last Sunday's congregation at the St. Matthews Catholic Church is none other than Father David Paul Dabria who was recently appointed as assistant pastor to this church by Bishop Greco of Alexandria.

Father Dabria, born in the community of Marrero a short distance outside of New Orleans was ordained to the priesthood on May 30, 1953 in the St. Francis Xavier Cathedral in Alexandria. He is 25 years of age, and one of the youngest priests in the Alexandria diocese. The newly appointed priest comes from a family of three children and attended the Immaculate Conception Parochial Grammar School. In 1941, he entered the Minor Seminary at St. Anthony's College in San Antonio Tex. and later spent six years in the Notre Dame Major Seminary in New Orleans. There he received his Bachelor of Arts and Masters degrees in philosophy.

Also he attended two summer sessions at Loyola University. At the Notre Dame Seminary, he was the president of the Catholic Student Mission Crusade Society. In the Minor Seminary at St. Anthony's he played varsity baseball, football, and basketball. Before being appointed as the assistant pastor here, he was an instructor at the Knights of Columbus Mary Hill Youth Camp near Alexandria.

As assistant Pastor of St. Matthews, Father Dabria will assist Monsignor J. C. Marsh and will teach religion in all of the high school grades. He especially likes young people and athletics. Among his hobbies is fishing.

Father Dabria has a younger brother, now in the seminary of Notre Dame. An older brother is coming to Monroe shortly, for the purpose of having Father Dabria perform his marriage rites.

When asked how he liked Monroe, the young priest smiled and answered. "I fell in love with this place the first moment I laid eyes on it when I visited here two years ago."

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By SUE SHARMAN

Heaven Can Wait," Little Thea- first production of the new on, is in the usual doldrums of ng. Two evenings of try-outs, sday and Friday evenings, did yield sufficient male talent to a cast of twelve men for the e comedy-fantasy, which is e popularly known under the ie version of "Here Comes Jordan," has twelve male s and six women. A cast of teen is a big job for any di- or and more especially when ve of them are men.

rector Thom Feuerstein's ini- on into the business of casting Monroe has proven no different in former years . . . the tion mark is where are the ? We thought he was taking troubles very bravely Friday ing when he said that he un- tood the population of Monroe West Monroe to be more than 00 and at least twenty per cent hem must be men and after he was only looking for ve men.

ere will be a third evening of uts Monday at 7:30 p. m. in Selman Field Playhouse. All ose who read on the two pre- occasions are asked to be and a great big invitation is o men . . . The 12 male parts with a healthy young prize er of about 23 and the other offer a wide range in age talent . . . So if any of you Theatre people know a man would like to see act, bring on out Monday evening . . . ourse there is a law against apping but in the interest of a civic cause, we might be able et you off with a suspended ence and a special citation for ice to the Little Theatre of roe.

with his business and see some Broadway shows while he is there . . . The twenty members of the choral group who are now in rehearsal for the world famous oratorio "Elijah", reads like a membership list of the Little Theatre. They are cutting "Elijah" fro its original length to 40 minutes and it will be presented at the first evening services as a part of the dedication program of the beautiful new St. Paul's Methodist Church on Lexington. The oratorio is under the capable direction of Little Theatre patron members Slade and Jane Brown. They are laying the corner stone of St. Paul's today and the dedication services will be in late October, the date to be announced sometime soon . . . And that winds up another "Curtain Call" and we leave you with this thought (Director Thom Feuerstein needs twelve men for "Heaven Can Wait").

Monroe Woman Doesn't Know Relative Dead

Anyone who knows the whereabouts of Margie Golden, Monroe, is asked to contact her at once and have her call her mother in Meridian, Miss.

The Monroe woman is reported to have started for Texas about two weeks ago. She stopped in Shreveport, and later returned to Monroe. She is believed to have gone back to Shreveport, but her address is unknown.

Junior Troopers Of Troop 'F' Sworn In

Thirty youngsters between the ages of 10 and 15 years were officially sworn in as junior troopers of Troop "F" of the Louisiana State Police by Sgt. William B. Awl, junior troop supervisor, Saturday morning in the Ouachita Parish court house.

These boys are students, representing schools in the cities of Monroe and West Monroe, and have been recommended through the superintendents of schools, and have been accepted as members by the state police department.

This organization of junior troopers was established under the sponsorship of the division of the state police. The entire program will be operated on a uniform and standardized manner, with all orders and directives originating from the office of the superintendent of state policed. All records of this league will be maintained at the State Police headquarters in Baton Rouge.

Members of the junior trooper league are selected for their aptitude, dependability, attitude interest in their task, and popularity with both child and adult associates.

These boys will be given a training program, dealing with traffic safety, civil defense duties, functions of state police, activities and general outline of the duties of law officers.

The objective and purpose of this organization is to instill young people with the meaning of vehicle and highway safety and to promote closer and warmer relations between them, their parents, and law enforcement agencies as a whole.

All members of the junior troopers organization must have permission from their parents or guardian to join, maintain a satisfactory scholastic record, carry out all assignments and duties, and abide by the pledge. This league is fully sponsored without membership dues, fees, or contributions from any member or any member's family.

Sworn in this morning were: John Vernon Jones, of St. Matthew's Parochial School, John Alexandria Hummel, of St. Paschal's Parochial School, Fredrick Ross Webb, of West Monroe High School, John Hardwick Douglas of Crosley Grammar School, James Robert Corry, of Ouachita Parish High School, Richard Roy Byrd of West Monroe High School, Lloyd Landry Parker of Ouachita Parish Grammar School, Jerry Wayne Durham of Ouachita Parish High School, Robert Henderson Dever of Ouachita Parish High School, James Wylie Daniel of W. R. Mitchell Grammar School, Lewis Lon Bass of West Monroe High School, Billy Ray Leonard, of Crosley Grammar School, James Curtis Hudson of Selman Grammar School, Neal Lane Johnson of Ouachita Parish Grammar School, William Fowler Tubbs of Millsaps Grammar School.

James Henry Woods of Sherrouse Grammar School, Donald Charles Andrews of Neville High School, Joe Allen Brownlee of Neville High School, Weldon Dan Bates of Neville High School, James Ronald Hunt of Central Grammar School, Roger Edward Peinhardt of Lexington Grammar School, William Edward Rambin of Lida Benton Grammar School, James Norman Awl of Neville High School, Paul Wesley Davis of Plum Street Grammar School, Roy Gene Morgan of Barkdull - Faulk Grammar School, John Roy Joyce of the Georgia Tucker Grammar School, Percy Thomas Causey of Neville High School. Also Larry Bernard McCarthy of St. Matthew's Parochial School, the son of the late Lawrence McCarthy was not able to be present for the ceremony.

"You should embrace the opportunity to be of good service to your community and you can certainly help to create a better respect and attitude toward law enforcement," stated Monroe's City Judge W. M. Harper.

Other guests present were Frank Kirby, chief deputy of the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department, Howell Heard, West Monroe city attorney, M. L. Peters, Monroe chief of police, Capt. E. Roy Byrd, of the Louisiana state police, and District Attorney Fred Fudickar.

All of the guests spoke to the group of youngsters and offered to the boys any assistance that their departments could offer.

Model Home To Be Opened For Public Viewing

The newly formed Lakeshore Construction Company will open its first model home to the public today at 3 p. m. on Lakeshore Drive.

The house, which is described as one of the most modern in the area, fetaures air conditioning throughout, thermostat controlled heating and cooling, built-in telephone extension outlets, asphalt tile floors—with the exception of the living room, which has hardwood block flooring—and full insulation.

Ample closet space with sliding doors, natural finished hardwood doors, steel window homes, strips containing numerous electric appliance outlets, and recessed lighting, described as easiest on the eyes, are also included in the house. The home contains two bathrooms with built-in showers, one bath is entered from the hall, the other adjoins the master bedroom.

Local business firms have furnished the house throughout for the exhibition period.

Constructed of buff brick and redwood panelling, the house is situated on a 100 by 200 feet lot. The rear living room wall is constructed of 15 large windows. The structure has a carport with an adjoining utility room.

The home, which was designed by C. J. Carney, vice president and superintendent of construction for the Lakeshore Construction Company, (Carney was for ten years associated with a well-known local construction company) will be open from 3 to 9 p. m. Sunday and 5 to 9 p. m. on weekdays, through next Sunday. It may also be inspected during the day by appointment. Such appointments can be made by calling W. A. Guy, president of the new firm, at 2-0061.

Local firms which have supplied material for construction or furnishing include Durrett Furniture Company, United Electric Company, Monroe Hardware, Smith Venetian Blinds, Modern Tile Company, Monroe Brick and Floor Company, James McElroy Electric Company, Aswell Plumbing Company, and Climatic Control Air Conditioning Company.

Guy said the firm would build similar houses anywhere in the city, and that they would also build to any plans the prospective owner might desire.

New Assistant Pastor Assigned To St. Matthews

The new priest who greeted last Sunday's congregation at the St. Matthews Catholic Church is none other than Father David Paul Dabria who was recently appointed as assistant pastor to this church by Bishop Greco of Alexandria.

Father Dabria, born in the community of Marrero a short distance outside of New Orleans was ordained to the priesthood on May 30, 1953 in the St. Francis Xavier Cathedral in Alexandria. He is 25 years of age, and one of the youngest priests in the Alexandria diocese. The newly appointed priest comes from a family of three children and attended the Immaculate Conception Parochial Grammar School. In 1941, he entered the Minor Seminary at St. Anthony's College in San Antonio Tex. and later spent six years in the Notre Dame Major Seminary in New Orleans. There he received his Bachelor of Arts and Masters degrees in philosophy.

FATHER DAVID DABRIA

Also he attended two summer sessions at Loyola University. At the Notre Dame Seminary, he was the president of the Catholic Student Mission Crusade Society. In the Minor Seminary at St. Anthony's he played varsity baseball, football, and basketball. Before being appointed as the assistant pastor here, he was an instructor at the Knights of Columbus Mary Hill Youth Camp near Alexandria.

As assistant Pastor of St. Matthews, Father Dabria will assist Monsignor J. C. Marsh and will teach religion in all of the high school grades. He especially likes young people and athletics. Among his hobbies is fishing.

Father Dabria has a younger brother, now in the seminary of Notre Dame. An older brother is coming to Monroe shortly, for the purpose of having Father Dabria perform his marriage rites.

When asked how he liked Monroe, the young priest smiled and answered. "I fell in love with this place the first moment I laid eyes on it when I visited here two years ago."

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Baseball shoulders its way back into the local scene Tuesday night when Legionnaires of L. B. Faulk Post of Monroe, the Chamber of Commerce and ten sponsoring members of the Monroe New Car Franchised Dealers pay a tribute to the Louisiana champions of American Legion Junior baseball when Coach Woody Boyles assembles his great 1953 team for the last time for the big testimonial dinner to be given on the roof of Hotel Frances.

The Legion Juniors, ranked among the nation's top 12 teams, made Monroe and the Fifth District of Louisiana mighty baseball conscious as they won their second state crown, eliminated the champs of Arkansas, Texas, and Mississippi in national regional play and knocked off Greenwood, S. C., before losing out to Cherryville, N. C., in the national sectional where victory would have qualified the Monroe team for the Junior World Series.

Each member of the squad will be presented a huge plaque inscribed with the names of members of the team and words of tribute, in addition to other tokens of appreciation when they gather Tuesday night. Only about 500 persons will be accommodated for the shindig, and plates are five bucks per person with the proceeds going to defray expenses incurred in purchase of the plaques and other tokens for the boys.

It will be the capping of a fine season for Ike McMullen, Tommy Boyles, Arthur Swanson, Gene Barham, Billy Hardy, Wayne Causey, Jeff Spence, Freddie Frickie, Wayne Hendricks, Bobby Joe Dunn, Gary Huckabay, "Chubby" Johnson and Larry Reeves, the thirteen boys who went all the way with the team.

While on the subject of baseball, we'd like to make a few more observations on the Monroe Sports and the Cotton States League. We have all been hearing a lot of rumors such as the Shreveport owners pulling out of Monroe; either Business Manager Paul Manasseh or field Manager Charley Harrington, or both, not being with us next season; the St. Louis Cardinals buying out the Shreveport interest; a locally-owned corporation taking charge; the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion, which owns Legion Memorial Park and leases it to club owners, going into baseball business; and Monroe having no club at all in '54.

But none of this jumble of shoptalk has been pinned down. The folks who ought to know have given no indications that any of the talk is true and it looks like the mutterings are the fancies of fans who have their own ideas about what should be done to pull Monroe out of the doldrums experienced in the season just closed. It is true that the Monroe Sports lost money, plenty of it. The fans' big beef was the lack of a winner. The club owners' big beef was the lack of support. It takes a winner and a park full of customers to make everybody happy.

And more, Monroe is just a small part of the league talk. The rumblings say the Cotton States is ready to fold. Jackson has no park, the result of a freak tornado in late season that put the Senators on the road in the last days of the campaign, Meridian, despite a pennant playoff winner, failed to get the gate support C. B. Rawlings and company so desired. Natchez was a complete flop at the gate, and reports say the Indians are selling all their players in an effort to make up financial losses. Business Manager Tom Glennon—handed in his resignation at Natchez before the season ended but saw it through to the final day before pulling stakes. Hot Springs and Pine Bluff were dissatisfied with the year's take at the gates. Greenville had a much better year than for the past few seasons, and El Dorado, we believe, had one of the best in the league, but their returns should have been more.

Again, the fate of the league has not been presented by the men who should know. Some clubs may drop out, new towns may come in, the league may collapse. Definite answers can be coming with the loop's fall meeting.

But as certainly as sap rises in trees and the grass turns green in the spring, baseball will win new strength, the past will be forgotten except for the sake of history, and everybody will be looking toward a great year of 1954.

Yanks Slaughter Tigers, 13-4, Move Nearer Flag

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Mickey Mantle crashed his third 500-foot homer of the season this afternoon as the New York Yankees overwhelmed the Detroit Tigers 13-4. The 21-year old slugger hit into the third deck of the distant left field stands with two aboard in the seventh inning, a session in which the repeating champions scored eight times.

The Yankees can clinch their fifth straight pennant by defeating the Indians here in two games. The Tribe comes in for a set of three, beginning tomorrow.

Brooklyn Mayor Proclaims 22nd As 'Dodger Day'

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)—John Cashmore, president of the Borough of Brooklyn, tonight proclaimed Tuesday, Sept. 22 as "Brooklyn Dodgers" day in honor of the National League pennant winners.

The Dodgers, who play their last home game of the regular season on that date against Pittsburgh, will be feted with a motorcade through Brooklyn and a reception at Borough Hall.

Cashmore said a time for ceremonies will be worked out shortly with Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers.

Tag Irish To Lead Collegiate Grid Race

2nd Place Rating Handed Michigan State; Tech Is 3rd

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Notre Dame, generally the people's football choice, is the pick of 171 sportswriters and broadcasters to be the outstanding college team of 1953.

The voters, polled by the Associated Press, put the Irish first on 84 of the ballots and shoved Michigan State, winner of the 1952 honors, to second place. Georgia Tech was a close third to the Spartans, each club getting 24 votes for the No. 1 spot in the annual pre-season poll.

The collegiate season starts next Saturday although college football action isn't general until Sept. 26.

The University of California at Los Angeles and Alabama complete the closely bunched top five and are followed in order by Oklahoma Ohio State, Southern California, Maryland and Duke. In all, 31 colleges received points in the voting.

The placing of Notre Dame at the top of the heap is another big step in the Irish comeback since the graduation of the mighty 1949 team. The Irish were out of sight during the final polls of 1950 and 1951 but last year had climbed back to third place at the end of the season behind Michigan State and Georgia Tech.

Although Coach Frank Leahy recently was quoted as saying, in mock seriousness, that the team would be lucky to score a first down this season, his statement did not stop the voters.

The other members of the top ten got points as follows: Oklahoma 672, Ohio State 666, Southern California 165, Maryland 143 and Duke 86. Points are awarded on a basis of ten for first place, nine for second and so on down the list until only one is given for tenth place.

The 1952 final poll ranked the teams in this order: Michigan State, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Southern California, UCLA, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Texas.

Notre Dame and Oklahoma open against each other in Norman, Okla., on Sept. 26 in a game which many expect to be as spectacular as the 27-21 victory of the Irish last year. Notre Dame lost but two of its 10 games last season and plays a schedule of similar length this year. Eight of the opponents are mentioned in this poll.

Michigan State, now a full member of the Big Ten, opens against Iowa the same day while Ohio State unveils its Buckeyes against Indiana.

This coming Saturday finds Southern California playing Washington State, Duke meeting South Carolina, Maryland traveling to Missouri and Georgia Tech entertaining Davidson. On Friday night (Sept. 18) the Uclans oppose Oregon State and Alabama tussles with strong but little known Memphis State.

The forecast (first place votes in parenthesis):

Notre Dame (84)	1,668
Michigan State (24)	1,305
Georgia Tech (24)	1,128
UCLA (12)	1,065
Alabama (18)	966
Oklahoma (3)	672
Ohio State (3)	666
Southern California	165
Maryland (1)	143
Duke (2)	86

Others to break in the scoring: Texas 85; Rice 66; Navy 56; California 26; Florida 24; West Virginia 20; Tennessee and Pittsburgh 18 each; Princeton 17; Baylor 15; Mississippi 14; Purdue 12; Houston 9; Michigan 8; Pennsylvania 7; Minnesota, Wisconsin, Southern Methodist and Villanova 5 each; Goergia and Washington 2 each; Penn State 1.

Left Jab Duty In Camp Work For LaStarza

Although the New Yorker has been mixing it up with his sparmates for weeks, he is expected to rely heavily on his jabs and boxing ability when he meets heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano for the title at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 24.

La Starza boxed a total of five rounds with four sparring partners, Jimmy De Lange, Billy Mayo, Johnny Neubauer and Egray Riley. He went two rounds with De Lange and one each with the others.

Tech's Bulldogs Groom For Wildcat Grid Scrap

REEL THING — Charles E. May inspects the 265-pound black sea bass he boated with only light tackle and glass rod after an hour and a half battle which saw the mighty fish tow him three miles in Monterey Bay, Calif. (NEA)

RUSTON, La. Sept. 12. (Special)—The Louisiana Tech gridmen went through their second full scrimmage game Saturday afternoon in preparation for the season's opening game next Saturday with Louisiana College in Pineville. It will be a Gulf States Conference game.

Tech coaches have had two weeks to look at the 1953 verson of the Bulldog team and they like what they see.

The starting lineup has not been announced but almost certain to see plenty of action in the game are such standouts from last year as All-Golf States Conference ends Gordon Brown, Ruston; and Kenneth Bates, Monroe. Up front in the line coach Aillet can draw upon the services of veteran tackles William Worsham, Rodessa, and co-captain Billy Golden, Shreveport, and guards Billy Adcox, El Dorado, Ark., and Paul Martin, Shreveport.

In Tech's backfield, said to be one of the best the Bulldogs have had in a long time, will be such standouts as halfbacks Jackie Martin, Harnesville; Russell Rainbolt, Delhi; and fullback James Oliver, Bossier City. Tech's trio of veteran quarterbacks include Jimmy Brown, last year's first stringer of Idabel, Okla.; Milford Andrews, Delhi; and Claude McCulley, Baton Rouge.

Several freshmen members of the Tech squad have proved their worth and coach Aillet reports that two newcomers have already been promoted to the second team. They are halfback A. L. Williams, Shreveport; and fullback Ray Manchester, Jena.

Last year Williams was an important cog in the Fair Park High School team of Shreveport which won the Class AA state championship. He scored all three touchdowns in the finals at New Orleans to bring his school the state title. Manchester played on the Jena High School team and was the state high scorer in the Class A division.

Down at Louisiana College, coach Devonne Payne has 16 returning letter from last year's Wildcat team. It will be Payne's first game as coach of the Wildcats, after turning out several state championship prep teams at Tallulah.

Joe Frazier Cops Texas League Bat Title With .3321

DALLAS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Joe Frazier, the Oklahoma City veteran, led the Texas League in batting with the lowest average to top the circuit in 10 years.

Final averages released today by statistician W. B. Ruggles showed Frazier to have wound up with .3321, which was the smallest since Gordon Donaldson of Tulsa won the batting championship in 1940 with .319.

But it was close. Bob Nieman of Tulsa led in 1951 with .3329 and Tommy Tatum of Tulsa in 1948 and Grant Dunlap of Shreveport in 1952 had .333.

Frazier had a high average going into the final two weeks of the campaign but slumped badly. He was almost overtaken by Jim Clarkson of Dallas who finished with .330.

Frazier also led the circuit in runs with 109 and in doubles with 55 but lost out to Chico Garcia of Shreveport in the fight to lead in hits. Garcia finished with 183 to Frazier's 182.

Pitching was at its lowest ebb since 1918 when a campaign cut almost in half by World War I left the leader in victories with only nine. John (Red) Murff of Dallas won the most games this season, posting a 17-13 record. It was the third time in the history of the league that some pitcher didn't win at least 20 games. Joe Landrum of Fort Worth was the top winner in 1949 with 19.

The season did produce a pitching record tie, however. Howie Judson of Tulsa had a 11-0 record for the season and that equalled the only other perfect mark for a leading hurler — that of a man named Woodruff with Dallas in 1895. Woodruff's first name and where he played in other years are unknown.

Fourteen "regular" players batted .300 or better—one more than last year.

Saturnino Escalera of Tulsa led in triples with 19, Harry Heslet of Shreveport in home runs with 41 and Russ Burns of Oklahoma City repeated as the runs - batted - in king with 124. He had 120 in 1952. Heslet's home run output was the most since Jerry White of Dallas hit 50 in 1949.

Vidalia Tumbles Before Gilbert's Demons, 12 To 0

GILBERT, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—The Gilbert High School Demons opened their district Class B football race here last night with a 12-0 triumph over the Vidalia High Vikings.

The game was decided in the second quarter when the Demons got both their touchdowns as their result of sterling runs by Ed Armstrong, a six-foot-one 175 - pound freshman end. Armstrong set up the touchdowns on runs of 23 and 50 yards, scoring one and putting the ball on the seven for a touchdown trip by Jerry Arnold on the other.

Gilbert, with new coaches Paul DeLacroix and Wyman Collie, tackle a tough one next week on a Friday night visit to Olla to play LaSalle, and the Demons' next home game will be with the Start Owls on October 2.

The first downs were eleven to four in favor of Gilbert. The Demons rolled for 228 yards on the ground and eleven in the air, while Vidalia, which started football for the first time only last year, was allowed 55 yards on the ground and 18 by air.

Penalties hurt Vidalia with the Vikings being penalized a total of 125 yards, including seven penalties of 15 yards each. Gilbert was penalized 15.

Louis Watches Marciano Work; No Prediction

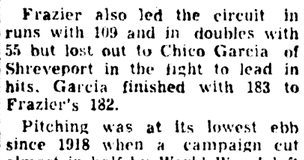

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Joe Louis watched Rocky Marciano work out today but declined to make a prediction on the heavyweight champion's coming title bout with Roland La Starza.

After watching the Brockton blaster box four rounds with Toxey Hall, Mike Fischer and Willie Wilson, Louis said he would wait until he saw La Starza box before making a prediction.

"If La Starza can stay away from Marciano you have to give him a good chance to win," Louis said. "This will be a replay, in my opinion of the first Dempsey-Tunney fight.

"Of course I am not saying that La Starza is a Tunney. Neither am I saying that Marciano is another Dempsey. I think Marciano comes closer to being another Dempsey, because of his punching power than La Starza is to being another Tunney.

"But they are close enough to make a comparison. It will be a matter of legs. Walcott and I both were leading Rocky until our legs gave out and he caught up to us.

Cunningham Scores Upset Over Carter In Non-Title Scrap

Referee Mike Kaplan gave Cunningham 96 points to 95 for Carter. Judge Mark Elwin also saw Cunningham the winner, 94 to 93. Judge Jerry Sherard voted for Carter, 94 to 93.

Cunningham weighed 144, Carter 139¼.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns today recalled five players from their minor league affiliates. All are to report at the Browns' spring camp at Yuma, Ariz., next season.

Redskins End Two-A-Da Workouts; Aim For Lion

The Indians of Northeast Louisiana State finished two-a-day grid workouts with a scrimmage yesterday afternoon and will begin this week polishing up for their season opener with Southeastern's Lions here next Friday night.

For two weeks coach James L. Malone has devoted full time to fundamentals and screening of personnel as he attempts to replace 23 lettermen lost from last year. More than half of the current squad is made up of freshmen totalling 27.

"The only thing I can say right now is that our ball club will be made up of a high percentage of freshmen," coach Malone said. "But all are a fine bunch of boys who don't mind hitting, and I believe we might show a fair ball club before they year is over."

Malone was still switching his gridders around yesterday in search of the kind of combinations he wants, and said he would keep right on juggling this week.

However, the Redskin coach had more praise for offensive blocking yesterday, but said the defense might have been showing a letup.

"We realize that two-a-day workouts, totalling six hours a day, is pretty rough," Malone said. "The boys are sore and nursing a lot of minor injuries, but they can snap out of it within a week as we start only one-a-day drills."

Gavilan Defends His Welter Belt Against Basilio

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12. (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the bolo-punching world welterweight champion from Havana, Cuba, has the favorite's role and plenty to prove when he meets Carmen Basilio in a title match in this hot fight city Friday night.

The kid will be out to kayo reports that he's slipping.

Basilio says he's sure he will get the title. And he will be out to fulfill the role of a Cinderella boy who was ready to throw in the towel and turn to factory work less than two years ago.

Basilion, 26, is a boy with his heart in his task. Gavilan, 27, has a lot of heart when the chips are down.

Gavilan says he's sure Basilio will put up a tough fight. Basilio says "I plan to keep him busy every minute."

Basilio has trained steadily at his camp at Sylvan Beach, laying off only two days during the early September heat wave. Gavilan has been working hard at his Summit, N. J., camp, facing the need to lose seven pounds from the 154½ he carried when he beat Ralph (Tiger) Jones in Madison Square Garden in a middleweight fight Aug. 26.

Fight observers here feel Basilio has a better than expected chance to whip the champion, figuring Gavilan to be weakened by the effort of taking off weight.

Barksdale, Albrook AF Nines Advance

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 12 (AP)—Albrook Air Force Base, Panama, pulled the upset of the tournament today by downing Hickman Air Force Base 8-4 to eliminate the Hawaiian entry from the Air Force worldwide baseball tournament.

Earlier Barksdale AFB, Shreveport, La., defeated Landstuhl AFB Germany, 6-5, as Jack Ferrell drove in the tie breaking run in the bottom of the ninth on a long fly to right field.

MOORE GETS NOD

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12 (AP)—World Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore, San Diego, Calif., outpointed Dogomar Martinez, the pride of Uruguay, in a 10-round non-title fight here tonight before a crowd of 27,000 including President Juan Peron. Moore weighed 178 to 175½ for Martinez.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Baseball shoulders its way back into the local scene Tuesday night when Legionnaires of L. B. Faulk Post of Monroe, the Chamber of Commerce and ten sponsoring members of the Monroe New Car Franchised Dealers pay a tribute to the Louisiana champions of American Legion Junior baseball when Coach Woody Boyles assembles his great 1953 team for the last time for the big testimonial dinner to be given on the roof of Hotel Frances.

The Legion Juniors, ranked among the nation's top 12 teams, made Monroe and the Fifth District of Louisiana mighty baseball conscious as they won their second state crown, eliminated the champs of Arkansas, Texas, and Mississippi in national regional play and knocked off Greenwood, S. C., before losing out to Cherryville, N. C., in the national sectional where victory would have qualified the Monroe team for the Junior World Series.

Each member of the squad will be presented a huge plaque inscribed with the names of members of the team and words of tribute, in addition to other tokens of appreciation when they gather Tuesday night. Only about 500 persons will be accommodated for the shindig, and plates are five bucks per person with the proceeds going to defray expenses incurred in purchase of the plaques and other tokens for the boys.

It will be the capping of a fine season for Ike McMullen, Tommy Boyles, Arthur Swanson, Gene Barham, Billy Hardy, Wayne Causey, Jeff Spence, Freddie Frickie, Wayne Hendricks, Bobby Joe Dunn, Gary Huckabay, "Chubby" Johnson and Larry Reeves, the thirteen boys who went all the way with the team.

While on the subject of baseball, we'd like to make a few more observations on the Monroe Sports and the Cotton States League. We have all been hearing a lot of rumors such as the Shreveport owners pulling out of Monroe; either Business Manager Paul Manasseh or field Manager Charley Harrington, or both, not being with us next season; the St. Louis Cardinals buying out the Shreveport interest; a locally-owned corporation taking charge; the L. B. Faulk Post of the American Legion, which owns Legion Memorial Park and leases it to club owners, going into baseball business; and Monroe having no club at all in '54.

But none of this jumble of shoptalk has been pinned down. The folks who ought to know have given no indications that any of the talk is true and it looks like the mutterings are the fancies of fans who have their own ideas about what should be done to pull Monroe out of the doldrums experienced in the season just closed. It is true that the Monroe Sports lost money, plenty of it. The fans' big beef was the lack of a winner. The club owners' big beef was the lack of support. It takes a winner and a park full of customers to make everybody happy.

And more, Monroe is just a small part of the league talk. The rumblings say the Cotton States is ready to fold. Jackson has no park, the result of a freak tornado in late season that put the Senators on the road in the last days of the campaign. Meridian, despite a pennant playoff winner, failed to get the gate support C. B. Rawlings and company so desired. Natchez was a complete flop at the gate, and reports say the Indians are selling all their players in an effort to make up financial losses. Business Manager Tom Glennon—handed in his resignation at Natchez before the season ended but saw it through to the final day before pulling stakes. Hot Springs and Pine Bluff were dissatisfied with the year's take at the gates. Greenville had a much better year than for the past few seasons, and El Dorado, we believe, had one of the best in the league, but their returns should have been more.

Again, the fate of the league has not been presented by the men who should know. Some clubs may drop out, new towns may come in, the league may collapse. Definite answers can be coming with the loop's fall meeting.

But as certainly as sap rises in trees and the grass turns green in the spring, baseball will win new strength, the past will be forgotten except for the sake of history, and everybody will be looking toward a great year of 1954.

2nd Place Rating Handed Michigan State; Tech Is 3rd

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Notre Dame, generally the people's football choice, is the pick of 171 sportswriters and broadcasters to be the outstanding college team of 1953.

The voters, polled by the Associated Press, put the Irish first on 84 of the ballots and shoved Michigan State, winner of the 1952 honors, to second place. Georgia Tech was a close third to the Spartans, each club getting 24 votes for the No. 1 spot in the annual pre-season poll.

The collegiate season starts next Saturday although college football action isn't general until Sept. 26.

The University of California at Los Angeles and Alabama complete the closely bunched top five and are followed in order by Oklahoma Ohio State, Southern California, Maryland and Duke. In all, 31 colleges received points in the voting.

The placing of Notre Dame at the top of the heap is another big step in the Irish comeback since the graduation of the mighty 1949 team. The Irish were out of sight during the final polls of 1950 and 1951 but last year had climbed back to third place at the end of the season behind Michigan State and Georgia Tech.

Although Coach Frank Leahy recently was quoted as saying, in mock seriousness, that the team would be lucky to score a first down this season, his statement did not stop the voters.

The other members of the top ten got points as follows: Oklahoma 672, Ohio State 666, Southern California 165, Maryland 143 and Duke 86. Points are awarded on a basis of ten for first place, nine for second and so on down the list until only one is given for tenth place.

The 1952 final poll ranked the teams in this order: Michigan State, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Southern California, UCLA, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama and Texas.

Notre Dame and Oklahoma open against each other in Norman, Okla., on Sept. 26 in a game which many expect to be as spectacular as the 27-21 victory of the Irish last year. Notre Dame lost but two of its 10 games last season and plays a schedule of similar length this year. Eight of the opponents are mentioned in this poll.

Michigan State, now a full member of the Big Ten, opens against Iowa the same day while Ohio State unveils its Buckeyes against Indiana.

This coming Saturday finds Southern California playing Washington State, Duke meeting South Carolina, Maryland traveling to Missouri and Georgia Tech entertaining Davidson. On Friday night (Sept. 18) the Uclans oppose Oregon State and Alabama tussles with strong but little known Memphis State.

The forecast (first place votes in parenthesis):

Notre Dame (84)	1,668
Michigan State (24)	1,305
Georgia Tech (24)	1,128
UCLA (12)	1,065
Alabama (18)	966
Oklahoma (3)	672
Ohio State (3)	666
Southern California	165
Maryland (1)	143
Duke (2)	86

Others to break in the scoring: Texas 85; Rice 66; Navy 56; California 26; Florida 24; West Virginia 20; Tennessee and Pittsburgh 18 each; Princeton 17; Baylor 15; Mississippi 14; Purdue 12; Houston 9; Michigan 8; Pennsylvania 7; Minnesota, Wisconsin, Southern Methodist and Villanova 5 each; Goergia and Washington 2 each; Penn State 1.

Tech's Bulldogs Groom For Wildcat Grid Scrap

REEL THING — Charles E. May inspects the 265-pound black sea bass he boated with only light tackle and glass rod after an hour and a half battle which saw the mighty fish tow him three miles in Monterey Bay, Calif. (NEA)

RUSTON, La. Sept. 12. (Special)—The Louisiana Tech gridmen went through their second full scrimmage game Saturday afternoon in preparation for the season's opening game next Saturday with Louisiana College in Pineville. It will be a Gulf States Conference game.

Tech coaches have had two weeks to look at the 1953 verson of the Bulldog team and they like what they see.

"Our squad should be in good shape for the opening game," head coach Joe Aillet reports.

The starting lineup has not been announced but almost certain to see plenty of action in the game are such standouts from last year as All-Golf States Conference ends Gordon Brown, Ruston; and Kenneth Bates, Monroe. Up front in the line coach Aillet can draw upon the services of veteran tackles William Worsham, Rodessa, and co-captain Billy Golden, Shreveport, and guards Billy Adcox, El Dorado, Ark., and Paul Martin, Shreveport.

In Tech's backfield, said to be one of the best the Bulldogs have had in a long time, will be such standouts as halfbacks Jackie Martin, Harnesville; Russell Rainbolt, Delhi; and fullback James Oliver, Bossier City. Tech's trio of veteran quarterbacks include Jimmy Brown, last year's first stringer of Idabel, Okla.; Milford Andrews, Delhi; and Claude McCulley, Baton Rouge.

Several freshmen members of the Tech squad have proved their worth and coach Aillet reports that two newcomers have already been promoted to the second team. They are halfback A. L. Williams, Shreveport; and fullback Ray Manchester, Jena.

Last year Williams was an important cog in the Fair Park High School team of Shreveport which won the Class AA state championship. He scored all three touchdowns in the finals at New Orleans to bring his school the state title. Manchester played on the Jena High School team and was the state high scorer in the Class A division.

Down at Louisiana College, coach Devonne Payne has 16 returning letter from last year's Wildcat team. It will be Payne's first game as coach of the Wildcats, after turning out several state championship prep teams at Tallulah.

Joe Frazier Cops Texas League Bat Title With .3321

DALLAS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Joe Frazier, the Oklahoma City veteran, led the Texas League in batting with the lowest average to top the circuit in 10 years.

Final averages released today by statistician W. B. Ruggles showed Frazier to have wound up with .3321, which was the smallest since Gordon Donaldson of Tulsa won the batting championship in 1940 with .319.

But it was close. Bob Nieman of Tulsa led in 1951 with .3329 and Tommy Tatum of Tulsa in 1948 and Grant Dunlap of Shreveport in 1952 had .333.

Frazier had a high average going into the final two weeks of the campaign but slumped badly. He was almost overtaken by Jim Clarkson of Dallas who finished with .330.

Frazier also led the circuit in runs with 109 and in doubles with 55 but lost out to Chico Garcia of Shreveport in the fight to lead in hits. Garcia finished with 183 to Frazier's 182.

Pitching was at its lowest ebb since 1918 when a campaign cut almost in half by World War I left the leader in victories with only nine. John (Red) Murff of Dallas won the most games this season, posting a 17-13 record. It was the third time in the history of the league that some pitcher didn't win at least 20 games. Joe Landrum of Fort Worth was the top winner in 1949 with 19.

The season did produce a pitching record tie, however. Howie Judson of Tulsa had a 11-0 record for the season and that equalled the only other perfect mark for a leading hurler — that of a man named Woodruff with Dallas in 1895. Woodruff's first name and where he played in other years are unknown.

Fourteen "regular" players batted .300 or better—one more than last year.

Saturnino Escalera of Tulsa led in triples with 19, Harry Heslet of Shreveport in home runs with 41 and Russ Burns of Oklahoma City repeated as the runs - batted - in king with 124. He had 120 in 1952. Heslet's home run output was the most since Jerry White of Dallas hit 50 in 1949.

Vidalia Tumbles Before Gilbert's Demons, 12 To 0

GILBERT, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—The Gilbert High School Demons opened their district Class B football race here last night with a 12-0 triumph over the Vidalia High Vikings.

The game was decided in the second quarter when the Demons got both their touchdowns as their result of sterling runs by Ed Armstrong, a six-foot-one 175 - pound freshman end. Armstrong set up the touchdowns on runs of 23 and 50 yards, scoring one and putting the ball on the seven for a touchdown trip by Jerry Arnold on the other.

Gilbert, with new coaches Paul DeLacroix and Wyman Collie, tackle a tough one next week on a Friday night visit to Olla to play LaSalle, and the Demons' next home game will be with the Start Owls on October 2.

The first downs were eleven to four in favor of Gilbert. The Demons rolled for 228 yards on the ground and eleven in the air, while Vidalia, which started football for the first time only last year, was allowed 55 yards on the ground and 18 by air.

Penalties hurt Vidalia with the Vikings being penalized a total of 125 yards, including seven penalties of 15 yards each. Gilbert was penalized 15.

Louis Watches Marciano Work; No Prediction

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Joe Louis watched Rocky Marciano work out today but declined to make a prediction on the heavyweight champion's coming title bout with Roland La Starza.

After watching the Brockton blaster box four rounds with Toxey Hall, Mike Fischer and Willie Wilson, Louis said he would wait until he saw La Starza box before making a prediction.

"If La Starza can stay away from Marciano you have to give him a good chance to win," Louis said. "This will be a replay, in my opinion of the first Dempsey-Tunney fight.

"Of course I am not saying that La Starza is a Tunney. Neither am I saying that Marciano is another Dempsey. I think Marciano comes closer to being another Dempsey, because of his punching power than La Starza is to being another Tunney.

"But they are close enough to make a comparison. It will be a matter of legs. Walcott and I both were leading Rocky until our legs gave out and he caught up to us.

Cunningham Scores Upset Over Carter In Non-Title Scrap

Referee Mike Kaplan gave Cunningham 96 points to 95 for Carter. Judge Mark Elwin also saw Cunningham the winner, 94 to 93. Judge Jerry Sherard voted for Carter, 94 to 93.

Cunningham weighed 144, Carter 139¼.

Browns Recall Five

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns today recalled five players from their minor league affiliates. All are to report at the Browns' spring camp at Yuma, Ariz., next season.

Redskins End Two-A-Da Workouts; Aim For Lion

The Indians of Northeast Louisiana State finished two-a-day grid workouts with a scrimmage yesterday afternoon and will begin this week polishing up for their season opener with Southeastern's Lions here next Friday night.

For two weeks coach James L. Malone has devoted full time to fundamentals and screening of personnel as he attempts to replace 23 lettermen lost from last year. More than half of the current squad is made up of freshmen totalling 27.

"The only thing I can say right now is that our ball club will be made up of a high percentage of freshmen," coach Malone said. "But all are a fine bunch of boys who don't mind hitting, and I believe we might show a fair ball club before they year is over."

Malone was still switching his gridders around yesterday in search of the kind of combinations he wants, and said he would keep right on juggling this week.

However, the Redskin coach had more praise for offensive blocking yesterday, but said the defense might have been showing a letup.

"We realize that two-a-day workouts, totalling six hours a day, is pretty rough," Malone said. "The boys are sore and nursing a lot of minor injuries, but they can snap out of it within a week as we start only one-a-day drills."

Gavilan Defends His Welter Belt Against Basilio

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12. (AP)—Kid Gavilan, the bolo-punching world welterweight champion from Havana, Cuba, has the favorite's role and plenty to prove when he meets Carmen Basilio in a title match in this hot fight city Friday night.

The kid will be out to kayo reports that he's slipping.

Basilio says he's sure he will get the title. And he will be out to fulfill the role of a Cinderella boy who was ready to throw in the towel and turn to factory work less than two years ago.

Basilion, 26, is a boy with his heart in his task. Gavilan, 27, has a lot of heart when the chips are down.

Gavilan says he's sure Basilio will put up a tough fight. Basilio says "I plan to keep him busy every minute."

Basilio has trained steadily at his camp at Sylvan Beach, laying off only two days during the early September heat wave. Gavilan has been working hard at his Summit, N. J., camp, facing the need to lose seven pounds from the 154½ he carried when he beat Ralph (Tiger) Jones in Madison Square Garden in a middleweight fight Aug. 26.

Fight observers here feel Basilio has a better than expected chance to whip the champion, figuring Gavilan to be weakened by the effort of taking off weight.

Barksdale, Albrook AF Nines Advance

BILOXI, Miss., Sept. 12 (AP)—Albrook Air Force Base, Panama, pulled the upset of the tournament today by downing Hickman Air Force Base 8-4 to eliminate the Hawaiian entry from the Air Force worldwide baseball tournament.

Earlier Barksdale AFB, Shreveport, La., defeated Landstuhl AFB, Germany, 6-5, as Jack Ferrell drove in the tie breaking run in the bottom of the ninth on a long fly to right field.

MOORE GETS NOD

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 12 (AP)—World Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore, San Diego, Calif., outpointed Dogomar Martinez, the pride of Uruguay, in a 10-round non-title fight here tonight before a crowd of 27,000 including President Juan Peron. Moore weighed 178 to 175½ for Martinez.

Jim Willis Tame Giants On 5 Hits Bruins Win, 7 To

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs galloped to their ei straight victory, defeating the York Giants, 7-1, in 58-de weather before 6,169 paid fans day. Rookie Jim Willis, 26-year Louisiana school teacher, tu his second major league start his second victory by limiting Giants to five hits. Ralph Kine his 32nd homer.

In support of Willis, who yielded just three runs in the 27 innings—nine in relief—the blasted 13 hits off a trio of York pitchers.

Yanks Slaughter Tigers, 13-4, Move Nearer Flag

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (AP)—Mickey Mantle crashed his third 500-foot homer of the season this afternoon as the New York Yankees overwhelmed the Detroit Tigers 13-4. The 21-year old slugger hit into the third deck of the distant left field stands with two aboard in the seventh inning, a session in which the repeating champions scored eight times.

The Yankees can clinch their fifth straight pennant by defeating the Indians here in two games. The Tribe comes in for a set of three, beginning tomorrow.

Brooklyn Mayor Proclaims 22nd As 'Dodger Day'

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12 (AP)— John Cashmore, president of the Borough of Brooklyn, tonight proclaimed Tuesday, Sept. 22 as "Brooklyn Dodgers" day in honor of the National League pennant winners.

The Dodgers, who play their last home game of the regular season on that date against Pittsburgh, will be feted with a motorcade through Brooklyn and a reception at Borough Hall.

Cashmore said a time for ceremonies will be worked out shortly with Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers.

Left Jab Duty In Camp Work For LaStarza

Although the New Yorker has been mixing it up with his sparmates for weeks, he is expected to rely heavily on his jabs and boxing ability when he meets heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano for the title at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 24.

La Starza boxed a total of five rounds with four sparring partners, Jimmy De Lange, Billy Mayo, Johnny Neubauer and Egray Riley. He went two rounds with De Lange and one each with the others.

Football Goes Into High Gear For Twin City Fans

5 High Schools, Northeast Team Dated This Week

Football serves up its first full course dinner for followers of the Twin Cities' favorite teams this week with six Monroe and West Monroe clubs plunging into action, three of them for the first time this season, but only two are slated for local gridirons.

Northeast Louisiana State College goes into action for the first time as a member of the Gulf States Conference against visiting Southeastern Louisiana College next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Brown Field here. It's the opener for both outfits.

The other home struggle will send the Ouachita Parish High School Lions against the Ruston Bearcats at Brown Field Friday night, also at 8 o'clock. It will be the second game of the year for both teams. Ouachita subdued a weak Homer team last Thursday night, 26-0, and Ruston downed double-A Haynesville, 6-0, Friday night.

The Neville High School Tigers, the new West Monroe High School Rebels, the Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's, and Louisiana Training Institute are in action on the road.

Coach Bill Ruple's Neville team, already a two-game winner with a 7-0 triumph over Bolton and 13-0 defeat of Marion of Lake Charles, moves against a Minden eleven that promises to be one of the strongest teams the Crimson Wave has had in years. Minden also has played two, upsetting double-A Bossier City, 17-14, and Vivian, 34-0.

West Monroe, under Howard Barker who formerly coached fine teams at Ponchatoula, inaugurated football for the Rebels on a trip to Rayville where the Hornets are also looming as one of the district's promising Class A powers. The Hornets are also looming as one of the district's promising Class A powers. The Hornets, after a scoreless tie with Class AA Bastrop, blasted Holly Ridge Friday night, 44-6. The Rebels are an unseasoned but willing bunch of boys.

It will also be the season opener for St. Matthew's when coach Jay Broussard takes the Irish to Holly Ridge to engage the Eagle Friday night. It will be a Class B conference game.

The surprising Louisiana Training Institute kids of coach Fred Lindsay, who have won two straight games, take off on the longest trip ever made by an L.T.I. team when the Pels invade Florida to tackle Florida State Training School in a Southeastern Conference of Boys Industrial Schools scrap. L.T.I. won its first games in two conferences, beating Columbia (Miss.) Industrial School in a Southeastern counter, and the past week tripping Mangham in a Class B conference struggle.

Ford, Mayer Tied As Eastern Open Gains Last Round

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., were the last to finish today in the third round of the Eastern Open and they came out on top with scores of 209.

Each shot 70, two under Mount Pleasant's par, through the rain and wind.

The stage was thus set tomorrow for the final 18 holes with Ford, the year's second biggest money winner, and Mayer, who hasn't won a tourney in 1953, in the van.

In fact, there will be a bunch of subpar shooters going down the stretch for the $2,400 first prize.

Leading scorers:

National Amateur Looms As Wide Open Scramble

WEEDS AND ALL — Sam Snead came up with weeds and all hitting his ball out of a patch of waist-high rough in the National Celebrities Open over the Woodmont Country Club course at Rockville, Md. (NEA)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 12. (AP)—The National Amateur Golf Championship comes to the southwest for the first time next week with the prospect of a wide-open tournament on a wide-open course in the wide open spaces.

They operate on an expansive scale in this part of the country and the 53rd Amateur championship isn't likely to be an exception. It could be anybody's tournament when play starts Monday on the beautifully-kept, 6,852-yard Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club course.

The field of 200, survivors of an original entry list of 1,287, includes five former winners of the U. S. Amateur title, including defending Champion Jack Westland, the present and two past British Amateur champions; two Canadian titleholders, nine out of 10 member of the 1948 U. S. Walker Cup team and four members of the British Walker Cup team.

In addition, there are the usual number of title-less rising stars who have earned serious consideration and the good club golfers who can wreak havoc in this affair of brief 18-hole matches.

The entire touranment is at match play, starting with 72 first round matches Monday. And the matches are all 18 holes—two a day on Wednesday and Thursday—until they reach the semi-final stage.

It adds up to the usual open, "sudden death" affair in which the players with the big reputations usually wind up as the victims.

Oklahoma golf followers have developed a liking for such sharpshooting youngsters as Gene Littler and Joe Conrad. Then, of course, there's 1949 champion Charlie Coe, who makes the Oklahoma City club his home course and plays it as if he owned it.

On the other side are the veterans, led by 48-year-old Congressman Westland, the oldest man ever to win the U. S. Amateur title. The other former champions are Chick Evans (1916 and 1920), Ted Bishop (1946) Coe (1949) and Sam Urzetta (1950).

Frank Stranahan and Harvie Ward are former winners of the British title and Irishman Joe Carr, current British titleholder, heads the four-man delegation from Britain.

Although USGA officials still were making last-minute changes today, calling upon alternates to replace qualifiers who found they couldn't make it, there was only one change of real importance. Former U. S. and British champion Dick Chapman withdrew several days ago.

Nats Chill Tribe; Porterfield Gets 20th Win Of Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Ex-Yankee Bob Porterfield nudged the New York Yankees closer to their fifth straight pennant today when Washington's ace righthander defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-3. Porterfield became the first American League pitcher to win 20 games.

Castellani Earns Popular Decision In Lombardo Bout

Castellani, seventh ranking middleweight who now registers out of Cleveland, outweighed his outclassed opponent 159 to 151½.

In the last three rounds, Lombardo opened up with hard lefts and rights for his best showing of the fight, but many missed their mark, although Castellani almost fell several times keeping away from them.

Judge Harold Marovitz favored Castellani, 52-48; William O'Connell gave Rocky a 53-47 edge; and Referee Walter Brightmore scored it 57-43.

In their last fight a year ago, Castellani won on a split decision, after being knocked down for an eight count. Tonight Castellini seldom used his right, and when he did he chopped with it as he threw his left and then moved in close. This was his style throughout.

Baton Rouge Back Leads Double-A Scoring Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A triple-threat halfback from Baton Rouge ran and kicked his way to a rousing 29 points and top place in the Louisiana Double-A football scoring derby.

Jimmy Taylor, who scored 12 points in the opening game against Lafayette, turned the spotlight on himself Friday night by tallying 17 points in two touchdowns and five conversions.

Taylor's closest contender was Benny Ellender of LaGrange who holds a 2-game score of 20 points. Ellender's point total came after he added two conversions and a touchdown to the 12 points he collected in the DeQuincy game.

Morris Millet of Catholic of Baton Rouge scored all of his 19 points against Baker.

Fourth place was held by J. W. Slack of Bossier City with 18 points.

Eleven players were tied with 12 points. They were:

E. Kelly of Baton Rouge, F. Stuart of Istrouma, P. Moore of Bossier City, J. Latiolais of Lafayette, J. Fort of Fortier of New Orleans, C. Curry and G. Craig of Lake Charles, and D. Duhon, W. Scexneider and N. Jenkins of LaGrange and Larry Barnes, Ouachita.

Bucs Fight From Behind To Defeat Cardinals, 8 To 7

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Eddie Pellagrini's two-out single in the 12th inning put the finishing touches on a long uphill by the Pittsburgh Pirates today as the Bucs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-7, after spotting the Red Birds a 5-0 lead in the first inning.

10-1 Shot Wins Historic Race At Doncaster

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 12. (AP)—Brigadier W. W. Wyatt's Premonition, a 10-1 shot, won the historic St. Leger Stakes today by three lengths as the favored Aureole owned by Queen Elizabeth finished third.

Sentimental Britons had been hoping the queen's colt would win to round out her coronation year, but Premonition forged to the front in the final eighth of a mile in the one mile, six furlong, 132 yeard race. No reigning monarch has won the St. Leger.

Second place went to Northern Light II, owned by Frenchman Francois Dupre.

Aueole, who had finished second to Pinza in both the Epsom Derby and the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes, was the 5-4 favorite in today's race over the ancient town moor course.

TOLEDO COPS FLAG

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 12 (AP)—Rallying for all their runs in the final three innings, the Toledo Sox tonight clinched the 1953 American Association pennant by taking a 5-3 decision from the Columbus Red Birds.

Say Rugby Player Died Natural Death

OTTAWA, Sept. 12. (AP)—Jim Ambrose, husky 23-year-old football player with the Montreal Lakeshores of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, who died in a hospital after a Labor Day game with the Ottawa Seconds, died from an acute inflammatory condition of the brain, a pathologist said today.

Dr. M. O. Klotz, who examined the brain and other organs today, said death was due entirely to natural causes and that the brain condition was "totally unrelated to any injuries." No inquest will be held.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

All Greenie Grid Talent Makes Bid In Big Scrimmage

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Tulane's top four teams fought it out on the practice field today and head coach Raymond (Bear) Wolf said the scrimmage was "pretty good in spots."

The scrimmage opened with the first team against the second and later the third team bucked up against the fourth squad.

The first team scored two quick touchdowns on short plunges by fullback Ronnie Kent and halfback Max McGee. A third touchdown came later on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Pete Clement to end Eddie Bravo.

After the scrimmage, Wolf said he "thought the first team did pretty well on both offense and defense. We still have a great deal of work to do, particularly the more inexperienced boys."

LOSES BOUT IN FRANCE

CAEN, France, Sept. 12. (AP)—Baby Day, American middleweight from Jacksonville, Fla., who now lives in Paris, dropped a 10 round decision to French middleweight champion Pierre Langlois tonight.

Quarterbacks Will Present Ouachita, Neville Grid Tilt

A color movie of the Ouachita-Neville football game played here last season will be a feature of tomorrow night's meeting of the Northeast Louisiana State Quarterback Club, scheduled for 8 o'clock at Hotel Virginia, Curtis Nichols, club president, said last night.

The Quarterbacks, now boasting a membership of about one hundred followers of Northeast's athletic fortunes, are welcoming any new members to the meeting tomorrow, plus any guests desiring to see the picture of the game between the two Monroe high school rivals.

Deadline Fixed For Organizing Touch Football

With only one team listed as ready to play, the Monroe Recreation department has fixed Friday as the deadline for formation of a league for six-man touch football, it was announced yesterday by Director Jack Hesketh.

Only the Gordon Avenue Bulldogs have announced as a team ready for league play. At least four clubs will be necessary if the league is to operate, Hesketh said.

Any teams planning to participate should contact Hesketh at the Monroe Recreation Center before Friday.

Football Goes Into High Gear For Twin City Fans

5 High Schools, Northeast Team Dated This Week

Football serves up its first full course dinner for followers of the Twin Cities' favorite teams this week with six Monroe and West Monroe clubs plunging into action, three of them for the first time this season, but only two are slated for local gridirons.

Northeast Louisiana State College goes into action for the first time as a member of the Gulf States Conference against visiting Southeastern Louisiana College next Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Brown Field here. It's the opener for both outfits.

The other home struggle will send the Ouachita Parish High School Lions against the Ruston Bearcats at Brown Field Friday night, also at 8 o'clock. It will be the second game of the year for both teams. Ouachita subdued a weak Homer team last Thursday night, 26-0, and Ruston downed double-A Haynesville, 6-0, Friday night.

The Neville High School Tigers, the new West Monroe High School Rebels, the Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's, and Louisiana Training Institute are in action on the road.

Coach Bill Ruple's Neville team, already a two-game winner with a 7-0 triumph over Bolton and 13-0 defeat of Marion of Lake Charles, moves against a Minden eleven that promises to be one of the strongest teams the Crimson Wave has had in years. Minden also has played two, upsetting double-A Bossier City, 17-14, and Vivian, 34-0.

West Monroe, under Howard Barker who formerly coached fine teams at Ponchatoula, inaugurated football for the Rebels on a trip to Rayville where the Hornets are also looming as one of the district's promising Class A powers. The Hornets are also looming as one of the district's promising Class A powers. The Hornets, after a scoreless tie with Class AA Bastrop, blasted Holly Ridge Friday night, 44-6. The Rebels are an unseasoned but willing bunch of boys.

It will also be the season opener for St. Matthew's when coach Jay Broussard takes the Irish to Holly Ridge to engage the Eagle Friday night. It will be a Class B conference game.

The surprising Louisiana Training Institute kids of coach Fred Lindsay, who have won two straight games, take off on the longest trip ever made by an L.T.I. team when the Pels invade Florida to tackle Florida State Training School in a Southeastern Conference of Boys Industrial Schools scrap. L.T.I. won its first games in two conferences, beating Columbia (Miss.) Industrial School in a Southeastern counter, and the past week tripping Mangham in a Class B conference struggle.

Ford, Mayer Tied As Eastern Open Gains Last Round

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., were the last to finish today in the third round of the Eastern Open and they came out on top with scores of 209.

Each shot 70, two under Mount Pleasant's par, through the rain and wind.

The stage was thus set tomorrow for the final 18 holes with Ford, the year's second biggest money winner, and Mayer, who hasn't won a tourney in 1953, in the van.

In fact, there will be a bunch of subpar shooters going down the stretch for the $2,400 first prize.

Leading scorers:

National Amateur Looms As Wide Open Scramble

WEEDS AND ALL — Sam Snead came up with weeds and all hitting his ball out of a patch of waist-high rough in the National Celebrities Open over the Woodmont Country Club course at Rockville, Md. (NEA)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 12. (AP)—The National Amateur Golf Championship comes to the southwest for the first time next week with the prospect of a wide-open tournament on a wide-open course in the wide open spaces.

They operate on an expansive scale in this part of the country and the 53rd Amateur championship isn't likely to be an exception. It could be anybody's tournament when play starts Monday on the beautifully-kept, 6,852-yard Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club course.

The field of 200, survivors of an original entry list of 1,287, includes five former winners of the U. S. Amateur title, including defending Champion Jack Westland, the present and two past British Amateur champions; two Canadian titleholders, nine out of 10 member of the 1948 U. S. Walker Cup team and four members of the British Walker Cup team.

In addition, there are the usual number of title-less rising stars who have earned serious consideration and the good club golfers who can wreak havoc in this affair of brief 18-hole matches.

The entire touranment is at match play, starting with 72 first round matches Monday. And the matches are all 18 holes—two a day on Wednesday and Thursday—until they reach the semi-final stage.

It adds up to the usual open, "sudden death" affair in which the players with the big reputations usually wind up as the victims.

Oklahoma golf followers have developed a liking for such sharp-shooting youngsters as Gene Littler and Joe Conrad. Then, of course, there's 1949 champion Charlie Coe, who makes the Oklahoma City club his home course and plays it as if he owned it.

On the other side are the veterans, led by 48-year-old Congressman Westland, the oldest man ever to win the U. S. Amateur title. The other former champions are Chick Evans (1916 and 1920), Ted Bishop (1946) Coe (1949) and Sam Urzetta (1950).

Frank Stranahan and Harvie Ward are former winners of the British title and Irishman Joe Carr, current British titleholder, heads the four-man delegation from Britain.

Although USGA officials still were making last-minute changes today, calling upon alternates to replace qualifiers who found they couldn't make it, there was only one change of real importance. Former U. S. and British champion Dick Chapman withdrew several days ago.

Nats Chill Tribe; Porterfield Gets 20th Win Of Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (AP)—Ex-Yankee Bob Porterfield nudged the New York Yankees closer to their fifth straight pennant today when Washington's ace righthander defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-3. Porterfield became the first American League pitcher to win 20 games.

Castellani Earns Popular Decision In Lombardo Bout

Castellani, seventh ranking middleweight who now registers out of Cleveland, outweighed his outclassed opponent 159 to 151½.

In the last three rounds, Lombardo opened up with hard lefts and rights for his best showing of the fight, but many missed their mark, although Castellani almost fell several times keeping away from them.

Judge Harold Marovitz favored Castellani, 52-48; William O'Connell gave Rocky a 53-47 edge; and Referee Walter Brightmore scored it 57-43.

In their last fight a year ago, Castellani won on a split decision, after being knocked down for an eight count. Tonight Castellini seldom used his right, and when he did he chopped with it as he threw his left and then moved in close. This was his style throughout.

Baton Rouge Back Leads Double-A Scoring Chase

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A triple-threat halfback from Baton Rouge ran and kicked his way to a rousing 29 points and top place in the Louisiana Double-A football scoring derby.

Jimmy Taylor, who scored 12 points in the opening game against Lafayette, turned the spotlight on himself Friday night by tallying 17 points in two touchdowns and five conversions.

Taylor's closest contender was Benny Ellender of LaGrange who holds a 2-game score of 20 points. Ellender's point total came after he added two conversions and a touchdown to the 12 points he collected in the DeQuincy game.

Morris Millet of Catholic of Baton Rouge scored all of his 19 points against Baker.

Fourth place was held by J. W. Slack of Bossier City with 18 points.

Eleven players were tied with 12 points. They were:

E. Kelly of Baton Rouge, F. Stuart of Istrouma, P. Moore of Bossier City, J. Latiolais of Lafayette, J. Fort of Fortier of New Orleans, C. Curry and G. Craig of Lake Charles, and D. Duhon, W. Scexneider and N. Jenkins of LaGrange and Larry Barnes, Ouachita.

Bucs Fight From Behind To Defeat Cardinals, 8 To 7

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Eddie Pellagrini's two-out single in the 12th inning put the finishing touches on a long uphill by the Pittsburgh Pirates today as the Bucs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-7, after spotting the Red Birds a 5-0 lead in the first inning.

10-1 Shot Wins Historic Race At Doncaster

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 12. (AP)—Brigadier W. W. Wyatt's Premonition, a 10-1 shot, won the historic St. Leger Stakes today by three lengths as the favored Aureole owned by Queen Elizabeth finished third.

Sentimental Britons had been hoping the queen's colt would win to round out her coronation year, but Premonition forged to the front in the final eighth of a mile in the one mile, six furlong, 132 yeard race. No reigning monarch has won the St. Leger.

Second place went to Northern Light II, owned by Frenchman Francois Dupre.

Aueole, who had finished second to Pinza in both the Epsom Derby and the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes, was the 5-4 favorite in today's race over the ancient town moor course.

TOLEDO COPS FLAG

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 12 (AP)—Rallying for all their runs in the final three innings, the Toledo Sox tonight clinched the 1953 American Association pennant by taking a 5-2 decision from the Columbus Red Birds.

The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

All Greenie Grid Talent Makes Bid In Big Scrimmage

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12 (AP) — Tulane's top four teams fought it out on the practice field today and head coach Raymond (Bear) Wolf said the scrimmage was "pretty good in spots."

The scrimmage opened with the first team against the second and later the third team bucked up against the fourth squad.

The first team scored two quick touchdowns on short plunges by fullback Ronnie Kent and halfback Max McGee. A third touchdown came later on a 30-yard pass from quarterback Pete Clement to end Eddie Bravo.

After the scrimmage, Wolf said he "thought the first team did pretty well on both offense and defense. We still have a great deal of work to do, particularly the more inexperienced boys."

Fullback Kent left the game with a gash in his cheek which took three stitches to close. And later on, Max McGee was knocked out. But neither was hurt seriously.

Quarterbacks Will Present Ouachita, Neville Grid Tilt

A color movie of the Ouachita-Neville football game played here last season will be a feature of tomorrow night's meeting of the Northeast Louisiana State Quarterback Club, scheduled for 8 o'clock at Hotel Virginia, Curtis Nichols, club president, said last night.

The Quarterbacks, now boasting a membership of about one hundred followers of Northeast's athletic fortunes, are welcoming any new members to the meeting tomorrow, plus any guests desiring to see the picture of the game between the two Monroe high school rivals.

Deadline Fixed For Organizing Touch Football

With only one team listed as ready to play, the Monroe Recreation department has fixed Friday as the deadline for formation of a league for six-man touch football, it was announced yesterday by Director Jack Hesketh.

Only the Gordon Avenue Bulldogs have announced as a team ready for league play. At least four clubs will be necessary if the league is to operate, Hesketh said.

Any teams planning to participate should contact Hesketh at the Monroe Recreation Center before Friday.

Dodgers Whip Braves To Clinch National Pennant

Milwaukee Fades Before Erskine's Pitches, 5 To 2

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers clinched their second consecutive National League pennant today as Carl Erskine limited the Milwaukee Braves to seven scattered hits for a 5-2 victory in weather more suitable for football.

It was the 10th National League flag for the Dodgers, who wrapped up the pennant with 12 games still to go.

Brooklyn got only five hits off Bob Buhl, Max Surkont and Lew Burdette, who toiled on the Milwaukee mound in a vain effort to prolong the hour of judgement.

Erskine, however, wasn't to be denied as the ace righthander pitched steady ball to rack up his 19th victory against six defeats.

The Dodgers won their first National League pennant in 1890, and followed up with championship clubs in 1899, 1900, 1916, 1920, 1941, 1947, 1949 and 1952.

Girault To Meet Heard In Finals Of McGuire Golf

E. S. "Shep" Girault and Loy Heard will battle it out next weekend for the club championship of McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, as the result of their semi-final victories yesterday over Clyde Nash and Jackie Doss.

Doss, the Monroe youth who is a member of the Louisiana State University golf squad, was considered a heavy favorite to win the club crown until his upset yesterday by Heard, 2 and 1.

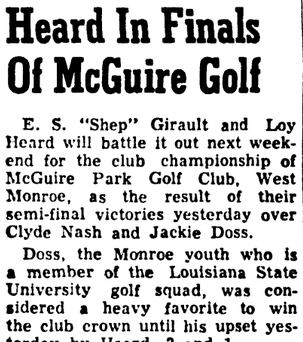

Girault also scored a 2 and 1 victory over Nash in a battle of Monroe insurance men.

The championship will be decided in a 36-hole final between Girault and Nash, beginning next Saturday. They are slated to play 18 holes Saturday and 18 the following Sunday.

Meanwhile, McGuire Park is moving ahead with its plans for the Twin City Open tournament, tentatively set for early in December. The open event is one of McGuire's big annual events and attracts some of the better name pros of the south as well as amateurs.

WRESTLING
At Kallio's Arena-Tues. Night.

Jack Curtis former World's Lightheavyweight champion-said after the match: It was a tough match all the way, but we are not satisfied winning on default. We hope that Promoter Kallio can get Cronin and Hader to come back and finish the match.

Big Boy Cronin of Jackson, Miss. Said My team with Jack Hader won tonight The Referee has power to give the decision and he gave us the match by a pin fall. No one has a right to change his decision. We won fair and we want our money. We also won the title and if they think they have a chance with us we will wrestle them any time and prove to them we are the best in the South. The only the Curtis Brothers can win a match is by having it given to them. We don't want to win that way.

Ray, Williams Box Monday

THE BASTROP BOMBER, (above) Norris Ray, who returns to the local fistic wars after an eight month absence to take on Oceola-Bastrop's Bill Williams in the ten round main attraction at Kallio's Arena tomorrow night.

Many times during the past few months at Kallio's Arena during boxing programs, fans were heard to state they wished a match could be made between Bill Williams and Norris Ray, especially when Williams displayed such iron jaw tactics in his victory over the Mississippi slugger, Larry Wade. Tomorrow night the bout is to be held as the ten round feature go at the arena, and should be a lulu.

Both boys are former Louisiana Golden Gloves champs. Both are punchers and both can take it. Both are willing to mix it and have been crowd-pleasers in every local appearance. Williams, who hails from Bastrop and works out of Oceola, Ark., has not lost a pro fight in nine appearances. He won the Southern AAU middleweight title in '47, and the Mississippi crown in both 1949 and '50. His last arena fight was a ten round feature against Wade—a tireless slugfest, with the unanimous verdict going to Williams.

Ray has not fought in the Walnut Street ring since Dec. 22, when he was decisioned by Clarence Cook, after K O'ing Cook last summer in a Bastrop bout. He has had ten pro matches, winning eight and losing two. His amateur record shows a 42 won, 5 lost mark. Norris, whose looping, crunching right usually ends any fight when it lands, won the Southern Welterweight crown in 1947, the Arkansas laurels in '48, and the Mid-Southern title in '49.

The six round semi-final brings together Joe Chaplin, Longview, Tex. and Cline Elledge, Tallulah. The Tallulah lad, who has always been a local favorite, is a smooth boxer and constant leather-swinger. He has lost only once in six bouts here, twice defeating Monroe middleweight Joe Sultan, a smooth aggressive leather-pusher. Chaplin, who formerly hailed from Monroe, TKO'd Miamian Fran Wallace in five rounds in his last bout here, Jan. 14. The swarthy Chaplin looked plenty rugged that night and he and Elledge should be a good match.

One of the four round preliminaries pits Bastrop's Paul "Goat" Jones against the Oak Grove dancing master, Earl Pardon. These lads clashed once before, last Dec. 22, and after feeling each other out for five of the six scheduled rounds, began to fight hammer and tongs to a split decision for Jones. An out of state judge ruled in favor of Pardon, but both Bastrop judges gave the nod to Jones. With Pardon having changed his style since then to become a more aggressive fighter, and Jones out to make the verdict clear-cut this time, a more decisive ending may be on tap.

The other four round prelim features two northeast Louisiana lads, both of whom are newcomers to the local fistic scene. Reggie Boulware, Monroe, clashes with Ken Sumrall, Lake Providence in a welterweight tussle.

Meeting Of Grid Officials Billed Here Tomorrow

The Northeast Louisiana Football Association, which regularly holds meetings each Tuesday night during the football season, will hold its meeting for this week tomorrow night instead, it was announced yesterday by Gerald Sugar, association secretary.

Sugar said the meeting, slated for 8 o'clock at the Ouachita Bottling Company, is being held Monday night this week in order not to conflict with the dinner being given Monroe's American Legion Junior baseball squad Tuesday night.

Outboard Racers On Lake St. John For Show Today

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—The Central United States Outboard motor boat championship races will be held on Lake St. John Sunday afternoon with many of the foremost racers in the country competing.

The races are scheduled to start and finish in front of Robbins Drive Inn and it is hoped that there will be a large crowd on hand for the contests.

Those who place first, second and third in the various races Sunday will automatically become eligible to enter and compete in the national championships this year.

Harry Hayden, Joe LaFrance and George Creevy, New Orleans, are heading for Lake St. John for the week-end and may become eligible to enter and compete in the national championships this year. These racers have participated in the famed Pan-American Regatta annually held on Lake Ponchatrain and in the most outstanding regattas in the country.

Lester Alvis, Roy Hawdood, and Ralph Tatum, Jackson, Miss., who are also nationally recognized, will also be on hand. P. G. Sweet, Bill Barron and Bill McBride, Memphis, Tenn., who are annually among the leading contenders for the national titles, have announced that they will be here.

Add to the above the names of Ralph Johnson, Blytheville, Ark.; Judy Allen, Port Gibson, Miss., and Obie and Mary Hoyt, Chanceyville, La. and J. H. McAdams, Sidney Delaune, and Jack Crabbe, Baton Rouge, and you have some of the leading racers in the nation, who will participate.

The first race is scheduled to get under way at 1 o'clock. There will be contests for A-B-C hydroplanes, C service hydroplanes, C service runabouts and C racing runabouts. There will also be a race for local sportsmen.

LA STARZA AIDE DIES

WARWICK N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Fight manager Nathan (Nate) Wolfson, who had been helping Roland La Starza prepare for his heavyweight title shot, died in St. Anthony's Hospital today. He had suffered a heart attack at Greenwood Lake last night and was taken to the hospital here.

West Monroe's Quarterbacks To Elect Officers

The Quarterback Club of the new West Monroe High School will hold its formal organizational meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the new school with election of officers and planning of projects for the season foremost on the night's program, it was announced yesterday by Dunbar Hunt.

All West Monroe citizens interested in the welfare of athletics in the camp of the Rebels are invited to participate in the Quarterbacks' program.

One project already being put forward by the club is the purchase of a motion picture camera to assist the coaches and players in correcting mistakes caught on film of practice sessions and games.

Curtises Again Tangle With Cronin, Hader Duo

Jack and George Curtis won a disputed decision in their relay team wrestling match with Pat "Big Boy" Cronin and Jack Hader last week, so Tuesday night these same contestants return in another tag match for a clear-cut decision for the Gulf Coast tag title, currently held by the Curtis brothers.

Last Tuesday night, after each team had won a fall, George Curtis treated Hader to a series of kangaroo kicks, and finally, with the villain against the ropes, a kick to the midriff KO'ed Hader and George too. Cronin, untagged, jumped into the ring and pulled the blacked-out Hader onto George. Jack Curtis pulled him off and chased Cronin out. While referee Bill Barney was escorting Jack to his corner, Cronin hopped in again and dragged his mate back over George, and as Barney turned around to see the villain ostensibly pinning Curtis, promptly counted the pin, awarding the bout to the unpopularities, who then went to their dressing room.

With the crowd in an uproar, wrestling Commissioner Dave Silverstein ruled Hader and Cronin had won illegally and must return. When they refused to do so, after a count by promoter Kallio, Barney's decision was reversed, and the Curtises declared victors.

The match Tuesday between these rugged rivals should be an exciting one, with all parties out to erase any doubt of a decisive verdict. Barney will again officiate, and two short preliminaries, beginning at 8:15, will serve as warmups for the rival contestants.

L. S. U. To Host Kids For Initial Football Scrap

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 12 (AP) — Louisiana State University has come up with a new wrinkle; kids day at a football game.

The athletic department announced today that children from the State School for the Blind, the School for the Deaf and the Catholic and Protestant orphanages will be admitted free to the opening game against Texas University Saturday.

In addition, all grammer school children will be admitted for 25 cents and high school students for 75 cents. Parents who wish to accompany their children will pay the regular $2.75 tab.

U. S. Stars Beat Canadians, Sure Of Aussie Visit

MONTREAL, Sept. 12 (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas struck the clinching blow for the United States in the American zone Davis Cup tennis final today by subduing Canada's Lorne Main and Paul Willey, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2, in a doubles match played in blustery winds and steady rain.

The triumph gave the U. S. a 3-0 lead in the best three-out-of-five match series and made a mere formality out of the final two singles jousts tomorrow.

The new United States singles champion and the Wimbledon titleholder were something short of overpowering in doubles, however, and apparently will have to do a lot of boning up before they stand much chance against the Australian tandem of Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

The victory today assured the Americans another trip to Australia where they must meet the winner of a match between Belgium and India in the inter-zone finals before they can challenge the Aussies for the big international trophy.

Dodgers Whip Braves To Clinch National Pennant

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 12. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers clinched their second consecutive National League pennant today as Carl Erskine limited the Milwaukee Braves to seven scattered hits for a 5-2 victory in weather more suitable for football.

It was the 10th National League flag for the Dodgers, who wrapped up the pennant with 12 games still to go.

Brooklyn got only five hits off Bob Buhl, Max Surkont and Lew Burdette, who toiled on the Milwaukee mound in a vain effort to prolong the hour of judgement.

Erskine, however, wasn't to be denied as the ace righthander pitched steady ball to rack up his 19th victory against six defeats.

The Dodgers won their first National League pennant in 1890, and followed up with championship clubs in 1899, 1900, 1916, 1920, 1941, 1947, 1949 and 1952.

Girault To Meet Heard In Finals Of McGuire Golf

E. S. "Shep" Girault and Loy Heard will battle it out next weekend for the club championship of McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, as the result of their semi-final victories yesterday over Clyde Nash and Jackie Doss.

Doss, the Monroe youth who is a member of the Louisiana State University golf squad, was considered a heavy favorite to win the club crown until his upset yesterday by Heard, 2 and 1.

Girault also scored a 2 and 1 victory over Nash in a battle of Monroe insurance men.

The championship will be decided in a 36-hole final between Girault and Nash, beginning next Saturday. They are slated to play 18 holes Saturday and 18 the following Sunday.

Meanwhile, McGuire Park is moving ahead with its plans for the Twin City Open tournament, tentatively set for early in December. The open event is one of McGuire's big annual events and attracts some of the better name pros of the south as well as amateurs.

WRESTLING
At Kallio's Arena-Tues. Night.

Jack Curtis former World's Lightheavyweight champion-said after the match: It was a tough match all the way, but we are not satisfiaht winning on default. We hope that Promoter Kallio can get Cronin and Hader to come back and finish the match.

Big Boy Cronin of Jackson, Miss. Said My team with Jack Hader won tonight The Referee has power to give the decision and he gave us the match by a pin fall. No one has a right to change his decision. We won fair and we want our money. We also won the title and if they think they have a chance with us we will wrestle them any time and prove to them we are the best in the South. The only the Curtis Brothers can win a match is by having it given to them. We don't want to win that way.

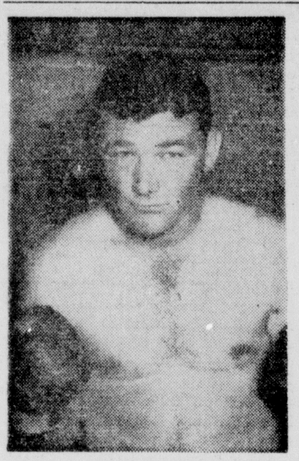

Main event-Wrestling tag team match Two falls to win-No time limit. Jack Curtis and his partner Geo. Curtis. VS Big Boy Cronin and his partner Jack Hader.

Ray, Williams Box Monday

THE BASTROP BOMBER, (above) Norris Ray, who returns to the local fistic wars after an eight month absence to take on Oceola-Bastrop's Bill Williams in the ten round main attraction at Kallio's Arena tomorrow night.

Many times during the past few months at Kallio's Arena during boxing programs, fans were heard to state they wished a match could be made between Bill Williams and Norris Ray, especially when Williams displayed such iron jaw tactics in his victory over the Mississippi slugger, Larry Wade. Tomorrow night the bout is to be held as the ten round feature go at the arena, and should be a lulu.

Both boys are former Louisiana Golden Gloves champs. Both are punchers and both can take it. Both are willing to mix it and have been crowd-pleasers in every local appearance. Williams, who hails from Bastrop and works out of Oceola, Ark., has not lost a pro fight in nine appearances. He won the Southern AAU middleweight title in '47, and the Mississippi crown in both 1949 and '50. His last arena fight was a ten round feature against Wade—a tireless slugfest, with the unanimous verdict going to Williams.

Ray has not fought in the Walnut Street ring since Dec. 22, when he was decisioned by Clarence Cook, after K O'ing Cook last summer in a Bastrop bout. He has had ten pro matches, winning eight and losing two. His amateur record shows a 42 won, 5 lost mark. Norris, whose looping, crunching right usually ends any fight when it lands, won the Southern Welterweight crown in 1947, the Arkansas laurels in '48, and the Mid-Southern title in '49.

The six round semi-final brings together Joe Chaplin, Longview, Tex. and Cline Elledge, Tallulah. The Tallulah lad, who has always been a local favorite, is a smooth boxer and constant leather-swinger. He has lost only once in six bouts here, twice defeating Monroe middleweight Joe Sultan, a smooth aggressive leather-pusher. Chaplin, who formerly hailed from Monroe, TKO'd Miamian Fran Wallace in five rounds in his last bout here, Jan. 14. The swarthy Chaplin looked plenty rugged that night and he and Elledge should be a good match.

One of the four round preliminaries pits Bastrop's Paul "Goat" Jones against the Oak Grove dancing master, Earl Pardon. These lads clashed once before, last Dec. 22, and after feeling each other out for five of the six scheduled rounds, began to fight hammer and tongs to a split decision for Jones. An out of state judge ruled in favor of Pardon, but both Bastrop judges gave the nod to Jones. With Pardon having changed his style since then to become a more aggressive fighter, and Jones out to make the verdict clear-cut this time, a more decisive ending may be on tap.

The other four round prelim features two northeast Louisiana lads, both of whom are newcomers to the local fistic scene. Reggie Boulware, Monroe, clashes with Ken Sumrall, Lake Providence in a welterweight tussle.

Kluszewski Hits 40th Homer, Reds Take Phil Series

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12. (AP)—Ted Kluszewski's 40th home run of the season drove in the tying and winning runs today as the Cincinnati Redlegs took a weird 3-2 decision from the Philadelphia Phils. The victory gave Cincinnati a sweep of the two-game series with the Phils.

Meeting Of Grid Officials Billed Here Tomorrow

The Northeast Louisiana Football Association, which regularly holds meetings each Tuesday night during the football season, will hold its meeting for this week tomorrow night instead, it was announced yesterday by Gerald Sugar, association secretary.

Sugar said the meeting, slated for 8 o'clock at the Ouachita Bottling Company, is being held Monday night this week in order not to conflict with the dinner being given Monroe's American Legion Junior baseball squad Tuesday night.

Outboard Racers On Lake St. John For Show Today

FERRIDAY, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—The Central United States Outboard motor boat championship races will be held on Lake St. John Sunday afternoon with many of the foremost racers in the country competing.

The races are scheduled to start and finish in front of Robbins Drive Inn and it is hoped that there will be a large crowd on hand for the contests.

Those who place first, second and third in the various races Sunday will automatically become eligible to enter and compete in the national championships this year.

Harry Hayden, Joe LaFrance and George Creevy, New Orleans, are heading for Lake St. John for the week-end and may become eligible to enter and compete in the national championships this year. These racers have participated in the famed Pan-American Regatta annually held on Lake Ponchatrain and in the most outstanding regattas in the country.

Lester Alvis, Roy Hawdood, and Ralph Tatum, Jackson, Miss., who are also nationally recognized, will also be on hand. P. G. Sweet, Bill Barron and Bill McBride, Memphis, Tenn., who are annually among the leading contenders for the national titles, have announced that they will be here.

Add to the above the names of Ralph Johnson, Blytheville, Ark.; Judy Allen, Port Gibson, Miss., and Obie and Mary Hoyt, Chancyville, La. and J. H. McAdams, Sidney Delaune, and Jack Crabbe, Baton Rouge, and you have some of the leading racers in the nation, who will participate.

The first race is scheduled to get under way at 1 o'clock. There will be contests for A-B-C hydroplanes, C service hydroplanes, C service runabouts and C racing runabouts. There will also be a race for local sportsmen.

LA STARZA AIDE DIES

WARWICK N. Y., Sept. 12 (AP)—Fight manager Nathan (Nate) Wolfson, who had been helping Roland La Starza prepare for his heavyweight title shot, died in St. Anthony's Hospital today. He had suffered a heart attack at Greenwood Lake last night and was taken to the hospital here.

West Monroe's Quarterbacks To Elect Officers

The Quarterback Club of the new West Monroe High School will hold its formal organizational meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the new school with election of officers and planning of projects for the season foremost on the night's program, it was announced yesterday by Dunbar Hunt.

All West Monroe citizens interested in the welfare of athletics in the camp of the Rebels are invited to participate in the Quarterbacks' program.

One project already being put forward by the club is the purchase of a motion picture camera to assist the coaches and players in correcting mistakes caught on film of practice sessions and games.

Ulysses S. Grant's father was a tanner and the boy who was to become president started as an apprentice in the family tannery.

Curtises Again Tangle With Cronin, Hader Duo

Jack and George Curtis won a disputed decision in their relay team wrestling match with Pat "Big Boy" Cronin and Jack Hader last week, so Tuesday night these same contestants return in another tag match for a clear-cut decision for the Gulf Coast tag title, currently held by the Curtis brothers.

Last Tuesday night, after each team had won a fall, George Curtis treated Hader to a series of kangaroo kicks, and finally, with the villain against the ropes, a kick to the midriff KO'ed Hader and George too. Cronin, untagged, jumped into the ring and pulled the blacked-out Hader onto George. Jack Curtis pulled him off and chased Cronin out. While referee Bill Barney was escorting Jack to his corner, Cronin hopped in again and dragged his mate back over George, and as Barney turned around to see the villain ostensibly pinning Curtis, promptly counted the pin, awarding the bout to the unpopularities, who then went to their dressing room.

With the crowd in an uproar, wrestling Commissioner Dave Silverstein ruled Hader and Cronin had won illegally and must return. When they refused to do so, after a count by promoter Kallio, Barney's decision was reversed, and the Curtises declared victors.

The match Tuesday between these rugged rivals should be an exciting one, with all parties out to erase any doubt of a decisive verdict. Barney will again officiate, and two short preliminaries, beginning at 8:15, will serve as warmups for the rival contestants.

L. S. U. To Host Kids For Initial Football Scrap

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 12 (AP) — Louisiana State University has come up with a new wrinkle; kids day at a football game.

The athletic department announced today that children from the State School for the Blind, the School for the Deaf and the Catholic and Protestant orphanages will be admitted free to the opening game against Texas University Saturday.

In addition, all grammer school children will be admitted for 25 cents and high school students for 75 cents. Parents who wish to accompany their children will pay the regular $2.75 tab.

U. S. Stars Beat Canadians, Sure Of Aussie Visit

MONTREAL, Sept. 12 (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas struck the clinching blow for the United States in the American zone Davis Cup tennis final today by subduing Canada's Lorne Main and Paul Willey, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2, in a doubles match played in blustery winds and steady rain.

The triumph gave the U. S. a 3-0 lead in the best three-out-of-five match series and made a mere formality out of the final two singles jousts tomorrow.

The new United States singles champion and the Wimbledon titleholder were something short of overpowering in doubles, however and apparently will have to do a lot of boning up before they stand much chance against the Australian tandem of Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

The victory today assured the Americans another trip to Australia where they must meet the winner of a match between Belgium and India in the inter-zone finals before they can challenge the Aussies for the big international trophy.

Oil Production In Iran Might Flood Market

HOUSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Many an oilman is wondering what would happen if another 700,000 barrels a day suddenly were thrown on the world crude oil market.

The rapid change of events in Iran has made this possible. Not in the immediate future, but possibly 12 to 18 months from now.

Iran's oil production has been shut down since mid-1951. Resumption of operations obviously is a vital key to the economic problems faced by the new Iranian government.

The United States has made 45 million dollars available to the new government. There is an indication, however, the United States expects Iran to get back into the oil business as soon as possible. That is about the only way the Middle East country can have an income of her own.

The new Iranian developments give the Western Powers an excellent opportunity to score a great victory in the cold war but there is fear that return of Iran's flush crude production would turn a world surplus into a flood.

Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.—with the British government owning 56 per cent of its stock—had built Iran's crude output to 718,000 barrels daily by the end of 1950.

A nationalist movement led by former Premier Mossadegh, however, caused the Iranian Parliament to nationalize and confiscate the country's oil industry in April, 1951. Last year's production in the Middle Eastern country is believed to have averaged only about 21,000 barrels a day.

The status of the Iranian wells—there were 87 in early 1951—and the big 550,000 barrels daily refinery at Abadan is unknown. Some crude undoubtedly could be returned to the world market on short notice but most oilmen believe it would take 6 to 12 months, possibly longer, to get the refinery back to peak output.

Oil Production In Iran Might Flood Market

HOUSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Many an oilman is wondering what would happen if another 700,000 barrels a day suddenly were thrown on the world crude oil market.

The rapid change of events in Iran has made this possible. Not in the immediate future, but possibly 12 to 18 months from now.

Iran's oil production has been shut down since mid-1951. Resumption of operations obviously is a vital key to the economic problems faced by the new Iranian government.

The United States has made 45 million dollars available to the new government. There is an indication, however, the United States expects Iran to get back into the oil business as soon as possible. That is about the only way the Middle East country can have an income of her own.

The new Iranian developments give the Western Powers an excellent opportunity to score a great victory in the cold war but there is fear that return of Iran's flush crude production would turn a world surplus into a flood.

Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.—with the British government owning 56 per cent of its stock—had built Iran's crude output to 718,000 barrels daily by the end of 1950.

A nationalist movement led by former Premier Mossadegh, however, caused the Iranian Parliament to nationalize and confiscate the country's oil industry in April, 1951. Last year's production in the Middle Eastern country is believed to have averaged only about 21,000 barrels a day.

The status of the Iranian wells—there were 87 in early 1951—and the big 550,000 barrels daily refinery at Abadan is unknown. Some crude undoubtedly could be returned to the world market on short notice but most oilmen believe it would take 6 to 12 months, possibly longer, to get the refinery back to peak output.

ONE OF We Monroe's finest motel court. It's small, attractive, has best furniture, most Sealy beds, most phones are outboard, walking distance of city. This is an answer to a court owner's dream of 50 rooms. It's on the highly traveled U. S. 80. We will sell, lease or trade for other real estate. If sold, there is an attractive sale that goes with property. This is a must for the right party. Our auditor can show you the books of excellent revenue. Reason for selling or leasing, owner has other business. Business discussed in person only.

THERE

ARE HOUSES and then there are homes . . . here's a home! It sits placidly at 2508 N. 11th in West Monroe on a beautifully landscaped 100' x 150' lot. It's a 6-room, 3-bedroom home and only $1400 down buys it!

IS

YOUR FAMILY rather large? If so, here's the home to match it — 3900 Sturgeon Drive! It's a 2-story, 10-room, 5-bedroom home that has just been completely redecorated. There is also a new 2-car garage with an apartment above it. See your new home today.

NO

FINANCING WORRIES on this gay 3-bedroom home at 805 Alexander! It's already financed with a 25-year — 4 per cent loan. What's more, the home has large living room and dining area plus an "open" kitchen . . . It's also only 3 blocks from Georgia Tucker grammar School on the Northside. The home is vacant and will show anytime.

BETTER

SEE THIS one before it's sold! Here's a "family" home at 2200 Gordon Ave. that faces Bardsdall-Faulk Grammar School. There are 3 bedrooms, separate living and dining room; nice kitchen with 30 gal. glass - lined water heater and a screened front porch. The price is $6500.

SECURITY

COMES EASY in a home such as this one at 2510 Hawthorne. Here's an older home with the best of location just off Park Ave. as well as 6 rooms, 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room and a double garage. It's vacant and $2000 will handle.

THAT

CERTAIN SOMETHING that makes a "house" a "home" exist in abundance in this one at 508 Darnoune. The lot is 60 x 150 — it has 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room, 2 floor furnaces, well-arranged kitchen and a spacious 12' x 12' den plus a garage. It's already financed! Investigate at once!

BEATS

RENTING WHEN you can buy a 3-bedroom home that's only 3 years old with monthly payments of only $48. Not only 3 bedrooms but also 2 floor furnaces, attic fan and nice hardwood floors. Only $1750 down and the key is yours.

OWNING

THIS HOME will make you the envy of even the Joneses'! Here's a quality home constructed of brick in Marie Place with 3 bedrooms, tile with sliding door closets, 2 tile baths, central heating, hardwood floors. The pine paneled kitchen has a dishwasher and disposal. It's located at 1705 Milton with only $3400 down. Call for appointment.

YOUR

BIGGEST PROBLEM may be like a lot of families: Finding a large enough home priced reasonably. If that's true, see 2604 Gordon Ave. Here's a 6-room home in good condition for only $6400. It has 3 bedrooms, separate living and dining room as well as a garage. Call today for appointment!

HOME

IS WHERE the heart is. This home at 208 N. 7th in West Monroe can't help but steal yours! It's a roomy 6-room home with 3 bedrooms! There's also a new carport with pine panelling and storage; a fenced back yard; a 50 x 150 lot. Only $2,000 down buys it!

BUY

THIS ONE AT 705 Loop Road and enjoy its many fine features. Here's an elegant home or a beautifully landscaped lot size: 180 x 150. The home has 5 rooms, 2 bedrooms, central heating and 42" attic fan. It's in a neighborhood of other fine homes and priced only $12,600.

NOW

HERE'S REAL value! It's an older home on a corner lot with 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms, nice shaded lot, 2 screened porches and tile sink tops in kitchen. It's priced at only $12,000 and will show anytime. The location is 232 Pargoud Drive.

THERE

ARE HOUSES and then there are homes . . . here's a home! It sits placidly at 2508 N. 11th in West Monroe on a beautifully landscaped 109' x 150' lot. It's a 6-room, 3-bedroom home and only $1400 down buys it!

IS

YOUR FAMILY rather large? If so, here's the home to match it — 3300 Spurgeon Drive! It's a 2-story, 10-room, 5-bedroom home that has just been completely redecorated. There is also a new 2-car garage with an apartment above it. See your new home today.

NO

FINANCING WORRIES on this gay 3-bedroom home at 806 Alexander! It's already financed with a 25-year — 4 per cent loan. What's more, the home has large living room and dining area plus an "open" kitchen . . . It's also only 3 blocks from Georgia Tucker Grammar School on the Northside. The home is vacant and will show anytime.

BETTER

SEE THIS one before it's sold! Here's a "family" home at 2200 Gordon Ave. that faces Barkdall-Faulk Grammar School. There are 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room; nice kitchen with 30 gal. glass - lined water heater and a screened front porch. The price is $6500.

SECURITY

COMES EASY in a home such as this one at 2510 Hawthorne. Here's an older home with the best of location (just off Park Ave.) as well as 6 rooms; 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room and a double garage. It's vacant and $2000 will handle.

THAT

CERTAIN SOMETHING that makes a "house" a "home" exist in abundance in this one at 508 Darbonne. The lot is 60 x 150 — it has 2 bedrooms, separate living and dining room; 2 floor furnaces; well-arranged kitchen and a spacious (24 x 12) den plus a garage. It's already financed! Investigate at once!

BEATS

RENTING WHEN you can buy a 3-bedroom home that's only 3 years old with monthly payments of only $49. Not only 3 bedrooms but also 2 floor furnaces, attic fan and nice hardwood floors. Only $1750 down and the key is yours.

OWNING

THIS HOME will make you the envy of even the "Joneses"! Here's a quality home constructed of brick in Marie Place with 3 bedrooms (all with sliding door closets); 2 tile baths; central heating; hardwood floors. The pine paneled kitchen has a dishwasher and disposal. It's located at 1705 Milton with only $3400 down. Call for appointment.

YOUR

BIGGEST PROBLEM may be like a lot of families; Finding a large enough home priced reasonably. If that's true, see 2604 Gordon Ave. Here's a 6-room home in good condition for only $6400. It has 3 bedrooms, separate living and dining room as well as a garage. Call today for appointment!

HOME

IS WHERE the heart is. This home at 208 N. 7th in West Monroe can't help but steal yours! It's a roomy 6-room home with 3 bedrooms! There's also a new carport with pine paneling and storage; a fenced back yard; a 50 x 150 lot. Only $2,000 down buys it!

BUY

THIS ONE AT 705 Loop Road and enjoy its many fine features. Here's an elegant home on a beautifully landscaped lot size: 150 x 150. The home has 5 rooms, 2 bedrooms, central heating and 42" attic fan. It's in a neighborhood of other fine homes and priced only $12,600.

NOW

HERE'S REAL value! It's an older home on a corner lot with 6 rooms, 3 bedrooms, nice shaded lot, 2 screened porches and tile sink top in kitchen. It's priced at only $12,000 and will show anytime. The location is 232 Pargoud Drive.

Nolan - Staples Vows Said In Calhoun

Liberty Baptist church of Calhoun was the setting for the candlelight ceremony which united Miss Dorothy Marie Staples, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staples and James B. Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nolan of Calhoun at eight o'clock Friday night. The Rev. S. W. Tullos of Calhoun officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church altar was decorated with white caladiums and white gladioli against a background of greenery. The chancel was marked with tall baskets of white caladiums and branching candelabra tapers.

Mrs. Carey M. Staples rendered a concert of prenuptial music and accompanied Mr. Kenneth Adams who sang "Because," "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The candles were lighted by Miss Sandra Sue Staples, sister of the bride, and Miss Kay Finley, cousin of the groom. Their gowns were blue taffeta with net skirts and matching stoles.

The bridesmaids were gowned in waltz - length models of nylon net over taffeta with matching stoles and headdresses of double ruffles of net to which sprays of multicolored asters were pinned. Their dresses were identical.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Fred Graves who wore an orchid colored gown, Miss Edith Donald, who was wearing yellow; Miss Nelda Nolan gowned in aqua and Miss Natalie Nolan who wore pink.

Miss Betty Staples, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her gown was of mint green. The attendants carried bouquets of matching umbrellas of ruffled net covered with multicolored satin bows and small asters.

Ushers were Charles Staples, Donald Jack Finley, Albert Donald and Jerry Johnson, assisted by Bobby Humble.

Mr. Ted Lutzel of Greenwich, Conn., served as best man.

MRS. JAMES B. NOLAN

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a lovely gown of white skinners satin. The bodice had a basque effect with a small standup collar and long sleeves. Covered lace buttons extended from the collar to the waistline. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion attached to a Juliet cap of satin covered with lace. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded by tuberoses with white satin streamers.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a navy blue sheer model with white accessories and a corsage of multicolored asters.

Reception Held

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social hall.

The bride's table was covered in a lace cloth over white. It was centered with a square four-tiered wedding cake decorated with white and pink spun sugar rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Fay Burdeaux and Mrs. Hyran Barfoot of New Orleans, served the wedding cake.

Another table covered in a white lace cloth held the punch bowl and confectioneries. Mrs. S. W. Tullos and Mrs. Archie White presided at the punch bowl.

White candles in crystal candelabras and bouquets of multicolored asters and white gladioli decorated the reception hall.

Mrs. K. L. Finley presided at the guest book.

Those assisting in serving were Misses Dollye Burdeaux, Sally Lou White and Bobbie Ann Finley.

For traveling the bride changed to a dark brown faille dress with matching accessories. After a wedding trip to the gulf coast, the couple will make their home at 803 North Fourth Street in West Monroe.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Staples were hosts at the rehearsal supper honoring the Nolan - Staples wedding party with a barbecue on the lawn of the Staples home on Thursday night before the wedding.

les Vows Said In Calhoun

MRS. JAMES B. NOLAN

Conn., served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a lovely gown of white skinners satin. The bodice had a basque effect with a small standup collar and long sleeves. Covered lace buttons extended from the collar to the waistline. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion attached to a Juliet cap of satin covered with lace. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded by tuberoses with white satin streamers.

Reception Held

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social hall.

The bride's table was covered in a lace cloth over white. It was centered with a square four-tiered wedding cake decorated with white and pink spun sugar rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Jerry Hagar Is Bride Of Lovie Free

Miss Jerry Lou Hagar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hagar of Mangham, became the bride of Mr. Lovie Free of Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Free of Ruston, in an impressive ceremony performed at the Lone Cherry Church near Mangham recently. The Rev. L. R. Joiner officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Woodwardia fern formed the lovely background for the seven-branched candlabra and the tall baskets overflowing with white stock and delicate pink rose of sharon. The focal point of interest was an elaborate arrangement of white stock and trailing vines which was placed on the ledge of the baptistry and accented by a hidden spotlight.

As the guests assembled in this charming setting, Mrs. B. N Hixon of Mangham played pre - nuptial concert of selected classics. Mr. Bob Nobles and Mr. Charles Tillman of Mangham were the ushers.

Just prior to the ceremony, as the organist played the delightful strains of Debussy "Claire de Lune," Mr. Evan James and Mr. Harvey Tillman, both uncles of the bride, lighted the tapers.

Mrs. Paul Chapman, accompanied by Mrs. Hixon, sang Carrie Jacob Bond's "I Love Your Truly." Mrs. Hixon also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Mary Virginia Hagar, sister of the bride, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a pale pink street length dress of cotton sheer, an identical replica of the bride's. Her accessories were white and she carried pink roses.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in pale blue. Her dress was fashioned of sheer cotton in street length. The tiny collar was outlined with rhinestone studded white daisies, and was fastened at the throat with tiny sparkling buttons. Tiny circular pockets of rhinestone studded white daisies added a charming note to the costume that was fashioned along simple lines. Her hat was a small jeweled one with a maline frill that framed her blond hair. Tiny white nylon mitts completed the ensemble. She carried white gardenias.

A reception followed in the recreation building of the church.

Mrs. Hagar, mother of the bride, received the guests in a lovely silk print in shades of blue, her corsage was of pink roses and her accessories were white.

Mrs. Free, mother of the groom, wore pale pink nylon with accessories in light beige, her corsage was also pink roses.

The bride's table was laid with a handsome lace cloth over delicate pink. A gorgeous arrangement of pink roses graced the center of the table flanked on either side with triple - branched candelabra with white tapers. The three - tiered wedding cake was placed on one end of the table and after the happy couple had cut the first slice, Mrs. Jessie Mercer served the guests. Mrs. Evan James assisted by Mrs. Harvey Tillman of Mangham, presided at the punch service.

The guest list included names from Ruston, Baton Rouge, Campti, Monroe, Rayville, Archibald, Baskin and Mangham.

Mrs. Free is a graduate of Mangham High School and Bish Mathis Institute of Monroe. She is employed by Weaks Supply of Monroe.

Mr. Free served in the service of his country for two years, and is employed by the Monroe Fire Department.

Dunn-Hinton Wedding Vows Are Pledged

Miss Vera Aline Hinton, daughter of Mrs. Frank Hinton and the late Mr. Hinton of Cheniere, became the bride of Mr. John Herman Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Dunn of Jonesville on Friday evening in the home of the bride's mother.

The Rev. W. E. Spencer, pastor of the Cheniere Baptist Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of members of the family and close friends.

Mrs. W. E. Spencer was the bride's only attendant. Mr. William A. Dunn served as best man.

The bride was lovely in a navy blue ensemble.

Immediately following the ceremony, a small reception was held. Mrs. Jack Lowery served the wedding cake and Mrs. W. A. Dunn presided at the punch bowl.

Susan Anderson Is Bride Of Wayne Woods

Miss Susan Jane Anderson became the bride of Mr. Wayne Harvey Woods in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, September 4, at the First Christian Church with the Rev. R. T. Watson officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dewey L. Anderson. The groom is the son of Mr. Harold L. Woods and the late Mrs. Woods.

Artistic arrangements of white gladioli and astors in tall slender baskets outlined the altar rail against a background of branched candelabra festooned with garlands of tuberoses and astors.

Mrs. Robert Wroten rendered an organ concert of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Raburn Wroten who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a wedding gown of ivory Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Her gown featured a fitted bodice and Queen Anne collar of lace, buttoning down the back with petite mother of pearl buttons. Her veil was shoulder length of imported illusion. She carried a shower bouquet centered with a white orchid surrounded by tuberoses. The bride wore a single strand of pearls.

The bride's only attendant was her mother, Mrs. D. L. Anderson, who wore a cinnamon lace and nylon model with matching hat and slippers. She carried a bouquet of champagne colored Fuji mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Harold L. Woods, Jr., who served as best man.

Bridal Supper

Immediately following the wedding, Dr. and Mrs. Anderson were hosts at a bridal dinner party at the Rendezvous. The table was overlaid with a cutwork cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with tuberoses and lilies of the valley. Silver candelabra were placed on each side of the cake joined by tulle and lilies of the valley.

Only members of the two families attended the dinner.

They will both attend the University of Oklahoma this fall

The bride is a June graduate of Neville High School and was a member of Lambda Sigma Chi sorority.

Mr. Woods also graduated from Neville and was a member of Delta Sigma. He also attended Northeast State College and Louisiana State University where he pledged Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Church Ceremony Unites Miss Saunders, J. S. Nugent

WINNSBORO — On Sunday, August 23, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the Spearsville church of Christ, Miss Mary Sue Saunders of Winnsboro, daughter of Mrs. James E. Saunders of Lillie, and Mr. James S. Nugent, son of Mrs. Nancy Nugent of Winnsboro, were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony with the Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor of the Winnsboro First Methodist Church, officiating.

The church was decorated with large white mums held in tall floor baskets which was placed on either side of the chancel and just behind these were the tiered arrangement of tapers in floor candelabra. Serving in the background were palms and fern in large urns.

Gerald Kendrick, of Shreveport, sang "Because" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Otho Brown of Marion. She wore a ballerina length gown with tulle overskirt over taffeta. The sleeves were short and net mitts were worn. An elbow length veil fastened to the head with a tiny coronet completed the costume. She wore white linen pumps and carried a nosegay of split carnations centered with a white gold throated orchid and tied with loops of white satin ribbon. The maid of honor was the bride's sister Miss Peggy Saunders of Lillie. She wore a pink taffeta with nylon tulle overskirt which was similar to the bride's. She wore a pink carnation corsage with matching satin ribbon.

Buddy Nugent of Monroe, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. James T. Saunders of Lillie, brother of the bride, and Delane Terral of Farmerville, cousin of the bride were ushers and they also lighted the candles.

The mother of the bride was wearing a pink nylon dotted sheer with navy accessories and white gloves. Her corsage was pink carnations. Mrs. Nugent, mother of the bridegroom was wearing a navy nylon mesh two piece ensemble with rose and navy accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Receiving with the newly weds were their mothers. The reception rooms were decorated with baskets of white mums. In the dining room the same decor was seen in a lovely arrangement on the bride's table.

The long dining table, covered with a linen cloth, held the three-tiered bride's cake with the miniature bride and groom used as decoration.

The crystal punch bowl was presided over by Miss Mary Pearl Smith of Winnsboro, cousin of the groom. Mrs. O. F. Perdue of Camden, Ark., served the cake. Miss Tilda Mae Woolerson of Winnsboro attended the bride's register.

Following the reception the young couple left on their honeymoon. The bride chose for traveling a blue linen suit with navy accessories. She wore the orchid from the bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

Mrs. Nugent is a graduate of Spearsville High School and received her BS degree in home economics at Harding College, Searcy, Ark. She was a member of Tri H social club. Mr. Nugent is a graduate of Fort Necessity High School and attended L. S. U., Baton Rouge. He is a veteran of the Korean war.

They plan to make their home in Winnsboro where the bride is employed as assistant home demonstration agent. The bridegroom is working with the M. and M. Contracting Co.

Miss Susan Jane Anderson became the bride of Mr. Wayne Harvey Woods in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, September 4, at the First Christian Church with the Rev. R. T. Watson officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dewey L. Anderson. The groom is the son of Mr. Harold L. Woods and the late Mrs. Woods.

Artistic arrangements of white gladioli and astors in tall slender baskets outlined the altar rail against a background of branched candelabra festooned with garlands of tuberoses and astors.

Mrs. Robert Wroten rendered an organ concert of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Raburn Wroten who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a wedding gown of ivory Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Her gown featured a fitted bodice and Queen Anne collar of lace, buttoning down the back with petite mother of pearl buttons. Her veil was shoulder length of imported illusion. She carried a shower bouquet centered with a white orchid surrounded by tuberoses. The bride wore a single strand of pearls.

The bride's only attendant was her mother, Mrs. D. L. Anderson, who wore a cinnamon lace and nylon model with matching hat and slippers. She carried a bouquet of champagne colored Fuji mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Harold L. Woods, Jr., who served as best man.

Bridal Supper

Immediately following the wedding, Dr. and Mrs. Anderson were hosts at a bridal dinner party at the Rendezvous. The table was overlaid with a cutwork cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with tuberoses and lilies of the valley. Silver candelabra were placed on each side of the cake joined by tulle and lilies of the valley.

Only members of the two families attended the dinner.

They will both attend the University of Oklahoma this fall

The bride is a June graduate of

Roberts-Bass Vows Pledged In Fairbanks

On Tuesday, September 1, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist Church of Fairbanks, Miss Carolyn Bass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Bass, and Mr. Walter Lee Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Roberts pledged their vows in an impressive candle-light ceremony. The Rev. Vester R. Headrick officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli against a background of southern smilax. Placed in the center on the altar was a large open Bible, behind which was a tiered arrangement of white tapers in floor candelabra.

Miss Jane Gill of Fairbanks rendered a concert of nuptial music prior to the ceremony. During the prelude Miss Carrie Nell Spence and Miss Elizabeth Roberts, sister of the groom, lighted the candles. They were attired in ballerina length dresses of pink faille taffeta and wore corsage of white chrysanthemums. Miss Betty Spurlock of West Monroe sang "Because" and "Always."

Miss Dell Moore of West Monroe served as maid of honor. She wore a pale pink suit with gray accessories and carried a bouquet of pink asters. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Nell Slomosky of Bastrop. She wore a beige suit with black accessories and carried a bouquet of pink asters.

Serving Mr. Roberts as best man was his father, Mr. Walter M. Roberts. Mr. Lloyd Gill and Mr. Bob Currey served as ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a suit of pale aqua silk shantung, beaded with rhinestones and pearls. The fitted suit had a high pointed collar with three - quarter length sleeves. Her accessories consisted of a white velveteen hat beaded with pearls, and gray shoes of lizard skin. The bride carried a small white Bible topped with a corsage of white carnations and tuberoses tied with satin streamers.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. I. E. Bass, wore a black crepe dress. Her corsage was of pink mums. Mrs. W. M. Roberts, mother of the groom wore a navy sheer dress. Her corsage was of white mums. Also present was Mrs. J. M. Roberts of Alto, grandmother of the groom. She wore a black sheer with a corsage of white gardenias.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride and groom will be at home in Fairbanks.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School.

The groom is also a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, and is now attending Northeast Louisiana State College as a senior.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Bass were hosts at the rehearsal supper given for the Bass - Roberts wedding party, in their home in Fairbanks. Assisting with the supper were Mrs. L. C. Gill, Mrs. Henry Perdue and Mrs. Ed Lohan.

The bride - to - be presented her attendants with compacts. The bridegroom presented his attendants with ties.

MRS. JACK L. HOGGE, prior to her marriage on September 5 was Miss Wanda Lee Beck. Mr. and Mrs. Hogge will make their home in Beaumont, Texas.

Miss Wanda Lee Beck And Jack Hogge Pledge Troth

Miss Wanda Lee Beck became the bride of Jack L. Hogge Saturday evening, September 5, in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church. The Rev. R. T. Watson performed the ceremony. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Voney and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. W. R. Hogge and the late Mrs. Hogge.

Tall baskets of white gladioli and wrought - iron candelabra holding white tapers formed the background for the impressive exchange of vows. The candles were lighted by Misses Jackie and Mildred White. Mrs. C. L. Dillingham presided at the organ and accompanied Mr. E. M. Wooten who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a patio length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over shimmering white satin. She wore a Juliet cap of matching lace and satin to which her finger-tip veil was attached. A beautiful shower bouquet with a Cattleya orchid topped the white Bible she carried.

Miss Nell Boatner was maid of honor. She wore a gown of ice blue nylon with matching accessories and carried a dainty ribbon basket filled with multi-colored asters.

Mr. V. P. Johnson was best man and the ushers were Mr. John Hassion and Mr. Metris Bell Jr.

Mrs. Voney chose to wear a brown lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Immediately following the ceremony the reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. White 'mums and tall white tapers formed the centerpiece with the three - tiered wedding cake iced with white and pink spun sugar rosebuds at one end of the table. At the other end of the table were individual cakes topped with pink rosebuds and delicious fruit punch.

Those who helped the guests were: Mrs. John Hassion, Mrs. E. F Caldwell, Mrs. R. M. Kettenring, Miss Jackie White and Miss Mildred White. Mrs. L. W. Batten presided at the guest book.

The couple departed on a wedding trip to New Orleans Biloxi and other points along the Gulf coast. For traveling the bride changed to a black suit with a small white hat and black accessories. The orchid from her bouquet was pinned to her coat lapel. They will live in Beaumont, Tex.

Keating-Eschete

FERRIDAY — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Eloise Eschete is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Eschete to Eugene "Pat" Keating, son of Mrs. Mildred Keating, of Seattle, Wash.

The wedding will take place in the early fall in Seattle, where Mr. Keating is employed.

Slumber Basic Beauty Builder

Would you like to discover a beauty treatment that is completely effortless and really a pleasure? Well then, look no farther than your bed.

A good sleep — every night— is essential to beauty. Without it, all your beauty care is wasted.

Some people require only five or six hours of sleep each night; others need up to 10 hours. Only you can decide what's best for you, but remember, it is important that you establish a regular bedtime and stick to it.

To help you get into a sleepy mood, spend the last hour of the evening quietly. You might take a leisurely bath scented with soothing oils or listen to soft music— anything that helps you to relax.

It is equally important that you decide whether a hard or soft mattress is more restful for you and that you find a pillow that will cradle your head without becoming lumpy through the night.

Girl Scout News

Shorter days, cool mornings, foot ball games, schools opening — there's something about September that makes us want to get back into routine again. For the girls the school year should mean regular Scout meetings again — and new troops for those who have looked forward eagerly to being old enough to be a Brownie or a "Greenie."

A troop is, as grown - ups need to realize, possible only when they put forth the effort to make it a reality for those eager girls. Two leaders and a troop committee can share responsibilities and have just as much fun as the girls, in a different way, of course.

Nena Roy, enthusiastic president of the Girl Scout board, tells us that there are all kinds of helps —excellent publications, local training courses, community resources in people, places, and things — to be utilized by the leader in her work with girls.

Maybe this is the place to tell you about the new edition of the Girl Scout Handbook, which is coming out in October, during Girl Scout week, to be exact. It's nice to know, as we've always suspected, that the organization keeps up to date by frequent revisions of its basic publications. The first handbook, written by Juliette Low herself, was called "How Girls Can Help Their Country."

At the office, our executive, Annis Klie, has a collection of the last four handbooks, to which she will soon be able to add a fifth.

We just hope there are a goodly number of readers of our column who feel that they want to help make our community a better place to live by helping with the Scout program. Call the office, 2-1270 and volunteer to give some of your time. It will be a rewarding experience.

During the summer we mentioned the J. E. Higgins family as one of the best Scout families we knew. During day camp mother taught basketry, Anne served as program aide, Martha and Barbara were campers, while little red headed brother Mike, tagged along and learned all the songs and was one of the most enthusiastic campers. Well, the family was transferred to Oklahoma all of a sudden. The Scout family wish them luck in their new home. They'll be missed in Monroe.

Speaking of Scout families, here's a welcome to Jean Marie Cannon, whose mother was leader of troop 44 last year, and whose sister, Bunny is a fly - up Scout and one of the day campers, while sister Faye is a soon-to-be-Brownie.

Tuesday afternoon, September 22 is the day of the Red Feather parade. It's after school, so everybody can take part. Plan now to decorate a car or to help someone. Girls, get out your uniforms and see that they are laundered. Girl Scouting is a Community Chest agency and we want to tell everybody about Red Feather services.

Mrs. Louis Peters Hostess To Readers Clique Meeting

The first meeting of the Reader's Clique for the current season was a luncheon held at the Bayou DeSiard Country

Mrs. Peters, the president, presided over a short business session. Correspondence was read, which included a letter from Miss Pat Ruple, thanking the club for sponsoring her to Pelican Girl's State in Baton Rouge.

The club voted to give one day's service to the cancer drive and also to send a check to the Twin City Community Chest.

Church Ceremony Unites Miss Saunders, J. S. Nugent

WINNSBORO — On Sunday, August 23, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the Spearsville church of Christ, Miss Mary Sue Saunders of Winnsboro, daughter of Mrs. James E. Saunders of Lillie, and Mr. James S. Nugent, son of Mrs. Nancy Nugent of Winnsboro, were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony with the Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor of the Winnsboro First Methodist Church, officiating.

The church was decorated with large white mums held in tall floor baskets which was placed on either side of the chancel and just behind these were the tiered arrangement of tapers in floor candelabra. Serving in the background were palms and fern in large urns.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Otho Brown of Marion. She wore a ballerina length gown with tulle overskirt over taffeta. The sleeves were short and net mitts were worn. An elbow length veil fastened to the head with a tiny coronet completed the costume. She wore white linen pumps and carried a nosegay of split carnations centered with a white gold throated orchid and tied with loops of white satin ribbon. The maid of honor was the bride's sister Miss Peggy Saunders of Lillie. She wore a pink taffeta with nylon tulle overskirt which was similar to the bride's. She wore a pink carnation corsage with matching satin ribbon.

Buddy Nugent of Monroe, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. James T. Saunders of Lillie, brother of the bride, and Delane Terral of Farmerville, cousin of the bride were ushers and they also lighted the candles.

The mother of the bride was wearing a pink nylon dotted sheer with navy accessories and white gloves. Her corsage was pink carnations. Mrs. Nugent, mother of the bridegroom was wearing a navy nylon mesh two piece ensemble with rose and navy accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Receiving with the newly weds were their mothers. The reception rooms were decorated with baskets of white mums. In the dining room the same decor was seen in a lovely arrangement on the bride's table.

The long dining table, covered with a linen cloth, held the three-tiered bride's cake with the miniature bride and groom used as decoration.

The crystal punch bowl was presided over by Miss Mary Pearl Smith of Winnsboro, cousin of the groom. Mrs. O. F. Perdue of Camden, Ark., served the cake. Miss Tilda Mae Woolerson of Winnsboro attended the bride's register.

Following the reception the young couple left on their honeymoon. The bride chose for traveling a blue linen suit with navy accessories. She wore the orchid from the bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

Mrs. Nugent is a graduate of Spearsville High School and received her BS degree in home economics at Harding College, Searcy, Ark. She was a member of Tri H social club. Mr. Nugent is a graduate of Fort Necessity High School and attended L. S. U., Baton Rouge. He is a veteran of the Korean war.

They plan to make their home in Winnsboro where the bride is employed as assistant home demonstration agent. The bridegroom is working with the M. and M. Contracting Co.

Mrs. Gerald Frasier Tells Theme Of Year For P.T.A.

'"Families Are Our Business" is the theme for the year,' said Mrs. Gerald Frasier at the meeting of the Barkdull Faulk P. T. A. Executive Board held in the School Library, Sept. 3, 1953.

The program for the first unit meeting to be held Sept. 24 at 3 p.m., will be "Importance of regular attendance in school" by Miss Eleona Brinsmade, visiting teacher for the City of Monroe schools.

Plans for the opening day of school were made and room mothers will be on hand along with the executive board to welcome members in the P. T.-A. Dues are 75 cents per family. Subscriptions to the National Parent - Teacher magazine, at $1.25 per year will be taken by Mrs. Crowe, magazine chairman. The National Parent - Teacher Magazine is an indispensable tool for every parent, and teacher. Special articles and such regular features as "What's Happening in Education." "P. T. A. Frontiers," and "Looking into Legislation," provide authentic, and up-to-the-minute information about the parent - teacher program. All parents and teachers are urged to subscribe to this magazine.

The Tool Kit was opened and information relative to each ones duties were passed out by Mrs. John A. Peters, president.

Changes in the by - laws read by Mrs. Gerald Frasier and discussed will be passed on by the unit at some future date.

"The teachers workshop to be held at Neville High School is open to all parents on Tuesday, Sept. 15 between 11 and 12 o'clock. This will be a "Guidance Meeting" and of great interest and value to all parents," said Miss May Coker, principal.

Miss Coker stressed the importance of getting the unit study group meetings started and carrying out the theme "Moral and Spiritual Education." "We must help build strong characters in our children to enable them to meet the problems of the future; and we can do this by building up the standards in our homes. T. V. will have a great influence on children, therefore parents must choose carefully the programs they are to see, so to build character - not destroy it."

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Miss Coker.

Executive board members present: Mrs. J. A. Peters, president; Mrs. J. A. Pritchard, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Andrews, 1st vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. Gerald Frasier, 2nd vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. Ted Brode, historian; Mrs. Clyde Butler, publicity; Mrs. Ed Thomas, budget and finance; Mrs. O. C. Lanier, study group; Mrs. M. L. Dickerson, room mothers chairman; Mrs. J. T. Elliott, hospitality; Mrs. E. O. Whitney, Jr., welfare; Miss May Coker, principal.

Roberts-Bass Vows Pledged In Fairbanks

On Tuesday, September 1, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist Church of Fairbanks, Miss Carolyn Bass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Bass, and Mr. Walter Lee Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Roberts pledged their vows in an impressive candle-light ceremony. The Rev. Vester R. Headrick officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli against a background of southern smilax. Placed in the center on the altar was a large open Bible, behind which was a tiered arrangement of white tapers in floor candelabra.

Miss Jane Gill of Fairbanks rendered a concert of nuptial music prior to the ceremony. During the prelude Miss Carrie Nell Spence and Miss Elizabeth Roberts, sister of the groom, lighted the candles. They were attired in ballerina length dresses of pink faille taffeta and wore corsage of white chrysanthemums. Miss Betty Spurlock of West Monroe sang "Because" and "Always."

Miss Dell Moore of West Monroe served as maid of honor. She wore a pale pink suit with gray accessories and carried a bouquet of pink asters. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Nell Slomosky of Bastrop. She wore a beige suit with black accessories and carried a bouquet of pink asters.

Serving Mr. Roberts as best man was his father, Mr. Walter M. Roberts. Mr. Lloyd Gill and Mr. Bob Currey served as ushers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a suit of pale aqua silk shantung, beaded with rhinestones and pearls. The fitted suit had a high pointed collar with three - quarter length sleeves. Her accessories consisted of a white velveteen hat beaded with pearls, and gray shoes of lizard skin. The bride carried a small white Bible topped with a corsage of white carnations and tuberoses tied with satin streamers.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. I. E. Bass, wore a black crepe dress. Her corsage was of pink mums. Mrs. W. M. Roberts, mother of the groom wore a navy sheer dress. Her corsage was of white mums. Also present was Mrs. J. M. Roberts of Alto, grandmother of the groom. She wore a black sheer with a corsage of white gardenias.

After a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride and groom will be at home in Fairbanks.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School.

The groom is also a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, and is now attending Northeast Louisiana State College as a senior.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Bass were hosts at the rehearsal supper given for the Bass - Roberts wedding party, in their home in Fairbanks. Assisting with the supper were Mrs. L. C. Gill, Mrs. Henry Perdue and Mrs. Ed Lohan.

The bride - to - be presented her attendants with compacts. The bridegroom presented his attendants with ties.

The guests were: Rev. and Mrs. Vester R. Headrick, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Roberts, Miss Carolyn Bass, Mr. Walter Lee Roberts, Mrs. Leila O'Neal, Mrs. Delma Slomosky, Miss Mary Nell Slomosky, Miss Jo Anne Crow, Miss Jane Gill, Miss Elizabeth Roberts, Miss Betty Spurlock and Miss Dell Moore.

Feted At Showers

Miss Carolyn Bass was entertained at a series of parties during the weeks preceding her recent marriage to Mr. Walter Lee Roberts.

Miss Bass was honoree at a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. T. A. Ward. Hostesses at this lovely event were: Mesdames L. C. Gill, Henry Perdue, T. A. Ward, Gus Gunther, Clyde Bradford, Joe Gates and W. R. Sanders.

The honoree wore a becoming rose silk shantung dress and a corsage of white carnations.

Upon arrival, the guests were wlecomed by Misses Jane Gill, Charlotte Gunther, and Shirley Ward, and were asked to sign the guest register.

The decorations in the reception rooms were arrangements of pink zinnias and magnolia leaves reflecting from a mirror above the mantle.

The guests were invited into the dining room where punch and individual cakes were served. Miss Elizabeth Roberts, sister of the groom, presided over the punch bowl. The table was centered with a crystal epergne filled with dainty white flowers and white candles.

Guests attending besides those included above were: Mrs. Floyd Smith, Miss Myrtle Currey, Mrs. Francis Peters, Mrs. Ed Lohan, Miss Cleta Lanningham, Mrs. R. L. Lanningham, Mrs. Fred Godwin, Mrs. E. E. Trevillion, Mrs. J. C. Rowe, Mrs. Floyd Humphrey, Mrs. Bill Rowe, Mrs. Lee Morgan.

Guests attening were: Misses Jane Gill, Charlotte Gunther, Martha Struben, Libby Sturben, Gloria Jean Peters, Sara Saterfiel, Carrie Nell Spence, Monta Sue Johnson and Zola Parish.

Each guest was asked to leave a copy of her favorite recipe which was later presented to the bride-elect in a card file.

Mrs. E. B. Hewitt, Mrs. Huffman, Mrs. Florence Clarke, Mrs. E. J. Sackett, Miss Shirley Nan Tousinau, and Mrs. Stanley Blower.

Mrs. Earl Brimberry was hostess at a delightful kitchen shower and informal get together in honor

Keating-Eschete

FERRIDAY — The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Eloise Eschete is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Eschete to Eugene "Pat" Keating, son of Mrs. Mildred Keating, of Seattle, Wash.

The wedding will take place in the early fall in Seattle, where Mr. Keating is employed.

Use of a wobbly chair or table for climbing is a dangerous practice. It's much safer to purchase a inexpensive step stool or step-ladder.

MRS. JACK L. HOGGE, prior to her marriage on September 5 was Miss Wanda Lee Beck. Mr. and Mrs. Hogge will make their home in Beaumont, Texas.

Miss Wanda Lee Beck And Jack Hogge Pledge Troth

Miss Wanda Lee Beck became the bride of Jack L. Hogge Saturday evening, September 5, in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church. The Rev. R. T. Watson performed the ceremony. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Voney and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. W. R. Hogge and the late Mrs. Hogge.

Tall baskets of white gladioli and wrought - iron candelabra holding white tapers formed the background for the impressive exchange of vows. The candles were lighted by Misses Jackie and Mildred White. Mrs. C. L. Dillingham presided at the organ and accompanied Mr. E. M. Wooten who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a patio length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over shimmering white satin. She wore a Juliet cap of matching lace and satin to which her finger-tip veil was attached. A beautiful shower bouquet with a Cattleya orchid topped the white Bible she carried.

Miss Nell Boatner was maid of honor. She wore a gown of ice blue nylon with matching accessories and carried a dainty ribbon basket filled with multi-colored asters.

Mr. V. P. Johnson was best man and the ushers were Mr. John Hassion and Mr. Metris Bell Jr.

Mrs. Voney chose to wear a brown lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Immediately following the ceremony the reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. White 'mums and tall white tapers formed the centerpiece with the three - tiered wedding cake iced with white and pink spun sugar rosebuds at one end of the table. At the other end of the table were individual cakes topped with pink rosebuds and delicious fruit punch.

Those who helped the guests were: Mrs. John Hassion, Mrs. E. F Caldwell, Mrs. R. M. Kettenring, Miss Jackie White and Miss Mildred White. Mrs. L. W. Batten presided at the guest book.

The couple departed on a wedding trip to New Orleans Biloxi and other points along the Gulf coast. For traveling the bride changed to a black suit with a small white hat and black accessories. The orchid from her bouquet was pinned to her coat lapel. They will live in Beaumont, Tex.

Slumber Basic Beauty Builder

Would you like to discover a beauty treatment that is completely effortless and really a pleasure? Well then, look no farther than your bed.

A good sleep — every night— is essential to beauty. Without it, all your beauty care is wasted.

Some people require only five or six hours of sleep each night; others need up to 10 hours. Only you can decide what's best for you, but remember, it is important that you establish a regular bedtime and stick to it.

To help you get into a sleepy mood, spend the last hour of the evening quietly. You might take a leisurely bath scented with soothing oils or listen to soft music— anything that helps you to relax.

It is equally important that you decide whether a hard or soft mattress is more restful for you and that you find a pillow that will cradle your head without becoming lumpy through the night.

Girl Scout News

Shorter days, cool mornings, foot ball games, schools opening — there's something about September that makes us want to get back into routine again. For the girls the school year should mean regular Scout meetings again — and new troops for those who have looked forward eagerly to being old enough to be a Brownie or a "Greenie."

A troop is, as grown - ups need to realize, possible only when they put forth the effort to make it a reality for those eager girls. Two leaders and a troop committee can share responsibilities and have just as much fun as the girls, in a different way, of course.

Nena Roy, enthusiastic president of the Girl Scout board, tells us that there are all kinds of helps —excellent publications, local training courses, community resources in people, places, and things — to be utilized by the leader in her work with girls.

Maybe this is the place to tell you about the new edition of the Girl Scout Handbook, which is coming out in October, during Girl Scout week, to be exact. It's nice to know, as we've always suspected, that the organization keeps up to date by frequent revisions of its basic publications. The first handbook, written by Juliette Low herself, was called "How Girls Can Help Their Country."

At the office, our executive, Annis Klie, has a collection of the last four handbooks, to which she will soon be able to add a fifth.

We just hope there are a goodly number of readers of our column who feel that they want to help make our community a better place to live by helping with the Scout program. Call the office, 2-1270 and volunteer to give some of your time. It will be a rewarding experience.

During the summer we mentioned the J. E. Higgins family as one of the best Scout families we knew. During day camp mother taught basketry, Anne served as program aide, Martha and Barbara were campers, while little red headed brother Mike, tagged along and learned all the songs and was one of the most enthusiastic campers. Well, the family was transferred to Oklahoma all of a sudden. The Scout family wish them luck in their new home. They'll be missed in Monroe.

Speaking of Scout families, here's a welcome to Jean Marie Cannon, whose mother was leader of troop 44 last year, and whose sister, Bunny is a fly - up Scout and one of the day campers, while sister Faye is a soon-to-be-Brownie.

Tuesday afternoon, September 22 is the day of the Red Feather parade. It's after school, so everybody can take part. Plan now to decorate a car or to help someone. Girls, get out your uniforms and see that they are laundered. Girl Scouting is a Community Chest agency and we want to tell everybody about Red Feather services.

Add some crunchy pickle slices to your favorite rarebit for a tangy taste treat.

Mrs. Louis Peters Hostess To Readers Clique Meeting

The first meeting of the Reader's Clique for the current season was a luncheon held at the Bayou DeSiard Country

Mrs. Peters, the president, presided over a short business session. Correspondence was read, which included a letter from Miss Pat Ruple, thanking the club for sponsoring her to Pelican Girl's State in Baton Rouge.

The club voted to give one day's service to the cancer drive and also to send a check to the Twin City Community Chest.

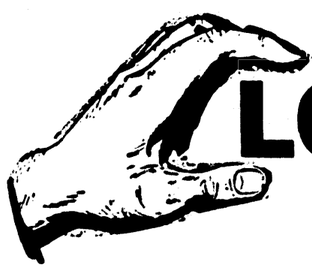

The following books have been chosen by the members for the coming year: "Come My Beloved" by Pearl S. Buck; "Mama and the Outlaw," by Jean Gentry; "Emperor's Lady," by F. W. Kenyon; "The Devil's Laughter," by Frank Yerby; "The Greatest Faith Ever Lived," by Fulton Oursler; "With Wings as Eagles," by Helen C. White; "Time and Time Again," by James Hilton; 'How to Make Your Emotions Work for You," by D. C. Finklar; "The Laughing Stranger," by Vina Delmar; "Biography of a Marriage," by Ruth P. Randall; "Too Late Phalarope," by Allan Patton; "Desiree," by Anna M. Selinko; "Lady of Arlington," by Harnett Kane; "The Singer and the Song," by L. A. Erskine; "The Heart of the Family," by Elizabeth Goudge; "Queen Jezebel," by Jean Plaidy; "Beyond This Place," by A. J. Cronin; "Home to Kentucky" by A. L. Cralib; "Late for the Funeral," by Stapleton; "The Unconquered," by Ben Ames Williams.

Members enjoying the luncheon were: Mrs. Clay Wilson, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Mike John, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Ed Crowley, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Tot Menuet, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Pete Coats, Mrs. A. G. Olcott, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Harrell Webster, and Mrs. Ray Updegraff.

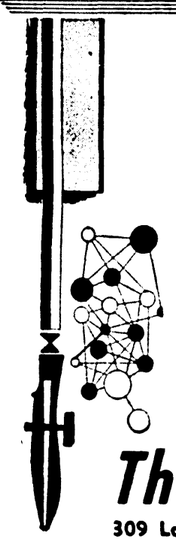

If you get varnish on your clothes you might be able to remove the stain by following this method: Saturate material with turpentine and rub with hands. Then sponge the fabric with alcohol or chloroform.

GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Saucier cut their golden wedding anniversary cake at the reception at their home on Sunday. More than two hundred guests called between three and six o'clock.

Golden Anniversary Is Celebrated By Sauciers

On Sunday, August 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Saucier of this city celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. The couple were married in Marksville, La. on September 2, 1903.

Mrs. Saucier is the former Hattie Berlin of Marksville.

Following a Mass said in their honor at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, a luncheon was served on the lawn of their spacious home overlooking beautiful Bayou De-Siard. About fifty out-of-town relatives of both Mr. and Mrs. Saucier were present at the luncheon. Immediately afterwards, Father George Martinez of Our Lady of Fatima Church imparted a blessing to the couple.

Later a reception was held between three and six o'clock in the afternoon, during which time approximately two hundred guests called. In the receving line were the celebrants' daughter, Mrs. George Marbury Fluitt, their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ardel V. Saucier and their granddaughter, Mrs. J. L. Seidenspinner, Jr. Also present to welcome the guests were their grandsons, Wallace Donald Saucier and George Marby Fluitt, and their great-granddaughter, Terri Lynn Seidenspinner, and great-grandson, Wayne Lawrence Seidenspinner.

The bride of 50 years ago was attractively attired in a gown of pink lace in rosebud design with linen leaves. Her accessories were black. She also wore gold earrings, an heirloom of her mother's, and a pearl lavaliere. Her corsage was of gold glamelia tied with gold ribbons.

The gold motif was carried out throughout the reception room. The mantel was beautifully decorated with gold candles and draped with ivy. At vantage points throughout the room were placed vases of gold gladioli, yellow and bronze mums and daisies. The table was overlaid with an Italian cutwork cloth revealing a gold cloth underneath. In the center was a magnificent 3-tiered wedding cake elaborately decorated with gold wedding bells and gold rosebuds, topped with a white tulle wreath around a white bell with "50" in gold inside the bell. The cake was especially made for the occasion by Mrs. Ardel Saucier's brother, Mr. Gilbert Johnson of Alexandria.

At one end of the table was a crystal pedestal punch bowl from which gold punch was served. At the other end were plates of individual gold cakes.

On another table were displayed all the many beautiful gifts which the honorees received.

Out-of-town friends and relatives attending the reception included the couple's daughter, Mrs. George Marbury Fluitt of Denver, Colo., and her son, George Marbury; sisters of Mrs. Saucier—Mrs. Minnie Gremillion and Mrs. Guy Roy and Mr. Roy of Marksville; and Mrs. J. C. Crump and Mr. Crump of Shreveport; her brother, Mr. Lee L. Berlin and Mrs. Berlin of Marksville; Mr. Saucier's sisters; Mrs. W. W. Voinche and Mr. Voinche and Mrs. Cora Riddle; his brother, Mr. Jim Saucier; all of Marksville. Nieces and nephews—Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Ducote, Diane, Janelle and Joey Ducote of Marksville; Dan Gremillion and son Danny of Ferriday; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Saucier and Sara and baby; Miss Leatrice Berlin of Marksville; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith and Dale Smith of West Monroe; Marville Voinche, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Riddle of Marksville; Miss Helaine Keys of Pineville; Miss Faye Riddle of Alexandria; cousins — Mrs. Otto Weisgerber of Fort Lauderdale, Fla; and Kirby Chaze of Marksville; friends — Mrs. Aline Walker, Columbia; Mrs. G. U. Yoachum and daughter, Carmen of Jefferson, Texas; and Mrs. L. M. Holder of Farmerville.

Roamin' In The Rural

Tailoring Workshops

These cool mornings make us feel the need for getting our winter clothes ready. Some of you may be planning on making a child's coat or a coat for yourself. If you would like to have help on this work and live outside the Twin Cities, you may enroll in a tailoring class with the demonstration agent. These workshops will be held in the various communities where six or more women are interested. Where less are interested, the workshop will be in the Agricultural Auditorium in West Monroe.

Workshops in simple sewing will also be held by the agent. If interested get in touch with her.

Fair:

Added to the Ouachita Fair list this year will be special prizes on crocheted articles and the orange chiffon cake. Circulators may be obtained at the extension office and special prizes will be on display in the Agricultural Auditorium during council meeting September 19th.

Council Meeting

Members don't forget this meeting. No notices will be sent to you as agreed at a previous meeting. There's lots of business to be taken care of so be on hand.

Garden Notes

Let's don't fail to get our fall gardens planted. Onions, radishes, turnips, cabbage, mustard, spinach, carrots, beets and lettuce can be planted now. It is also time to prepare the soil for those strawberries. Fertilizer as 4-12-4, or 5-10-5 should be distributed in the beds at the rate of 900 pounds per acre, at least two weeks before putting out the plants. The certified plant growers' list of strawberry plants will be available early in October. You may call 3-2251 then for this information. Bulletins on growing strawberries are available also.

While visiting in several homes this week I found tomatoes being canned by several women. Mrs. H. H. Roberts of Woodlawn and Mrs. Gene Berry of Logtown had such a generous supply the agent was supplied too. I found some not forgetting the Ouachita Valley Fair and were putting up exhibits.

Landscape - Gardening

This is the last call to lift and replant Easter lily bulbs and reset violets in newly prepared bed. Do it immediately.

Cut away all dead and diseased leaves from roses. Top dress with nitrate of soda. Thinking of adding new rose bushes to your garden? Get roses for the yard, Louisiana Bulletin No. 451 and get varieties recommended for Louisiana.

Daffadils, narcissi and jonquils may be planted now. Also, early blooming varieites of sweet peas.

The extension horticulturist and home garden specialist recommend root pruning of wisteria at this time to encourage flowering in the spring. Cut through the roots with a spade in a circle about 30 inches from the stem of the vine, and feed with bone meal through this cut.

Hat Tops Off Every Costume

Most of us give plenty of attention to the selection of a hat to go with our "Sunday bests." We study color and line for their effect on face and figure as well as the outfit. But, alas, what happens to a few of us during the week?

Monday through Saturday finds us dashing to the office or supermarket in appropriate suits or dresses. But in place of hats we are wearing scarves knotted under our chins! Not only do the scarves fail to flatter the face but they definitely detract from any outfit, even the most casual.

A well-chosen hat, on the other hand, serves to keynote a woman's style sense. And to do the job, the hat need not be expensive. Most department stores have hat bars that feature everything from tailored suit hats to evening concoctions for well under $10.

Mrs. Gerald Frasier Tells Theme Of Year For P.T.A.

"Families Are Our Business" is the theme for the year,' said Mrs. Gerald Frasier at the meeting of the Barkdull Faulk P. T. A. Executive Board held in the School Library, Sept. 3, 1953.

The program for the first unit meeting to be held Sept. 24 at 3 p.m., will be "Importance of regular attendance in school" by Miss Eleona Brinsmade, visiting teacher for the City of Monroe schools.

Plans for the opening day of school were made and room mothers will be on hand along with the executive board to welcome members in the P. T.-A. Dues are 75 cents per family. Subscriptions to the National Parent - Teacher magazine, at $1.25 per year will be taken by Mrs. Crowe, magazine chairman. The National Parent - Teacher Magazine is an indispensable tool for every parent, and teacher. Special articles and such regular features as "What's Happening in Education," "P. T. A. Frontiers," and "Looking into Legislation," provide authentic, and up-to-the-minute information about the parent - teacher program. All parents and teachers are urged to subscribe to this magazine.

The Tool Kit was opened and information relative to each ones duties were passed out by Mrs. John A. Peters, president.

Changes in the by - laws read by Mrs. Gerald Frasier and discussed will be passed on by the unit at some future date.

"The teachers workshop to be held at Neville High School is open to all parents on Tuesday, Sept. 15 between 11 and 12 o'clock. This will be a "Guidance Meeting" and of great interest and value to all parents," said Miss May Coker, principal.

Miss Coker stressed the importance of getting the unit study group meetings started and carrying out the theme "Moral and Spiritual Education." "We must help build strong characters in our children to enable them to meet the problems of the future; and we can do this by building up the standards in our homes. T. V. will have a great influence on children, therefore parents must choose carefully the programs they are to see, so to build character - not destroy it."

The meeting was closed with a prayer by Miss Coker.

Executive board members present: Mrs. J. A. Peters, president; Mrs. J. A. Pritchard, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Andrews, 1st vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. Gerald Frasier, 2nd vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. Ted Brode, historian; Mrs. Clyde Butler, publicity; Mrs. Ed Thomas, budget and finance; Mrs. O. C. Lanier, study group; Mrs. M. L. Dickerson, room mothers chairman; Mrs. J. T. Elliott, hospitality; Mrs. E. O. Whitney, Jr., welfare; Miss May Coker, principal.

Proper Shoes Essential For Working Girls

Foot doctors tell us the woman who spends the day in a pair of battered old shoes for comfort's sake is neglecting her health as well as fashion. And the comfort, is short-lived, too.

The solution is not to be found, of course, in wearing flimsy ankle-strap shoes atop four - inch heels. Although doctors have been bewailing this practice for years, some women persist in the belief that they are putting fashion-first. They are as wrong as their cousins, the comfort-firsters.

Costume coordination is a key word with fashion-wise women. High heeled sandals, low - slung pumps, all the doodads that adorn shoes are designed for dress wear, not for every-day use. With daytime clothes, fashionable women wear daytime accessories, from hat to shoes.

MAJOR AND MRS. HAYLON R. WOODS, whose wedding was an event of late August. The couple are at home in Clay.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mary Kavanaugh Howard, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Kendall Kavanaugh of Clay, and Major Haylon R. Woods, USAF (retired), son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Woods of Ansley.

The double ring ceremony was performed Thursday, August 27, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. H. H. Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ruston.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kavanaugh of Ruston.

Following the ceremony members of the wedding party and the immediate family were entertained at the home of the bride's aunts, Mrs. Robert Winfree, Mrs. Eugene Gray and Miss Bennie Kendall. Wedding cake and punch were served to the guests.

Major and Mrs. Woods left on a wedding trip to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, after which they will be at home in Clay.

Mrs. Woods is a member of the Jonesboro-Hodge High School faculty, and Major Woods was recently retired from active duty with the air force.

Mrs. Woods is a niece of Mrs. Gladys King of Monroe.

Use Vacuum On Curtains

IOWA CITY, Ia. — (NEA) — Have you ever washed curtains and had them emerge from the tub looking as limp and streaked as an old shoe rag? So have I.

Continual replacement of furnishings can make hash of a budget. Taking intelligent care of what we have is sound economics as well as smart housekeeping.

The reason and remedy for this common failure were outlined in a discussion by Lewis Bradley, University of Iowa's laundry manager, textile consultant, and head of the laundry school.

The sun, Bradley explained, attacks any fabric, natural fibers such as cotton, linen, wool and silk in particular. The rays go to work first on the dyestuffs, next on the fibers themselves.

As long as the curtains are hanging at the window you are not aware of the damage because dyes are still there. Their character, however, is taking a change for the worse. When you wash the fabric, the eroded dyes go down the drain with the dirt, and you have a streaked curtain.

You can hold off the inevitable, says this expert, by not washing them. Instead, he recommends vacuum cleaning drapes or curtains or brushing off the excess soil. Vat-dyed fabrics sturdily resist sunfading, he added. Linings will help protect draperies.

Sooner or later most of us will insist on washing the curtains, but they won't be as soiled and won't require hard scrubbing to dislodge dirt and dyes if they've been vacuumed regularly.

Fabrics of mixed fibers will enjoy a longer, prettier life if you remember this expert's simple rule. If washable, pamper the weaker fiber, no matter what the percentage the fabric contains.

For example, a wool and cotton blend should be washed as wool, wool and rayon as wool, cotton and rayon as rayon. That usually means lukewarm water, handwashing or minimum machine agitation and the avoidance of chlorine bleach.

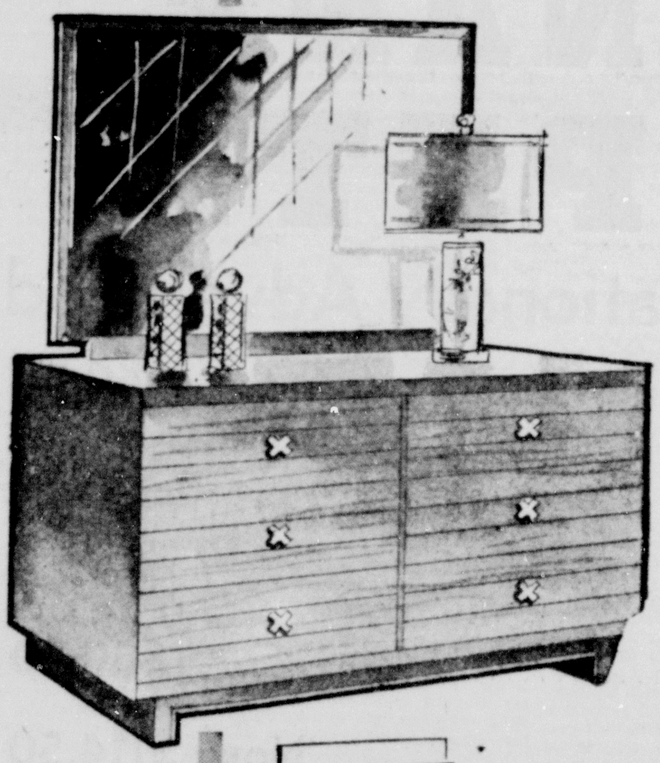

TO BE GUEST SPEAKER—Miss Helen Poe of Dallas, Texas will speak at Delta Rho Delta's annual kick-off dinner to be held Monday evening at the Virginia Hotel. Miss Poe, a well known lecturer and book-reviewer, has traveled extensively in the Americas and Europe. She has recently returned from abroad where she witnessed the crowning of Queen Elizabeth II and has taken her topic for the evening "A Queen Is Crowned," from this experience.

Egg stains can be removed from fabric by first scraping with dull knife and then sponging in cold water. Pepsin powder rubbed in and allowed to remain in fabric for half an hour before rinsing is helpful in removing stubborn spots.

Lighting a top burner on a gas stove can be dangerous, so do it carefully. First light the match, then turn the gas on all the way and apply match, adjusting the size of the flame after the match is blown out.

GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Saucier cut their golden wedding anniversary cake at the reception at their home on Sunday. More than two hundred guests called between three and six o'clock.

Golden Anniversary Is Celebrated By Sauciers

On Sunday, August 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Saucier of this city celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. The couple were married in Marksville, La. on September 2, 1903.

Mrs. Saucier is the former Hattie Berlin of Marksville.

Following a Mass said in their honor at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, a luncheon was served on the lawn of their spacious home overlooking beautiful Bayou De-Siard. About fifty out-of-town relatives of both Mr. and Mrs. Saucier were present at the luncheon. Immediately afterwards, Father George Martinez of Our Lady of Fatima Church imparted a blessing to the couple.

Later a reception was held between three and six o'clock in the afternoon, during which time approximately two hundred guests called. In the receving line were the celebrants' daughter, Mrs. George Marbury Fluitt, their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ardel V. Saucier and their granddaughter, Mrs. J. L. Seidenspinner, Jr. Also present to welcome the guests were their grandsons, Wallace Donald Saucier and George Marby Fluitt, and their great-granddaughter, Terri Lynn Seidenspinner, and great-grandson, Wayne Lawrence Seidenspinner.

The bride of 50 years ago was attractively attired in a gown of pink lace in rosebud design with linen leaves. Her accessories were black. She also wore gold earrings, an heirloom of her mother's, and a pearl lavaliere. Her corsage was of gold glamelia tied with gold ribbons.

The gold motif was carried out throughout the reception room. The mantel was beautifully decorated with gold candles and draped with ivy. At vantage points throughout the room were placed vases of gold gladioli, yellow and bronze mums and daisies. The table was overlaid with an Italian cutwork cloth revealing a gold cloth underneath. In the center was a magnificent 3-tiered wedding cake elaborately decorated with gold wedding bells and gold rosebuds, topped with a white tulle wreath around a white bell with "50" in gold inside the bell. The cake was especially made for the occasion by Mrs. Ardel Saucier's brother, Mr. Gilbert Johnson of Alexandria.

At one end of the table was a crystal pedestal punch bowl from which gold punch was served. At the other end were plates of individual gold cakes.

On another table were displayed all the many beautiful gifts which the honorees received.

Out-of-town friends and relatives attending the reception included the couple's daughter, Mrs. George Marbury Fluitt of Denver, Colo., and her son, George Marbury; sisters of Mrs. Saucier—Mrs. Minnie Gremillion and Mrs. Guy Roy and Mr. Roy of Marksville; and Mrs. J. C. Crump and Mr. Crump of Shreveport; her brother, Mr. Lee L. Berlin and Mrs. Berlin of Marksville; Mr. Saucier's sisters; Mrs. W. W. Voinche and Mr. Voinche and Mrs. Cora Riddle; his brother, Mr. Jim Saucier; all of Marksville. Nieces and nephews—Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Ducote, Diane, Janelle and Joey Ducote of Marksville; Dan Gremillion and son Danny of Ferriday; Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Saucier and Sara and baby; Miss Leatrice Berlin of Marksville; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith and Dale Smith of West Monroe; Marville Voinche, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Riddle of Marksville; Miss Helaine Keys of Pineville; Miss Faye Riddle of Alexandria; cousins — Mrs. Otto Weisgerber of Fort Lauderdale, Fla; and Kirby Chaze of Marksville; friends — Mrs. Aline Walker, Columbia; Mrs. G. U. Yoachum and daughter, Carmen of Jefferson, Texas; and Mrs. L. M. Holder of Farmerville.

Tailoring Workshops

These cool mornings make us feel the need for getting our winter clothes ready. Some of you may be planning on making a child's coat or a coat for yourself. If you would like to have help on this work and live outside the Twin Cities, you may enroll in a tailoring class with the demonstration agent. These workshops will be held in the various communities where six or more women are interested. Where less are interested, the workshop will be in the Agricultural Auditorium in West Monroe.

Workshops in simple sewing will also be held by the agent. If interested get in touch with her.

Fair:

Added to the Ouachita Fair list this year will be special prizes on crocheted articles and the orange chiffon cake. Circulators may be obtained at the extension office and special prizes will be on display in the Agricultural Auditorium during council meeting September 19th.

Council Meeting

Members don't forget this meeting. No notices will be sent to you as agreed at a previous meeting. There's lots of business to be taken care of so be on hand.

Garden Notes

Let's don't fail to get our fall gardens planted. Onions, radishes, turnips, cabbage, mustard, spinach, carrots, beets and lettuce can be planted now. It is also time to prepare the soil for those strawberries. Fertilizer as 4-12-4, or 5-10-5 should be distributed in the beds at the rate of 900 pounds per acre, at least two weeks before putting out the plants. The certified plant growers' list of strawberry plants will be available early in October. You may call 3-2251 then for this information. Bulletins on growing strawberries are available also.

While visiting in several homes this week I found tomatoes being canned by several women. Mrs. H. H. Roberts of Woodlawn and Mrs. Gene Berry of Logtown had such a generous supply the agent was supplied too. I found some not forgetting the Ouachita Valley Fair and were putting up exhibits.

Landscape - Gardening

This is the last call to lift and replant Easter lily bulbs and reset violets in newly prepared bed. Do it immediately.

Cut away all dead and diseased leaves from roses. Top dress with nitrate of soda. Thinking of adding new rose bushes to your garden? Get roses for the yard, Louisiana Bulletin No. 451 and get varieties recommended for Louisiana.

Daffadils, narcissi and jonquils may be planted now. Also, early blooming varieites of sweet peas.

The extension horticulturist and home garden specialist recommend root pruning of wisteria at this time to encourage flowering in the spring. Cut through the roots with a spade in a circle about 30 inches from the stem of the vine, and feed with bone meal through this cut.

Hat Tops Off Every Costume

Most of us give plenty of attention to the selection of a hat to go with our "Sunday bests." We study color and line for their effect on face and figure as well as the outfit. But, alas, what happens to a few of us during the week?

Monday through Saturday finds us dashing to the office or supermarket in appropriate suits or dresses. But in place of hats we are wearing scarves knotted under our chins! Not only do the scarves fail to flatter the face but they definitely detract from any outfit, even the most casual.

A well-chosen hat, on the other hand, serves to keynote a woman's style sense. And to do the job, the hat need not be expensive. Most department stores have hat bars that feature everything from tailored suit hats to evening concoctions for well under $10.

MRS. RONALD MOORE, bride of recent date was Miss Frances Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burns before her marriage on the 21st of August to A/1c Ronald Moore son of Mr. Carl Moore and Mrs. Benny Norris of Monroe.

Spencer Couple Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Raybon Wells, life long residents of Spencer, La., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on August 24, 1953. Mrs. Wells was the former Miss Nina Gwinn. Mr. and Mrs. Wells are the parents of thirteen children, eight of which are deceased, twenty-four grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren. Children present for this occasion were daughters, Mrs. P. E. Hunter and Mrs. B. P. Smith both of Sterlington, Mrs. Steve Gibson of Shreveport, Mrs. Jack Jordan, Jr. of St. Angelo, Texas and one son, J. T. Wells of Bastrop.

The reception was held at their home in Spencer where many friends called and presented them with lovely gifts. Mrs. Wells was lovely in a soft grey dress, with a corsage of white carnation tied with gold ribbon. The wedding cake was gold trimmed and was adorned with gold wedding bells. Mrs. Smith presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Jordan served the cake.

If you're not sure about the colorfastness of fabrics, merely snip a piece from the seam or hem and wash. Then press between white cloths. If a stain appears you know the fabric must be washed separately.

How To Plan A Party For Teen-Agers

Are you facing the prospect of a party for teen - agers and wondering how to make it click?

You can save a lot of worry and work by letting the teen - agers tell you. Here are tips from some New Yorkers who have covered a considerable amount of party territory in land that is not too rich:

Have lots of food and soft drinks — far more than you think you will need — and you will find when the party is over, you will have very little left. But keep it super-simple.

Lots of teen - agers like to have the food on tap all evening. In the beginning they are happy with bowls of popcorn, pretzels, peanuts — and plenty of soft drinks. Later they love a buffet table with assorted crackers, cheeses, sandwiches, candy, milk and soft drinks available, so that they can visit it when they feel inclined. then wander to another part of the room to talk to somebody else.

From the time the party starts till it stops the teen-agers will want records playing. So make sure your phonograph is in the pink of condition and that there is a stack of good records of dance tunes and crooners. (The neighbors will simply have to bear up for the evening.)

While the records play, the talk will be swirling around and some of the guests will be dancing. When they feel like it, that is. Nothing compulsory about it.

So better roll up a rug somewhere in the vicinity and arrange the furniture to make dancing easy and prevent damage to your mahogany. If you are fortunate enough to have a basement party room or a rumpus room, by all means give the party there.

Don't deprive yourself of your favorite TV program that evening in order to give the set to the teen-agers. "You'll ruin the party," say these young New Yorkers grimly. "Everybody will start looking at the screen — all the talk will die down and you won't be able to start it again."

Don't over - crowd your party—and don't have too few guests. Either situation can spoil things. Twenty is a good number if your party room will accommodate them. Invite people who know each other, so they will all know the same jokes and laugh at them. Too many teen - agers who are strangers to one another make a dull party.

Have a pretty good idea about what you are going to do. True, these parties are most successful when they run along casually, but be prepared to start something in case the one at your house sags in the middle. Lots of teen-agers love charades and others like certain games.

See that your daughter-hostess has a pretty frock — not too dressy and not too plain — and that its color and line become her. And coach her some on her hostess role, so that she will enjoy her own party.

Strong washing solutions tend to diminish the luster of pearl buttons that are cut from the inside of ocean-found shells.

McKinnie-Stevens Wedding Is Solemnized In Clayton

The wedding of Miss Belva Ann Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stevens of Clayton to J. C. McKinnie Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinnie Sr. also of Clayton was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Clayton Union Church.

The Rev. A. D. Langston Sr. performed the double ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged beneath an arch of bridal blooms and greenery, with tall white floor baskets holding large white mums and Boston ferns, placed on either side of a tiered arrangement of burning white tapers in floor candelabras entwined with greenery, forming a soft background against which the wedding party grouped. During the exchange of vows, Mrs. A. D. Langston the piano played "I Love You Truly."

Prior to the ceremony, Misses Katherine Davis and Clara Ann Kethley, cousin of the groom lighted the candles as the pianist, Mrs. A. D. Langston played "Love's Old Sweet Song." Their dresses were of pastel blue and orchid taffeta with dainty berthas forming the shoulder line, they wore dainty wrist corsages of shaded pastel feathered asters, in their hair they wo a head band of small asters.

Preceeding the entrance of the wedding party, Mrs. Langston presented a program of nuptial music. She also accompanied Miss Gloria Brocato, of Ferriday who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was of candlelight slipper satin, fashioned on the new Coronation mode. The Princess style bodice was modeled with a square neckline while long sleeves tapered over the wrists in lily points. The skirt fell in graceful soft pleats from a pointed bodice. Her headdress was a coronet of satin embroidered with seed pearls, the fingertip veil was of nylon illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and trailing cascades of stephonotis with satin streamers caught by lovers' knots.

Miss Lurline Norris, of Taylorsville, Miss., served her cousin as maid of honor. Her gown of mint green nylon tulle over green taffeta was designed with a fitted bodice, made with rounded neckline, the skirt was full and circular. She wore a head band of green tulle with pink shaded flowers on either side. She carried on her arm, a heart haped bouquet of pastel shaded asters with pink ribbob forming the handle and held with a bow. The bridesmaids, Miss Olga Davis, cousin of the bride and Mrs. David Mitchell Jr., were identically dressed in gowns of pink nylon tulle over pink taffeta duplicating that of the maid of honor. They also carried heart-shaped bouquets of shaded lavender asters with lavender streamers.

Mr. Raymond Kethley, uncle of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Ed Davis and Mr. W. C. Henderson were ushers.

A reception was given in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, following the ceremony. Mrs. Davis received her guests in a fall model of grey faille with trim of black taffeta, her accessories were black and her attire was complimented by a corsage of pink carnations. The reception rooms were decorated throughout with low crystal bowls of pink carnations with lighted pink tapers. In the dining room, the bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth over soft pink. The tiered wedding cake, which was trimmed with confectioneries of roses and lilies of the valley was topped with a miniature bridal couple, this was placed on a square mirror surrounded by pink tulle ruffle with garlands of white carnations and lace fern forming the table's center piece. At each corner of mirror and on either side were placed pink candles in crystal holders, small white ribboned bouquets of white carnations were placed at each corner of table. Mrs. J. T. Rainer, aunt of the bride, cut the cake.

The crystal punch service was placed at a smaller table with decoration of white carnations and lighted tapers, being presided over by Miss Sudie Loomis and Miss Patsy Sullivan.

For the wedding trip Mrs. McKinnie chose a navy cashmere tallieur, modeled on chalice lines with jacket trimmed in white sheer wool, topping a knife pleated skirt. Her accessories were navy. The white orchid from her bridal bouquet fashioned her corsage.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark. They will be at home in Vidalia. The groom is a graduate of Ferriday High School also graduate of University of Texas where he received his B. A. degree in Business Administion. The bride also a graduate of Ferriday High School received her B. A. degree from Louisiana College in Pineville.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. V. T. Norris; Mrs. J. T. Rainer; Mr. and Mrs. Ford Norris; all of Taylorsville, Miss.

Easy Exercises Keep You Trim

Back - to - school is a signal for lots of things besides books. For one thing, it means that you teen-agers will do lots of sitting.

You will be sitting at class, sitting over soda counter gabfests, sitting at parties. Unless you are careful, the trim figure that summer romping helped you to achieve will fade as quickly as your tan.

So, to hold that line, go easy on those banana splits and do a few simple exercises regularly. Here are three uncomplicated ones you might try:

1. Stand, feet together, tummy in, with arms high above head and reach for the ceiling. Keeping knees straight and feet together, touch toes 10 times. Remember to do this slowly to get full benefit. After your muscles have become accustomed to the pull (it should leave you feeling quite sore at first), work up gradually to 20 times.

3. Lie on floor and raise feet to 45-degree angle and lower, keeping knees straight. Do this very slowly to the count of 10.

Proper Shoes Essential For Working Girls

Foot doctors tell us the woman who spends the day in a pair of battered old shoes for comfort's sake is neglecting her health as well as fashion. And the comfort, is short-lived, too.

The solution is not to be found, of course, in wearing flimsy ankle-strap shoes atop four - inch heels. Although doctors have been bewailing this practice for years, some women persist in the belief that they are putting fashion-first. They are as wrong as their cousins, the comfort-firsters.

Costume coordination is a key word with fashion-wise women. High heeled sandals, low - slung pumps, all the doodads that adorn shoes are designed for dress wear, not for every-day use. With daytime clothes, fashionable women wear daytime accessories, from hat to shoes.

MAJOR AND MRS. HAYLON R. WOODS, whose wedding was an event of late August. The couple are at home in Clay.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mary Kavanaugh Howard, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Kendall Kavanaugh of Clay, and Major Haylon R. Woods, USAF (retired), son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Woods of Ansley.

The double ring ceremony was performed Thursday, August 27, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. H. H. Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ruston.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kavanaugh of Ruston.

Following the ceremony members of the wedding party and the immediate family were entertained at the home of the bride's aunts, Mrs. Robert Winfree, Mrs. Eugene Gray and Miss Bennie Kendall. Wedding cake and punch were served to the guests.

Major and Mrs. Woods left on a wedding trip to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, after which they will be at home in Clay.

Mrs. Woods is a member of the Jonesboro-Hodge High School faculty, and Major Woods was recently retired from active duty with the air force.

Mrs. Woods is a niece of Mrs. Gladys King of Monroe.

Use Vacuum On Curtains

IOWA CITY, Ia. — (NEA) — Have you ever washed curtains and had them emerge from the tub looking as limp and streaked as an old shoe rag? So have I.

Continual replacement of furnishings can make hash of a budget. Taking intelligent care of what we have is sound economics as well as smart housekeeping.

The reason and remedy for this common failure were outlined in a discussion by Lewis Bradley, University of Iowa's laundry manager, textile consultant, and head of the laundry school.

The sun, Bradley explained, attacks any fabric, natural fibers such as cotton, linen, wool and silk in particular. The rays go to work first on the dyestuffs, next on the fibers themselves.

As long as the curtains are hanging at the window you are not aware of the damage because dyes are still there. Their character, however, is taking a change for the worse. When you wash the fabric, the eroded dyes go down the drain with the dirt, and you have a streaked curtain.

You can hold off the inevitable, says this expert, by not washing them. Instead, he recommends vacuum cleaning drapes or curtains or brushing off the excess soil. Vat-dyed fabrics sturdily resist sunfading, he added. Linings will help protect draperies.

Sooner or later most of us will insist on washing the curtains, but they won't be as soiled and won't require hard scrubbing to dislodge dirt and dyes if they've been vacuumed regularly.

Fabrics of mixed fibers will enjoy a longer, prettier life if you remember this expert's simple rule. If washable, pamper the weaker fiber, no matter what the percentage the fabric contains.

For example, a wool and cotton blend should be washed as wool, wool and rayon as wool, cotton and rayon as rayon. That usually means lukewarm water, handwashing or minimum machine agitation and the avoidance of chlorine bleach.

TO BE GUEST SPEAKER—Miss Helen Poe of Dallas, Texas will speak at Delta Rho Delta's annual kick-off dinner to be held Monday evening at the Virginia Hotel. Miss Poe, a well known lecturer and book-reviewer, has traveled extensively in the Americas and Europe. She has recently returned from abroad where she witnessed the crowning of Queen Elizabeth II and has taken her topic for the evening "A Queen Is Crowned," from this experience.

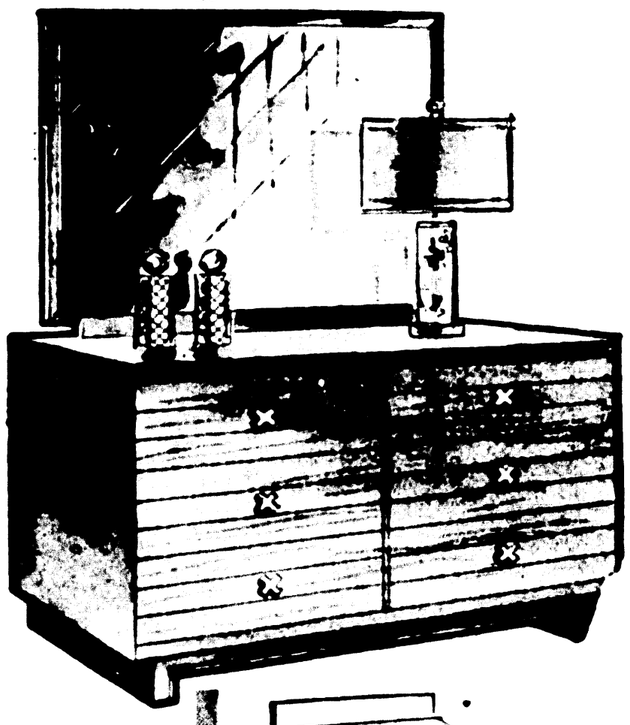

Egg stains can be removed from fabric by first scraping with dull knife and then sponging in cold water. Pepsin powder rubbed in and allowed to remain in fabric for half an hour before rinsing is helpful in removing stubborn spots.

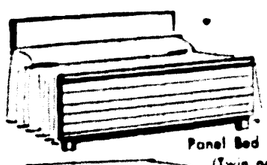

Lighting a top burner on a gas stove can be dangerous, so do it carefully. First light the match, then turn the gas on all the way and apply match, adjusting the size of the flame after the match is blown out.

The Garden Center which the rden Clubs of the Fifth District ll sponsor at Sears-Roebuck and 's Farm Store will open dnesday, September 23, at 10 n.

Mayor John E. Coon will cut e ribbon that will officially open e gates to the center. Mrs. Haz- Kautenberg, an expert flower ranger, will give a demonstra- n following the opening cere- onies. Her extensive participa- n in arranging, judging and lec- ing over a period of many years ovides a thoroughly adequate ckground. She has supplied the ow-how to spark the program, offering professional-type sug- stions to the centers by helping ganize new units, by giving pro- stional boosts to existing centers ough widely attended lectures and demonstrations. She has assured the continuation of the Garden Club center program.

All flower lovers of this district will do well to avail themselves of this treat. This petite personality-plus is from Richmond, Va. This is her first speaking engagement in Monroe and at this time she will explain the activities and many uses of the center.

A committee composed of Mrs. Rupert Scott of Wisner, as chairman, Mrs. Zollie Meadows of Ruston, district director, Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston, Mrs. Norman Jardine of West Monroe, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie of Monroe, and Mrs. John Lewis of West Monroe has just returned from Jackson, Miss. where they visited the Garden Center of that city. Members are enthusiastic over the reality of a Garden Center here.

The Madonna Lily

Since the Madonna lily is the old- lily in cultivation, it is not sur- sing that everyone wants to ow it. We can- t be absolutely re what wild y or cultivated e the artists of cient Crete or of ypt were draw- or painting on ir vases, but ey do seem to ve been copy- the lines of Madonna lily.

e bulbs were believed to have dicinal properties for healing unds. This fact is probably re- onsible for the fact that this lily s so widely cultivated around Mediterranean Sea and east- rds from the earliest times.

Southerners up in the cooler sec- ns of the south have been grow- Madonna lilies about as long they have grown anything. Un- the spread of mosaic disease ong these plants, everybody who d a garden in the hills and untains of the south had Madon- s growing in their yards. Al- ugh Madonna lilies are less and easy to please as they get ther from the hills, people do ow them by giving special at- tion to keeping them as cool possible. Some shade from high nbed trees during the day helps m endure the hot sun. Good ainage they must have like all es except our wild bog lily that ows on the savannahs and in the adows along the coasts. The ge of a raised bed is always excellent place for Madonnas, ey like a sweet soil, so your alea beds will not suit them at . If the soil around them is go- g to be on the acid side or if u do not wish to have to be ecking up all the time to be re about your Madonn as' hav- sweet soil, then beat up some plaster and dig about a quart it — lumps and all — into the l where each bulb is to go. Bulb ecialists all seem to agree that osphorous helps to build disease istant tissues in bulbs. This ne- ssary plant food can be supplied bone meal worked into the soil handful to each bulb — or you n use superphosphate spread over bed at the rate of five unds per 100 square feet. Lilies all kinds seem to get into trou- when fresh animal manures are d in their soil. In fact, a great ny bulb specialists will not al- any cow manure, even if it is y old, to be used in the soil where they plant bulbs. They rely entirely on bone meal and a complete fertilizer like 5-10-5 to feed their lilies.

If you have been up north and seen the beautiful gardens up there filled with Madonna lilies and blue delphiniums, you must not let this dream get started in your head because the delphiniums will not stay with you down here. Some people grow the Chinese delphinium, but it is not very tall. You had better plant annual larkspur in the fall to bloom with your Madonnas. Snapdragons will also bloom with them, and you can get the tall kinds to bloom just beneath the heads of the lilies. Madonna lilies bloom just after or overlapping with the late varieties of the tall bearded irises and the oriental poppies. It is a shame that the old fashioned lemon lilies are usually just finishing up when the Madonnas open. In some gardens, they will bloom together, but you will have to get early Madonna varieites to be sure of this combination. As a rule, the common old orange daylily and the larkspurs are in bloom with Madonnas.

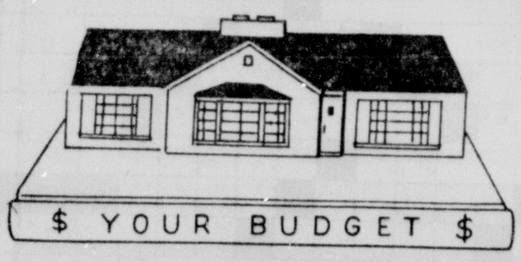

Not only do the roots and bulbs of Madonna lilies have to be in well drained soil so that the water will never stand over them. The foliage must have what is called good air drainage, too. Other plants should not crowd them or hang over them. Right now, the rosettes of evergreen leaves are beginning to come up, and this is the time to buy bulbs and plant them right away. In another week or so, there will be no Madonna lily bulbs available because they will all have been planted.

It is a shame that Botrytis blight destroys Madonna lilies in many gardens. This disease can be fought in several ways. The foliage can be sprayed several times early in the spring with Bordeaux mixture. The plants can be grown in airy places where there are no other plants of any height nearby to prevent the circulation of the air. It is the warm wet days when the foliage stays wet or moist that are the dangerous times because the disease develops spots on the leaves in about twenty - four hours during such times. They must be sprayed several times during the spring months to keep this blight in check.

In spite of what may sound like a great many difficulties, people grow Madonna lilies even in the coastal plains and enjoy the pristine whiteness of these magnificent flowers every year.

We're leaving Tuesday afternoon for Camp Polk to attend the mass-feeding instruction course conducted by the Fourth Army. The instructions include emergency feeding, which we hope we'll never need. However, it's best to be prepared. Tony Veazy, from the American Red Cross, and yours truly will attend the course.

Food News

There's good news for families whose favorite beverage is frozen orange juice. A better tasting product will soon be on its way to you and it may be cheaper. It's the result of experiments carried on by U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists in cooperation with the citrus industry. They discovered that most of the volatile flavor of oranges is in the peel. So they tried adding cold pressed orange oil to the concentrate to give it its natural flavor. It worked. It may be found that a higher concentrate will result, too — say a 6 to 1 product.

September finds intermediate and lower grades of beef on the market at lower prices. Too, September is the month when turkeys start coming to market. Also frozen fish. Potatoes will be abundant along with honey, peanuts and peanut butter. There will be dairy products including evaporated milk, non - fat dry milk, solids, cottage and cheddar cheese. Shortenings, table fats and salad oils continue in good supply.

If you like to keep canned chicken spread, fricassee, creamed chicken and other chicken combinations on your pantry shelf for ready use, you're in luck. They should continue plentiful in the months ahead for chicken is going into cans at a higher rate than a year ago.

Demonstration Scheduled

Another hat class for working on felts is set for September 24 at 9:00 a.m. Ket your old felts out of storage and borrow a hat mold. Next Sunday, in this column, I'll give you a list of the materials you need to bring.

October 1 is the day for the dress form demonstration. Mrs. E. R. Dawson, Mrs. Howard Tull, and Mrs. L. N. Copes will make a dress form on a live model. It will be completed on that day and I'll give you the instructions they'll follow. You can easily make a form at home after you see the demonstration.

Garden News

A vacant lot out on South 10th Street is solid with a purplish-blue flower that Caroline Dorman calls iron weed. Drive down the street that leads to KLIC's main studio. This flower can be transplanted, but wait until winter after rains and frost.

Bess Slade has castor bean plants that are actually trees. I love the leaves on this plant, they're so big and make a nice contrast with other shrubs. For new home owners who need quick shade and screen planting, the castor bean is very satisfactory. Plant the seed in early spring.

In the annual report from the Agricultural Experiment station Mr. Taggert gives us gardeners some fine information. In regard to rose fertilization, from experiments carried on at the University, he says, "The plants on plots that have received manure continue to make the best growth. Very good growth has been made by plants in plots which received only commercial fertilizer. Plants in check plots that received no fertilizer at all definitely showed its need, although fair growth was made."

It was found from experimental work on dieback in camellias and susanquas that wounding in necessary for infection. Infection can enter through such wounds as split bark and leaf scars. Evidence indicated that natural infection takes place in the majority of cases through scars left by the dropping of the old leaves in early spring.

The wonder bulb Mr. Hunt spoke of last Sunday can be bought at one of the seed stores. We call it autumn locust. If planted now it will bloom before frost. It also makes a beautiful plant for the house. The seed store will tell you how to treat it for indoors. Mr. Hunt explained all this in his column, too.

I'm getting a lot of calls about transplanting shrubs. Wait until we've had some frosts and rains, and better still, until we've had a freeze. However, if we have a mild winter like last year, we may not have a freeze. Let's hope we don't have freezes until after the susanquas bloom. They're loaded with buds. We need a mild freeze or two to get rid of some flies, mosquitoes and garden insects. Not that the freeze kills many, but it does stop their breeding for a short time.

Lorena McCoy says the Ouachita Parish premium lists are ready. Call by the agricultural building at 704 Cypress and pick up a copy if you're interested.

I'll see you next Sunday in this same column.

Q—Mildew makes a yearly appearance on our lilac leaves. Is there any cure?

A—Dusting at five-to-seven-day intervals with sulfur should keep mildew under control. Next year start dusting in late July, and continue through September.

Weed Before They Overtake Garden

Weeds in the vegetable garden are most discouraging to the novice gardener who is inclined to be lazy at this time. He asks, 'Why can't I use one of the weed killers so effective on dandelion and other lawn weeds?"

Unfortunately, there are no weed killers that may be applied to a mixed planting of vegetables or flowers that will single out the weeds to kill and not cultivated crops. So we must learn that frequent cultivation or mulching is the answer.

The following findings of the National Fertilizer Association support the opinion of the U. S. Department of Agriculture fertilizer officials.

"The American public was warned today to be on guard against the fallacious claims being made by some manufacturers of liquid fertilizers designed for home garden use.

"The people should not be misled by the advertising now being blatantly and widely promoted. Commercial fertilizers, liquid or dry, are of great benefit toward improving the productivity and quality of vegetables and flowers raised by the home gardener, but many of the statements currently being made about some liquid fertilizers contain absolute misrepresentations of fact."

CLAIM: Liquid fertilizers are superior to the more common dry fertilizers in their effects on plant growth.

COMMENT: This is not necessarily true. Although the plant food contained in liquid fertilizers may become available to plants somewhat more quickly than the plant food in dry fertilizers, it has no greater relative merits under most relative merits under most circumstances.

GROWING PAINS

By ALBERT S. FULLING

Every garden should have a built-in low pressure area.

You need a handy hideaway and sylvan dell to escape this high pressure world for a bit and just relax.

A patio or a terrace, directly adjacent to the house, is fine and convenient and serves many useful purposes.

But for the ideal quickie holiday-at-home spot, have you tried the rear of the garden just as far away from the telephone, traffic, radio and television as the depth of your property allows?

If anyone calls, your wife can say honestly, "I'm sorry, he isn't in." Or if the lady of the house just doesn't want to be disturbed, she can't hear the door chimes way back there.

The ideal hideaway begins with an all-purpose garden house flanked by a shade tree or two and a surfaced area. You can make it into a combination winter and summer resort, complete with tool shed, raised cold frame and place to putter around if you desire.

If you place your cold frame inside the shed, raised so that the windows face south, it will be useful on winter days. If you pave the south and east sided areas—with cement, brick, cobble stones, flag stones or gravel—you will have dry footing and a fine sun spot in fall and early spring. The cool east side will be fine for summer lounging.

Windbreaks as needed in the form of a tall fence or evergreen hedges will further enhance and protect your winter time sun spot, and give year-round privacy. A trellis and fast growing vines will give shade and privacy in the summer.

A nap in your outdoor hideaway, with the birds singing, the bees humming and the flowers nodding their heads in approval and wafting perfume your way, will do more for high blood pressure and jangled nerves than a barrel full of pills. I'm sure your doctor will agree.

MRS. RONALD MOORE, bride of recent date was Miss Frances Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burns before her marriage on the 21st of August to A/1c Ronald Moore son of Mr. Carl Moore and Mrs. Benny Norris of Monroe.

McKinnie-Stevens Wedding Is Solemnized In Clayton

The wedding of Miss Belva Ann Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stevens of Clayton to J. C. McKinnie Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinnie Sr. also of Clayton was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Clayton Union Church.

The Rev. A. D. Langston Sr. performed the double ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged beneath an arch of bridal blooms and greenery, with tall white floor baskets holding large white mums and Boston ferns, placed on either side of a tiered arrangement of burning white tapers in floor candelabras entwined with greenery, forming a soft background against which the wedding party grouped. During the exchange of vows, Mrs. A. D. Langston the piano played "I Love You Truly."

Prior to the ceremony, Misses Katherine Davis and Clara Ann Kethley, cousin of the groom lighted the candles as the pianist, Mrs. A. D. Langston played "Love's Old Sweet Song." Their dresses were of pastel blue and orchid taffeta with dainty berthas forming the shoulder line, they wore dainty wrist corsages of shaded pastel feathered asters, in their hair they wo a head band of small asters.

Preceeding the entrance of the wedding party, Mrs. Langston presented a program of nuptial music. She also accompanied Miss Gloria Brocato, of Ferriday who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was of candlelight slipper satin, fashioned on the new Coronation mode. The Princess style bodice was modeled with a square neckline while long sleeves tapered over the wrists in lily points. The skirt fell in graceful soft pleats from a pointed bodice. Her headdress was a coronet of satin embroidered with seed pearls, the fingertip veil was of nylon illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and trailing cascades of stephonotis with satin streamers caught by lovers' knots.

Miss Lurline Norris, of Taylorsville, Miss., served her cousin as maid of honor. Her gown of mint green nylon tulle over green taffeta was designed with a fitted bodice, made with rounded neckline, the skirt was full and circular. She wore a head band of green tulle with pink shaded flowers on either side. She carried on her arm, a heart haped bouquet of pastel shaded asters with pink ribbob forming the handle and held with a bow. The bridesmaids, Miss Olga Davis, cousin of the bride and Mrs. David Mitchell Jr., were identically dressed in gowns of pink nylon tulle over pink taffeta duplicating that of the maid of honor. They also carried heart-shaped bouquets of shaded lavender asters with lavender streamers.

Mr. Raymond Kethley, uncle of the groom, served as best man. Mr. Ed Davis and Mr. W. C. Henderson were ushers.

A reception was given in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, following the ceremony. Mrs. Davis received her guests in a fall model of grey faille with trim of black taffeta, her accessories were black and her attire was complimented by a corsage of pink carnations. The reception rooms were decorated throughout with low crystal bowls of pink carnations with lighted pink tapers. In the dining room, the bride's table was overlaid with a white lace cloth over soft pink. The tiered wedding cake, which was trimmed with confectioneries of roses and lilies of the valley was topped with a miniature bridal couple, this was placed on a square mirror surrounded by pink tulle ruffle with garlands of white carnations and lace fern forming the table's center piece. At each corner of mirror and on either side were placed pink candles in crystal holders, small white ribboned bouquets of white carnations were placed at each corner of table. Mrs. J. T. Rainer, aunt of the bride, cut the cake.

The crystal punch service was placed at a smaller table with decoration of white carnations and lighted tapers, being presided over by Miss Sudie Loomis and Miss Patsy Sullivan.

Mrs. James R. Green was in charge of the bride's book.

For the wedding trip Mrs. McKinnie chose a navy cassimere tallieur, modeled on chalice lines with jacket trimmed in white sheer wool, topping a knife pleated skirt. Her accessories were navy. The white orchid from her bridal bouquet fashioned her corsage.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark. They will be at home in Vidalia. The groom is a graduate of Ferriday High School also graduate of University of Texas where he received his B. A. degree in Business Administion. The bride also a graduate of Ferriday High School received her B. A. degree from Louisiana College in Pineville.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. V. T. Norris; Mrs. J. T. Rainer; Mr. and Mrs. Ford Norris; all of Taylorsville, Miss.

Spencer Couple Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Raybon Wells, life long residents of Spencer, La., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on August 24, 1953. Mrs. Wells was the former Miss Nina Gwinn. Mr. and Mrs. Wells are the parents of thirteen children, eight of which are deceased, twenty-four grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren. Children present for this occasion were daughters, Mrs. P. E. Hunter and Mrs. B. P. Smith both of Sterlington, Mrs. Steve Gibson of Shreveport, Mrs. Jack Jordan, Jr. of St. Angelo, Texas and one son, J. T. Wells of Bastrop.

The reception was held at their home in Spencer where many friends called and presented them with lovely gifts. Mrs. Wells was lovely in a soft grey dress, with a corsage of white carnation tied with gold ribbon. The wedding cake was gold trimmed and was adorned with gold wedding bells. Mrs. Smith presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Jordan served the cake.

Easy Exercises Keep You Trim

Back - to - school is a signal for lots of things besides books. For one thing, it means that you teen-agers will do lots of sitting.

You will be sitting at class, sitting over soda counter gabfests, sitting at parties. Unless you are careful, the trim figure that summer romping helped you to achieve will fade as quickly as your tan.

So, to hold that line, go easy on those banana splits and do a few simple exercises regularly. Here are three uncomplicated ones you might try:

1. Stand, feet together, tummy in, with arms high above head and reach for the ceiling. Keeping knees straight and feet together, touch toes 10 times. Remember to do this slowly to get full benefit. After your muscles have become accustomed to the pull (it should leave you feeling quite sore at first), work up gradually to 20 times.

3. Lie on floor and raise feet to 45-degree angle and lower, keeping knees straight. Do this very slowly to the count of 10.

How To Plan A Party For Teen-Agers

Are you facing the prospect of a party for teen - agers and wondering how to make it click?

You can save a lot of worry and work by letting the teen - agers tell you. Here are tips from some New Yorkers who have covered a considerable amount of party territory in land that is not too rich.

Have lots of food and soft drinks — far more than you think you will need — and you will find when the party is over, you will have very little left. But keep it super-simple.

Lots of teen - agers like to have the food on tap all evening. In the beginning they are happy with bowls of popcorn, pretzels, peanuts — and plenty of soft drinks. Later they love a buffet table with assorted crackers, cheeses, sandwiches, candy, milk and soft drinks available, so that they can visit it when they feel inclined, then wander to another part of the room to talk to somebody else.

From the time the party starts till it stops the teen-agers will want records playing. So make sure your phonograph is in the pink of condition and that there is a stack of good records of dance tunes and crooners. (The neighbors will simply have to bear up for the evening.)

While the records play, the talk will be swirling around and some of the guests will be dancing. When they feel like it, that is. Nothing compulsory about it.

So better roll up a rug somewhere in the vicinity and arrange the furniture to make dancing easy and prevent damage to your mahogany. If you are fortunate enough to have a basement party room or a rumpus room, by all means give the party there.

Don't deprive yourself of your favorite TV program that evening in order to give the set to the teen-agers. "You'll ruin the party," say these young New Yorkers grimly. "Everybody will start looking at the screen — all the talk will die down and you won't be able to start it again."

Don't over - crowd your party—and don't have too few guests. Either situation can spoil things. Twenty is a good number if your party room will accommodate them. Invite people who know each other, so they will all know the same jokes and laugh at them. Too many teen - agers who are strangers to one another make a dull party.

Have a pretty good idea about what you are going to do. True, these parties are most successful when they run along casually, but be prepared to start something in case the one at your house sags in the middle. Lots of teen-agers love charades and others like certain games.

See that your daughter-hostess has a pretty frock — not too dressy and not too plain — and that its color and line become her. And coach her some on her hostess role, so that she will enjoy her own party.

Strong washing solutions tend to diminish the luster of pearl buttons that are cut from the inside of ocean-found shells.

Church Ceremony Unites Young Sterlington Couple

A lovely wedding characterized by charming simplicity was that of Miss Mary Louise Moncrief and Mr. Gary Arlen Cook, which was solemnized at the first Baptist Church of Sterlington on the evening of September 3, Dr. T. J. Welch officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The chancel rail banked with glossy magnolia leaves and interspersed with groups of yellow tapers formed an elegant background for the tall wrought iron candelabra holding aloft myriads of yellow tapers and interlaced with sprays of magnolia leaves and single yellow tapers with large yellow satin bows. The candles were lighted by the ushers, Mr. Charles Pucket and Mr. Savoy Hunter.

A program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Miss Carol Eady, Miss Eady, also, accompanied Mrs. Catherine Ward who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," and Mr. Ted Cook who sang, "One Alone." Mrs. Ward also sang "The Wedding Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Hoyt Moncrief, was radient in her gown of traditional white satin overlaid with French lace and net. The closely fitted bodice featured a deep nylon yoke, tapered sleeves coming to points over her hands, and was buttoned down the back with tiny covered buttons. The bouffant gathered skirt ended in a train of net. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of braided tulle adorned with seed pearls.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Moncrief, and the maids of honor, Miss Shirley Stall and Vashti Hamm, were dressed identically in ballerina length dresses of mint green fashioned of bouffant tiered skirts of tulle over satin and fitted satin bodices with folds of tulle bordering the necklines and forming a stole. They wore braided bandeaus and mitts of matching tulle and linen shoes of the same shade. Their cascade bouquets were of yellow chrysanthemums shading to bronze caught in wide folds of yellow and bronze ribbon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Marie Moncrief chose a dress of mauve lace over taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Cook, mother of the groom, wore a lace - trimmed black crepe model with black accessories and a corsage of pink asters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Stall. Lighting the way across the lawn to entrance hall were tall rustic hurricane lamps, a handiwork of the host. Lovely arrangements of magnolia leaves and yellow mums adorned the reception rooms. The bride's table overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth was adorned at one end with the beautiful three - tiered wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom and at the other by the crystal punch bowl encircled with clematis. The centerpiece was made up of yellow tapers in crystal candelabra surrounded by the attendant's bouquets.

Later in the evening the couple left for a brief wedding trip. Mrs. Cook was wearing an autumn brown faille duster over a matching printed silk with brown accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Cook will reside in Sterlington.

Rehearsal Supper

The rehearsel supper for the Moncrief - Cook wedding party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Moncrief with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moncrief co-hosts. The reception suite was charmingly decorated in a red and white color scheme. Miss Moncrief presented her attendants with sterling coffee spoons. Mr. Cook presented the best man and ushers with engraved tie clasps of gold. Attending the rehearsal party were Mrs. Marie Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Cook, Messrs. Ted and Charles Cook, Miss Carol Eady, Mrs. Catherine Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Stall, Mrs. Hugh M. Vick, and Mrs. Barbara Lee.

Rub in a little glycerine and then follow with a soap-and-water wash to get mustard stains out of fabrics.

VISITED RELATIVES HERE—Miss Roxie Barfield of Columbia has been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Rutledge of West Monroe for the past several days.

Parents Must Be Wise Referees

Do you feel more like a referee than a parent? If so, child study authority Sidonie M. Gruenberg has some reassuring words for you.

Writing in the magazine "2 to 5 World," this mother, grandmother, special consultant to the Child Study Association of America and editor of the forthcoming Parents' Encyclopedia, says:

"You have to be prepared for some fighting and quarreling among children in the same family, and just accepting this fact is rule number one in handling sibling rivalry.

"Parents cannot promise themselves that they will never interfere in the children's battles, or that they will always get to the bottom of the trouble and settle the argument fairly. Mothers and fathers literally have to meet each situation as it occurs and then use their best judgment in handling it."

Here are specific suggestions compiled by Mrs. Gruenberg, which may help ease explosive interludes in your family:

Take mild squabbles in your stride, paying little or no attention to them, whether physical or verbal.

If the squabble doesn't seem to be working itself out, suggest something more interesting or constructive to do.

Watch out for the teased as well as the teaser. The child being teased may have started, the whole thing.

When an older child is involved with a younger — stop, look, listen! Remember that it's easier to have sympathy with the younger child —who may really be the aggressor.

Although there is usually some cause beneath the surface of the aggression (jealousy, insecurity, frustration), don't search for the cause at the moment of friction. Try to ease the situation; separate the children, if necessary, without making either one feel like a criminal — but do the detective work later.

Remember that it's easy for a child to "get a bad name." If a fuss is made the first few times Junior hits another child, he will soon be known as a bad boy, a bully, or worse. And if other children are forbidden to play with him, he may develop into an unhappy, sneaky child, an unpleasant bully or even a juvenile delinquent.

Try to teach an older child not to hurt a younger; a boy not to hurt a girl — but at the same time teach the younger child or the girl not to take advantage of the immunity to be provoking.

Remember that boys and girls are quick to forgive and forget. Many friendships between children have been spoiled by parents' exaggerating the importance of young quarrels.

Don't expect your son and daughter—or two sisters or two brothers —to play together too much. And in the matter of living space, try to arrange to give your children some freedom from each other.

Let the older child enjoy some privileges because he is older and the younger because he is younger.

Tot To Teen

"Leather trimmed sportswear is among our best ordering items for girls of all ages," is the report of one of the important manufacturers of girls' sport togs. As the promotions are planned for back-to-school by buyers all across the country, this confidence in leather trimmed sportswear should be a welcome incoming fashion to shoe retailers. Shoes that will pick up this leather accent will be on the demand list, too, when the young set buy their new fall outfits. These leather accents are most frequent in bindings on pockets of sport shirts, as small collars on jackets, and as collars on winter coats. The skirts are in tweed or in corduroy patterned to look like tweed. In many cases, this corduroy - tweed combines a bright color with black in a herringbone pattern and the leather trimming is black capeskin or kidskin.

Stained Linens Can Be Cleaned

IOWA CITY, Ia., (NEA)—Removing the stains that besmirch the family linens can be as easy as one-two-three, if you'll heed scientific advice.

Realistic procedure for my household was outlined by Lewis Bradley, University of Iowa's laundry manager, textile consultant and author of a stain removal manual.

He cautioned me on a few points. If you badly stain wool or synthetic fabrics, let an expert take care of the removal.

Carbon tetrachloride can be used safely on colored or print fabrics, but other home stain removal agents are apt to react unfavorably on the dyes.

Most laundry aids and all stain removal agents should be kept out of the reach (and, in my home, out of the sight) of children.

Most of the equipment needed expert you already have, except the oxalic acid. The list includes:

1. Concentrated soap solution made by mixing two or three tablespoons of your regular soap or synthetic detergent in a quart bottle of water.
2. Chlorine bleach.
3. Carbon tetrachloride (which is a standard cleaning fluid sold under many brand names).
4. Small bottle (two ounces is enough) 10 per cent oxalic acid solution which druggist mixes for you.
5. Earthenware crock, such as an old mixing bowl. Eye dropper and two or three wooden popsicle sticks.

Another ingredient he recommended, under its fancy chemical of tri - sodium phosphate, most of us already have as the cleansing powder used for walls, woodwork and linoleum.

Here's the one-two-three procedure for removing stains from white household linens.

1. Four to six - hour soaking period in alkaline solution made by adding two tablespoons tri-sodium phosphtae to a gallon of water. Don't soak in washing machine. Use laundry tub or unchipped enamel pan or crock.

Before soaking oil - based stains (lipstick, candle wax, salad dressing) hold spot over crock and squirt on a little carbon tet with the eye dropper to dissolve grease.

Gently scrape off gooey blobs of food or wax with wooden stick. Sponge fresh blood stains with concentrated soap solution. After soaking, wash in regular way.

2. After washing, inspect for stains that need further attention. Hold stain over crock, use eye-droppr to squirt on little oxalic acid solution. This erases many dye stains, iron or rust spots. Rinse throroughly to remove residue acid.

3. If stain persists after rinsing, sponge small amount of undiluted bleach on area. Rinse throughly in cool water to minimize fabric damage.

In special cases, such as nail polish spilled on cotton or linen, remove the lacquer with nail polish remover, then treat as directed. If you spill polish on any synthetic fabric, give up.

For iodine stains, you'll need a small packet of photographer's hypo bought from camera shop and mixed with water. Sponge this solution on the stain.

Before painting radiators, scra off loose rust and old paint wi a wire brush and wash with soa suds. Allow to dry thoroughly b fore painting.

This demonstration was worth many hundreds of dollars to me!

I thought only a higher-priced car would suit me. But then I found out how much more Chevrolet offered for how much less!

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gear-shift models offer the advanced 108-h.p "Thrift-King" engine.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response —right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Garden Center Opening Scheduled For Sept. 23

The Garden Center which the rden Clubs of the Fifth District ll sponsor at Sears-Roebuck and .'s Farm Store will open ednesday, September 23, at 10 n.

Mayor John E. Coon will cut ribbon that will officially open gates to the center. Mrs. Haz- Kautenberg, an expert flower ranger, will give a demonstra- n following the opening cere- onies. Her extensive participa- n in arranging, judging and lec- ring over a period of many years ovides a thoroughly adequate ckground. She has supplied the ow-how to spark the program, offering professional-type sug- tions to the centers by helping ganize new units, by giving pro- tional boosts to existing centers ough widely attended lectures and demonstrations. She has assured the continuation of the Garden Club center program.

All flower lovers of this district will do well to avail themselves of this treat. This petite personality-plus is from Richmond, Va. This is her first speaking engagement in Monroe and at this time she will explain the activities and many uses of the center.

A committee composed of Mrs. Rupert Scott of Wisner, as chairman, Mrs. Zollie Meadows of Ruston, district director, Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston, Mrs. Norman Jardine of West Monroe, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie of Monroe, and Mrs. John Lewis of West Monroe has just returned from Jackson, Miss. where they visited the Garden Center of that city. Members are enthusiastic over the reality of a Garden Center here.

The Madonna Lily

Since the Madonna lily is the old- lily in cultivation, it is not sur- sing that everyone wants to ow it. We can- t be absolutely re what wild y or cultivated e the artists of cient Crete or of ypt were draw- or painting on ir vases, but ey do seem to ve been copy- the lines of Madonna lily.

e bulbs were believed to have dicinal properties for healing unds. This fact is probably re- nsible for the fact that this lily s so widely cultivated around Mediterranean Sea and east- rds from the earliest times.

Southerners up in the cooler sec- ns of the south have been grow- Madonna lilies about as long they have grown anything. Un- the spread of mosaic disease mong these plants, everybody who d a garden in the hills and ountains of the south had Madon- s growing in their yards. Al- ough Madonna lilies are less and s easy to please as they get rther from the hills, people do ow them by giving special at- ntion to keeping them as cool possible. Some shade from high nbed trees during the day helps m endure the hot sun. Good ainage they must have like all es except our wild bog lily that ows on the savannahs and in the adows along the coasts. The ge of a raised bed is always excellent place for Madonnas. ey like a sweet soil, so your alea beds will not suit them at . If the soil around them is go- to be on the acid side or if u do not wish to have to be cking up all the time to be re about your Madonn as' hav- sweet soil, then beat up some plaster and dig about a quart it — lumps and all — into the l where each bulb is to go. Bulb cialists all seem to agree that osphorous helps to build disease sistant tissues in bulbs. This ne- sary plant food can be supplied bone meal worked into the soil handful to each bulb — or you n use superphosphate spread over bed at the rate of five unds per 100 square feet. Lilies all kinds seem to get into trou- when fresh animal manures are d in their soil. In fact, a great ny bulb specialists will not al- any cow manure, even if it is y old, to be used in the soil where they plant bulbs. They rely entirely on bone meal and a complete fertilizer like 5-10-5 to feed their lilies.

If you have been up north and seen the beautiful gardens up there filled with Madonna lilies and blue delphiniums, you must not let this dream get started in your head because the delphiniums will not stay with you down here. Some people grow the Chinese delphinium, but it is not very tall. You had better plant annual larkspur in the fall to bloom with your Madonnas. Snapdragons will also bloom with them, and you can get the tall kinds to bloom just beneath the heads of the lilies. Madonna lilies bloom just after or overlapping with the late varieties of the tall bearded irises and the oriental poppies. It is a shame that the old fashioned lemon lilies are usually just finishing up when the Madonnas open. In some gardens, they will bloom together, but you will have to get early Madonna varieites to be sure of this combination. As a rule, the common old orange daylily and the larkspurs are in bloom with Madonnas.

Not only do the roots and bulbs of Madonna lilies have to be in well drained soil so that the water will never stand over them. The foliage must have what is called good air drainage, too. Other plants should not crowd them or hang over them. Right now, the rosettes of evergreen leaves are beginning to come up, and this is the time to buy bulbs and plant them right away. In another week or so, there will be no Madonna lily bulbs available because they will all have been planted.

It is a shame that Botrytis blight destroys Madonna lilies in many gardens This disease can be fought in several ways. The foliage can be sprayed several times early in the spring with Bordeaux mixture. The plants can be grown in airy places where there are no other plants of any height nearby to prevent the circulation of the air. It is the warm wet days when the foliage stays wet or moist that are the dangerous times because the disease develops spots on the leaves in about twenty - four hours during such times. They must be sprayed several times during the spring months to keep this blight in check.

In spite of what may sound like a great many difficulties, people grow Madonna lilies even in the coastal plains and enjoy the pristine whiteness of these magnificent flowers every year.

We're leaving Tuesday afternoon for Camp Polk to attend the mass-feeding instruction course conducted by the Fourth Army. The instructions include emergency feeding, which we hope we'll never need. However, it's best to be prepared. Tony Veazy, from the American Red Cross, and yours truly will attend the course.

Food News

There's good news for families whose favorite beverage is frozen orange juice. A better tasting product will soon be on its way to you and it may be cheaper. It's the result of experiments carried on by U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists in cooperation with the citrus industry. They discovered that most of the volatile flavor of oranges is in the peel. So they tried adding cold pressed orange oil to the concentrate to give it its natural flavor. It worked. It may be found that a higher concentrate will result, too — say a 6 to 1 product.

September finds intermediate and lower grades of beef on the market at lower prices. Too, September is the month when turkeys start coming to market. Also frozen fish. Potatoes will be abundant along with honey, peanuts and peanut butter. There will be dairy products including evaporated milk, non - fat dry milk, solids, cottage and cheddar cheese. Shortenings, table fats and salad oils continue in good supply.

If you like to keep canned chicken spread, fricassee, creamed chicken and other chicken combinations on your pantry shelf for ready use, you're in luck. They should continue plentiful in the months ahead for chicken is going into cans at a higher rate than a year ago.

Another hat class for working on felts is set for September 24 at 9:00 a.m. Ket your old felts out of storage and borrow a hat mold. Next Sunday, in this column, I'll give you a list of the materials you need to bring.

October 1 is the day for the dress form demonstration. Mrs. E. R. Dawson, Mrs. Howard Tull, and Mrs. L. N. Copes will make a dress form on a live model. It will be completed on that day and I'll give you the instructions they'll follow. You can easily make a form at home after you see the demonstration.

A vacant lot out on South 10th Street is solid with a purplish-blue flower that Caroline Dorman calls iron weed. Drive down the street that leads to KLIC's main studio. This flower can be transplanted, but wait until winter after rains and frost.

Bess Slade has castor bean plants that are actually trees. I love the leaves on this plant, they're so big and make a nice contrast with other shrubs. For new home owners who need quick shade and screen planting, the castor bean is very satisfactory. Plant the seed in early spring.

In the annual report from the Agricultural Experiment station Mr. Taggert gives us gardeners some fine information. In regard to rose fertilization, from experiments carried on at the University, he says, "The plants on plots that have received manure continue to make the best growth. Very good growth has been made by plants in plots which received only commercial fertilizer. Plants in check plots that received no fertilizer at all definitely showed its need, although fair growth was made."

It was found from experimental work on dieback in camellias and susanquas that wounding in necessary for infection. Infection can enter through such wounds as split bark and leaf scars. Evidence indicated that natural infection takes place in the majority of cases through scars left by the dropping of the old leaves in early spring.

The wonder bulb Mr. Hunt spoke of last Sunday can be bought at one of the seed stores. We call it autumn locust. If planted now it will bloom before frost. It also makes a beautiful plant for the house. The seed store will tell you how to treat it for indoors. Mr. Hunt explained all this in his column, too.

I'm getting a lot of calls about transplanting shrubs. Wait until we've had some frosts and rains, and better still, until we've had a freeze. However, if we have a mild winter like last year, we may not have a freeze. Let's hope we don't have freezes until after the susanquas bloom. They're loaded with buds. We need a mild freeze or two to get rid of some flies, mosquitoes and garden insects. Not that the freeze kills many, but it does stop their breeding for a short time.

Lorena McCoy says the Ouachita Parish premium lists are ready. Call by the agricultural building at 704 Cypress and pick up a copy if you're interested.

I'll see you next Sunday in this same column.

Q—Mildew makes a yearly appearance on our lilac leaves. Is there any cure?

A—Dusting at five-to-seven-day intervals with sulfur should keep mildew under control. Next year start dusting in late July, and continue through September.

Weed Before They Overtake Garden

Weeds in the vegetable garden are most discouraging to the novice gardener who is inclined to be lazy at this time. He asks, 'Why can't I use one of the weed killers so effective on dandelion and other lawn weeds?"

Unfortunately, there are no weed killers that may be applied to a mixed planting of vegetables or flowers that will single out the weeds to kill and not cultivated crops. So we must learn that frequent cultivation or mulching is the answer.

The following findings of the National Fertilizer Association support the opinion of the U. S. Department of Agriculture fertilizer officials.

"The American public was warned today to be on guard against the fallacious claims being made by some manufacturers of liquid fertilizers designed for home garden use.

"The people should not be misled by the advertising now being blatantly and widely promoted. Commercial fertilizers, liquid or dry, are of great benefit toward improving the productivity and quality of vegetables and flowers raised by the home gardener, but many of the statements currently being made about some liquid fertilizers contain absolute misrepresentations of fact."

CLAIM: Liquid fertilizers are superior to the more common dry fertilizers in their effects on plant growth.

COMMENT: This is not necessarily true. Although the plant food contained in liquid fertilizers may become available to plants somewhat more quickly than the plant food in dry fertilizers, it has no greater relative merits under most relative merits under most circumstances.

GROWING PAINS

By ALBERT S. FULLING

Every garden should have a built-in low pressure area.

You need a handy hideaway and sylvan dell to escape this high pressure world for a bit and just relax.

A patio or a terrace, directly adjacent to the house, is fine and convenient and serves many useful purposes.

But for the ideal quickie holiday-at-home spot, have you tried the rear of the garden just as far away from the telephone, traffic, radio and television as the depth of your property allows?

If anyone calls, your wife can say honestly, "I'm sorry, he isn't in." Or if the lady of the house just doesn't want to be disturbed, she can't hear the door chimes way back there.

The ideal hideaway begins with an all-purpose garden house flanked by a shade tree or two and a surfaced area. You can make it into a combination winter and summer resort, complete with tool shed, raised cold frame and place to putter around if you desire.

If you place your cold frame inside the shed, raised so that the windows face south, it will be useful on winter days. If you pave the south and east sided areas—with cement, brick, cobble stones, flag stones or gravel—you will have dry footing and a fine sun spot in fall and early spring. The cool east side will be fine for summer lounging.

Windbreaks as needed in the form of a tall fence or evergreen hedges will further enhance and protect your winter time sun spot, and give year-round privacy. A trellis and fast growing vines will give shade and privacy in the summer.

A nap in your outdoor hideaway, with the birds singing, the bees humming and the flowers nodding their heads in approval and wafting perfume your way, will do more for high blood pressure and jangled nerves than a barrel full of pills. I'm sure your doctor will agree.

Church Ceremony Unites Young Sterlington Couple

A lovely wedding characterized by charming simplicity was that of Miss Mary Louise Moncrief and Mr. Gary Arlen Cook, which was solemnized at the first Baptist Church of Sterlington on the evening of September 3, Dr. T. J. Welch officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The chancel rail banked with glossy magnolia leaves and interspersed with groups of yellow tapers formed an elegant background for the tall wrought iron candelabra holding aloft myriads of yellow tapers and interlaced with sprays of magnolia leaves and single yellow tapers with large yellow satin bows. The candles were lighted by the ushers, Mr. Charles Pucket and Mr. Savoy Hunter.

A program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Miss Carol Eady. Miss Eady, also, accompanied Mrs. Catherine Ward who sang, "The Lord's Prayer," and Mr. Ted Cook who sang, "One Alone." Mrs. Ward also sang "The Wedding Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Hoyt Moncrief, was radient in her gown of traditional white satin overlaid with French lace and net. The closely fitted bodice featured a deep nylon yoke, tapered sleeves coming to points over her hands, and was buttoned down the back with tiny covered buttons. The bouffant gathered skirt ended in a train of net. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of braided tulle adorned with seed pearls.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Moncrief, and the maids of honor, Miss Shirley Stall and Vashti Ham, were dressed identically in ballerina length dresses of mint green fashioned of bouffant tiered skirts of tulle over satin and fitted satin bodices with folds of tulle bordering the necklines and forming a stole. They wore braided bandeaus and mitts of matching tulle and linen shoes of the same shade. Their cascade bouquets were of yellow chrysanthemums shading to bronze caught in wide folds of yellow and bronze ribbon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Marie Moncrief chose a dress of mauve lace over taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Cook, mother of the groom, wore a lace - trimmed black crepe model with black accessories and a corsage of pink asters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Stall. Lighting the way across the lawn to entrance hall were tall rustic hurricane lamps, a handiwork of the host. Lovely arrangements of magnolia leaves and yellow mums adorned the reception rooms. The bride's table overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth was adorned at one end with the beautiful three - tiered wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom and at the other by the crystal punch bowl encircled with clematis. The centerpiece was made up of yellow tapers in crystal candelabra surrounded by the attendant's bouquets.

Later in the evening the couple left for a brief wedding trip. Mrs. Cook was wearing an autumn brown faille duster over a matching printed silk with brown accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Cook will reside in Sterlington.

Rehearsal Supper

The rehearsel supper for the Moncrief - Cook wedding party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Moncrief with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moncrief co-hosts. The reception suite was charmingly decorated in a red and white color scheme. Miss Moncrief presented her attendants with sterling coffee spoons. Mr. Cook presented the best man and ushers with engraved tie clasps of gold. Attending the rehearsal party were Mrs. Marie Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Cook, Messrs. Ted and Charles Cook, Miss Carol Eady, Mrs. Catherine Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Lee B. Stall, Mrs. Hugh M. Vick, and Mrs. Barbara Lee.

Rub in a little glycerine and then follow with a soap-and-water wash to get mustard stains out of fabrics.

VISITED RELATIVES HERE—Miss Roxie Barfield of Columbia has been visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Rutledge of West Monroe for the past several days.

Parents Must Be Wise Referees

Do you feel more like a referee than a parent? If so, child study authority Sidonie M. Gruenberg has some reassuring words for you.

Writing in the magazine "2 to 5 World," this mother, grandmother, special consultant to the Child Study Association of America and editor of the forthcoming Parents' Encyclopedia, says:

"You have to be prepared for some fighting and quarreling among children in the same family, and just accepting this fact is rule number one in handling sibling rivalry.

"Parents cannot promise themselves that they will never interfere in the children's battles, or that they will always get to the bottom of the trouble and settle the argument fairly. Mothers and fathers literally have to meet each situation as it occurs and then use their best judgment in handling it."

Here are specific suggestions compiled by Mrs. Gruenberg, which may help ease explosive interludes in your family.

Take mild squabbles in your stride, paying little or no attention to them, whether physical or verbal.

If the squabble doesn't seem to be working itself out, suggest something more interesting or constructive to do.

Watch out for the teased as well as the teaser. The child being teased may have started, the whole thing.

When an older child is involved with a younger — stop, look, listen! Remember that it's easier to have sympathy with the younger child —who may really be the aggressor.

Although there is usually some cause beneath the surface of the aggression (jealousy, insecurity, frustration), don't search for the cause at the moment of friction. Try to ease the situation: separate the children, if necessary, without making either one feel like a criminal — but do the detective work later.

Remember that it's easy for a child to "get a bad name." If a fuss is made the first few times Junior hits another child, he will soon be known as a bad boy, a bully, or worse. And if other children are forbidden to play with him, he may develop into an unhappy, sneaky child, an unpleasant bully or even a juvenile delinquent.

Try to teach an older child not to hurt a younger: a boy not to hurt a girl — but at the same time teach the younger child or the girl not to take advantage of the immunity to be provoking.

Remember that boys and girls are quick to forgive and forget. Many friendships between children have been spoiled by parents' exaggerating the importance of young quarrels.

Don't expect your son and daughter—or two sisters or two brothers —to play together too much. And in the matter of living space, try to arrange to give your children some freedom from each other.

Let the older child enjoy some privileges because he is older and the younger because he is younger.

Tot To Teen

"Leather trimmed sportswear is among our best ordering items for girls of all ages," is the report of one of the important manufacturers of girls' sport togs. As the promotions are planned for back-to-school by buyers all across the country, this confidence in leather trimmed sportswear should be a welcome incoming fashion to shoe retailers. Shoes that will pick up this leather accent will be on the demand list, too, when the young set buy their new fall outfits. These leather accents are most frequent in bindings on pockets of sport shirts, as small collars on jackets, and as collars on winter coats. The skirts are in tweed or in corduroy patterned to look like tweed. In many cases, this corduroy - tweed combines a bright color with black in a herringbone pattern and the leather trimming is black capeskin or kidskin.

Stained Linens Can Be Cleaned

IOWA CITY, Ia., (NEA)—Removing the stains that besmirch the family linens can be as easy as one-two-three, if you'll heed scientific advice.

Realistic procedure for my household was outlined by Lewis Bradley, University of Iowa's laundry manager, textile consultant and author of a stain removal manual.

He cautioned me on a few points. If you badly stain wool or synthetic fabrics, let an expert take care of the removal.

Carbon tetrachloride can be used safely on colored or print fabrics, but other home stain removal agents are apt to react unfavorably on the dyes.

Most laundry aids and all stain removal agents should be kept out of the reach (and, in my home, out of the sight) of children.

Most of the equipment needed expert you already have, except the oxalic acid. The list includes:

1. Concentrated soap solution made by mixing two or three tablespoons of your regular soap or synthetic detergent in a quart bottle of water.

2. Chlorine bleach.

3. Carbon tetrachloride (which is a standard cleaning fluid sold under many brand names).

4. Small bottle (two ounces is enough) 10 per cent oxalic acid solution which druggist mixes for you.

5. Earthenware crock, such as an old mixing bowl. Eye dropper and two or three wooden popsicle sticks.

Another ingredient he recommended, under its fancy chemical of tri - sodium phosphate, most of us already have as the cleansing powder used for walls, woodwork and linoleum.

Here's the one-two-three procedure for removing stains from white household linens.

1. Four to six - hour soaking period in alkaline solution made by adding two tablespoons tri-sodium phosphtae to a gallon of water. Don't soak in washing machine. Use laundry tub or unchipped enamel pan or crock.

Before soaking oil - based stains (lipstick, candle wax, salad dressing) hold spot over crock and squirt on a little carbon tet with the eye dropper to dissolve grease.

Gently scrape off gooey blobs of food or wax with wooden stick. Sponge fresh blood stains with concentrated soap solution. After soaking, wash in regular way.

2. After washing, inspect for stains that need further attention. Hold stain over crock, use eye dropper to squirt on little oxalic acid solution. This erases many dye stains, iron or rust spots. Rinse throroughly to remove residue acid.

3. If stain persists after rinsing, sponge small amount of undiluted bleach on area. Rinse throughly in cool water to minimize fabric damage.

In special cases, such as nail polish spilled on cotton or linen, remove the lacquer with nail polish remover, then treat as directed. If you spill polish on any synthetic fabric, give up.

Before painting radiators, sc off loose rust and old paint a wire brush and wash with s suds. Allow to dry thoroughly fore painting.

This demonstration was worth many hundreds of dollars to me!

I thought only a higher-priced car would suit me. But then I found out how much more Chevrolet offered for how much less!

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

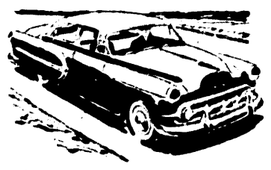

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p "Thrift-King" engine.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response —right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Churches

Back To God Hour On Microphone To Start

The Rev. Peter H. Eldersveld, radio minister for the Christian Reformed Church, will return to the Back to God Hour microphone on Sunday, September 13. His opening sermon will be entitled, "A Time for Truth," and will constitute an introduction to a new series of radio sermons on one of the historic Christian creeds, "The Confession of Faith," which has been long regarded as an outstanding statement of Reformation Christianity. This will mark his eighth season as full-time radio minister for the Christian Reformed Church, a denomination which consists of some 425 churches in the United States and Canada. During the summer months, the Rev. Harold Dekker, minister of radio evangelism for the same denomination, occupied the radio pulpit.

By means of the radio pulpit as well as personal appearances from coast to coast, the Rev. Eldersveld has become a familiar figure to thousands of people in this country. The El Paso Times recently called him "one of the most prominent spokesmen for orthodox Christianity in America today." An entire radio sermon by Rev. Eldersveld which constituted part of a series on the general theme, "Reformation or Revolution" was inserted in the Record of the 82nd Congress of the United States in June 1951. On January 1, 1952, the Mutual Broadcasting System selected him to speak on a "special-service" program marking the beginning of the New Year, thus rendering him a distinct honor.

A graduate of Calvin College and Seminary in Grand Rapids, Mich., and the University of Michigan, he served two Christian Reformed Churches before being appointed full-time radio minister in 1946.

Swartz Baptists In New Quarters 1 Year

The Swartz Baptist Church will observe its first anniversary in its new auditorium, Sunday, September 13. All present and former members of this church are invited to attend the services.

The pastor, Brother H. M. Roach, will bring the messages at the regular services and the church will have a picnic lunch served on the church grounds and later in the afternoon a song and praise service will be held.

Officers for the year are to be elected. All men of the church are urged to attend for a night of fun.

Talented Leader Initiates Series In Faith Church

REV. JOHN HURT

tist Church in Jonesboro, will conduct a series of revival services in the Faith Baptist Church, Jackson and Orange streets, Monroe, starting today and closing on September 20.

He is a native of Baton Rouge; graduate of Hardin - Simmons University in Abilene, Tex.; Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.; and of Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn.

He has held a number of evangelistic services in Europe and soon will go to Alaska having been selected as one of sixteen Southern Baptist pastors to participate in the simultaneous revival crusade of Alaska next month. He will preach on Douglas Island, Alaska, where the Home Mission Board has secured a building and is inaugurating a new work.

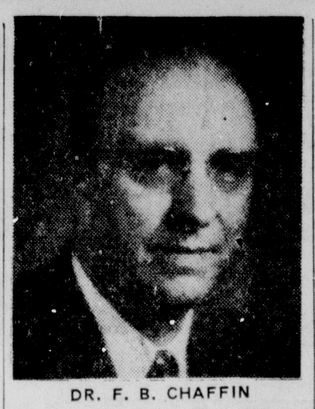

Rev. Hurt is currently at work on a book featuring Louisiana missions and hopes to have it issued in a few months time. He is also a member of the operating committee of the Baptist Message and writes frequently for that publication.

18 Church Rally To Hear Talk By Dr. F. B. Chaffin

The 18 Baptist churches of the Trenton Baptist Association will hold a mass stewardship rally in the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church of West Monroe Monday night at 7:30. All 18 churches are expected to have messengers present with a capacity crowd.

Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin, state executive secretary of the Louisiana Baptist Convention, will be the main speaker for the service. Rev. A. L. New, district missionary, will preside at the meeting.

The 18 churches of the Trenton Baptist Association and their pastors having part in the rally, Bethel, Calhoun, Center Point, Cheniere, Clark Springs, Cypress, Edgewood, Fair Park, Good Hope, Brownville

DR. F. B. CHAFFIN

A stewardship study course will be taught in these churches each night next week following the Monday night mass meeting.

Peniel Baptists Plan Revival Of Stewardship

The Peniel Baptist Church, Jonesboro road, West Monroe, is engaging in a stewardship revival, beginning today and continuing through next Sunday, September 20. The campaign will be under the direction of the pastor, Rev. R. J. West, and a large corps of leaders within the membership.

The campaign begins this morning with the pastor speaking on the subject, "A Searching Question." Group study, for all ages, will be held by the sermon, "Christ and the Family Budget," by the pastor.

Activities will shift to the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, Monday evening, September 14, for a great associational stewardship rally, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. This rally will be presided over by Rev. A. L. New, missionary of district III, of the Louisiana Baptist Convention. The featured speakers for the rally will be Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin, executive secretary - treasurer of the Louisiana Baptist Convention, and Dr. Stanley Jordan, pastor of the Queensborough Baptist Church, Shreveport. A first-run stewardship film, "The Way Forward" will be shown also.

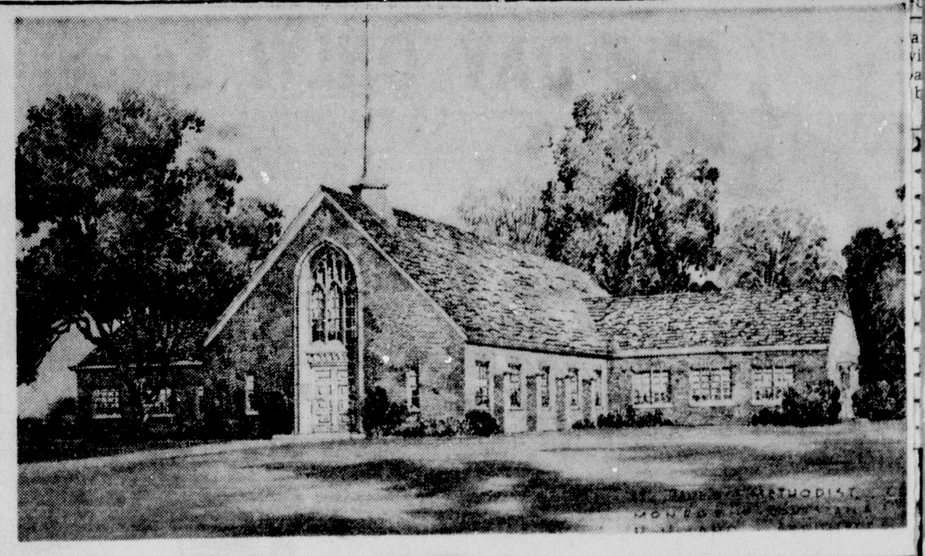

The activities will be resumed at the Peniel Church, Tuesday evening, September 15, and will continue each evening through Friday, September 18. The evening schedule is as follows: group study, 7:30-8:00; assembly and demonstration, 8:00 - 8:30; group study, 8:30-9:00. The topics for study and the leaders are: adults, "Found Faithful," R. J. West; young people, "Good Stewards," Mrs. Ezra Walters; intermediates, "Partners with God," Marie Clark; juniors, "The Talking Penny," Mrs. F. J. Scharf; primaries, "Bonnie Baptist and The Sunbeams," Mrs. J. D. Wassan; beginner supervisor, Mrs. R. J. West and Mrs. J. D. Price; nursery supervisor, Margaret Price.

The assembly demonstrations will be as follows: Tuesday—"The Things That Are God's," by the woman's Missionary Society. Wednesday — Stewardship program, Woman's Missionary Union. Thursday — "Honoring The Lord With Our Substance," by the Intermediate Girl's Auxiliary. Friday—"Are You Missing Something?" by the Brotherhood.

Sunday, September 20, will climax the campaign, and is designated as Church Loyalty Day. At the morning service the pastor will speak on the subject, "My Lord, My Church, and My Pledge." In this service the membership of the church will be challenged, and given an opportunity to subscribe to the budget, adopted by the church, covering the period from October 1, 1953 to September 30, 1954. This budget includes all phases of church and denominational work and is a 65 per cent increase over the present budget.

The ten - day period following Church Loyalty Day is designated as "follow-up." During this period each member of the church, not subscribing to the budget on Loyalty Day, will be contacted and given an opportunity to do so.

The pastor and membership extend a cordial invitation to all people to attend these and other services of the church.

To Break Ground Today For St Paul's Church

Ground will be broken at 11:15 a.m. today at the Orell place site for the fine new edifice of St. Paul's Methodist Church, announces the pastor, Rev. B. R. Oliphint.

The church is now holding services in the Lexington school near the site and will worship there until the construction now in progress is completed.

This is the newest and highly promising of churches of the Methodist denomination here, and its membership is rapidly growing.

The public as well as those from St. Paul's church, will be welcomed guests at the ceremony this morning.

Dodson Church Plans Homecoming

DODSON, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—At a recent meeting of the members of the Dodson Methodist Church it was decided to have a homecoming at the church on Sunday, October 11, and all former residents of Dodson are invited to attend, there are a great many in the various cities near as well as far away and we desire that all who read this will take it as an invitation, however, we shall try to contact everyone, also all former pastors of the church.

An interesting program will be prepared and a former pastor will deliver the message.

Dinner will be spread under the trees and singing will be held in the afternoon.

It is hoped and expected that a large crowd will be in attendance. Come one, come all. Let's fellowship togeather.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH
601 Plum St.

W. Leon Ivey, pastor.
You are cordially invited to worship with the members of the Temple Church this Lord's day. You will find a warm friendly welcome at every service. If you do not have a church home in Monroe we invite you to come make Temple your church home. A good spirit has been manifested in all services during the entire summer. Now that school is starting we are making great plans for a fall of hard work in our church.
Our revival is planned for November 14. Rev. H. G. Buchanan, pastor of the Calvary Church in Shreveport, will be our evangelist. J. W. Carraway, the singing engineer, will have charge of the music. We are anticipating a great revival under the leadership of these two well known men. A tent seating 600 has been secured and will be erected on the church lot to accommodate the people.
Plans are being made at this time to enlarge the preaching auditorium and provide additional room for our Sunday school and Training Union. Our attendance during August taxed our facilities.
Sunday school meets at 9:45 with classes for all ages. Morning worship begins at 11:00. The Training Union for all age groups meets at 7:00 with the evening worship at 8:00.
Teachers' meeting at 7:15 on Wednesday with the prayer service at 8:00. Choir practice begins at close of prayer service. The W. M. U. Young People's organization meets Wednesday at 7:15 p. m.
The nursery is open for all services.

4001 DeSiard Street
Sunday school, 9:30, Frank V. Spivey, superintendent
Morning worship service, 11:00. Sermon: "First of all, Be A Christian."
The world needs an effective Christian church and the church needs members who are Christian in faith and action. The call is for God-fearing, vow-respecting, duty-fulfilling Christians. You can't serve both God and the devil at the same time and amount to anything at all as a Christian while you are trying to do it. First of all, the church member ought to be a Christian.
We are a friendly church with a Christian message and you are invited to worship with us and become a part of our friendly fellowship.
Pioneers will meet with Master Howard Rivers, 1402 South Fourth Street at six this evening.
Senior High Fellowship group will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pribble, 1800 Filhoil Avenue, this evening at six o'clock.

Methodist Men Plan On Shrimp Supper Monday

Memorial Methodist Men will meet at 401 Sherrouse avenue for the first fall meeting Monday, Sept. 14, at 7:30 p.m. There will be fun and fellowship handed out in a big way, so leave all troubles at home or in the office and come with that happy smile out for a good time, state those in charge.

They inform that the menu is a favorite one. Shrimp at its best will be the piece de resistence and advance information is that there will be 100 pounds of it in readiness. For the non-shrimp eaters there will be plenty of ham for the more conservatives.

Just come in sports shirts and work clothes if it will relieve the tension of dressing up for the occasion.

Bill Miller, Buddy Mann, W. W. Stevens, E. O. Hinton, Bob Wing, Jack Rutledge and the preacher are in charge of details. Norman Rushing will have his say; Hinton will lead singing; Wing will promote a barbershop activity; Mann is to preside.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

'Stand, Therefore'

"Stand, therefore." This is Saint Paul's exhortation to the Christians at Ephesus (Ephesians 6 after he had urged them to "put on the whole armor of God," so that they might "withstand in the evil day, and having done all, stand."

That Paul should have seen the Christian life as warfare is not to be wondered at. His whole course was beset with enemies and persecutions.

No man, apparently, was more indomitable in spirit, yet Paul reveals that with all his stoutness of heart he had conflicts within. He speaks of "a messenger of Satan to buffet him" II Corinthians 12:7.

He speaks of his weakness, though in this weakness he found strength through depending on God. "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me."

To the Christians, to whom Paul wrote, life was also a warfare. They may have been free from the most serious persecutions that beset Paul, but they were subject to persecution.

There were hazards in being a Christian. The days, as Paul says, were evil (Ephesians 5:16). The pagan environment was hostile and full of temptations of the flesh and of the spirit.

Paul is insistent upon the Christian warfare, and, like a great military leader, he is deeply concerned about preparation, equipment, indoctrination and rousing words of inspiration and encouragement.

And in all this his own example is never lacking. That is a quality of great leaders. George Washington, fighting in the very forefront with his poorly equipped troops, exemplifies this quality.

What men like Washington have been in material warfare Paul was in the warfare of the spirit, fearless, undaunted, no matter what the odds.

Is the Christian life still a warfare today? It is a significant and important question.

Hostile forces and temptations are no less real, though they may seem less evident and more subtle.

I think it may be said that we do not think of the Christian life as a warfare as precisely, and as much, as it is set forth in New Testament days.

But I wonder whether this may not be because we lack something of the vision that inspired Paul and the early disciples; that we do not see, as they did, the need of warfare, with the call of duty and the call to greatness.

An eminent English preacher, the late Sylvester Horne, once wrote a little book on "The Life That Is Easy." He described the Christian life.

But Horne himself was a fighter and he wrote of that life as easy only through mastery, completeness of commitment and the sort of strength that Paul found made perfect in weakness.

How Prayer Can Heal The Ailing Body To Be Told

A new series of weekly 15-minute radio programs illustrating the power of prayer in everyday life will be released September 19 by the Christian Science church, it is announced.

Each program presents a first hand, documentary narrative in which a guest tells of his own religious experience — how his problem was solved or how he experienced physical healing through prayer in Christian Science.

The thoroughly verified accounts are being tape recorded from persons of many different walks of life from all over the United States, Canada, Europe, Africa, Australia and other parts of the world.

Following the narrative a short inspirational message will be presented on how the listener can solve his own problems through prayer.

The programs — carrying the series title "How Christian Science Heals" — are produced by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., according to announcement by Thomas E. Hurley, manager of Christian Science committees on publication.

They will be heard on about 600 radio stations throughout the United States, Canada and Australia and at points in Latin America, Africa, Europe, and New Zealand.

The opening program presents a shipyard worker who tells how prayer brought his release from a fuel tank in which he was trapped.

Other programs will tell how discordant relations with neighbors were worked out and business problems solved through spiritual means.

Brownville Baptist	Assembly Of God	Ridge Ave. Baptist
First Methodist	The Church Of God	McGuire Methodist
First Baptist	Edgewood Baptist	Trinity Baptist
	Bethel Baptist	Memorial Presbyterian

• Attend Church Sunday •

ATTEND YOUR CHURCH SUNDAY, Today, September 13th. You will receive a card, fill out and place in a conspicuous place near your front door. The census worker will pick it up without disturbing you.

A UNITED EFFORT IS THE MOST SIMPLIFIED PLAN OF TAKING CHURCH CENSUS. IT IS THOROUGH AND LESS DISTURBING ON THE PUBLIC, BECAUSE CHURCHES TAKING CENSUS INDIVIDUALLY WOULD HAVE TO COVER TOO LARGE AN AREA, WHICH IS MORE EXPENSIVE, LESS THOROUGH AND ANNOYING TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

It is hoped that everyone will cooperate with the census workers, by either having their card filled out, or answering the door promptly.

All workers will report to their pastors or census chairman promptly at 2 p. m. Sunday at their local churches for last minute instructions.

Back To God Hour On Microphone To Start

The Rev. Peter H. Eldersveld, radio minister for the Christian Reformed Church, will return to the Back to God Hour microphone on Sunday, September 13. His opening sermon will be entitled, "A Time for Truth," and will constitute an introduction to a new series of radio sermons on one of the historic Christian creeds, "The Confession of Faith," which has been long regarded as an outstanding statement of Reformation Christianity. This will mark his eighth season as full-time radio minister for the Christian Reformed Church, a denomination which consists of some 425 churches in the United States and Canada. During the summer months, the Rev. Harold Dekker, minister of radio evangelism for the same denomination, occupied the radio pulpit.

By means of the radio pulpit as well as personal appearances from coast to coast, the Rev. Eldersveld has become a familiar figure to thousands of people in this country. The El Paso Times recently called him "one of the most prominent spokesmen for orthodox Christianity in America today." An entire radio sermon by Rev. Eldersveld which constituted part of a series on the general theme, "Reformation or Revolution" was inserted in the Record of the 82nd Congress of the United States in June 1951. On January 1, 1952, the Mutual Broadcasting System selected him to speak on a "special-service" program marking the beginning of the New Year, thus rendering him a distinct honor.

A graduate of Calvin College and Seminary in Grand Rapids, Mich., and the University of Michigan, he served two Christian Reformed Churches before being appointed full-time radio minister in 1946.

Swartz Baptists In New Quarters 1 Year

The Swartz Baptist Church will observe its first anniversary in its new auditorium, Sunday, September 13. All present and former members of this church are invited to attend the services.

The pastor, Brother H. M. Roach, will bring the messages at the regular services and the church will have a picnic lunch served on the church grounds and later in the afternoon a song and praise service will be held.

Officers for the year are to be elected. All men of the church are urged to attend for a night of fun.

Talented Leader Initiates Series In Faith Church

Rev. John Hurt, an exceptionally talented and consecrated minister, currently pastor of the First Baptist Church in Jonesboro, will conduct a series of revival services in the Faith Baptist Church, Jackson and Orange streets, Monroe, starting today and closing on September 20.

REV. JOHN HURT

He is a native of Baton Rouge; graduate of Hardin - Simmons University in Abilene, Tex.; Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.; and of Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn.

He has held a number of evangelistic services in Europe and soon will go to Alaska having been selected as one of sixteen Southern Baptist pastors to participate in the simultaneous revival crusade of Alaska next month. He will preach on Douglas Island, Alaska, where the Home Mission Board has secured a building and is inaugurating a new work.

Rev. Hurt is currently at work on a book featuring Louisiana missions and hopes to have it issued in a few months time. He is also a member of the operating committee of the Baptist Message and writes frequently for that publication.

18 Church Rally To Hear Talk By Dr. F. B. Chaffin

The 18 Baptist churches of the Trenton Baptist Association will hold a mass stewardship rally in the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church of West Monroe Monday night at 7:30. All 18 churches are expected to have messengers present with a capacity crowd.

Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin, state executive secretary of the Louisiana Baptist Convention, will be the main speaker for the service. Rev. A. L. New, district missionary, will preside at the meeting.

The 18 churches of the Trenton Baptist Association and their pastors having part in the rally, Bethel, Calhoun, Center Point, Cheniere, Clark Springs, Cypress, Edgewood, Fair Park, Good Hope, Brownville

DR. F. B. CHAFFIN

A stewardship study course will be taught in these churches each night next week following the Monday night mass meeting.

Peniel Baptists Plan Revival Of Stewardship

The Peniel Baptist Church, Jonesboro road, West Monroe, is engaging in a stewardship revival, beginning today and continuing through next Sunday, September 20. The campaign will be under the direction of the pastor, Rev. R. J. West, and a large corps of leaders within the membership.

The campaign begins this morning with the pastor speaking on the subject, "A Searching Question." Group study, for all ages, will be held by the sermon, "Christ and the Family Budget," by the pastor.

Activities will shift to the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, Monday evening, September 14, for a great associational stewardship rally, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. This rally will be presided over by Rev. A. L. New, missionary of district III, of the Louisiana Baptist Convention. The featured speakers for the rally will be Dr. Floyd B. Chaffin, executive secretary - treasurer of the Louisiana Baptist Convention, and Dr. Stanley Jordan, pastor of the Queensborough Baptist Church, Shreveport. A first-run stewardship film, "The Way Forward" will be shown also.

The activities will be resumed at the Peniel Church, Tuesday evening, September 15, and will continue each evening through Friday, September 18. The evening schedule is as follows: group study, 7:30-8:00; assembly and demonstration, 8:00 - 8:30; group study, 8:30-9:00. The topics for study and the leaders are: adults, "Found Faithful," R. J. West; young people, "Good Stewards," Mrs. Ezra Walters; intermediates, "Partners with God," Marie Clark; juniors, "The Talking Penny," Mrs. F. J. Scharf; primaries, "Bonnie Baptist and The Sunbeams," Mrs. J. D. Wassan; beginner supervisor, Mrs. R. J. West and Mrs. J. D. Price; nursery supervisor, Margaret Price.

The assembly demonstrations will be as follows: Tuesday—"The Things That Are God's," by the woman's Missionary Society. Wednesday — Stewardship program, Woman's Missionary Union. Thursday — "Honoring The Lord With Our Substance," by the Intermediate Girl's Auxiliary. Friday—"Are You Missing Something?" by the Brotherhood.

Sunday, September 20, will climax the campaign, and is designated as Church Loyalty Day. At the morning service the pastor will speak on the subject, "My Lord, My Church, and My Pledge." In this service the membership of the church will be challenged, and given an opportunity to subscribe to the budget, adopted by the church, covering the period from October 1, 1953 to September 30, 1954. This budget includes all phases of church and denominational work and is a 65 per cent increase over the present budget.

The ten - day period following Church Loyalty Day is designated as "follow-up." During this period each member of the church, not subscribing to the budget on Loyalty Day, will be contacted and given an opportunity to do so.

The pastor and membership extend a cordial invitation to all people to attend these and other services of the church.

To Break Ground Today For St Paul's Church

Ground will be broken at 11:15 a.m. today at the Orell place site for the fine new edifice of St. Paul's Methodist Church, announces the pastor, Rev. B. R. Oliphint.

The church is now holding services in the Lexington school near the site and will worship there until the construction now in progress is completed.

This is the newest and highly promising of churches of the Methodist denomination here, and its membership is rapidly growing.

The public as well as those from St. Paul's church, will be welcomed guests at the ceremony this morning.

Tent Revival Is Holding Services Jackson, Egan Sts.

September 16 marks the beginning of a series of revival services to be held by the Monroe Free Methodist Church in a tent located at the corner of Jackson and Egan Streets, Monroe. Services will be held nightly at 7:30, September 16-27. Rev. C. E. Anderson will be the evangelist. The music will be under the direction of Rev. Robert T. Fisher, pastor of the local church.

Rev. C. E. Anderson of Burlington, Vermont, is a very outstanding evangelist, being one of the four general conference evangelists. Rev. Anderson has a deep religious experience. Before going into the evangelistic field, he served as pastor for eight years, a superintendent for 16 years, pioneering in the New England field.

The Monroe Free Methodist Church, "The Church of the Light and Life Hour," invites all to attend these gospel services.

An 18th century belief was that migratory birds passed the winter on the moon, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Faith Mission To Open Services Today

The Faith mission will open for services in the Veterans of Foreign Wars rooms, Sixth and Oak Sts., starting today. Rev. Paul Wilkins in charge states that Sunday school will be held at 10 a. m., and at 11 a. m. there will be a morning worship service held.

An evening service is planned at 7:30 p. m. Young people will have a service at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Dodson Church Plans Homecoming

DODSON, La., Sept. 12 (Special)—At a recent meeting of the members of the Dodson Methodist Church it was decided to have a homecoming at the church on Sunday, October 11, and all former residents of Dodson are invited to attend, there are a great many in the various cities near as well as far away and we desire that all who read this will take it as an invitation, however, we shall try to contact everyone, also all former pastors of the church.

An interesting program will be prepared and a former pastor will deliver the message.

Dinner will be spread under the trees and singing will be held in the afternoon.

It is hoped and expected that a large crowd will be in attendance. Come one, come all. Let's fellowship togeather.

W. Leon Ivey, pastor.
You are cordially invited to worship with the members of the Temple Church this Lord's day. You will find a warm friendly welcome at every service. If you do not have a church home in Monroe we invite you to come make Temple your church home. A good spirit has been manifested in all services during the entire summer. Now that school is starting we are making great plans for a fall of hard work in our church.
Our revival is planned for November 14. Rev. H. G. Buchanan, pastor of the Calvary Church in Shreveport, will be the evangelist. J. W. Carraway, the singing engineer will have charge of the music. We are anticipating a great revival under the leadership of these two well known men. A tent seating 600 has been secured and will be erected on the church lot to accommodate the people.
Plans are being made at this time to enlarge the preaching auditorium and provide additional room for our Sunday school and Training Union. Our attendance during August taxed our facilities.
Sunday school meets at 9:45 with classes for all ages. Morning worship begins at 11:00. The Training Union for all age groups meets at 7:00 with the evening worship at 8:00.
Teachers' meeting at 7:15 on Wednesday with the prayer service at 8:00. Choir practice begins at close of prayer service. The W. M. U. Young People's organization meets Wednesday at 7:15 p.m.
The right is open for all services from the Bernstein Park bus to Temple Baptist Church.

Methodist Men Plan On Shrimp Supper Monday

Memorial Methodist Men will meet at 401 Sherrouse avenue for the first fall meeting Monday, Sept. 14, at 7:30 p.m. There will be fun and fellowship handed out in a big way, so leave all troubles at home or in the office and come with that happy smile out for a good time, state those in charge.

They inform that the menu is a favorite one. Shrimp at its best will be the piece de resistence and advance information is that there will be 100 pounds of it in readiness. For the non-shrimp eaters there will be plenty of ham for the more conservatives.

Just come in sports shirts and work clothes if it will relieve the tension of dressing up for the occasion.

Bill Miller, Buddy Mann, W. W. Stevens, E. O. Hinton, Bob Wing, Jack Rutledge and the preacher are in charge of details. Norman Rushing will have his say; Hinton will lead singing; Wing will promote a barbershop activity; Mann is to preside.

Church Of Christ Opening Meet In Southend Tent

The Church of Christ denomination will bring to Monroe a tent revival series at South Second and Pecan streets, opening September 16 and lasting through September 27.

The speakers will be Tommie Shaw, Commodore, Pa., and Billy Orten, Lawrenceburg, Tenn.

There will be services held in the tent at 7:45 p.m. each night, to which the public is cordially invited.

In addition to the speakers there will be music led by Jimmy Shaw and Wayne Fussell.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

'Stand, Therefore'

"Stand, therefore." This is Saint Paul's exhortation to the Christians at Ephesus (Ephesians 6 after he had urged them to "put on the whole armor of God," so that they might "withstand in the evil day, and having done all, stand."

That Paul should have seen the Christian life as warfare is not to be wondered at. His whole course was beset with enemies and persecutions.

No man, apparently, was more indomitable in spirit, yet Paul reveals that with all his stoutness of heart he had conflicts within. He speaks of "a messenger of Satan to buffet him" II Corinthians 12:7.

He speaks of his weakness, though in this weakness he found strength through depending on God. "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me."

To the Christians, to whom Paul wrote, life was also a warfare. They may have been free from the most serious persecutions that beset Paul, but they were subject to persecution.

There were hazards in being a Christian. The days, as Paul says, were evil (Ephesians 5:16). The pagan environment was hostile and full of temptations of the flesh and of the spirit.

Paul is insistent upon the Christian warfare, and, like a great military leader, he is deeply concerned about preparation, equipment, indoctrination and rousing words of inspiration and encouragement.

And in all this his own example is never lacking. That is a quality of great leaders. George Washington, fighting in the very forefront with his poorly equipped troops, exemplifies this quality.

What men like Washington have been in material warfare Paul was in the warfare of the spirit, fearless, undaunted, no matter what the odds.

Is the Christian life still a warfare today? It is a significant and important question.

Hostile forces and temptations are no less real, though they may seem less evident and more subtle.

I think it may be said that we do not think of the Christian life as a warfare as precisely, and as much, as it is set forth in New Testament days.

But I wonder whether this may not be because we lack something of the vision that inspired Paul and the early disciples; that we do not see, as they did, the need of warfare, with the call of duty and the call to greatness.

An eminent English preacher, the late Sylvester Horne, once wrote a little book on "The Life That Is Easy." He described the Christian life.

But Horne himself was a fighter, and he wrote of that life as easy only through mastery, completeness of commitment and the sort of strength that Paul found made perfect in weakness.

How Prayer Can Heal The Ailing Body To Be Told

A new series of weekly 15-minute radio programs illustrating the power of prayer in everyday life will be released September 19 by the Christian Science church, it is announced.

Each program presents a first hand, documentary narrative in which a guest tells of his own religious experience — how his problem was solved or how he experienced physical healing through prayer in Christian Science.

The thoroughly verified accounts are being tape recorded from persons of many different walks of life from all over the United States, Canada, Europe, Africa, Australia and other parts of the world.

Following the narrative a short inspirational message will be presented on how the listener can solve his own problems through prayer.

The programs — carrying the series title "How Christian Science Heals" — are produced by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., according to announcement by Thomas F. Hurley, manager of Christian Science committees on publication.

They will be heard on about 600 radio stations throughout the United States, Canada and Australia and at points in Latin America, Africa, Europe, and New Zealand.

The opening program presents a shipyard worker who tells how prayer brought his release from a fuel tank in which he was trapped.

Other programs will tell how discordant relations with neighbors were worked out and business problems solved through spiritual means.

Hollywood Spotlight

Movie Producers Make TV Jump

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — HOLLYWOOD ON TV: Latest eye-opener in the Hollywood vs. television battle is that 40 per cent of all movie directors have deserted the theater film industry for video.

Variety, famous theatrical trade paper, came up with the startling figures, reporting a 20 per cent jump of movie directors switching to home screens in one year. Some have gone to New York for live shows, but a majority are in the telefilm industry.

Some of them: Telefilms now account for 68 per cent of Eastman's Hollywood business. Two years ago only 14 advertisers filmed their programs, but before 1953 is out the total will be more than 40. A soft-drink company has signed for 52 weeks sponsorship of the "Annie Oakley" telefilm series with 50 stations lined up. Each film will cost $27,500 to produce.

Variety reports that Bing Crosby's radio salary has been cut from $16,000 to $15,500 a week as a "fine" for not appearing on television. The Groaner agreed to accept the penalty for every week he doesn't do video.

At those prices Bing, I figure, can go on ignoring television until about 1998.

Richard Denning feels like doing salaams in front of the parlor picture boxes every time he's called for another movie job and says: "When I think I was warned I wouldn't get any picture work once I went into a TV series. I've had only one week off because of film roles since I finished my last 'Mr. and Mrs. North.' I even had to put an operation off for three months."

Joe E. Lewis explaining why he's not on TV:

"I was on television once. They took a special Hooper to see how well I was doing. And they found out that 75 per cent of the studio audience wasn't looking at me."

The thrill of her first corsage

Wonderful things happen when you take a jean-age girl and dress her in an evening gown topped with flowers. As if by magic she sees a new girl smiling at her from the mirror. This miracle miss is ready for her school dance—for a gay and exciting evening. She'll greet her date with a radiance that says "My flowers are simply beautiful." For today, as always when you want to add the perfect touch for that special date—

SECOND CHANCE — Robert Mitchum and Linda Darnell are co-starred in a 3-D technicolor romance, "Second Chance", which opens today at the Jim Theatre. The two portray American fugitives in South America. Jack Palance also stars in the production.

The RECORD SHOP

His Dream Came True

NEW YORK (NEA) — At 22, Jerry Vale used to dream about some day being a recording star for Columbia Records and singing with Percy Faith's orchestra. At 23, he's made it.

And Mitch Miller, Columbia's director of artists and repertoire and probably the single most influential person in the record business, thinks Jerry is our next big singer.

No beating around the bush for Miller on Jerry's voice. He comes right out and says: "Jerry Vale's voice is the greatest instrument in the record business today."

And it is a fine voice. Listen to his latest, a beautiful ballad called "A Tear, a Kiss and a Smile," written by his manager, Paul Insetta.

Miller says Vale is sure to "happen" — record-talk for becoming a star — but it may not be yet. "The public has to get to know a new voice," he says. "It took Clooney two years. Jerry will happen, too, and he'll last a long time."

Which is O. K. with Jerry, a likeable youngster who is living his dream and enjoying every moment of it. He was singing in a small suburban New York night club when Insetta heard him.

Together, they worked hard on Vale's voice and style, sitting in Insetta's kitchen and making tape recordings until three in the morning. He'd sing one song hundreds of times. It paid off.

He still sings every new song he records many times, until he and Insetta are positive it's perfect.

"It's just a dream come true," says Jerry Vale.

The Popular Side: Guy Mitchell says he dreams, the night before an opening, something horrible. "I usually dream I come on stage and I've forgotten my shoes, or else that I'm there and the band doesn't show up." . . . Opera and TV star Marguerite Piazza, just signed by Capitol, may be teamed with Gordon MacRae on pop records. . . . A poll conducted by the Armed Forces Network in Europe showed the GIs' favorite vocalists were Nat "King" Cole and Rosemary Clooney.

On the Classics: Just back from Europe, Lily Pons stopped off in New York before going home to California for a three-week recording session at Columbia. . . . A survey shows that more classical music is being recorded in the U. S., reversing a trend which had seen European sessions favored. . . Capitol, which purchased Cetra Records, has begun issuing operatic highlights from Cetra's catalog.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. They compete about equally, but in different ways. Men compete mostly in business, sports, etc., while women compete more for social prestige. Men rarely come into social competition with each other, but the social field is the main one where women fight out their natural passion to outdo each other. Psychologists believe that both sexes have the same inborn desire for power and importance.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. First, you are a very funny guy yourself. You don't think so, but a lot of other people do. Second, remember "Every person you meet is fighting a battle of his own." Maybe the thing you make fun of is giving him excruciating inferiorities — fatness, leanness, crooked nose, timidity, blushing, etc.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. A survey by American Management Association covered 80,000 clerical and office workers in 76 companies. It showed only 24 per cent of failures were from lack of skill, but 76 per cent were from personality failures. These included lack of initiative, 10.9 per cent; lack of ambition, 9.7; carelessness, 7.9; non-cooperation, 6.7; laziness, 6.4, and so on. One can correct all these failings.

WHY just look and sigh—and pass up so much real automobile?

Could be you're one of those folks who still don't believe that the price of a Buick really is just a few dollars more than that of the so-called "low-priced" cars.

So here we show our car and price to prove it.

But beyond that—what you get in this great Buick, for so small a step-up in what you pay, is plenty.

More power. Fireball 8 power. The highest horsepower and compression ratio ever placed in a Buick SPECIAL.

More comfort. The solid comfort of Buick's Million Dollar Ride—with coil-spring cushioning on all four wheels, wide-tread stability, torque-tube steadiness.

More pleasure. The pleasure of high visibility, of luxurious fabrics and fittings, of superbly easy handling—and the deep satisfaction of bossing a big and able and stunningly styled automobile that does you proud wherever you go.

Why not drop in on us and see things for yourself?

That way you'll also learn about the long list of "extras" you get at no extra cost in this spirited new 1953 Buick SPECIAL—things that most other cars of similar price charge for as extras. Can you make it this week?

*Local delivered price of the 1953 BUICK SPECIAL 2-Door 6-Passenger Sedan Model 48D (illustrated)

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

• Attend Church Sunday •

ATTEND YOUR CHURCH SUNDAY, Today, September 13th. You will receive a card, fill out and place in a conspicuous place near your front door. The census worker will pick it up without disturbing you.

A UNITED EFFORT IS THE MOST SIMPLIFIED PLAN OF TAKING CHURCH CENSUS. IT IS THOROUGH AND LESS DISTURBING ON THE PUBLIC, BECAUSE CHURCHES TAKING CENSUS INDIVIDUALLY WOULD HAVE TO COVER TOO LARGE AN AREA, WHICH IS MORE EXPENSIVE, LESS THOROUGH AND ANNOYING TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

It is hoped that everyone will cooperate with the census workers, by either having their card filled out, or answering the door promptly.

All workers will report to their pastors or census chairman promptly at 2 p. m. Sunday at their local churches for last minute instructions.

Shane' Is Picture Depicting Real Drama With Colorado Set

An achievement in the cinematic t, the likes of which has seldom en seen, is George Stevens' aramount production, "Shane," a unning and spectacular Western, hich previewed last night and ens its regular run Wednesday the Paramount Theatre. Proced and directed by Mr. Stevs, one of the ablest craftsman Hollywood, "Shane" is a superb cture of wide range and feeling at will be enjoyed and savored audiences for some time to me.

Filmed in color by Technicolor, gainst a background of breathtakg beauty, "Shane" relates a story at is both violent and poignant. he cast of characters, brilliantly rtrayed by such outstanding stars Alan Ladd, Van Heflin, Jean rthur, Jack Palance and youthful ewcomer Brandon De Wilde, are tted together in a maelstrom of uman drama. The setting is Wyming during the period when omesteader and cattlemen waged fierce and bloody battle for suremacy of the range.

George Stevens has taken these gredients and what he has made t of them is a thing of gigantic auty. The essentials are basicalsimple, with the suspense and tion etched sharply against the comparatively unadorned details of frontier living. But when Stevens goes into action, it is bold and swirling with no pauses; blood flows, eyes swell, and bodies crash in the fight scenes, the finest ever filmed. The use of guns is delayed, thereby intensifying the suspense, for it is clear from the beginning that gunplay is inevitable in the solving of the film's conflict.

This story of cattlemen, who wanted a free range for their stock, and the homesteaders who built homes and fences for their small farms, is a simple and familiar tale, but as told in "Shane," it emerges as an epic saga of the Western plains, with the people in it goliath in stature, coming alive with motive and emotion. The conflict is between Van Heflin, the stubborn and determined homesteader, and Emile Meyer, as the unscrupulous rancher, who first tries to bully and scare the farmers, and in desperation finally hires the sinister Jack Palance, callous killer, to run them out of the country he feels to be his private domain. Ladd is the white knight of a dubious, but obviously gunfighting past, who befriends Heflin, his wife, Jean Arthur and their son Brandon De Wilde.

The over-all acting stints of the principals is superb. Alan Ladd as the buck-skinned stranger has never been seen to better advantage. Jeflin is full of homespun charm and strength as the leader of the embattled farmers. His worried wife is given a wistful touch by Jean Arthur, and Brandon De Wilde is perfect as the youth caught in the tensions and excitements of frontier life. Jack Palance as the blackgarbed, coffeedrinking gunman is the very embodiment of sardonic ferocity.

Brilliant performances, overwhelmingly beautiful scenery, a tightly knit story, scripted by Pulitzer prize wonner A. B. Guthrie from a novel by Jack Schaefer, that moves to its climax with unrelenting fury, all combine to make "Shane" a film of rare excellence. Everyone who has had a hand in the creation of this outstanding drama deserves a rousing cheer. "Shane" is a "must see" motion picture. Don't miss it, starting Wednesday.

A loaf pan that's about ten by five by three inches is fine for yeast breads, breads made with baking powder and loaf cakes.

Leaves and flowers you've gathered in the summer may be pressed to a hard surface like a board. Two or more thin coats of fresh, white shellac may be applied to it.

New 3-D Thriller Was Filmed In Exotic Mexico Site

Three-Dimension Movies really come of age with "Second Chance," Howard Hughes' RKO Radio entry into the 3-D ranks, which began what is certain to be highly successful engagement at the Jim Theater today.

In the first place, the picture offers such important stars as Robert Mitchum, Linda Darnell and Jack Palance in 3-D for the first time. Secondly, here is a romantic thriller that would be a top feature in any medium, yet gains special interest and entertainment values through the new method of presentation. At no time has Executive Producer Edmund Grainger found it necessary to resort to tricks or illusions, but instead has used 3-D to gain realism and to enhance the beauty of the spectacular backgrounds in Technicolor.

The added realism is particularly evident in the love scenes between Robert Mitchum and Linda Darnell. At time the spectator almost seems to be participating in these romantic interludes.

"Second Chance" is the story of an American girl who has jilted her gangster sweetheart and fled to South America to rehabilitate herself and escape his vengeance, and a prizefighter who has accidently killed a man in the ring and seeks to find himself in a new country. When a hired killer locates the girl for her ex-boyfriend and the prizefighter attempts to protect her, the action moves through a romantic idyll to a breath-holding climax in a cable car when all face the possibility of being hurled to earth several thousand feet below as a weakened cable gives way.

"Second Chance" was filmed from a screenplay by Oscar Millard and Sydney Boehm. Sam Wiesenthal is credited as the producer.

Formula For Success

By HYMIE KING
Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 — We King Brothers—Maury, Frank and myself—are often asked how we have managed to continue successfully as independent motion picture producers during the past 12 years while almost every other independent producer in Hollywood, who operated during the lush war years, has fallen by the wayside.

Why others failed I do not know. Why we have succeeded can be answered in three simple sentences. First: We never buy anything we can't sell. Second: We make each succeeding motion picture the most important undertaking in our lives. Third: We work 18-hour days as if our very lives depend upon the outcome of each new picture. This simple formula, in my opinion, will bring success to any business venture.

Shortly after 1940 we made our first motion picture, "Paper Bullets." It was filmed at a cost of $19,000. Recently we completed "Carnival Story." It cost over $2,000,000. Believe it or not, we worked just as hard to make "Paper Bullets" as we did to make "Carnival Story." We applied the same formula to the making of the "quickie" film as we did in making the multi-million dollar film.

Perhaps all this needs some explaining. Maury, my oldest brother, handles the buying of stories and the casting of the films. Frank handles all business details and finances. I am charged with handling sales and exploitation. There are no bosses. We work as a team. We never make a single move without conferring among ourselves.

In our first rule—Never buying anything we can't sell—is the big secret of success in any business. Years ago, when we were small children living in the Eastside of Los Angeles, it was necessary for all of us to pitch in to help meet living expenses. We sold newspapers, shined shoes, and mowed lawns. In each venture we undertook, we made a success of it. Maury, being the oldest, headed up the various business ventures, and I can still hear his words, "Don't buy ox-blood shoe polish unless you have calls for it. Sell 'em brown or black polish." "Don't buy a lawnmower until we have enough business lined up to be sure we can pay for it and show a profit." None of us have ever forgotten those lessons we learned early.

We won't buy a story to make into a motion picture until we know there is a ready made market for its subject matter. After acquiring a story, we work endlessly to come up with sales gimmicks to insert in the film to aid in ballyhooing our picture. We hunt sales angles with a fervor that often startles our more "dignified" competitors.

In making "Carnival Story," for instance, we went to Munich, Germany. It is a wide-screen, color film starring Anne Baxter, Steve Cochran, Lyle Bettger, George Nader and Jay C. Flippen. We went to Germany to make this film because we felt that the foreign backgrounds of the film would lend themselves admirably to the carnival setting, therefore adding to the film's saleability. Too, we had another sales theory.

In conducting surveys of foreign markets, we discovered that in Germany, German-produced films were outgrossing American - produced, English - language films about 10 to 1. Those are big odds. We figured that if we shot our film in German-language, using a cast of European stars, at the same time we made the English-language version, it wouldn't cost us much more to come up with two versions of the film than it would to make one. Those juicy odds made it a good gamble so we did just that—shot a German language version starring Eve Bartok and Curd Jurgens.

To let Germany know the King Brothers were in town to do a picture we staged a wide talent search for the German cast. We made use of our carnival props by staging a big parade down the main streets of Munich. We invited all who wished to see the picture made to be our guests on the set at the 90-odd location sites in and around Munich. As many as 20,000 persons per day visited the set and watched the shooting. While the 500,000 persons who visited us were predominately German, many tourists from throughout the world visited and carried home stories of our production.

We all three recognize a good thing when we see it, which adds up to the most important reason we have managed to stay in film production where others have failed: three heads (fully made use of) is better than one.

Movie Producers Make TV Jump

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — HOLLYWOOD ON TV: Latest eye-opener in the Hollywood vs. television battle is that 40 per cent of all movie directors have deserted the theater film industry for video.

Variety, famous theatrical trade paper, came up with the startling figures, reporting a 20 per cent jump of movie directors switching to home screens in one year. Some have gone to New York for live shows, but a majority are in the telefilm industry.

Some of them: Telefilms now account for 68 per cent of Eastman's Hollywood business. Two years ago only 14 advertisers filmed their programs, but before 1953 is out the total will be more than 40. A soft-drink company has signed for 52 weeks sponsorship of the "Annie Oakley" telefilm series with 50 stations lined up. Each film will cost $27,500 to produce.

Variety reports that Bing Crosby's radio salary has been cut from $16,000 to $15,500 a week as a "fine" for not appearing on television. The Groaner agreed to accept the penalty for every week he doesn't do video.

At those prices Bing, I figure, can go on ignoring television until about 1998.

Richard Denning feels like doing salaams in front of the parlor picture boxes every time he's called for another movie job and says: "When I think I was warned I wouldn't get any picture work once I went into a TV series. I've had only one week off because of film roles since I finished my last 'Mr. and Mrs. North.' I even had to put an operation off for three months."

Joe E. Lewis explaining why he's not on TV:

"I was on television once. They took a special Hooper to see how well I was doing. And they found out that 75 per cent of the studio audience wasn't looking at me."

The thrill of her first corsage

Wonderful things happen when you take a jean-age girl and dress her in an evening gown topped with flowers. As if by magic she sees a new girl smiling at her from the mirror. This miracle miss is ready for her school dance—for a gay and exciting evening. She'll greet her date with a radiance that says "My flowers are simply beautiful!" For today, as always when you want to add the perfect touch for that special date—

SECOND CHANCE — Robert Mitchum and Linda Darnell are co-starred in a 3-D technicolor romance, "Second Chance", which opens today at the Jim Theatre. The two portray American fugitives in South America. Jack Palance also stars in the production.

The RECORD SHOP

His Dream Came True

NEW YORK (NEA) — At 22, Jerry Vale used to dream about some day being a recording star for Columbia Records and singing with Percy Faith's orchestra. At 23, he's made it.

And Mitch Miller, Columbia's director of artists and repertoire and probably the single most influential person in the record business, thinks Jerry is our next big singer.

No beating around the bush for Miller on Jerry's voice. He comes right out and says: "Jerry Vale's voice is the greatest instrument in the record business today."

And it is a fine voice. Listen to his latest, a beautiful ballad called "A Tear, a Kiss and a Smile," written by his manager, Paul Insetta.

Miller says Vale is sure to "happen" — record-talk for becoming a star — but it may not be yet.

"The public has to get to know a new voice," he says. "It took Clooney two years. Jerry will happen, too, and he'll last a long time."

Which is O. K. with Jerry, a likeable youngster who is living his dream and enjoying every moment of it. He was singing in a small suburban New York night club when Insetta heard him.

Together, they worked hard on Vale's voice and style, sitting in Insetta's kitchen and making tape recordings until three in the morning. He'd sing one song hundreds of times. It paid off.

He still sings every new song he records many times, until he and Insetta are positive it's perfect.

"It's just a dream come true," says Jerry Vale.

The Popular Side: Guy Mitchell says he dreams, the night before an opening, something horrible. "I usually dream I come on stage and I've forgotten my shoes, or else that I'm there and the band doesn't show up." . . . Opera and TV star Marguerite Piazza, just signed by Capitol, may be teamed with Gordon MacRae on pop records. . . . A poll conducted by the Armed Forces Network in Europe showed the GIs' favorite vocalists were Nat "King" Cole and Rosemary Clooney.

On the Classics: Just back from Europe, Lily Pons stopped off in New York before going home to California for a three-week recording session at Columbia. . . . A survey shows that more classical music is being recorded in the U. S., reversing a trend which had seen European sessions favored. . . . Capitol, which purchased Cetra Records, has begun issuing operatic highlights from Cetra's catalog.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, B. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. They compete about equally, but in different ways. Men compete mostly in business, sports, etc., while women compete more for social prestige. Men rarely come into social competition with each other, but the social field is the main one where women fight out their natural passion to outdo each other. Psychologists believe that both sexes have the same inborn desire for power and importance.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. First, you are a very funny guy yourself. You don't think so, but a lot of other people do. Second, remember "Every person you meet is fighting a battle of his own." Maybe the thing you make fun of is giving him excruciating inferiorities — fatness, leanness, crooked nose, timidity, blushing, etc.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. No. A survey by American Management Association covered 80,000 clerical and office workers in 76 companies. It showed only 24 per cent of failures were from lack of skill, but 76 per cent were from personality failures. These included lack of initiative, 10.9 per cent; lack of ambition, 9.7; carelessness, 7.9; non-cooperation, 6.7; laziness, 6.4, and so on. One can correct all these failings.

WHY just look and sigh—and pass up so much real automobile?

Could be you're one of those folks who still don't believe that the price of a Buick really is just a few dollars more than that of the so-called "low-priced" cars.

So here we show our car and price to prove it.

But beyond that—what you get in this great Buick, for so small a step-up in what you pay, is plenty.

More power. Fireball 8 power. The highest horsepower and compression ratio ever placed in a Buick SPECIAL.

More comfort. The solid comfort of Buick's Million Dollar Ride—with coil-spring cushioning on all four wheels, wide-tread stability, torque-tube steadiness.

More pleasure. The pleasure of high visibility, of luxurious fabrics and fittings, of superbly easy handling—and the deep satisfaction of bossing a big and able and stunningly styled automobile that does you proud wherever you go.

Why not drop in on us and see things for yourself?

That way you'll also learn about the long list of "extras" you get at no extra cost in this spirited new 1953 Buick SPECIAL—things that most other cars of similar price charge for as extras. Can you make it this week?

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

SCHOOL BEGINS!

THERE'S DANGER AHEAD...

. . . The casualties mount! More and more school children, struck down by careless drivers lose lives or limbs on today's civilian battlefield—the public street! Now is the time for extra driving caution! The toll of school bells, this Fall, is your warning bell: You can't be too careful behind that wheel. Until that peaceful day, when EVERYONE makes SAFE DRIVING his No. 1 civilian objective—make it an INDIVIDUAL matter with you. Your good example might set some reckless driver on the right road to safety! Show others the way. Be a leader at the wheel! Remember: "It takes years to raise a child—but less than a second to kill one."

REMEMBER—A "STOP" IN TIME CAN SAVE "MINE"

. . . AND

I'LL BE ON THE LOOK-OUT FOR "YOURS", TOO!

Insure yourself—and others—against tragedy!

TAKE THIS "FOUR POINT PLEDGE" FOR SCHOOL TIME SAFETY:

POINT ONE: "I WILL DRIVE SLOWLY:"

"When in the vicinity of schools, I will keep within the speed limit —or much less than that. I will be always ready to STOP in a flash —for that youngster who may dart from behind a parked car, or the unpredictable 'kid' on his bicycle. I will execute all traffic hand-signals."

POINT TWO: "I WILL OBSERVE ALL SIGNS:"

"I will heed signs that warn me where to-and-from school traffic is heaviest. Before coming to a crosswalk, or safety zone—supervised or not—I will give the proper hand signal, and if children are about to cross, come to a full STOP."

POINT THREE: "I WILL NOTE THE TIME OF DAY:"

"I will be doubly alert during the hours when school children are on the streets. Recesses, lunch hours, before and after school! These peak periods will find me ever-watchful — and prepared. In bad weather, I will guard against traffic 'unforseeables'."

POINT FOUR: "I WILL KEEP MY CAR TIP-TOP:"

"No matter how willing I am, I'll always remember that my car could be weak — just at the crucial moment. I will not handle the wheel unless I am certain that my car is in first-rate mechanical shape. I will have it checked and inspected, regularly, to be sure!"

Shane' Is Picture Depicting Real Drama With Colorado Set

An achievement in the cinematic rt, the likes of which has seldom en seen, is George Stevens' aramount production, "Shane," a unning and spectacular Western, hich previewed last night and ens its regular run Wednesday the Paramount Theatre. Pro- ced and directed by Mr. Stev- s, one of the ablest craftsman Hollywood, "Shane" is a superb cture of wide range and feeling at will be enjoyed and savored audiences for some time to me.

Filmed in color by Technicolor, gainst a background of breathtak- g beauty, "Shane" relates a story at is both violent and poignant. he cast of characters, brilliantly rtrayed by such outstanding stars Alan Ladd, Van Heflin, Jean rthur, Jack Palance and youthful ewcomer Brandon De Wilde, are tted together in a maelstrom of uman drama. The setting is Wy- ming during the period when omesteader and cattlemen waged fierce and bloody battle for su- remacy of the range.

George Stevens has taken these gredients and what he has made t of them is a thing of gigantic auty. The essentials are basical- simple, with the suspense and tion etched sharply against the comparatively unadorned details of frontier living. But when Stev- ens goes into action, it is bold and swirling with no pauses; blood flows, eyes swell, and bodies crash in the fight scenes, the finest ever filmed. The use of guns is delayed, thereby intensifying the suspense, for it is clear from the beginning that gunplay is inevitable in the solving of the film's conflict.

This story of cattlemen, who wanted a free range for their stock, and the homesteaders who built homes and fences for their small farms, is a simple and familiar tale, but as told in "Shane," it emerges as an epic saga of the Western plains, with the people in it goliath in stature, coming alive with motive and emotion. The conflict is between Van Heflin, the stubborn and determined homesteader, and Emile Meyer, as the unscrupulous rancher, who first tries to bully and scare the farmers, and in desperation finally hires the sinister Jack Palance, callous killer, to run them out of the country he feels to be his private domain. Ladd is the white knight of a dubious, but obviously gunfighting past, who befriends Heflin, his wife, Jean Arthur and their son Brandon De Wilde.

The over-all acting stints of the principals is superb. Alan Ladd as the buck-skinned stranger has never been seen to better advantage. Jeflin is full of homespun charm and strength as the leader of the embattled farmers. His worried wife is given a wistful touch by Jean Arthur, and Brandon De Wilde is perfect as the youth caught in the tensions and excitements of frontier life. Jack Palance as the blackgarbed, coffee-drinking gunman is the very embodiment of sardonic ferocity.

Brilliant performances, overwhelmingly beautiful scenery, a tightly knit story, scripted by Pulitzer prize wonner A. B. Guthrie from a novel by Jack Schaefer, that moves to its climax with unrelenting fury, all combine to make "Shane" a film of rare excellence. Everyone who has had a hand in the creation of this outstanding drama deserves a rousing cheer. "Shane" is a "must see" motion picture. Don't miss it, starting Wednesday.

New 3-D Thriller Was Filmed In Exotic Mexico Site

Three-Dimension Movies really come of age with "Second Chance," Howard Hughes' RKO Radio entry into the 3-D ranks, which began what is certain to be highly successful engagement at the Jim Theater today.

In the first place, the picture offers such important stars as Robert Mitchum, Linda Darnell and Jack Palance in 3-D for the first time. Secondly, here is a romantic thriller that would be a top feature in any medium, yet gains special interest and entertainment values through the new method of presentation. At no time has Executive Producer Edmund Grainger found it necessary to resort to tricks or illusions, but instead has used 3-D to gain realism and to enhance the beauty of the spectacular backgrounds in Technicolor.

The added realism is particularly evident in the love scenes between Robert Mitchum and Linda Darnell. At time the spectator almost seems to be participating in these romantic interludes.

"Second Chance" is the story of an American girl who has jilted her gangster sweetheart and fled to South America to rehabilitate herself and escape his vengeance, and a prizefighter who has accidently killed a man in the ring and seeks to find himself in a new country. When a hired killer locates the girl for her ex-boyfriend and the prizefighter attempts to protect her, the action moves through a romantic idyll to a breath-holding climax in a cable car when all face the possibility of being hurled to earth several thousand feet below as a weakened cable gives way.

"Second Chance" was filmed from a screenplay by Oscar Millard and Sydney Boehm. Sam Wiesenthal is credited as the producer.

Formula For Success

By HYMIE KING
Guest Columnist

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 — We King Brothers—Maury, Frank and myself—are often asked how we have managed to continue successfully as independent motion picture producers during the past 12 years while almost every other independent producer in Hollywood, who operated during the lush war years, has fallen by the wayside.

Why others failed I do not know. Why we have succeeded can be answered in three simple sentences. First: We never buy anything we can't sell. Second: We make each succeeding motion picture the most important undertaking in our lives. Third: We work 18-hour days as if our very lives depend upon the outcome of each new picture. This simple formula, in my opinion, will bring success to any business venture.

Shortly after 1940 we made our first motion picture, "Paper Bullets." It was filmed at a cost of $19,000. Recently we completed "Carnival Story." It cost over $2,000,000. Believe it or not, we worked just as hard to make "Paper Bullets" as we did to make "Carnival Story." We applied the same formula to the making of the "quickie" film as we did in making the multi-million dollar film.

Perhaps all this needs some explaining. Maury, my oldest brother, handles the buying of stories and the casting of the films. Frank handles all business details and finances. I am charged with handling sales and exploitation. There are no bosses. We work as a team. We never make a single move without conferring among ourselves.

In our first rule—Never buying anything we can't sell—is the big secret of success in any business. Years ago, when we were small children living in the East-side of Los Angeles, it was necessary for all of us to pitch in to help meet living expenses. We sold newspapers, shined shoes, and mowed lawns. In each venture we undertook, we made a success of it. Maury, being the oldest, headed up the various business ventures, and I can still hear his words, "Don't buy ox-blood shoe polish unless you have calls for it. Sell 'em brown or black polish." "Don't buy a lawnmower until we have enough business lined up to be sure we can pay for it and show a profit." None of us have ever forgotten those lessons we learned early.

We won't buy a story to make into a motion picture until we know there is a ready made market for its subject matter. After acquiring a story, we work endlessly to come up with sales gimmicks to insert in the film to aid in ballyhooing our picture. We hunt sales angles with a fervor that often startles our more "dignified" competitors.

In making "Carnival Story," for instance, we went to Munich, Germany. It is a wide-screen, color film starring Anne Baxter, Steve Cochran, Lyle Bettger, George Nader and Jay C. Flippen. We went to Germany to make this film because we felt that the foreign backgrounds of the film would lend themselves admirably to the carnival setting, therefore adding to the film's saleability. Too, we had another sales theory.

In conducting surveys of foreign markets, we discovered that in Germany, German-produced films were outgrossing American - produced, English - language films about 10 to 1. Those are big odds. We figured that if we shot our film in German-language, using a cast of European stars, at the same time we made the English-language version, it wouldn't cost us much more to come up with two versions of the film than it would to make one. Those juicy odds made it a good gamble so we did just that—shot a German language version starring Eve Bartok and Curd Jurgens.

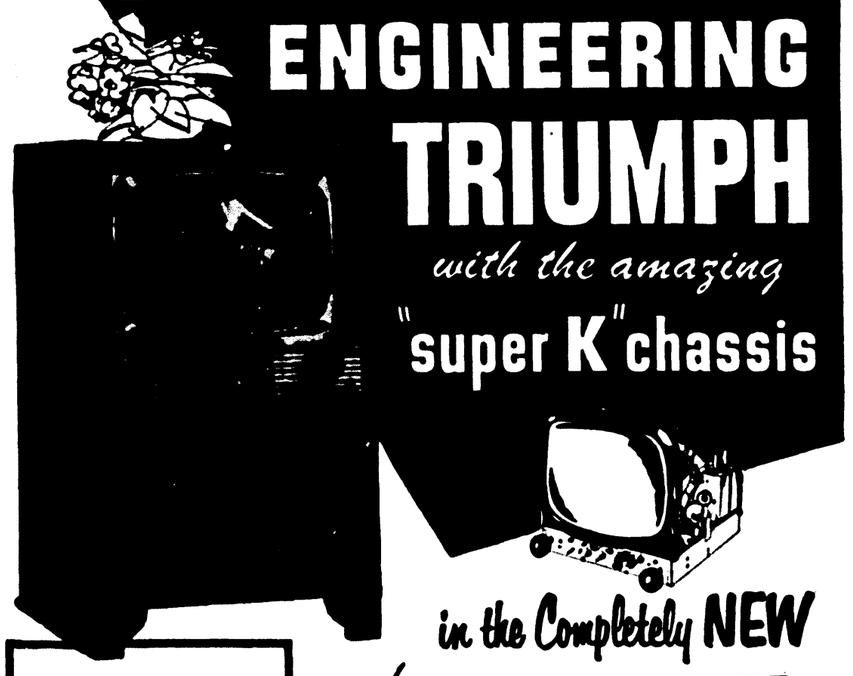

To let Germany know the King Brothers were in town to do a picture we staged a wide talent search for the German cast. We made use of our carnival props by staging a big parade down the main streets of Munich. We invited all who wished to see the picture made to be our guests on the set at the 90-odd location sites in and around Munich. As many as 20,000 persons per day visited the set and watched the shooting. While the 500,000 persons who visited us were predominately German, many tourists from throughout the world visited and carried home stories of our production.

We all three recognize a good thing when we see it, which adds up to the most important reason we have managed to stay in film production where others have failed: three heads (fully made use of) is better than one.

SCHOOL BEGINS!

THERE'S DANGER AHEAD...

. . . The casualties mount! More and more school children, struck down by careless drivers lose lives or limbs on todoy's civilian battlefield—the public street! Now is the time for extra driving caution! The toll of school bells, this Fall, is your warning bell: You can't be too careful behind that wheel. Until that peaceful day, when EVERYONE makes SAFE DRIVING his No. 1 civilian objective—make it an INDIVIDUAL matter with you. Your good example might set some reckless driver on the right road to safety! Show others the way. Be a leader at the wheel! Remember: "It takes years to raise a child—but less than a second to kill one."

REMEMBER—A "STOP" IN TIME CAN SAVE "MINE"

. . . AND

Insure yourself—and others—against tragedy!

TAKE THIS "FOUR POINT PLEDGE" FOR SCHOOL TIME SAFETY:

POINT ONE: "I WILL DRIVE SLOWLY:"

"When in the vicinity of schools, I will keep within the speed limit —or much less than that. I will be always ready to STOP in a flash —for that youngster who may dart fram behind a parked car, or the unpredictable 'kid' on his bicycle. I will execute all traffic hand-signals."

POINT TWO: "I WILL OBSERVE ALL SIGNS:"

"I will heed signs that warn me where to-and-from school traffic is heaviest. Before coming to a crosswalk, or safety zone—supervised or not—I will give the proper hand signol, and if children are about to cross, come to a full STOP."

SAFETY CHECK YOUR CAR

POINT THREE: "I WILL NOTE THE TIME OF DAY:"

"I will be doubly alert during the hours when school children are on the streets. Recesses, lunch hours, before and after school! These peak periods will find me ever-watchful — and prepared. In bad weather, I will guard against traffic 'unforseeables'."

POINT FOUR: "I WILL KEEP MY CAR TIP-TOP:"

"No matter how willing I am, I'll always remember that my car could be weak — just at the crucial moment. I will not handle the wheel unless I am certain that my car is in first-rate mechanical shape. I will have it checked and inspected, regularly, to be sure!"
